4-H Livestock Show Scheduled Sept. 15-16-17

Minnesota 4-H'ers are preparing their livestock and poultry for the 57th annual state 4-H market livestock show September 15-17 at the Minnesota state fairgrounds. Pennington county has several potential entries in the horseshow and market divisions but final arrangements have not yet been completed.

Sponsoring the show are the University of Minnesota agricultural extension service and the Minnesota livestock breeder's association. Besides livestock and poultry judging, this year's show will include rate-of-gain contests for livestock exhibitors and a meats judging contest on noon, September 15. (Each county may enter four members with the top three scores tabulated to determine the winning team.)

Entry day is September 15, when show participants will view the state 4-H horse show in the evening, held in conjunction with the market livestock show.

Sheep and swine judging starts at 8:30 a.m., September 16, in the swine barn. Grand champion lamb and barrow and sheep and swine showmanship selections will begin at 1:15 p.m., September 16, when winners of the rate-of-gain contest will be announced for these animals.

Live bird judging for the poultry show will start at 9 a.m., September 16, in the beef barn. Poultry exhibitors will dress their birds at the University of Minnesota meats laboratory on the st. Paul campus.

A western barbecue and street dance sponsored by the St. Paul area chamber of commerce, Minnesota pork producers, and Minnesota turkey growers' association will highlight the September 16 evening program.

Beef cattle judging starts at 8 a.m., September 17, in the hippodrome. The grand champion steer on the hoof and the champion beef showman will be named about 2:30 p.m., September 17, when winners of the beef rate-of-gain contest will be announced.

4-H'ers exhibiting in the state 4-H market livestock show will take part in educational activities, including a livestock evaluation clinic conducted by university extension specialists and tour of the meat research lab starting at 3 p.m., September 15, in the meats science laboratory. The 4-H'ers will also tour the meat departments of major Twin Cities' supermarkets September 16-17.

The animals shown at the show will be sold immediately following the event to Minnesota packing companies. Final pricing and value determinations will be based on carcass grade (quality and quantity) and carcass weight. Premiums will be given to exhibitors by combining the animal's live score with the carcass score to give an overall score. Exhibitors who qualify in the rate-of-gain contest will be awarded "bonus" primiums. Premiums will be provided by the Minnesota business community and the Minnesota livestock breeders association.

State Jobless Claims Total 83,366 Aug. 29

Persons in active claims status under the five unemployment programs currently in force in Minnesota totaled 83,366 for the week ending August 29, Commissioner Emmet J. Cushing of the Minnesota department of employment services reported Friday. The total is down 7,046 from the preceding week.

Initial claims filed during the week for the regular program totaled 3,739, up 149 (four per cent) from the previous week and up 1,456 (64 per cent) from the corresponding week a year ago. Total number of active regular claims was 50,688, down 2,012 (four per cent) from the previous week.

For the week of August 22, the latest for which figures are available, the total amount of benefits paid under all programs was $4,117,596. Included in those benefits were $2,492,483 in regular benefits, up $1,401,987 (129 per cent) over the corresponding week a year ago. The average weekly benefit amount was $66.15, up $7.18 from a year ago.

NDSU Prairie Stage Theatre Ends Season

With the North Dakota state university prairie stage tent packed away until next June, Dr. Frederick Walsh, director of the NDSU speech and drama department and originator of the summer theatre concept, spoke enthusiastically this week about the recently completed 1975 summer tour.

Armed with a 50'x50' green and yellow tent, 160 chairs and three plays, the 12 NDSU students and one faculty member set out in June for 10 weeks of staging summer theatre productions around North Dakota.

When the summer tour finished in August, the 32-foot semi trailer and caravan of NDSU students had traveled more than 1,300 miles, and presented 75 performances to some 9,600 theatregoers in 10 communities. Walsh indicated the total represents about a 20 per cent increase in attendance over a year ago and an average house filled to 75 or 80 per cent of capacity.

"We've gone up each year by about 20 per cent and we're delighted by the 1975 summer totals," said Walsh.

The priairie stage, according to Walsh, serves as a vehicle for carrying the theatre arts to some areas where plays are seldom performed outside the high school, and allows NDSU to extend its services to an increasing number of people outside the NDSU main campus.

Walsh indicated the prairie stage is not without its problems. Both the tent and the semi trailer need repairs, and it's increasingly difficult to recruit undergraduate students for the grueling 10-week summer tour. The prairie stage has been assisted by the North Dakota council on arts and humanities, the national endowment for the arts, the NDSU extension division, and the NDSU alumni association.

Arthritis Can Cause Problems With The Feet

Many kinds of arthritis can attack the feet, according to the Arthritis foundation. Painful and disfigured feet can be particularly disabling, for they often mean that the victim is unable to get around without severe discomfort.

While surgery can sometimes help arthritic feet, special shoes can also be an answer to this problem.

A brief discussion of the treatment of arthritic feet may be heard by calling the Arthritis foundation's toll-free message center during September. The number is 1-800-552-1278. Foundation literature is available without charge to callers.

These and other services of the Arthritis foundation are made possible in most Minnesota communities through the support of the United Way.

Limited Session Of Legislature Is Called For

"The 1976 session of the Minnesota legislature should be no more than one month long," states Senate minority leader Robert O. Ashbach.

Ashbach said he would be calling on the leadership of the DFL in the Senate in an attempt to get their agreement for such a limited session.

"The House will probably want a long session," said Ashbach. "They have a huge number of young members over there who would like to get their names on bills so that they will have something to run on in 1976. However, I feel the people of this state do not want another extended session. Last session over $5 billion was appropriated. Despite the $400 million surplus, we didn't return one penny of income tax relief to the people.

"With this kind of record the DFL will try to extend it out for political purposes. The House DFL will be trying to do everything for everyone," said Ashbach.

There are a few key issues we should deal with in 1976 and then go home. They are: (1) Appropriations bills left over from the '75 session; (2) medical malpractice insurance; (3) the special education financing formula; (4) amendment of the municipal aid formula; (5) repeal of the two-mill tax on payrolls; and (6) passing on the full benefit of the federal tax relief to the taxpayers of Minnesota.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

In reference to the death of Mr. Bjorgo Hemmestvedt of injuries received on Sunday, August 31, 1975, I would like to say that I think the staff of the Thief River Falls Times could have used better judgment in reporting what had happened prior to Mr. Hemmestvedt's death. I think the loss that Mr. Hemmestvedt's family is going through should have been respected more, because the manner of sensationalism reporting the Times has resorted to, can do no more than hurt innocent people.

Thank you.

Criticism Lacks Evidence

Minnesota's open meeting law was strengthened in 1973 when penalties for violation of the existing law were instituted by the state legislature. This toughening of the statutes, which require that all meetings of public bodies be open to the public, has caused enough concern among public officials that some of them are seeking to have the law changed. Among the leaders in the push for exemptions is the League of Minnesota Municipalities.

To the best of our knowledge, the Thief River Falls community is blessed with local government bodies which are willing to comply with the spirit of the law. We commend them for their collective attitude, because we do recognize that it is sometimes difficult to speak out on controversial items while under scrutiny of the public and the press.

Our city council, school board and county board all provide the Times with agendas in advance of regular meetings and make attempts to inform us of special meetings to be held. Because of our publication schedule, it is not always possible for us to print a public notice of these meetings before they occur.

In other communities, however, the law is viewed as too confining for public officials and they are seeking to be shielded from public view while discussing selected areas of public business. An editorial in the Minnesota Press, official publication of the Minnesota Newspaper association, quite clearly states the position of this and most other state newspapers. Manager Robert Shaw of the MNA writes as follows:

The Minnesota House of Representatives Committee on Government Operations has begun hearing arguments for diluting the state's Open Meeting Law.

And so far, after one hearing, all the committee has heard is arguments—no facts, no examples, of how the law hampers government operations, no clear reasons for changing the law passed in 1973.

Several public officials testified during the Pipestone hearing that the law, which makes all public meetings involving elected and appointed officials open to the public, might hurt the public's interest. Officials said the law could be a detriment to government operations and maybe needs revising—but no example of problems caused by the law was brought forward. Only potential problems were discussed.

It is good that the committee is taking testimony. It's good that local public officials can air their feelings on the matter. It is good that state government is soliciting local input before action on proposed changes.

It's also important to understand that the local officials are voicing a public rather than personal concern for the public's interest rather than personal relief from a stiff law.

But local officials probably will need more sound reasons and more concrete evidence than was presented Friday if they are to be successful in changing the law.

It is important to remember, as one witness pointed out Friday, that the law in essence has been on the books for 17 years. It is only since 1973 when penalties for violations of the law were added, that local officials became concerned.

Their concern has heightened when Spannaus decided that a private conversation between two members of a five member board could constitute an open meeting because those two people would represent a majority when a quorum of three people met in an open meeting.

Officials argue that the ruling means two officials riding to a meeting together are technically breaking the law.

While this presents problems, the solution is not in easing the open meeting law. It might be in another measure, perhaps raising the number of members needed to make a quorum.

Let us search for the answers to the questions public officials raise. But let's not accept easy answers which will create problems (as they have to the past) for a public which must remain informed.

Let's keep the public right to know what is happening in government a foremost consideration. Let's keep the tactical problems of public officials a secondary issue.

As one witness pointed out Friday, democracy was never designed to be efficient. If efficiency was the primary concern of government, there never would have been a Congress, a state legislature, city council or county board. There would have been a single autocrat who made decisions without the expense of public elections and public input.

Another witness suggested that the open meeting law be given the test of time. Let's keep it until there is evidence that local government cannot operate under it, and then let's change local government.

Violations under the old law were commonplace. Now, with stiff penalties facing violators, public officials are concerned about potential law breaking under the revised law.

The 1973 law only forces public officials to do what they should have been doing in the 1950's and earlier—letting the public know how public matters were being handled.

When public officials prove they cannot operate under the existing law, then we should start looking for changes—not in the need for an informed public but in the way government operates.

When it is proven that a too-informed public is not in the public interest, then let's find a way of better serving the public interest. The scandals and deficiencies of government have always stemmed from the public knowing too little. We can't think of a single controversy arising from the public knowing too much.

We have too many examples of secret-oriented scandals on the national level to open the door for secrecy on the local level.

More Harassment

The following editorial is from the New Prague Times:

Retail merchandising represents one of the most important segments of Minnesota's economic structure,—compatible to agriculture and industry. From the small, crossroads, "papa and mama" general stores to the huge metropolitan shopping marts, hundreds of thousands of Minnesotans are employed, and millions of dollars in Minnesota products are sold in addition to merchandise from all over the world.

Basically, retail merchandising in Minnesota has been, (and is,) conducted on a high plane of business ethics and honest practice. Nevertheless, retail merchandising has all too often been made the whipping boy for bureaucratic regulators who are prone to whack all retail merchants for misdeeds of a scattered few.

Now comes Mrs. Sherry Chenoweth, director of the State Office of Consumer Services with a complicated set of retail sales and advertising regulations, under consideration and contention for months, scheduled to become effective on September 1. It looks like another example of bureaucracy running, wild, confusing to retailers and customers alike.

A group of 14 trade associations and firms, headed by the Minnesota-Dakotas Retail Hardware Association and including the Minnesota Newspaper Association, has brought a lawsuit in Ramsey County District Court challenging the legality of the regulations.

The new regulations appear to be unnecessary harassment of retail business. Minnesota consumers are able to think for themselves, decide for themselves, judge their own values, and do not need to be fed by bureaucrats.

In recent years, numerous state agencies and bureaus have sprung into being, empowered by the State Legislature to enact regulations having the force of law, police these regulations and sit in judgment of alleged violations.

That's a matter which should be high on the agenda of the 1976 legislative session.

More Appropriate Tie

Following comments are by Jackie Anderson in the Paynesville Press:

Congress will reconvene this month with something few of us have—protection against inflation.

Representatives voted in a pay raise before recessing for summer vacation. The increase for House and Senate members and federal officials was attached to a postal bill. The planning took place over a six-month period.

The planning was kept very quiet, with the first hint of an increase made public only five days before the vote.

Representatives will receive a five per cent increase in salary from $42,500 to $44,625, plus a cost of living increase every year, tied to the consumer price index.

It's been a number of years since representatives received a pay raise. They deserve one. But to insure their salaries with a yearly increase for cost of living is outrageous.

The public must fight to keep ahead of—or even with inflation; it doesn't seem equitable that our representatives should be shielded from the economic conditions we all face. The automatic increase may cushion their view of reality. They should suffer with the rest of us. Then we could see positive action on the nation's and their problems.

A letter to a national magazine on the subject suggested that representatives salaries be tied to the value of the dollar. When the dollar drops, so does their salary An interesting idea.

Interesting Opinions

The spread of militant unionism among municipal workers has greatly increased their bargaining power, but it has not changed the fundamental economics of urban government. A union contract does not invest city employees with lifetime job rights, no matter what New York's sanitation workers seem to think.

notes from the governor

Wendell R. Anderson

Since the early days of our existence as a state, Minnesotans have been committed to providing education for our citizens.

That commitment has extended beyond high school, to our area vocational-technical institutes, community colleges, state universities, and the University of Minnesota. Generous public appropriations have been provided to keep tuition as low as possible. In recent years assistance has been provided to our private colleges as well, in the effort to maintain a healthy public and private complex of post-secondary education accessible and financially available to Minnesota students.

During the 1975 session of the Minnesota Legislature, that effort was expanded substantially.

Most people are now familiar with our reciprocity agreement with Wisconsin that permits students from Minnesota to attend post-secondary schools in Wisconsin at the lower tuition rate charged resident students. The 1975 Legislature approved a similar agreement with North Dakota and authorized the negotiation of an agreement with South Dakota. And for the first time, Minnesota students taking advantage of reciprocity do not lose their eligibility for a state scholarship or grant.

Student financial aid programs have also improved dramatically in recent years. Four years ago the state provided $5.4 million for state scholarships and grants for the two-year budget period. The 1975 Legislature appropriated $28.5 million. In addition, a new $1.75 million work-study program was funded, and the State Student Loan Program was authorized to provide up to $60 million in loans during the next two years. With these increases, Minnesota will no doubt continue to be one of the top ten states in its effort to assist students financially.

Traditionally post-secondary education has been aimed at young people. The 1975 Legislature took a significant step towards making it more easily available to all our people. Senior citizens can now attend classes at our public institutions on a space available basis without any tuition charge. If the class is taken for credit, tuition will still be free but a two dollar administrative charge will be assessed.

Wherever I go, I see the educational commitment of the State of Minnesota changing the lives of people for the better. Whether through the education of scientists who develop "miracle" grains or the development of an enlightened citizenry, we all benefit from this investment.

TRF Defense Is Impressive

While the offense received most of the acclaim, the defense was playing a near-flawless game Friday when Thief River Falls crushed Detroit Lakes 33-14 on the Prowler athletic field.

Thief River Falls stopped Detroit Lakes cold on the ground, limiting the Lakers to a net four yards rushing!

Detroit Lakes did pick up a small amount of yards on the ground—40 to be exact—but Laker quarterback Jeff Hanson was sacked three times trying to pass and lost 36 yards. The longest run from scrimmage for the Lakers was a five-yard gain by Howard Seim on the Lakers' first scrimmage play of the game.

Detroit Lakes scored twice, but on lightning quick long touchdowns that represented the only Laker offense of the night. An 86-yard kick-off return by Seim in the first quarter and a 68-yard pass-play from Hanson to Darrell Engen in the fourth quarter were the only real yardage-producing plays of the game for the Lakers.

Take away the 68-yard pass play and Detroit Lakes would have gained but 11 yards passing and only 15 yards total offense!

Only one other game in our memory can we recall a better Thief River Falls defensive performance. That came in the first game of the 1971 season when the Prowlers blanked Dilworth 38-0 in a game remembered for the violent rain storm that halted play for nearly 15 minutes in the first quarter.

Thief River Falls' defense was magnificent that night at Dilworth when the Locomotives' total offense was a minus 27 yards. Dilworth lost 36 yards rushing and gained just nine yards passing. The Prowlers, meanwhile, rushed for 243 yards and passed for another 94 to total 337 yards on offense.

Rob Swenson (now a senior at Dartmouth) rushed for 132 yards that game and scored three touchdowns and added three two-point conversions.

Thief River Falls was undefeated in the 1971 season and played a whole bunch of excellent defensive games. Park Rapids managed only 35 yards total offense against the Prowlers that year; Roseau had 71; East Grand Forks 87; and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 88.

Thief River Falls will undoubtedly find things a bit tougher this week when the Prowlers travel to St. Cloud Apollo to face the highly regarded Eagles Friday.

However, a duplicate of Friday night's effort by the Prowlers would be hard for any team to beat, including Apollo.

Thief River Falls always seems to get "fired up" to play Apollo. This week's game on St. Cloud's luxurious facilities should once again bring out the best in the Prowlers. Although it's a long trip, a drive to St. Cloud could prove to be very enjoyable for Thief River Falls football fams.

Miscellaneous

+John Harris of Roseau will head south to Florida in October to enter the PGA golfing school. Harris, former Big Ten and Minnesota state amateur champion, hopes to land one of the 50 spots available for the 1976 professional golfing tour.

+Former Warroad hockey star Henry Boucha reportedly is still having vision problems after undergoing surgery twice to repair damage stemming from his famed stick incident with Dave Forbes of the Boston Bruins. Another surgery might be needed, reported Bernie Burggraf of the Roseau Times-Region, and Boucha's availability for the 1975-76 season with the WHA Minnesota Fighting Saints may be in doubt.

Prowlers Crush Lakers 33-14 In Home Opener

Ehrenstrom

Dallmann

Jury

Sims

Thief River Falls opened its 1975 home football season schedule in impressive fashion Friday by manhandling Detroit Lakes 33-14 on the Prowler athletic field.

The one-sided win over the Lakers made partial amends for a disappointing 25-14 season-opening loss at Grand Forks Red River a week earlier and will undoubtedly give the Prowlers a pyschological boost heading into a tough assignment at St. Cloud Apollo this week.

Thief River Falls completely dominated Detroit Lakes in nearly every aspect of the game. The Prowlers racked up 20 first downs to just two for the Lakers, but the most impressive statistical difference came in the running game where the Prowlers rushed for a whopping 351 yards while holding the Lakers to a mere four yards. Detroit Lakes finished with a slight 79-78 edge in passing yardage.

The Prowler heroes were many. Sophomore runningback Doug Dallmann led the Prowler rushing attack with 132 yards on just 11 carries for a 12-yard average; senior runningback Mike Jury rushed for 95 yards and scored two touchdowns; senior fullback-turned tackle-turned fullback Kent Ehrenstrom scored twice and averaged 6.6 yards per carry; and the entire Prowler defensive unit played a near perfect game.

Thief River Falls head coach Jim Sims praised the play of his entire team, but singled out Ehrenstrom for special recognition. The 211-pounder played against Red River as a fullback, but was changed to a tackle in practice last week. However, starting fullback Bryan Olson was injured early in the Detroit Lakes game and Sims put Ehrenstrom, wearing number 70, in at fullback. He responded with a devastating effort as he crashed through would-be tacklers for 53 yards on eight carries, caught a third down pass for a first down and scored twice.

Thief River Falls scored 4:03 into the game when Jury dived into the end zone off left tackle from one yard out after an eye-opening 47-yard pass play from quarterback Jeff Lindquist to split end Mark Thorstad moved the ball to the one. Doug Dallmann place-kicked the extra point.

Detroit Lakes struck back quickly, however, as Howard Seim returned the ensuing kick-off 86 yards for a touchdown. Seim faked a reverse hand-off on the return and sprinted down the sidelines untouched. A Laker two-point conversion try was stopped short of the goal line.

Thief River Falls marched the Laker kick-off right back downfield to go ahead 13-6, with Jury capping a nine-play, 64-yard drive with a four-yard scoring run around left end behind a crunching block thrown by runningback Jay Kverno. Dallmann, Jury and Lindquist all had big plays in the drive as Dallmann picked up 13 yards to start the drive, Jury had a 16-yard gain and Lindquist gained 17 yards on a quarterback keeper to the Laker 15. A face-guarding infraction against a Detroit Lakes defensive back moved the ball to the Laker six.

The Prowler lead jumped to 19-6 by the end of the first quarter when Dallmann scored on a one-yard plunge after a quick 35-yard, five-play drive. Dallmann gained 14 yards on a punt return to the Detroit Lakes 35 to set up the march. Jury quickly picked up 13 yards and Dallmann later had a dandy 14-yard run to the one-yard line.

The scoring then suddenly ceased until the start of the fourth quarter when Ehrenstrom bulled his way through the middle of the line for a four-yard touchdown run. Ehrenstrom set up his own touchdown with successive runs of 15 and 10 yards to begin the scoring drive after a Laker punt. Dallmann added an 11-yard run to keep the drive going. Lindquist passed to Bob Forberg for the two-point conversion.

Detroit Lakes fumbled the kick-off after Ehrenstrom's touchdown and the Prowlers recovered the ball at the Laker 42. Nine plays later Ehrenstrom slammed his way through the middle again, this time scoring from three yards out for a commanding 33-6 bulge with just 4:54 remaining.

Detroit Lakes scored the game's final points on the first play from scrimmage after Ehrenstrom's second touchdown. Quarterback Jeff Hanson hit runningback Darrell Engen with a short pass on the left side. Engen then burned the Prowler secondary by sprinting 68 yards for the touchdown. Hanson passed to Tim Buckley for the two-point conversion to complete the scoring with 4:07 left.

"We ran the ball all right and defensively the kids played well," commented Sims after the game. "They (Detroit Lakes) stayed outside on defense to take our wide game away so we stuck inside and it worked."

Detroit Lakes coach Mary Kostelecky pointed to his team's inexperience as a major factor in the game. "That just shows you what happens when you play eight juniors on offense," he said. "We just couldn't get outside on them in the first half. It's pretty hard to play your kind of game when you're 13 or 14 points down by halftime."

THIEF RIVER FALLS runningback Mike Jury was chased by Detroit Lakes defender Larry Foltz as the Prowler senior picked up seven yards around left end in the fourth quarter of Friday night's high school football game played on the Prowler athletic field. Jury's run set up a three-yard touchdown by Kent Ehrenstrom on the next play as the Prowlers scored their final points in a one-sided 33-14 win over the Lakers. Jury rushed for 95 yards and scored two touchdowns to help spark a strong Thief River Falls ground game.

NWAC Nonconference Record Is Improved

Northwest Athletic Conference football teams won four of five nonconference tests Friday to make up for a poor opening-week effort that netted the five NWAC teams just two wins.

Conference winners this week included Bemidji with a 54-8 rout of Crosby-Ironton, Thief River Falls crushed Detroit Lakes 33-14, Crookston Central blanked Grand Forks Central 6-0 and East Grand Forks surprised Grand Forks Red River 14-8.

Fergus Falls was the only NWAC member to lose Friday, bowing to defending state Class A champion Alexandria 16-14.

Games on tap this week will find Fergus Falls traveling to East Grand Forks for the first NWAC affair of the year while Crookston hosts West Fargo, Thief River Falls visits St. Cloud Apollo and Bemidji entertains Minnehaha Academy in a Saturday night game.

EGF 14, Red River 8

East Grand Forks rolled up a 14-0 halftime lead enroute to a stunning 14-8 upset win over Grand Forks Red River.

The Green Wave, 1-1, for the year, scored on a nine-yard run by Brian Flom and a six-yard run by Rick Beck who rushed for 124 yards, his second straight 100-yard effort.

East Side held a 189-104 rushing yardage advantage, but Red River racked up 113 yards in the air. The Roughriders hurt themselves with five fumbles and an interception.

Alexandria 16, Fergus 14

Fergus Falls enjoyed a big statistical edge, but lost to Alexandria 16-14.

Fergus Falls scored first on a 71-yard run by Mike Thomas, but the Otters trailed 16-7 at halftime.

A Chuck Welle one-yard touchdown run with 7:06 remaining in the fourth quarter sliced the difference to 16-14, but Fergus Falls could get no closer.

Fergus Falls totaled 285 yards on offense, highlighted by a 96-yard rushing effort by Thomas. However, the Otters, 1-1 for the year, lost two fumbles and had two passes intercepted.

Crookston 6, Central 0

Mike Radi and Bob Ranum both rushed for over 100 yards to lead Crookston past Grand Forks Central 6-0 to level the Pirate record at 1-1.

Radi rushed 126 yards and Ranum gained 105 yards on the ground. Ranum scored the game's only touchdown on a 13-yard run in the first quarter.

Crookston controlled the ball for over 29 minutes while racking up 227 yards rushing and 69 more passing.

Bemidji 54, C-I 8

Jeff Eidsmoe passed for two first quarter touchdowns to spark Bemidji past Crosby-Ironton 54-8.

Jack Schwartz and Jim Grim caught Eidsmoe's scoring tosses. Dan Dow and Ben Leister scored on the ground and Eidsmoe passed again to Schwartz to end the first half scoring. Wayne Marty, Mark Larson and Mike Orgon added second half touchdowns for the Lumberjacks who won their second game.

Bemidji rushed for 281 yards to just 50 on the ground for Crosby-Ironton. Eidsmoe added 129 yards passing to the Lumberjacks' offense.

TRF 33, Detroit Lakes 14

Thief River Falls limited Detroit Lakes to just four yards rushing to claim a 33-14 win.

The 1-1 Prowlers racked up 351 yards on the ground, highlighted by Doug Dallmann's 132-yard effort. Mike Jury and Kent Ehrenstrom both scored twice for the Prowlers.

Moonbeam Start 1975-76 Season On Wednesday

Moonbeam bowling league will begin its 1975-76 season Wednesday at 9 p.m. at the Family Bowl.

A league spokesman reminded all Moonbeam bowlers that a short meeting will be held prior to the start of league bowling. The meeting is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

LHS Volleyball Team Loses To Moorhead 2-0

Moorhead defeated Thief River Falls 2-0 Thursday in the 1975 Prowler volleyball season opening match in the Lincoln high school gym.

Moorhead swept the varsity competition by 18-12 and 18-9 margins.

The Spuds also won the preliminary junior varsity match 2-0 by taking 18-10 and 18-7 decisions.

Thief River Falls will be back in action tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Prowler girls travel to Crookston Cathedral for a 7:30 p.m. match.

Red River Beats LHS Sophomores By 36-12 Margin

Grand Forks Red River defeated Thief River Falls 36-12 Thursday in a sophomore football game played at Grand Forks.

Red River led 28-6 at halftime. Thief River Falls touchdowns were scored on an 85-yard kick-off return by Chris Kays in the first quarter and on a 20-yard Kays to Jim White pass in the third quarter.

The loss was the second in two games for the Lincoln junior varsity-sophomore squads.

Thief River Falls is scheduled to be in action again today (Monday) with a 4 p.m. game at Grand Forks Central.

Retrieval Zone Established At Agassiz Refuge

A 75-yard wide waterfowl retrieving zone on the southeast corner of the Agassiz national wildlife refuge has been established for the 1975 waterfowl season.

That portion of the refuge boundary contiguous with the Elm Lake wildlife management area has been a popular "firing line" for the taking of Canada geese in recent years.

The establishment of the near two-mile long retrieving zone will help alleviate the problem of hunters illegally entering the wildlife refuge for the purpose of retrieving downed waterfowl.

The retrieval zone will be clearly identified with signs designating the boundaries of the "zone". Hunters access shall be in accordance with applicable state and federal regulations subject to the following special conditions:

1- Access will be authorized only for the retrieval of legally downed waterfowl, snipes and rails in that portion of the Agassiz NWR designated as a retrieval zone and so marked by signs;

2-Shooting both across and inside the boundaries of the Agassiz NWR is prohibited; and

3-No firearms of any kind will be allowed within the retrieval zone.

The establishment of this retrieval zone is pre-requiset to the establishment of a controlled hunting program planned for that area in 1976.

Plummer Blanks Gonvick 8-0 In North Tri County

Split end Dave Walter scored on a 60-yard pass from quarterback Jerry Fisher in the closing seconds of the first half to give Plummer an 8-0 North Tri County Conference football win over Gonvick Friday afternoon.

The win was the second triumph of the young 1975 season for coach Gary Brantl's Cardinals who will host Goodridge at 8 p.m. Friday in the season's third week of action.

Fisher, a sophomore, hit Walter for what looked like a 20-yard gain near the sidelines as the end of the first half neared. However, Walter did a tight-rope job keeping his feet inbounds while maneuvering past two would-be Gonvick tacklers. He then sprinted into the end zone to complete the stunning 60-yard play with just 20 seconds left in the first half.

Fisher followed up the touchdown with a successful two-point conversion pass to Stan Tvedt for the 8-0 margin.

Brantl called the game's only touchdown "a super effort" by Walter. "It was a fantastic effort to catch the pass, and an even greater effort to stay in bounds and get away from the defensive backs."

However, Brantl also said the pass play was the "only bright spot we had on offense." Penalties and inconsistency plagued the Plummer offense, pointed out Brantl.

Plummer rushed for 139 yards and added 79 yards passing. Tom Martell rushed for 69 yards and Walter caught three passes for 72 yards. Fisher completed five of 16 pass attempts.

The visiting Cardinals shined on defense, though, as they continually bottled up the Gonvick offense. The Bulldogs' only scoring threat came in the first half when Gonvick sacked a Plummer punter deep in Cardinal territory. Gonvick moved the ball down to the Plummer five-yard line, but could get no closer.

Walter

Fisher

"Our defense played a super ball game," said Brantl who cited end Steve Rosten, linebackers Carl Torkelson and Martell and nose guard Dan Willett for strong defensive games. Rosten, who was credited with eight tackes, four assisted tackles and three quarterbacks sacks, "played a whale of a game," said Brantl. Willett came through with 10 tackes and nine assists.

TRF To Host Cross Country Meet Tuesday

Thief River Falls will host a junior high school cross country invitational meet tomorrow (Tuesday) at 5 p.m. on the Thief River Falls Country Club golf course.

Coach Russ Smith's Prowler varsity cross country team will open its 1975 season Thursday by taking part in a 4:30 p.m. invitational meet at Crookston.

Newfolden Beats Middle River 2-1 In Volleyball

Marshall County Central defeated Middle River 2-1 Thursday in girls' volleyball competition.

Newfolden won the first game 18-16, Middle River took the second encounter 18-12, but Newfolden came back with and 18-12 decision in the third game to win the match.

Cheryl Larson of Newfolden served 15 points to lead all scorers. Teri Peterson of Middle River served nine points in the second game for top one-game scoring honors.

Newfolden won the preliminary junior varsity match 2-0 with 18-5 and 18-12 wins.

Golfers Split Season Opening Dual Meet Tests

Lincoln high school girls' golf team opened its 1975 season with a pair of dual meet matches last week at Fosston and Crookston.

Thief River Falls lost at Fosston on Thursday, but beat Crookston by a 234 to 250 margin Friday.

Prowler golfers were medalists both days. Elaine Charlson took home medalist honors at Crookston with a 43 and Cheri Onkka won medalist honors at Fosston with a 49.

No other details were made available.

Thief River Falls was scheduled to be back in action today (Monday) with a 4 p.m. match at Perham.

TRF Trap League City Tournament Slated Tonight

Thief River Falls Trap League will close out its 1975 season tonight (Monday) when the club hosts its annual city championship shoot at 7 p.m.

Eight teams will take part in tonight's team competition. The top four teams in each of the league's two half season standings qualified for the tournament.

VFW earned the final tournament berth Wednesday with a 113-100 win over A & W in a special shoot-off after the two teams tied for the fourth spot in the second half season standings. The tournament berth climaxed a remarkable second half season surge by the VFW squad that finished the first half season without a win.

Tonight's city championship field will include Thune-Upham, Legion, Northern State Bank, Johnson's Used Cars, Eagles, L. B. Hartz, Wilson Brothers and VFW.

League officials announced the club will be available for open shooting Wednesday.

Grygla Rally Nets 20-12 Triumph Over Goodridge

Grygla overcame a 6-0 halftime deficit with a 20-point second half that carried the Eagles to a 20-12 North Tri County Conference football win over rival Goodridge Friday afternoon.

The visiting Goodridge ball club scored the only points in a mistake-marred first half when tackle Richard Vraa scored on an unusual three-yard punt return.

Grygla punter Donovan Verbout was forced to punt from his own end zone midway through the second quarter. His high kick was caught in a stiff breeze and landed at the Grygla 15-yard line before bouncing back toward the goal line. The alert Vraa grabbed the ball in mid-air at the three between several Grygla defenders and fell into the end zone for the touchdown.

Grygla, handicapped by 75 yards in penalties in the first half, tied the game 6-6 in the third quarter when quarterback Gary Satre hit split end Jeff Stanley with a 13-yard scoring pass. The touchdown was set up by a Goodridge fumble at the Huskies 25-yard line just two plays into the second half.

The Eagles went ahead in the same quarter when Gordy Moe broke several tackles on a seven-yard scoring run off right tackle. Moe added the two-point conversion on the same type of play for a 14-6 ball game.

Goodridge sliced the difference to just 14-12 with five minutes left in the third quarter when quarterback Jim Johnson and halfback Randy Haugen combined for the Huskies' second touchdown. Johnson passed nine yards to Terry Cleven and then hit Kermit Overton with a 20-yard pass to set up the touchdow, a two-yard run by Haugen. The Huskies' try for the tying two-point conversion failed, however, when Haugen was stopped a half-yard short of the goal line.

Goodridge had another shot at scoring with about 2:30 remaining when the Huskies' defense held on downs near midfield. The Huskies' comeback hopes were short-lived, however, when Johnson had the ball knocked out of his grasp and Grygla defensive back Gary Satre caught the fumble in mid-air and returned it 55 yards for a clinching touchdown.

"I thought we played well, but just a few things killed us," said Goodridge coach Ken Ewertz, pointing to crucial fumbles, penalties and mental errors.

"I was pleased with the way we played in the second half," offered Grygla coach Jerry Lindstrom. "Penalties killed us in the first half, but we played a lot better in the second half. Goodridge really came to win; they kind of surprised us."

Grygla held a slight statistical edge. The Eagles rushed for 147 yards and added 41 yards on three completions in 11 pass attempts. Goodridge picked up 150 yards rushing and hit three of eight passes for 28 yards. Both teams lost three fumbles. Grygla intercepted two Goodridge passes while the Huskies intercepted one pass. Grygla suffered 85 yards in penalties and Goodridge was penalized for 35 yards.

Ewertz cited defensive ends Jerry Sunsdahl, a freshman, and Kevin Dahlen, a junior, both newcomers to football, for outstanding play. "I thought they did a heck-of a job," he said.

Satre, a safety, and cornerback Dale Warne were praised by Lindstrom for strong defensive play.

Grygla, now 1-1, will host Middle River at 1:30 p.m. Friday while Goodridge, 0-2, travels to Plummer for an 8 p.m. game.

BAUDETTE QUARTERBACK Mike Pepera was pulled down by an unidentified Newfolden defender during Friday night's Top of the State Conference ball game played at Newfolden. Rick Waterworth of Newfolden (60) also closed in on the ball carrier. The Nordics beat the Bears 22-8.

Newfolden Tops Baudette 22-8

Three different players scored touchdowns Friday as Marshall County Central evened its 1975 football seaason record at 1-1 with a 22-8 Top of the State Conference win over Lake of the Woods-Baudette in the Newfolden home opener.

Duane Floberg, Bruce Rokke and Kevin Sethre all scored for coach Sam Gebhart's Nordics who will travel to Warroad for another conference game this week.

Floberg scored in the first quarter on a one-yard run. The game's first touchdown was set up by a 42-yard Jeff Sorenson to Rokke pass play. Floberg also added the two-point conversion for an 8-0 lead.

Newfolden made it 16-0 at the start of the second quarter when Rokke, playing defensive end, intercepted a Baudette pass and ran it back 50 yards for a touchdown. Floberg again added the two-point conversion.

Baudette sliced the margin to 16-8 by halftime, however, on a 14-yard pass from quarterback Mike Pepera to Chris Cherekos. Dave Croy scored the two-point conversion.

Newfolden wrapped up the victory in the third quarter when back-up quarterback Kevin Sethre capped a long, sustained Nordic drive with a one-yard quarterback sneak.

"Our offense came along a lot this week and our defense played well," pointed out Gebhart who picked up his first win as Newfolden coach. Gebhart pointed to four pass interceptions by Newfolden defenders as the key to the game's outcome. Rokke intercepted two passes, while safety Bob Tunheim and linebacker Don Moose picked off one apiece.

Newfolden finished with 186 yards total offense, split nearly evenly between the pass and run. Floberg rushed for 44 of the team's 88 rushing yards while Rokke caught four passes for 75 of the team's 98 passing yards.

Baudette finished with only 121 yards total offense, 72 of those coming on the ground. Baudette held an 8-6 first down edge.

"Floberg ran well for us," commented Gebhart. "Our running game improved this week, and a few big passing plays kept us going at times.

Rain Postpones Girls' Tennis Match At Waubun

Rain forced postponement of Thursday's scheduled Thief River Falls-Waubun girls' tennis meet at Waubun.

The Lincoln high school girls are scheduled to play a 4 p.m. match at Crookston today (Monday) in the new Prowler season-opening match. Thief River Falls will host Mahnomen Saturday at 10 a.m.

Newfolden Hosts Horseshoe Meet September 14th

A horseshoe tournament sponsored by the Newfolden bicentennial committee will be held at that city horeshoe pits September 14 at 2 p.m. Cash prizes will be awarded and all interested persons may participate.

All participants must qualify before the tournament. The procedure for qualifying is to throw 25 shoes, record the number of ringers on a card, and send the card and a one dollar entry fee to Harvey Stokke, Newfolden.

Persons wishing to qualify at the Newfolden horseshoe pits may do so Sept. 10, 11, 12 and 13 in the evening, and Sept. 14 until noon.

Bad news for those who change homes frequently: Ordinarily, the tax on any gain on the sale of a house is deferred if you reinvest in another costing at least as much as the sales price of the old house. But now if you sell again within 18 months, even if you reinvest in a replacement home, you have to pay the tax on any gain.

GRYGLA END Jeff Stanley managed to hold onto the ball to score on a 13-yard pass play from quarterback Gary Satre during the third quarter of Friday's Grygla-Goodridge North Tri County Conference football game. Goodridge defender Randy Haugen trailed Stanley into the end zone. Grygla won the game 20-12.

LHS Swimmers Beat Detroit Lakes 68-14 In 1975 Opener

Lincoln high school girls' swimming team opened its 1975 season on a successful note Thursday by beating Detroit Lakes 68-14 in the Lakers' pool.

Coach John Hustad's Prowlers will open their home season schedule this week when Moorhead visits the Franklin middle school pool for a 4 p.m. meet Thursday.

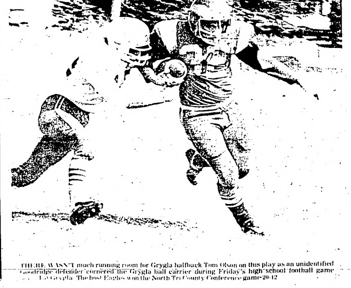
Joan Jury and Marci Pluth were double event winners for the Prowlers against the Lakers. Jury won the 50-yard freestyle in 25.6 and took the 500-yard freestyle in 6:25.0. Pluth won the 100-yard butterfly in 1:18.0 and captured the 200-yard individual medley in 2:42.3.

Other Prowler winners included Jody Dallmann in the diving competition with 132.7 points; Kathy Omdahl with a 1:05.6 in the 100-yard freestyle; Kim Wigness with a 1:16.9 in the 100-yard backstroke; Deb Williams with a 1:22.0 in the 100-yard breaststroke; and Joy Grant with a 2:26.6 in the 200-yard freestyle.

The Prowler 200-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relay teams also turned in first place times. The 200-yard medley unit of Beth Nichols, Shelly Lund, Williams and Omdahl was clocked in 2:15.5. The 400-yard freestyle foursome of Shelly Lund, Grant, Pluth and Jury turned in a 4:21.1.

Thief River Falls second place finishes were recorded by Omdahl in the 50-yard freestyle; Brenda Lund, diving; Shelly Lund, 100-yard butterfly; Georgi Desrocher, 100-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley; Nichols, 100-yard backstroke; Grant 500-yard freestyle; Johanna Desrocher, 200-yard freestyle; and a second 200-yard medley relay unit.

Other Prowler point scoring finishes included a third by another 400-yard freestyle relayunit and a fourth by Cari Worner in the 100-yard breaststroke.



THERE WASN'T much running room for Grygla halfback Tom Olson on this play as an unidentified Goodridge defender cornered the Grygla ball carrier during Friday's high school football game at Grygla. The host Eagles won the North Tri County Conference game 20-12.

GOODRIDGE DEFENSIVE back Randy Haugen leaped in front of Grygla runningback Bruce Jelle to intercept a pass during Friday's North Tri County Conference football game played at Grygla. The Eagles scored 14 points in the third quarter enroute to a 20-12 win.

At a time when the number of endangered species is growing, the heartening saga of the wood duck illustrates how imperiled creatures can be successfully rescued from the brink of extinction.

Once threatened by destruction of its habitat and illegal shooting, "the Beau Brummel among birds," as this colorful creature is known, now numbers between 2.5 and 3.5 million within the United States. But the future wasn't always so bright for the durable wood duck, according to the current (August-September) issue of "National Wildlife", published by the National Wildlife federation.

In the late 1800's, the bird's population fell into a steady decline, and by 1901 ornithologist A. K. Fisher of the old federal biological survey (forerunner of today's U.S. fish and wildlife service) warned that "unless strong protective measures are soon adopted, the wood duck will become extinct over a large part of its range."

With the exception of several eastern states, the admonition went unheeded while extensive lumbering destroyed large sections of forest vital to the duck's existence as a nesting ground. In addition, essential marshlands were drained to make way for further agricultural development, writes author William J. Weber, a Florida veterinarian-naturalist.

The decline of the wood duck became so drastic that naturalist Edward Howe Forbush discovered there were more of them in Europe than in the U.S., their native land, in the early 1900's.

Fortunately, congress acted in 1913 to pass the migratory bird law, which limited duck hunting, and five years later enacted the migratory bird treaty act to give the federal government more comprehensive power to regulate migratory bird hunting. As a result, the United States and Canada both abolished all wood duck hunting until 1941, by which time the threatened bird had made a spectacular comeback.

According to the national wildlife federation magazine article, many private citizens played a key role in the bird's recovery by building special wood duck nesting boxes in wetlands. A study of wood duck nesting begun in 1938 by the Illinois natural history survey led to a widespread nesting box program carried out by bird lovers, sportsmen and conservation agencies across the country.

One of the few migratory birds in the United States to rarely pass south of the border, the wood duck is found in a wide area that encompasses most of the Atlantic flyway and a large portion of the Mississippi River drainage system. Some of the birds also are found in the Pacific Northwest and California.

As with many wildlife species, the male is the beauty. In the spring, the drake is a strikingly handsome bird, reports "National Wildlife", distinguished by a rich green and purple crest, blazing red eyes and a reddish orange bill." The bird's scientific name, Aix sponsa, loosely translated is "a waterfowl in wedding garment," an apt description.

The female, in contrast, has a slightly [illegible] brownish coat with streaks of green and purple on her back and wings. Both birds are medium-sized ducks, about 20 inches long and weighing a pound and a half.

The wood duck mating is "an intensely sensuous courting ritual," notes Weber, leading the happy couple to search for a suitable nesting hole in a nearby tree.

Because wood ducks are creatures of habit, they will return year after year to the same nest site, a fact which underscores the importance of habitat preservation to their existence, the national wildlife federation publication notes.

Most wood duck chicks are hatched in mid-May, with a female duck laying between eight and 15 eggs in a single clutch. Of that number, only half generally survive the first few weeks of life, since the young ducklings are easy prey for turtles, large bass and other fish once they are introduced to water by their mother.

A talkative creature, the wood duck does not share the quack associated with other ducks. Its call is an ascending "peet-peet," which explains why some people call the wood duck the "squealer."

The birds lose their plumage during the summer molting season, the one time of year when they become flightless and extremely vulnerable to predators. But by September, the birds have sprouted their new feathers and are ready to fly again, reports "National Wildlife", a bimonthly conservation journal published for members of the national wildlife federation.

If your child is lucky enough to land a summer job here's further good news: a recent change in the low income allowance means that an individual can now earn up to $2,350 without owing income tax. To avoid having taxes withheld, file form W4E with the employer.

When possible use a reliable gauge of your own to check your tires for proper inflation. Due to lack of delicate calibration maintenance, many service station air towers are not accurate.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

BAUDETTE QUARTERBACK Mike Pepera was pulled down by an unidentified Newfolden defender during Friday night's Top of the State Conference ball game played at Newfolden. Rick Waterworth of Newfolden (60) also closed in on the ball carrier. The Nordics beat the Bears 22-8.

Newfolden Tops Baudette 22-8

Three different players scored touchdowns Friday as Marshall County Central evened its 1975 football seaason record at 1-1 with a 22-8 Top of the State Conference win over Lake of the Woods-Baudette in the Newfolden home opener.

Duane Floberg, Bruce Rokke and Kevin Sethre all scored for coach Sam Gebhart's Nordics who will travel to Warroad for another conference game this week.

Floberg scored in the first quarter on a one-yard run. The game's first touchdown was set up by a 42-yard Jeff Sorenson to Rokke pass play. Floberg also added the two-point conversion for an 8-0 lead.

Newfolden made it 16-0 at the start of the second quarter when Rokke, playing defensive end, intercepted a Baudette pass and ran it back 50 yards for a touchdown. Floberg again added the two-point conversion.

Baudette sliced the margin to 16-8 by halftime, however, on a 14-yard pass from quarterback Mike Pepera to Chris Cherekos. Dave Croy scored the two-point conversion.

Newfolden wrapped up the victory in the third quarter when back-up quarterback Kevin Sethre capped a long, sustained Nordic drive with a one-yard quarterback sneak.

"Our offense came along a lot this week and our defense played well," pointed out Gebhart who picked up his first win as Newfolden coach. Gebhart pointed to four pass interceptions by Newfolden defenders as the key to the game's outcome. Rokke intercepted two passes, while safety Bob Tunheim and linebacker Don Moose picked off one apiece.

Newfolden finished with 186 yards total offense, split nearly evenly between the pass and run. Floberg rushed for 44 of the team's 88 rushing yards while Rokke caught four passes for 75 of the team's 98 passing yards. Baudette finished with only 121 yards total offense, 72 of those coming on the ground. Baudette held an 8-6 first down edge.

"Floberg ran well for us," commented Gebhart. "Our running game improved this week, and a few big passing plays kept us going at times.

Rain Postpones Girls' Tennis Match At Waubun

Rain forced postponement of Thursday's scheduled Thief River Falls-Waubun girls' tennis meet at Waubun.

The Lincoln high school girls are scheduled to play a 4 p.m. match at Crookston today (Monday) in the new Prowler season-opening match. Thief River Falls will host Mahnomen Saturday at 10 a.m.

Newfolden Hosts Horseshoe Meet September 14th

A horseshoe tournament sponsored by the Newfolden bicentennial committee will be held at that city horeshoe pits September 14 at 2 p.m. Cash prizes will be awarded and all interested persons may participate.

All participants must qualify before the tournament. The procedure for qualifying is to throw 25 shoes, record the number of ringers on a card, and send the card and a one dollar entry fee to Harvey Stokke, Newfolden.

Persons wishing to qualify at the Newfolden horseshoe pits may do so Sept. 10, 11, 12 and 13 in the evening, and Sept. 14 until noon.

Bad news for those who change homes frequently: Ordinarily, the tax on any gain on the sale of a house is deferred if you reinvest in another costing at least as much as the sales price of the old house. But now if you sell again within 18 months, even if you reinvest in a replacement home, you have to pay the tax on any gain.

Grygla Rally Nets 20-12 Triumph Over Goodridge

Grygla overcame a 6-0 halftime deficit with a 20-point second half that carried the Eagles to a 20-12 North Tri County Conference football win over rival Goodridge Friday afternoon.

The visiting Goodridge ball club scored the only points in a mistake-marred first half when tackle Richard Vraa scored on an unusual three-yard punt return.

Grygla punter Donovan Verbout was forced to punt from his own end zone midway through the second quarter. His high kick was caught in a stiff breeze and landed at the Grygla 15-yard line before bouncing back toward the goal line. The alert Vraa grabbed the ball in mid-air at the three between several Grygla defenders and fell into the end zone for the touchdown.

Grygla, handicapped by 75 yards in penalties in the first half, tied the game 6-6 in the third quarter when quarterback Gary Satre hit split end Jeff Stanley with a 13-yard scoring pass. The touchdown was set up by a Goodridge fumble at the Huskies 25-yard line just two plays into the second half.

The Eagles went ahead in the same quarter when Gordy Moe broke several tackles on a seven-yard scoring run offright tackle. Moe added the two-point conversion on the same type of play for a 14-6 ball game.

Goodridge sliced the difference to just 14-12 with five minutes left in the third quarter when quarterback Jim Johnson and halfback Randy Haugen combined for the Huskies' second touchdown. Johnson passed nine yards to Terry Cleven and then hit Kermit Overton with a 20-yard pass to set up the touchdow, a two-yard run by Haugen. The Huskies' try for the tying two-point conversion failed, however, when Haugen was stopped a half-yard short of the goal line.

Goodridge had another shot at scoring with about 2:30 remaining when the Huskies' defense held on downs near midfield. The Huskies' comeback hopes were short-lived, however, when Johnson had the ball knocked out of his grasp and Grygla defensive back Gary Satre caught the fumble in mid-air and returned it 55 yards for a clinching touchdown.

"I thought we played well, but just a few things killed us," said Goodridge coach Ken Ewertz, pointing to crucial fumbles, penalties and mental errors.

"I was pleased with the way we played in the second half," offered Grygla coach Jerry Lindstrom. "Penalties killed us in the first half, but we played a lot better in the second half. Goodridge really came to win; they kind of surprised us."

Grygla held a slight statistical edge. The Eagles rushed for 147 yards and added 41 yards on three completions in 11 pass attempts. Goodridge picked up 150 yards rushing and hit three of eight passes for 28 yards. Both teams lost three fumbles. Grygla intercepted two Goodridge passes while the Huskies intercepted one pass. Grygla suffered 85 yards in penalties and Goodridge was penalized for 35 yards.

Ewertz cited defensive ends Jerry Sunsdahl, a freshman, and Kevin Dahlen, a junior, both newcomers to football, for outstanding play. "I thought they did a heck of a job," he said.

Satre, a safety, and cornerback Dale Warne were praised by Lindstrom for strong defensive play.

Grygla, now 1-1, will host Middle River at 1:30 p.m. Friday while Goodridge, 0-2, travels to Plummer for an 8 p.m. game.

GOODRIDGE DEFENSIVE back Randy Haugen leaped in front of Grygla runningback Bruce Jelle to intercept a pass during Friday's North Tri County Conference football game played at Grygla. The Eagles scored 14 points in the third quarter enroute to a 20-12 win.

GRYGLA END Jeff Stanley managed to hold onto the ball to score on a 13-yard pass play from quarterback Gary Satre during the third quarter of Friday's Grygla-Goodridge North Tri County Conference football game. Goodridge defender Randy Haugen trailed Stanley into the end zone. Grygla won the game 20-12.

LHS Swimmers Beat Detroit Lakes 68-14 In 1975 Opener

Lincoln high school girls' swimming team opened its 1975 season on a successful note Thursday by beating Detroit Lakes 68-14 in the Lakers' pool.

Coach John Hustad's Prowlers will open their home season schedule this week when Moorhead visits the Franklin middle school pool for a 4 p.m. meet Thursday.

Joan Jury and Marci Pluth were double event winners for the Prowlers against the Lakers. Jury won the 50-yard freestyle in 25.6 and took the 500-yard freestyle in 6:25.0. Pluth won the 100-yard butterfly in 1:18.0 and captured the 200-yard individual medley in 2:42.3.

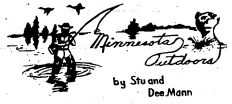
Other Prowler winners included Jody Dallmann in the diving competition with 132.7 points; Kathy Omdahl with a 1:05.6 in the 100-yard freestyle; Kim Wigness with a 1:16.9 in the 100-yard backstroke; Deb Williams with a 1:22.0 in the 100-yard breaststroke; and Joy Grant with a 2:26.6 in the 200-yard freestyle.

The Prowler 200-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relay teams also turned in first place times. The 200-yard medley unit of Beth Nichols, Shelly Lund, Williams and Omdahl was clocked in 2:15.5. The 400-yard freestyle foursome of Shelly Lund, Grant, Pluth and Jury turned in a 4:21.1.

Thief River Falls second place finishes were recorded by Omdahl in the 50-yard freestyle; Brenda Lund, diving; Shelly Lund, 100-yard butterfly; Georgi Desrocher, 100-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley; Nichols, 100-yard backstroke; Grant 500-yard freestyle; Johanna Desrocher, 200-yard freestyle; and a second 200-yard medley relay unit.

Other Prowler point scoring finishes included a third by another 400-yard freestyle relayunit and a fourth by Cari Worner in the 100-yard breaststroke.

THERE WASN'T much running room for Grygla halfback Tom Olson on this play as an unidentified Goodridge defender cornered the Grygla ball-carrier during Friday's high school football game [illegible] Grygla. The host Eagles won the North Tri County Conference game 20-12.



Minnesota Outdoors

by Stu and Dee Mann

At a time when the number of endangered species is growing, the heartening saga of the wood duck illustrates how imperiled creatures can be successfully rescued from the brink of extinction.

Once threatened by destruction of its habitat and illegal shooting, "the Beau Brummel among birds," as this colorful creature is known, now numbers between 2.5 and 3.5 million within the United States. But the future wasn't always so bright for the durable wood duck, according to the current (August-September) issue of "National Wildlife", published by the National Wildlife federation.

In the late 1800's, the bird's population fell into a steady decline, and by 1901 ornithologist A. K. Fisher of the old federal biological survey (forerunner of today's U.S. fish and wildlife service) warned that "unless strong protective measures are soon adopted, the wood duck will become extinct over a large part of its range."

With the exception of several eastern states, the admonition went unheeded while extensive lumbering destroyed large sections of forest vital to the duck's existence as a nesting ground. In addition, essential marshlands were drained to make way for further agricultural development, writes author William J. Weber, a Florida veterinarian-naturalist.

The decline of the wood duck became so drastic that naturalist Edward Howe Forbush discovered there were more of them in Europe than in the U.S., their native land, in the early 1900's.

Fortunately, congress acted in 1913 to pass the migratory bird law, which limited duck hunting, and five years later enacted the migratory bird treaty act to give the federal government more comprehensive power to regulate migratory bird hunting. As a result, the United States and Canada both abolished all wood duck hunting until 1941, by which time the threatened bird had made a spectacular comeback.

According to the national wildlife federation magazine article, many private citizens played a key role in the bird's recovery by building special wood duck nesting boxes in wetlands. A study of wood duck nesting begun in 1938 by the Illinois natural history survey led to a widespread nesting box program carried out by bird lovers, sportsmen and conservation agencies across the country.

One of the few migratory birds in the United States to rarely pass south of the border, the wood duck is found in a wide area that encompasses most of the Atlantic flyway and a large portion of the Mississippi River drainage system. Some of the birds also are found in the Pacific Northwest and California.

As with many wildlife species the male is the beauty. In the spring, the drake is a strikingly handsome bird, reports "National Wildlife," distinguished by a rich green and purple crest, blazing red eyes and a reddish orange bill." The bird's scientific name, Aix sponsa, loosely translated is "a waterfowl [illegible]."

The female in contrast [illegible] streaks of green and purple on her back and wings. Both birds are medium-sized ducks, about 20 inches long and weighing a pound and a half.

The wood duck mating is "an intensely sensuous courting ritual," notes Weber, leading the happy couple to search for a suitable nesting hole in a nearby tree.

Because wood ducks are creatures of habit, they will return year after year to the same nest site, a fact which underscores the importance of habitat preservation to their existence, the national wildlife federation publication notes.

Most wood duck chicks are hatched in mid-May, with a female duck laying between eight and 15 eggs in a single clutch. Of that number, only half generally survive the first few weeks of life, since the young ducklings are easy prey for turtles, large bass and other fish once they are introduced to water by their mother.

A talkative creature, the wood duck does not share the quack associated with other ducks. Its call is an ascending "peet-peet," which explains why some people call the wood duck the "squealer."

The birds lose their plumage during the summer molting season, the one time of year when they become flightless and extremely vulnerable to predators. But by September, the birds have sprouted their new feathers and are ready to fly again, reports "National Wildlife", a bimonthly conservation journal published for members of the national wildlife federation.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son, Rocky Nerhus, who passed away one year ago, Aug. 2, 1974.
The blow was hard, the shock severe.
I never thought his death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell
What we would give to hold his hands
His dear face to see.
His loving smile, his welcome voice,
That meant so much to us.
How bare our home is without Rocky.
Sadly missed by Father, Mother, sister and brother.

Card of Thanks

Words cannot express our heartful thanks for all the kindness shown us, at the death of our beloved husband, son, father and grandfather.
We are deeply grateful for Rev. Berger's words of comfort and Green Funeral home who made the final arrangements, to the Elizabeth circle for the noon luncheon, for all the cards and memorials and food brought to our home.
God Bless you all.

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT

The Community Development Renewal Project in South Central Area proposed under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 has been environmentally reviewed by the City. It is our conclusion that the South Central Area project will have no significant effect on the environment.

The activities proposed for the South Central Area are as follows: Acquisition and clearance of Burlington Northern property between Main and LaBree Avenue, more precisely, the acquisition and removal and-or relocation of Falls Farm Service, one quonset storage shed, the railroad depot, and its related parts on the project site. In addition, the assistance in rehabilitation of at least ten homes in the City. The implementation of the proposed activities has been environmentally reviewed concerning: Historic Properties, Noise Standards, Coastal Zones and Wetlands, Air Quality, Water Quality, and Wildlife legislation set forth by the Federal and State government. After reviewing the possible impacts this project has on the physical, social, and aesthetic environment of the area, it is our conclusion that none of the proposed activities would significantly alter any portion of the existing environment.

The City has prepared an ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW RECORD that examines the project and has the data base that was used to determine the possible environmental effects of the project.

This ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW RECORD is on file in the Community Development Office of the City Auditorium and may be examined or copied during working hours (8-5) Monday through Friday.

Due to the finding of no significant effect mentioned above, no further environmental review of this project is proposed to be conducted and the City intends to request HUD to release funds.

Any comments may be submitted to the Community Development Office, P.O. Box 528, City Auditorium, Thief River Falls until September 18, 1975 which is 15 working days following first day of publication August 27, 1975.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

September 8, 1975
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
August 26, 1975

Pursuant to call for a special meeting to continue discussions on City-County participation in construction of the Urban section of the Airport road the County Board met in Special Session in the Rex Cafe at 12:15 P.M., August 26, 1975.

Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

All members waived the 10 day statutory requirement for call of a special meeting. Also present were the City and County Engineers and the City Street Committee.

A draft of an agreement drawn pursuant to discussions held at a regular meeting of the Board on March 25th was reviewed and discussed. The matter of maintenance of the Urban section was discussed and it was clarified that the road was a County road to be maintained by the County. Curb and gutter problems were traditionally taken care of by the City.

It was agreed that certain sections of 'stub ends' of County roads that exist in and around the City should be reviewed by the City Council and County Board at an early meeting.

Commissioner Naplin introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, A Cooperative Construction Agreement for construction of a Federal Aid Urban Section of C.S.A.H. No. 17 to be known as SP No. 57-617-06 was before the County Board for their consideration.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that said Construction Agreement be approved and the Chairman and Auditor be authorized and instructed to sign said agreement in behalf of the County of Pennington.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Stenberg and declared unanimously carried.

A Plat titled Oak Grove Heights Subd. of Rocksbury Township was presented for approval by Harry Oen covering approximately 8.37 acres in Govt. Lot 10, Sec. 9-153-43.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Christianson that Plat of Oak Grove Heights Subd. be approved. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Stenberg seconded by Hanson that meeting adjourn. Motion carried.

GLENN TASA, CHAIRMAN
PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD
ATTEST: C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor & Ex-Officio, Clerk of the Board.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
August 26, 1975

Pursuant to published notice of meeting to consider benefits in procedure providing for use of Drainage Ditch No. 70 the County Board met in Special Session in the 1st Floor Meeting Room in the Courthouse at 8:30 P.M., August 26, 1975.

Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

Six landowners were also present along with Committee members of the City Council.

An Order relative to Petition for Use of Drainage Ditch by a Municipality dated Aug. 10, 1971 was reviewed and read aloud to the group present.

The Board was appraised of the fact that the City of Thief River Falls had extended the ditch to the West to provide for an outlet for the lagoons. The lagoons had capacity enough to provide for controlled outlet of any treated discharge so that it was not necessary to increase the outlet. The outlet was adequate for the needs of the landowners.

The Chairman explained that the drainage laws provide that where County roads cross over drainage ditches the structures are the responsibility of the County and the same with all other Cities or Townships. Discussion was directed toward the need for resloping the outlet of the ditch for various reasons.

The Auditor indicated that the lagoons are on land that was only partly assessed into the benefited area of the County Ditch 70 system.

After considerable discussion it was moved by Hanson seconded by Stenberg that the Auditor transmit a proposal to the City Council which would provide that the City be relieved of any assessment for maintenance on their lagoon area in exchange for the City taking over the maintenance of the entire outlet from the Lagoons and East to the river. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Christianson seconded by Naplin that the Engineer and Auditor be authorized and instructed to call for a Public Hearing to consider a proposed program for use of 'Off-System Funds' for deficient bridge replacement with said hearing to be held at 8:00 P.M., Thursday, September 11, 1975 in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls. Motion declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Naplin seconded by Christianson that meeting adjourn. Motion carried.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our dear son, Rocky Nerhus, who passed away one year ago, Aug. 2, 1974.

The blow was hard, the shock severe.
I never thought his death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell
What we would give to hold his hands
His dear face to see.
His loving smile, his welcome voice,
That meant so much to us.
How bare our home is without Rocky.

Sadly missed by Father, Mother, sister and brother. 1t70p

Card of Thanks
We would like to extend a thank you to the Thief Lake ALCW for the benefit supper for Myron, also to the many neighbors, friends and relatives for the generous contributions.
Your thoughtfulness will always be remembered.
God bless you all!

Card of Thanks
Words cannot express our heartful thanks for all the kindness shown us, at the death of our beloved husband, son, father and grandfather.
We are deeply grateful for Rev. Berger's words of comfort and Green Funeral home who made the final arrangements, to the Elizabeth circle for the noon luncheon, for all the cards and memorials and food brought to our home.
God Bless you all.

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT
The Community Development Renewal Project in South Central Area proposed under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 has been environmentally reviewed by the City. It is our conclusion that the South Central Area project will have no significant effect on the environment.
The activities proposed for the South Central Area are as follows: Acquisition and clearance of Burlington Northern property between Main and LaBree Avenue, more precisely, the acquisition and removal and-or relocation of Falls Farm Service, one quonset storage shed, the railroad depot, and its related parts on the project site. In addition, the assistance in rehabilitation of at least ten homes in the City. The implementation of the proposed activities has been environmentally reviewed concerning: Historic Properties, Noise Standards, Coastal Zones and Wetlands, Air Quality, Water Quality, and Wildlife legislation set forth by the Federal and State government. After reviewing the possible impacts this project has on the physical, social, and aesthetic environment of the area, it is our conclusion that none of the proposed activities would significantly alter any portion of the existing environment.
The City has prepared an ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW RECORD that examines the project and has the data base that was used to determine the possible environmental effects of the project.
This ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW RECORD is on file in the Community Development Office of the City Auditorium and may be examined or copied during working hours (8-5) Monday through Friday.
Due to the finding of no significant effect mentioned above, no further environmental review of this project is proposed to be conducted and the City intends to request HUD to release funds.
Any comments may be submitted to the Community Development Office, P.O. Box 528, City Auditorium, Thief River Falls until September 18, 1975 which is 15 working days following first day of publication August 27, 1975.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

September 8, 1975
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
August 26, 1975

Pursuant to call for a special meeting to continue discussions on City-County participation in construction of the Urban section of the Airport road the County Board met in Special Session in the Rex Cafe at 12:15 P.M., August 26, 1975.
Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.
All members waived the 10 day statutory requirement for call of a special meeting. Also present were the City and County Engineers and the City Street Committee.
A draft of an agreement drawn pursuant to discussions held at a regular meeting of the Board on March 25th was reviewed and discussed. The matter of maintenance of the Urban section was discussed and it was clarified that the road was a County road to be maintained by the County. Curb and gutter problems were traditionally taken care of by the City.
It was agreed that certain sections of 'stub ends' of County roads that exist in and around the City should be reviewed by the City Council and County Board at an early meeting.
Commissioner Naplin introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:
WHEREAS, A Cooperative Construction Agreement for construction of a Federal Aid Urban Section of C.S.A.H. No. 17 to be known as SP No. 57-617-06 was before the County Board for their consideration.
NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that said Construction Agreement be approved and the Chairman and Auditor be authorized and instructed to sign said agreement in behalf of the County of Pennington.
The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Stenberg and declared unanimously carried.
A Plat titled Oak Grove Heights Subd. of Rocksbury Township was presented for approval by Harry Oen covering approximately 8.37 acres in Govt. Lot 10, Sec. 9-153-43.
Moved by Hanson seconded by Christianson that Plat of Oak Grove Heights Subd. be approved. Motion declared unanimously carried.
Moved by Stenberg seconded by Hanson that meeting adjourn. Motion carried.
GLENN TASA, CHAIRMAN
PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD
ATTEST: C. W. Rodekuhr, County Auditor & Ex-Officio, Clerk of the Board.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
August 26, 1975

Pursuant to published notice of meeting to consider benefits in procedure providing for use of Drainage Ditch No. 70 the County Board met in Special Session in the 1st Floor Meeting Room in the Courthouse at 8:30 P.M., August 26, 1975.
Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.
Six landowners were also present along with Committee members of the City Council.
An Order relative to Petition for Use of Drainage Ditch by a Municipality dated Aug. 10, 1971 was reviewed and read aloud to the group present.
The Board was appraised of the fact that the City of Thief River Falls had extended the ditch to the West to provide for an outlet for the lagoons. The lagoons had capacity enough to provide for controlled outlet of any treated discharge so that it was not necessary to increase the outlet. The outlet was adequate for the needs of the landowners.
The Chairman explained that the drainage laws provide that where County roads cross over drainage ditches the structures are the responsibility of the County and the same with all other Cities or Townships. Discussion was directed toward the need for resloping the outlet of the ditch for various reasons.
The Auditor indicated that the lagoons are on land that was only partly assessed into the benefited area of the County Ditch 70 system.
After considerable discussion it was moved by Hanson seconded by Stenberg that the Auditor transmit a proposal to the City Council which would provide that the City be relieved of any assessment for maintenance on their lagoon area in exchange for the City taking over the maintenance of the entire outlet from the Lagoons and East to the river. Motion declared unanimously carried.
Moved by Christianson seconded by Naplin that the Engineer and Auditor be authorized and instructed to call for a Public Hearing to consider a proposed program for use of 'Off-System Funds' for deficient bridge replacement with said hearing to be held at 8:00 P.M., Thursday, September 11, 1975 in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls. Motion declared unanimously carried.
Moved by Naplin seconded by Christianson that meeting adjourn. Motion carried.

Flood Damage Loans Open To Red Lake Farms

FmHA Pennington county supervisor, Loren D. Luschen, reported that farmers in Red Lake county who sustained production or physical losses as a result of severe storms, rainfall and flooding which occurred June 26 to July 3, may be eligible to receive emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration.

These loan applications will be taken under the terms of public law 93-237 enacted January 2, 1974. Individual examination will be made of each application to determine the date of the disaster occurrence and the type of emergency loan benefits for which the applicant is eligible.

This year it will also be possible to obtain guaranteed emergency loans through conventional lenders. The lender submits the loan proposal to the FmHA and requests the FmHA to guarantee the loan. The rate of interest and the terms would be the same as if it was obtained directly from FmHA. Luschen stated that if the farmer's lender is interested in granting a guaranteed emergency loan, the lender may pick up the necessary forms from the local FmHA office.

Farm emergency loans may include funds to repair or restore damaged or destroyed farm property, as well as reimburse applicants for expenses already incurred for such purposes. Loans based on qualifying production losses may include funds to reimburse applicants for production expenses which went into damaged or destroyed crops, as well as reimburse applicants for expenses already incurred for such purposes for which the loan is used and the applicant's payment ability. Emergency loan interest rates are five per cent. No loan may exceed the actual loss sustained.

Luschen stated that applications for losses involving production expenses will be accepted until April 19, 1976. Applications for physical losses, such as damaged or destroyed buildings or equipment, must be filed in the Thief River Falls FmHA county office no later than October 9, 1975.

Information concerning emergency loans may be obtained and applications may be filed at the Pennington County FmHA office, located at Highway 59 South, Thief River Falls.

Class Of 1976 Eligible For Scholarships

"Bicentennial Seniors," a nationwide $250,000 scholarship program for high school seniors who will graduate with the class of 1976, is being launched this month by the National association of secondary school principals.

One national winner will receive a $10,000 scholarship and 102 state winners will receive $1000 grants under the program.

Winners will be selected first locally, then on a statewide level. Two graduating seniors will be chosen in each state and the District of Columbia. Each of the 102 winners will also receive an all-expense-paid trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, from January 16 through 19 to attend seminars and hear noted speakers discuss educational and social issues facing this country today. The national winner will be selected during the Williamsburg conference.

Students taking part in the "Bicentennial Seniors" competition must demonstrate an understanding of America's past and possible directions for the future and an involvement in the social and community issues faced by America today.

Competition will include the preparation of a minute-long television script to be patterned after the CBS television network's 200 years ago today "Bicentennial Minutes;" a commentary discussing the significance of the "minute" for today and the lessons it contains for the future; and a current events examination emphasizing issues and events from the past year.

High school seniors should see their principal for details on how to participate in this scholarship program. Applications must be filed no later than October 6, 1975.

The program is administered by NASSP and is funded by the Shell oil company. "Bicentennial Seniors" is endorsed by the American revolution bicentennial administration.

Lurtsema Will Be Chairman Of Don't Smoke Day

Robert Ross Lurtsema, perhaps better known as "Benchwarmer Bob", has been named honorary chairman of Minnesota D-Day—the day the state's 850,000 smokers will be asked to kick the habit for 24 hours.

D-Day, the second to be sponsored by the Minnesota division of the American Cancer society and 15 other state health and educational organizations, will take place October 21. This year's campaign theme is, "Take a day off from smoking. Maybe you'll even like it."

While the Minnesota D-Day committee didn't mention it, the huge defensive lineman of the Minnesota Vikings may have been selected on the basis of size as well as popularity. If a 6-6, 250-pound man asked you to stop smoking, maybe you would. And there's always the implied suggestion to young people that if Lurtsema had smoked, he might not have been a professional athlete at all.

In any event, Lurtsema will serve as honorary chairman of Minnesota D-Day, October 21, the culmination of a state-wide non-smoking campaign. While smokers are just asked to quit for that day, the D-Day committee hopes that many may quit for good.

The outgrowth of a community-wide project in Monticello, the first Minnesota D-Day last year received national and worldwide attention. This year's goal is more pledges, starting with a pledge card drive and publicity kickoff at the Minnesota state fair. A three-week countdown to D-Day itself begins October 1 with an intensive health education campaign.

EGF Arts And Crafts Show Coming Oct. 4-5

Third annual East Grand Forks arts and crafts show will be held October 4 and 5 in the new East Grand Forks civic recreation center on Demers avenue north. Hours will be from 11 a.m. on Saturday and from noon 'till 5 p.m. Sunday.

The show is sponsored by the East Grand Forks chamber of commerce and general chairmen are Evelyn Wolfgram and JoAnn Seyler. The show marks the beginning of the East Grand Forks bicentennial celebration.

Chairmen say that anyone may register to display and sell at the show, both amateur and professional. Arts and crafts demonstrations will be presented during the two days and many Christmas items will be available for sale.

Deadline for registration is September 22, and blanks are available at the East Grand Forks chamber of commerce, 315 Demers avenue, East Grand Forks, Minn.

Brother Of Area Woman Aids In Apollo Recovery

Marine Private first class David E. Longie, brother of Mrs. Carol Olson of Red Lake Falls, helped provide security for the Apollo astronauts and their equipment while serving aboard the amphibious assault ship USS New Orleans.

He was part of a special detachment from the 1st marine division at the marine corps base, Camp Pendleton, Calif., assigned to the ship for the splashdown and recovery operations.

Form Glenmore To Give Chemical Dependent Help

Glenmore foundation in Crookston, a private treatment center providing complete treatment services for persons afflicted with the illness of chemical dependency, is now in its second year of operation.

Years ago a number of concerned people attempted to provide some type of treatment service for those who had alcohol or drug problems. The group known as the Northwest council on drug and alcohol problems decided it could best serve this area as a coordinating and planning council and decided to sell its facilities to a private corporation which could develop a direct service program. The council sold its treatment facility to Glenmore in June of 1973.

Glenmore corporation was formed. Bishop Kenneth Povish serves as chairman. Other members of the board are Mrs. Glenn Gumlia, Rev. James Hanson, Morris Dickel, Dale Knotek and Rev. Robert Wittenstrom who serves as executive president. Glenmore is the only fully accredited treatment center in northwestern Minnesota.

For more information write or call Glenmore Foundation Inc., 600 College Ave., Crookston, MN 56716, phone 281-3123.

Memorials Given To Cancer Fund

Memorials to the American Cancer society were recently received, according to Mrs. Charles Krause, Pennington County Cancer Memorial chairman, in the names of the late Jon Bergland, Sophie Howick, Melvin Stene and Gilbert Holden.

All gifts are used for cancer research, education and service.

Time To Prepare Trailer Tires For Storage

As summer's camping and boating activities end, the Minnesota state patrol offers some trailer tire storage tips that will help keep those tires sound and safe for next year's travels.

If possible, the trailer or camper should be placed on blocks for the winter with the wheels removed and the weight thus taken off the tires. The tires can then be stored in a cool, dry place away from the sun's rays which have a deteriorating effect. Air pressure should be reduced to 10 pounds.

If it is not feasible to remove the wheels from the vehicle, the trailer or camper should still be placed on blocks and the air pressure of the tires reduced.

This is also a good time to thoroughly inspect the tires for safe tread depth (not less than one-sixteenth inch), nails, stones, bits of glass, and for fabric breaks and cuts.

Since exposure to water, particularly on boat trailers, and heat buildup from the summer's travels can break down the grease in the trailer's bearings, it is also recommended that each wheel bearing be cleaned and repacked now with fresh lubricant.

Come next spring, all the motorist need do is add air, bolt the wheels back on the vehicle, check the lights and hitch, and be safely on his way.

GOP Committee Makes Plans For Coming Events

Planning committee meeting of the Pennington county Republican committee was held at the Rex cafe Friday evening.

Plans were discussed for the open house at the Dr. Donald Goodrich home on September 21, the meeting of county officers from the northern part of the Seventh district at the Elks club on Saturday, September 27, and the neighbor to neighbor drive.

Chairing the meeting was Mrs. Joan Harris, the new Pennington county Republican chairwoman. Others present were Mrs. Margaret Moeglein, new Pennington county Republican vice chairwoman; Mrs. Gladys Barron, secretary; Mrs. Joan Melgaard, treasurer; Mrs. Darlene Mortenson, Mrs. Delores Anderson, Mrs. Retta Klemisch and Dr. David M. Brown, Pennington county Republican chairman.

Newfolden Fall Auction Set For September 27

Newfolden's fall festival community auction will be held September 27 at 10:30 a.m. The event is sponsored by the Newfolden Bicentennial committee. Bert Trane and Johnny Clow are the auctioneers, and Marshall county state bank will clerk the sale.

Persons with items to be auctioned are asked to bring their list to Newfolden and submit it to any businessman in town. If items are to be listed on the same bill, these must be listed by September 12. Items can be brought in Thursday, September 25 and Friday, September 26. All items will be numbered and each item submitted by one owner will have the same number.

At noon a barbeque will be served, and the Newfolden boys' club will sell soft drinks all day. Evening entertainment has not been finalized at this time.

City Sells Liquor Store Tuesday Night

As expected, the Thief River Falls city council, in a regular meeting Tuesday night in the city auditorium council chambers, accepted the highest bid for the purchase of the municipal on-sale liquor facility at 307 Main avenue north.

Highest of three bids was $85,500 by Marvin Neelan and Charles Blazek of Thief River Falls. Myrle Carlson and Duane Walton, both of Thief River Falls, each submitted a bid of $80,000. The council resolution, moved by Milton Reierson and seconded by Roger Worth, was unanimous.

In sketches presented at a previous council meeting, Blazek and Neelan indicated that the building would undergo extensive remodeling, but still retain its present function as a so-called "working man's bar". There will be no off-sale liquor sold at that location. Possession of the property will be granted on or about January 15. Meanwhile, the partners will go through normal channels in pursuit of a liquor license.

In other matters, two low bids by Westinghouse electric supply of Fargo (Wesco) were approved for the sale of 500 KVA pad mounted transformers to the city for use at the new Best Western motel and the medical office building addition at Northwestern hospital.

Wesco's bid of $3,906 for the motel was $192.30 less than the second lowest of five bids offered. The highest bid was $6,015. For the medical office building, Wesco bid $4,134, which was $109.80 less than the second lowest of five bids and $2,476 less than the highest bid. Delivery date for the transformers was set at ten weeks.

Following a brief hearing, the council voted to order bituminous surfacing of an alley between Horace and Atlantic avenues from Eighth to Ninth street. Of five city residents attending the hearing who will be assessed for the black topping, four voted in favor and one was against.

The council approved a request by police chief Kenneth Froschheiser that it make more space available along the north and east sides of the law enforcement building (which is presently under construction) to allow cranes to operate in the area. The parking lane areas on the two streets bordering the center lot will be fenced while the cranes are in operation to allow the extra space.

Also at Chief Froschheiser's request, load restrictions on Spruce avenue between First and Third streets were eliminated to allow trucks and buses to pass through.

The appointments of Dennis Kiesow as investigator with the city police department and Kenneth Aarestad to fill a vacancy with the volunteer fire department were approved.

A dance license for the Kat Haus, investigated and recommended by the chief of police, was granted. The dance floor will be a 12 x 15 foot area in the southwest corner of the building.

A motion was passed setting December 2 as the date for the letting of bids for excavation and grading of the urban section of the Pennington avenue improvement project.

Teacher Rights Workshop Slated

Some 400 teachers from throughout the state are expected to attend the teacher rights workshop Friday and Saturday, September 19 and 20, sponsored by the Minnesota Education association (MEA) in Bloomington.

QUITTING TIME is whenever D. S. Green decides it should be, but he still checks his faithful railroad watch on occasion. He bought the 23 jewel watch in 1916 when he started work on the Soo Line railroad and it still keeps excellent time. "I don't know who time will run out for first, me or the watch," the 83-year-old gardener says.

Gardener Green Turns 83 Today

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

"I eat when I'm hungry, go to bed when I'm tired, and when I wake up I get up." That self-inflicted routine, which is as variable as the wind—plus an addiction to work and exercise—is credited by D. S. Green of rural Thief River Falls with making him feel as well as he does. Green is 83 years old today.

"Arthur used to give me a lot of pain a couple of years ago," Green says, using his favorite nickname for the plague of arthritis. "But since I've had the garden and been busy during the winter, I've felt a lot better and I can keep on a goin'."

Green's successful garden, located on five acres of his son's land three and one-half miles west and a mile south of Thief River Falls, is about 250-500 feet in size. It includes several varieties of sweet corn ("to see which one works out the best"), squash, carrots, beets, onions and potatoes.

"I don't do any hand work at all," Green says, "except when I let that eight-horse garden cultivator pull me around." But he did pick a couple hundred dozen ears of corn for sale through the Hartz warehouse, dig a few potatoes and shock some corn which was through producing for the year.

"And I didn't miss a day last winter but what I was out cutting down some trees with a Swede saw," he adds. "I had to clear a road back through the woods so I worked on that. And I took out an oil burner and put in a wood stove because I have lots of wood to burn."

The five acres on which he lives belongs to his son Dalen Green, a former Baltimore, Md., school teacher who moved with his wife and daughter to Australia to teach last August. "I'm really just a squatter here," he says, "and Dalen expects to come back and live here when he finishes up in Australia in about a year and a half. But he told me to go ahead and do what I wanted to on the place and that's what I've been doin'."

Another son, Dennis, who owns the other 75 acres of the 80, asked him if he wouldn't rather have a chain saw to help with the tree cutting and brush clearing chores. "When the snow gets two feet deep and you get to be my age, I could cut a leg off with one of those things," he said. "A Swede saw stops when I quit

Community Band Begins Monday At Northland

Northland community college will sponsor the community band again this academic year. Last year the band maintained a membership of approximately 60 members including college students, AVTI students, and adults and students from over a dozen northwestern Minnesota communities.

The first rehearsal and organizational meeting for this year will be at 7 p.m. Monday, and will continue from 7-9 p.m. each Monday evening in the college auditorium. Community band may be taken without any fee or tuition, but this year, for the first time, people will have the option of registering for one college credit at a charge of $10.25 for tuition and fees.

A fall quarter concert, Autumn Musicale II, will feature the band in its first public performance this season in the Northland college fine arts auditorium on November 16. Area persons are invited to participate in this years band activities either as a returning band member or for the first time.

For further information regarding community band or availability of instruments, etc. please contact Les Torgerson, director of music, Northland community college (681-2181).

Financial Aid Workshop Set For NCC Tues.

A workshop on post-secondary education financial aid programs will be held on Tuesday at Northland community college for high school counselors in the Thief Rivers Falls area.

The workshop will begin at 9 a.m. at the Northland Theatre, by Ken Wiebolt, NCC financial aid director.

The workshop is one of several being conducted throughout the state this fall by the higher education coordinating commission and the American college testing program, in conjunction with the Minnesota association of financial aid administrators. There is no charge.

Focus of the workshop will be on state financial aid programs, primarily the Minnesota state scholarship and grant-in-aid programs. Recent changes in the legislation and the needs analysis process will be stressed.

The commission administers the Minnesota state scholarship and grant-in-aid programs, the medical student loan program, the state student loan program, the veterans' dependents assistance program, the Minnesota work-study program, the foreign student assistance program, and the Minnesota-Wisconsin and the Minnesota-North Dakota reciprocal tuition programs.

Inquiries should be directed to Margaret Dean, coordinator of state scholarship and grant-in-aid programs, Minnesota higher education coordinating commission, 901 Capitol Square building, 550 Cedar street, St. Paul, 55101 (296-5715).

MSBA Meet At Fertile Tonight

Members of the Thief River Falls board of education will attend a meeting of the Minnesota school boards association tonight at Fertile senior high school.

Members of the Minnesota House and Senate from this area have been invited to attend and participate in the program which will concentrate on legislation affecting the state's schools.

W.A. Wettergren, executive secretary, and Willard Baker, associate executive secretary, will conduct the meeting.

First Mediation Session Slated For October 1st

Mediation session between the Thief River Falls board of education and the local district's teacher negotiating council has been set for Wednesday, October 1, at 9:30 a.m., at the courthouse in Thief River Falls.

The state bureau of mediation services has directed the board and teachers to continue to meet in the interim prior to the scheduled mediation session. Don Hejlik has been designated as spokesman for the teachers and Clyde Christensen as spokesman for the board of education. No mediator was listed in preliminary correspondence from the bureau of mediation services.

Concert Ass'n. To Open Drive For Membership

More than 90 volunteer workers are expected to attend a kickoff meeting Tuesday to open the Thief River Falls concert association's annual membership drive. Memberships will be sold throughout the area until the drive closes on September 23.

"Our volunteers enjoy going to the concerts and realize that the series is good for the community, so they are willing to help on the membership drive," states Morris Owen, chairman of the concert association.

Norman Wendt of Minneapolis, president of Allied Concert services, will discuss the four concerts to be held this year when the kickoff meeting is held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute.

During the concert season, concert admission will be by season membership only. There will be no admission sold for individual concerts. Season membership dues will be $12 for adults, $8 for students or $35 for families. Persons not contacted by volunteers or who wish to be assured of membership before seating capacity of the Lincoln high school auditorium is sold out, may call the Chamber of Commerce office at 681-3720.

Schedule of concerts to be presented by the association this year includes the following: Sunday, October 5, 3:30 p.m., "The Revelers" male quartet; Sunday, October 26, 8 p.m., "Legends of Jazz" band; Monday, January 12, 8 p.m., "The Taylor Family" string group; and Friday, March 19, 8 p.m., "The New Christy Minstrels" vocal group.

Disaster Loan Requests Due

September 22 is the last day for flood disaster victims to apply for SBA disaster loans, according to Paul W. Jansen, SBA's district director.

This day will mark the closing of the Moorhead SBA disaster loan office which has been in operation for the past eight weeks. During that time 80 disaster loan applications have been received by the office.

Jansen also indicated that four additional counties—Becker, Grant, Mahnomen and Otter Tail—had been designated disaster areas effective August 28.

Since the number of applications has fallen off substantially in the last week or so, the office hours in Moorhead will be from 8a.m. to 4:30p.m., Monday through Friday. Jansen urged disaster victims who plan to file for disaster loans to do so as soon as possible rather than wait for the final day. SBA is authorized to make long-term, low-interest rate disaster loans to assist in rehabilitating property damaged in declared disaster areas.

ROAD CLOSED

GETTING WORSE before it gets better is county road 17, commonly known as the airport road, south of Thief River Falls. This photo was taken this morning at the point where the road meets the Thief River Falls city limits. Improvement is a county project from that point south while the city will be in charge of improvements within the city. Extensive work is now being done on the north mile of the county's portion of the project. Much of the work to the south has been completed in preparation for surfacing. The road is being widened and lowered. Bids for surfacing were approved by the county board Tuesday and the city council set December 2 as a bid date for construction last night.

Board Recommends Airport Road Bid

In a regular meeting Tuesday in the Pennington county courthouse, the county board of commissioners recommended acceptance of the lowest of six bids for the laying of a bituminous base and overlay on the seven mile rural section of Pennington avenue (the airport road).

The lowest bid, which was considerably less than county estimates, was $238,986 by Thorson Inc. of Bemidji. The highest bid received was $277,961.

However, the county does not have the power to award the bid in this case because state aid funds will finance the project. The commissioners' recommendation will be sent to the state commissioner of highways for final approval. Construction may begin this fall, depending to a large degree on weather conditions.

There were also six bidders when the county called for bids on a year's supply of culverts. The low bid was $10,989.20 by Northwestern sheet and iron works of Wahpeton, North Dakota. The high bid was approximately $15,000.

Karen Sollom, director of the Inter-county nursing service, approached the council to suggest that Clearwater county be excluded from the area covered by the service which currently operates in Pennington and Red Lake counties as well as Clearwater. She said that Clearwater, with its county hospital, offers a different type of service than what is available in Pennington and Red Lake counties and should operate independently. She added that traveling to Clearwater represents a hardship to the service staff, and that if the operation were to continue as it is more staff would have to be hired.

Some of the commissioners were unenthusiastic about her proposal because of the bureaucratic problems that would be caused by reorganization, but the board agreed to take the matter under advisement.

Norman P. Peterson, executive vice-president of Northwestern hospital, addressed the board to present a financial report on the NEW ASSISTANT principal at Franklin middle school is Marvin Walter, former classroom teacher in the local school system. His transfer to the administrative post was approved by the board of education Monday evening. The transfer will become effective September 15. Walter succeeds Larry Eck who resigned shortly before the start of the 1975-76 school year.

Walter Named To Post At Franklin

Transfer of Marvin Walter from a teaching position to assistant principal at Franklin middle school was approved Monday evening at a regular meeting of the board of education for School District 564. The appointment of Walter to succeed Larry Eck will be effective September 15.

Walter joined the local faculty in 1969 as a fourth grade teacher, transferring to sixth grade at Mark Twain school the next year. In 1973 the sixth grade became part of the Franklin middle school program and he became instructor in sixth grade mathematics and art.

For the past five years he has attended summer school and evening courses and a year ago received a master of education degree with a major in elementary administration. He has also received his administrative certificate. Eck resigned shortly before the start of the fall school term.

Resignations were received at the meeting from Lyle Hanson and Donald Bren, bus drivers; Larry Ekman, CETA maintenance man; and Agnes Jensen, clerical aide at Northrop elementary school.

Hired were Marla Jenson,

MIXED MOODS were exhibited by Franklin middle school students as they attended a special concert by "Gene White and Friends" Friday afternoon at the Elks club rooms in Thief River Falls. The performance was arranged for the students by Andrew M. Lehrer, instrumental music instructor at Franklin, who had heard the group play and was impressed by their "legitimate musicianship". Lehrer packed the Elks with about 180 instrumental music students from the school to show them the application of music to the post school musician. The youngsters were enthusiastic in their response to the big band sound, novelty numbers and other items on the varied program. One of the five musicians is shown at right.

Sheryl Poole-Fayne Wiegel Vows Exchanged In TRF

Miss Sheryl Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Poole of rural Thief River Falls, and Fayne Wiegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Wiegel of Roseau, exchanged marriage vows on August 9, at 7:30 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran church in Thief River Falls.

Rev. Keith Prekker officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. William Halbasch was the organist. She played Handel's "Water Music," for the processional and also accompanied the guests as they sang, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds". Vocal selections, "We've Only Just Begun," and "Wedding Prayer," were sung by Carol Carlson and David Poole, cousin and brother of the bride. Vases of white gladioli graced the altar for the ceremony witnessed by approximately 250 relatives and friends. On the organ was a basket of multi-colored gladioli.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of white silk organza with Venice lace trim around the scooped neckline and on the cuffs of the sheer bishop sleeves. An embroidered panel graced the front of the bodice and flowed down the skirt that extended back into a graceful train. A lace ruffle edged the skirt and train. Matching lace and floral trim edged her chapel-length mantilla. She carried a bouquet of spider mums, daisies and babies breath.

Donna Quick of Audubon was the bride's personal attendant.

Maid of honor was Diane Poole, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Debra Hamnes, cousin of the bride, and Lynnette Wiegel, sister of the groom. Their gowns of pale blue sheer, with dainty multi-colored flowers over blue cotton, were fashioned with V-necklines and short bell sleeves. They wore white hats with blue ribbon streamers and each carried a large white mum on greens with green streamers.

Wearing similar attire and carrying a white basket filled with colored mums, was the flower girl Lora Lee Poole, a cousin of the bride. The rings were carried by Dean Hamness, another cousin of the bride. Like the men of the wedding party, he wore a light blue tuxedo with black trousers and a white carnation boutonniere.

Best man was Peter J. Morneau of St. Paul, an uncle of the groom. Groomsmen were Jeff Helstad of Roseau, a friend of the groom, and David Poole, a brother of the bride. Ushers were Corwin Poole and Robert Lindholm, cousins of the bride.

The mother of the bride was attired in a floor-length gown featuring a white top, dark blue skirt and a red belt, complemented by red shoes. Her corsage was of white carnations and red roses. The mother of the groom wore a light blue floor-length gown with a corsage of white carnations and yellow roses.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. John Tangen of Gonvick, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Kathryn Minarik of Roseau, grandmother of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed with Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Sande, friends of the bride's family, as host and hostess. At the guest book was Judy Roese, a friend of the bride. Sharon Minarik and Mrs. Lennard Minarik, cousin and aunt of the groom, served the punch.

The six-tiered wedding cake, was iced in white and decorated with white wedding bells and multi-colored flowers. It was topped with a ceramic couple sitting beneath a floral arch. Mrs. William Colligan, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Peter Morneau, aunt of the groom, cut and served the cake. Pouring were Mrs. Grant Lindholm and Mrs. Einar Bergren, aunts of the bride and groom, respectively.

Waitresses were Kristie, Vickie and Sharon Poole and Mrs. Robert Lindholm, cousins of the bride. At the gift table were Julie Hellie and Mrs. Bruce Hellie, friends of the bride, assisted by the gift bearers Dale Hamnes and Michael Poole, cousins of the bride. Michael Poole also distributed the rice packets.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and was employed part-time at Northwestern hospital. She will be resuming her studies for her third year at St. Luke's hospital school of nursing. The groom is a graduate of Roseau high school and is employed in this city by Falls Concrete. The couple is at home in this city at Northland Village apartments. Miss Susan Malde will be guest speaker. She will tell of her experiences while living in Norway and will also show slides of that country. Special music will be provided by Miss Malde.

The public is welcome to attend. Members of the Elizabeth unit will be in charge of the program. The Mary unit will serve as hostesses.

Schoonhoven And Koubsky Marriage Vows Exchanged

Miss Cindy Lee Schoonhoven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Schoonhoven of this city, was united in marriage to Robert Warren Koubsky, son of Ray Koubsky and Kathryn Koubsky of Minneapolis, in a late afternoon ceremony on August 2 at the United Methodist church in Thief River Falls.

To correspond with the bride's choice of colors, the center altar was graced with an arrangement of yellow, white and blue tinted daisies, accented with babies' breath.

The ceremony began with organist Mrs. James Dalager playing a variety of nuptial selections as the guests were ushered in by Tim Schoonhoven, brother of the bride, and Jay Jenson and Philip Ruppel of Minneapolis. For the processional she played Bach's "Sheep May Safely Graze". She also accompanied Deborah Penning as she sang, "Follow Me". Lighting the altar candles was Kathy Koubsky, sister of the groom. She wore a yellow checked gingham dress with puffed sleeves and white eyelet trim.

Rev. Jonathan Law officiated at the double ring ceremony that included devotional prayer, the leading of the guests in the responsive reading of I Cor. 13, the pastoral meditation and the pronouncement of marriage. Following the lighting of the Unity candle by the bride and groom, the bridal party knelt as the guests prayed "The Lord's Prayer," and as Deborah Penning sang, "Love Never Faileth."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of embroidered organza with daisies appliqued on the fitted bodice and the deep cuffs of her sheer bishop sleeves. Creating back interest was a full chapel-length train and a fingertip veil that flowed from an embroidered cap. She carried a bouquet of yellow, white and blue daisies interspread with babies' breath.

Meeting them at the altar was the groom, who wore a gray tuxedo with white ruffled shirt and a single yellow rose boutonniere.

Jill Schoonhoven, honorary maid of honor, was unable to attend the ceremony, due to hospitalization for a serious illness.

Serving as maid of honor was Linda Olson, a friend of the bride. Alice Sorenson, friend and former roommate of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of blue and white checked and dotted gingham trimmed with white eyelet bands. Each carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies, matching the cluster of daisies worn in their hair.

David Koubsky served his brother as best man. Mark Conover, a friend, was groomsman. They wore gray tuxedos with blue ruffled shirts and yellow rose boutonnieres.

Diane Kildahl, a friend of the bride, served as personal attendant. Ellen Batzer of Duluth, a friend of the couple, registered the guests as they entered the church.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Schoonhoven wore a sleeveless knit gown in iced aqua, complemented by a corsage of roses, daisies and babies' breath. A similar corsage was worn by the mother of the groom, who was attired in a salmon pink gown topped by a latticed sleeved jacket.

Special guest of honor was the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Albie Koubsky of Omaha, Neb. A number of relatives from Nebraska and Illinois were also at the wedding.

A lawn reception for 150 guests followed at the bride's parental home with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Waale and Dr. and Mrs. Donald Goodrich as hosts and hostesses. For the convenience of the guests, picnic tables were placed throughout the yard.

Highlighting the serving table was a tiered wedding cake iced with yellow and white daisies, and decorated with wedding bells hanging between the pillars. Twylah Wahl and Jeanne Larkin, schoolmates of the couple, cut and served the cake. Pouring coffee at either end of the table were Mrs. Mary Iverson, friend of the family, and Mrs. Albie Koubsky.

Assisting in serving the lunch were Mrs. Everett Kompelien, Mrs. Gene Beito, Mrs. Bud Evans, Mrs. Donald LeRud, Mrs. Douglas Main and Mrs. William Penning. Those who assisted in the preparation were Mrs. Brian Walker, Mrs. Virgil Burger, Mrs. Harold Waale and Mrs. Larry Forsberg.

Several of the bride's former roommates also assisted at the reception. Joanne Van Ruden, Connie Meyer and Pauline Isaacson served the punch.

Helping the couple in opening the gifts were Penny Meyers and Jodi Von Fischer.

For traveling on the wedding trip to Glacier National in northwestern Montana, the bride wore a white knit hooded dress.

The couple will make their home in Minneapolis where the bride will be employed as a dental hygienist and the groom will be attending the University of Minnesota school of dentistry. The bride is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, Duluth, school of dental hygiene. Prior to her marriage, she was employed at the Piedmont dental clinic in Duluth. The groom was graduated magna cum laude in June from the University of Minnesota, in Duluth.

Carole Leining - James Wright Wed In Plummer

Immanuel Lutheran church in Plummer was the scene of a three o'clock wedding on August 9, of Miss Carole A. Leining, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leining, and James Wright, son of Mrs. Florence Wright, all of Plummer, and the late William Wright.

Rev. Max Dietze officiated at the double ring ceremony. At the organ was Mrs. Nels Vigstol, a friend of the couple. She played Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary," for the processional and Handel's "Where'er You Walk," as the recessional. She also played the accompaniment for the guests as they sang, "Crown With Thy Benediction." The bride's students sang. They were Cindy Huotari and LaRae Franklund, who sang, "My God and I," and Dee Ann Huotari, Debbie Koskela, Kathy Skjerven and Mary Westlake, who sang, "I'll Walk With His Hand in Mine." Soloist, Linda Loing, a cousin of the bride, sang, "The Wedding Prayer." Kelly Leining and Julie Konickson, nieces of the couple, distributed the wedding programs. Acolytes were Debbie and Lori Leining, nieces of the bride.

Forming a setting for the bridal party were altar bouquets of white gladioli and candelabra graced with greens, and white miniature carnations with green and coral ribbon streamers.

The bride, escorted to the altar by the groom, was attired in a floor-length gown of white polyester organza. Dainty white Venice lace, embroidered with pearls and irridescent sequins, trimmed the demure high collar, empire bodice, long sheer sleeves and the full, A-line skirt. Venice lace petals with pearl, and sequin trim were scattered across her chapel train. A corresponding Camelot headpiece held her veil of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade of Sonia roses, miniature carnations and babies breath, backed by a lace doily trimmed with seed pearls.

The bride selected her sister-in-law, Mrs. Barbara Leining of Plummer, to serve as her only attendant. She wore a long-sleeve gown of mint green polyester, styled with a V-neckline and irridescent pearl buttons. In her hair, she wore daisies and coral ribbon, corresponding with her bouquet of white daisies, miniature coral carnations and babies breath, accented with coral ribbon streamers.

Attending the groom as best man was Wayne Leining of Plummer, brother of the bride. Ushers were Lyndon Leining, brother of the bride, and Kenneth Konickson, nephew of the groom. All the men of the wedding party wore conventional business suits.

The groom's boutonniere was a Sonia rose, his best man had a white carnation and the ushers wore mint green carnations.

The mother of the bride was attired in a sleeveless, empire fashioned, mint green gown with copper accessories. The mother of the groom wore a long-sleeved, floor-length gown of coral polyester with beige accessories. Both wore identical corsages of Sonia roses, miniature carnations and green ribbon bows.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Art and Avis Frolland, friends of the couple, served as host and hostess. At the guest book was Patricia Wright, sister of the groom. Beth Leining, niece of the couple, served the punch.

Centering the serving table was a wedding cake featuring two round, three-tiered cakes in chocolate and white. Both were iced in white and were joined by a bridge with posts and connecting chains. Ornate pillars supported the top tier of each cake; with a lighted church topping the chocolate cake and a miniature bride and groom, backed by a Christogram, topping the white cake. Beneath the bridge was a round cake, frosted to represent a pond with swans. Coral roses with mint green leaves decorated each tier. Ivy surrounded the base. The cake was baked, decorated and presented to the couple as a gift from Mrs. Vic Nord, a friend.

Mrs. Alvin Amundson, Jr., cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Gust Konickson, sister of the groom, cut and served the cake. Pouring the coffee were Mrs. Leonard Loing, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Lyndon Leining, a sister-in-law.

Waitresses were Janie Amundson, Gail Loing, and Rhonda and Denise Vaagene. At the gift table was Beverly Hanson. All are cousins of the bride. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Carl Hanson, was flower hostess.

Following the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to the Medora and Theodore Roosevelt National parks in North Dakota and to the Bad Lands of South Dakota.

The couple is now at home at Plummer where the groom is engaged in farming. Both are graduates of the Pershing high school at Plummer. The bride is also a graduate of Mayville State college, Mayville, N.D., and prior to her marriage was a teacher in the Karlstad elementary school. Photo, Chuck Agnew, Mahnomen.

Mr. Duane's FUR DEPARTMENT

Mr. Duane's has established a fur department in the store where you will be able to find the popular fur styles in raccoon, mink, muskrat, opossum, fox and rabbit. Special orders will also be available. Stop in and visit with Duane about the special fur for you.

This diamond patterned pastel natural mink and leather with the dyed to match fox collar and cuffs has Dee Wendt wondering if the season ahead is really coming soon enough. The three-way belt on this wrap suits the mood and the fashions of the day.

The pleasing combination of natural muskrat and raccoon above is enhanced with matching leather in the durable fur worn by Carol Tranby.

"This will keep me warm", beams Carol as she radiates the pleasure of wearing a chevron pattern natural racoon belted wrap.

Mayme Boughton is shown wearing a favorite 32" pastel mink with matching leather and a flattering dyed to match fox collar.

Ella Ranum is delighted to discover that this natural pastel full-skin Emba mink is a versatile stroller! The finger-tip border zips off to create a lovely mink jacket for evening or more formal wear.

Dee Wendt agrees that this natural Canadian Red Fox could really be a fun fur to wear on "cooler" days.

40 'U' Medical Students To Help Rural Physicians

One of forty University of Minnesota medical students to be arriving in 37 state communities Monday to begin service as rural physician associates is Bruce Bond, helping David Mersy, M.D. in Red Lake Falls.

Now starting its fifth year, the University's rural physician associate program (RPAP) has sent more than 120 third-year medical students to learn by doing at the side of experienced family practitioners.

This year, eight new towns are participating and eight internal medicine specialists have been added to the physician-teachers who spend from nine months to a year with a student.

Students and physicians will be together in the office, clinic and hospital-wherever patient needs are met. The local physician-preceptors receive clinical faculty appointments from the university but no salary. The students receive two quarters of academic credit plus a $5,000 stipend from the state legislature and $2,000 from the preceptor for the first nine months. The final three months of service are optional.

According to RPAP developer and director Dr. John Verby, professor of family practice and community medicine, the program has already proven successful on at least two counts.

First, practically all of the students who participated in the program at the beginning and have completed their residency training are now practicing in small Minnesota communities, several in the towns they lived in as rural physician associates.

Second, their preceptors and the visiting consultants from the university's health sciences center say that they have learned from each other.

Glendon Kvestad Draws 60-Day Submarine Duty

Navy Fireman Apprentice Glendon O. Kvestad, 21, son of Mrs. Clifford Larson of rural Thief River Falls, recently reported aboard the navy fleet ballistic missle submarine USS VonSteuben at Charleston, S.C.

A 1972 graduate of Lincoln high school, Kvestad enlisted in the U.S. navy through the Thief River Falls navy recruiting station in January of 1975. He attended recruit training at San Diego, Calif.

Ben Siebels, local Navy recruiter, reports that the USS VonSteuben is one of 41 commissioned U.S. navy fleet ballistic missile submarines. They deploy submerged for 60-day patrols with pre-targeted missiles, returning to port only to resupply and refit, and to exchange blue-gold crews. Each submarine carried 16 missiles tipped with nuclear warheads.

Gardener Green Turns 83 Today; Party Tonight

Green came to Thief River Falls in 1937 after 15 years on the Soo Line railroad and five years in other employment in Fargo during the depression of the early 1930's. He joined the Soo in 1917, served in a number of different railroad jobs and locations, became a fireman on passenger trains 9 and 10 which used to serve Thief River Falls, and later became an engineer. Jim Berg of Thief River Falls was conductor on the train when he made his last run on August 31, 1973.

After his retirement he continued to live in Thief River Falls until four years ago when he moved to Kalispell, Mont., because of his wife's asthmatic condition. For the past two years he has traveled back and fourth between his home in Kalispell and the five-acre plot near Thief River Falls. He expects his wife to come here for a visit in about a week.

Green drives a 1965 model station wagon which now records 131,000 miles. He just returned from a trip to Springfield, Ore., for a family reunion, a jaunt which covered over 5,000 miles. "I never so much as had to change a tire," he said. "But after I got back, a few little things started happening. The water pump went out, and last week when I went to the football game and started to back up a reverse band snapped."

As part of his varied routine, Green makes it a general rule not to go to bed before midnight. "That way I can usually sleep through to about five o'clock," he said. "If I get tired during the day I take a nap. If I wake up at 3 a.m., I get up and go out and work in the garden."

His evenings are usually spent at Kife's cafe where a birthday party is being planned for tonight. One of the waitresses at the cafe shares the same birthday—"but not the same year," Green says. "The party starts at seven and I don't know when it will end."

But tonight, when he checks that gold pocket watch he bought for railroading in 1918, we'll bet it will be past midnight.

Walter Named Assistant At Franklin School

clerical aide at Northrop; Agnes Jensen, library clerical aide at Northrop and Washington schools; Donna Kotaska, library clerical aide at Knox school; Marlys Hruby, child management aide at the Knox school; Ione Olson, child management aide for the trainable mentally retarded at Knox; and Donna Sorteberg, clerical aide at Knox.

In addition to the hiring of Walter as assistant principal, the board hired Bruce Dahlke as social studies teacher at Franklin middle school. He holds a BS degree from the University of Minnesota and has no prior teaching experience.

Contracts awarded on bids were in the amounts of $6,638 to Robertson Lumber company for materials on an AVTI carpentry class remodeling project and $2,346 to O'Day Equipment company of Fargo, N.D., for a 60-key gasoline pump to be used for fueling school buses and other district-owned vehicles.

Authorization was given to establish a one semester, two-hour course in aviation mechanics in the center school with instruction to be provided by Dean Paskewitz, Carl Reed, Don Schoonhoven and Ray Semrud.

Approval was also given for Sharon Erickson's request for transfer for the 1975-76 school year from health occupations teacher at the center school to coordinator of practical nursing at the area vocational-technical institute. The board's authorization to employ Ronal Halvorson, given at a previous meeting, was rescinded at the superintendent's request. Tabled pending preparation of a job description was a third full-time employee in the transportation department as a combination bus driver and serviceman.

A resolution to add an assistant cross country coach for the current school year due to turnout of participants, competition at varsity and junior varsity levels and introduction of girls' cross country failed for lack of a second.

Provision of an additional section of high school physics was made by approval of an early morning class to be taught by Robert Michalicek. The class will be offered one hour per day for the 1975-76 school term.

James Cuppett was also hired for instruction of a two-hour center school welding class for a period of 90 days extending through Jan. 22, 1976. A half-time secretary was authorized for the transportation and buildings and grounds department.

Due to increased enrollment in the AVTI cosmetology course, addition of a substitute instructor was granted through December 1 of this year.

PRODUCTION AWARD is presented to Todd Johnston of Angus by Princess Kay of the Milky Way XXII Wanda Ponto of Mora at the 1975 Minnesota state fair. American Dairy association of Minnesota sponsors the meritorious production award to 4-H club members with high producing dairy animals, based on official verified central processed DHIA records. His registered Holstein produced 19,890 pounds of milk in her first 305-day lactation. Todd is a regular exhibitor at Northwest dairy day in Thief River Falls. ADA of Minn. photo

Board information presented by Supt. William Corliss at the meeting included a letter from Arnold A. Karlins, Minneapolis, who will serve as arbitrator in an arbitration case between the school district and its teachers. The hearing will begin at 1:30 p.m. October 20 in the board room of the school district service center. If the matter can not be heard in its entirety that day, adjournment will be at 5:30 p.m. and the hearing will resume at 9 a.m. October 21.

Another letter received by the board from the Thief River Falls Education association noted that Don Hejlik had been designated chairman of the negotiations committee with Mrs. Clarice Gallither as vice chairman.

It was also noted that Bernard Buchholz, supervisor of transportation, has been named to two committees of the Minnesota Association for Pupil Transportation and elected vice president of that organization.

New staff members were introduced when the Marshall county public health nursing service commiteee met recently at the courthouse in Warren. Dr. W. W. Wrolson, Warren dentist, presided at the session.

Introduced were Mrs. Marion Hickman, staff nurse, and Mrs. Pat Grabowska, part time secretary and bookkeeper.

Mrs. Viola Rud, county nurse, showed slides of activities which the county nursing service performs. Discussion was held on the early and periodic screening clinics at which 30 children have been seen to date.

Attending the meeting as committee members were Mrs. Adolph Erickson, Grygla; Mrs. Mildred Peterson, Alvarado; Mrs. Sharon Russell, Thief River Falls; Dr. Pinsonneault, Warren; Harold Bustrack, Warren; Leon Pribula, Alvarado; Mrs. Rud, Newfolden; and Gloria Gostanzik, Warren.

Attending as representatives of the county board of commissioners were Dale Zutz of Warren, Kenneth Price of Stephen and Adolph Kleinwachter of Strandquist.

Services Held At Motley For Lenora A. Rud

Funeral services for Mrs. Lenore Andreason Rud, 79, of Motley and formerly of Viking, were held Saturday, September 6, at the United Methodist church at Motley. Rev. Willard Bell officiated at the services. Interment was in the Evergreen cemetery at Motley.

Mrs. Rud, the former Lenora Andreason, was born Nov. 26, 1896 near Warren to Christian and Christine Andreason, now deceased. There she attended school and was baptized and confirmed into the Christian faith. On May 6, 1924, she was united in marriage to Henry Rud. To this union, three children were born.

After their marriage, the Ruds lived for two years at Warren. They then resided on the old Rud farm near Viking for a number of years. For the past few years, she had lived at Motley.

She is survived by one son, Clarence E. Rud of Minneapolis; one daughter, Mrs. Judy Vissen of Motley; seven grandchildren, a great-grandchild, and two brothers: Arne Andreason of Warren and Clarence of Minneapolis.

She was preceded in death by her husband, a son and one brother.

Attending the services from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Way and family of Bemidji, Mr. and Mrs. Bardolf Pederson, Mrs. Mable Andreason and Arne Andreason, all of Warren.

Lois Grindeland Fekete, 46, Dies In Fairbanks

Mrs. Lois Grindeland Fekete, 46, of Fairbanks, Alaska and formerly of Thief River Falls, died Saturday, August 30, at the Fairbanks Memorial hospital in Fairbanks.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lois Fekete were held Wednesday, September 3 at 2 p.m., at the Chapel of the Chimes funeral home with burial at the Birch Hill cemetery in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mrs. Fekete, the former Lois Grindeland, was born, Dec. 14, 1928 in Minneapolis. She attended school in Thief River Falls and was a long time resident of Fairbanks, Alaska where she was the former owner of several Fairbanks liquor stores. At the time of her death she was owner of the Club Alaskan. She was past president of the Quota and Emblem clubs and one of the originators of the Goldpanners' Booster club.

She had been in failing health for several years. Although she had suffered from kidney trouble for many years and had been on the dialysis machine since April of 1972, cause of death was apparent heart trouble.

She is survived by her husband, Jerry; a daughter, Deborah Gunning, both of Fairbanks; her half-sister, Ardith Johnson, a half-brother, Wendell L. Johnson and her step-father, Albert W. Johnson, all of Thief River Falls, another half-sister, Mrs. Francis (Marion) Brault of Durand, Mich.; and several aunts and uncles: Mrs. Carl M. (Orpha) Ryan, Mrs. Donald (Grace) Toomy, Mrs. Anna Johnson, Clarence O. Grindeland, all of this city, Mrs. Rudolph (Evelyn) Helgeson and Ernest Grindeland of Seattle, Wash.

Attending the funeral services were Ardith Johnson and Wendell Johnson, both of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Rudolph Helgeson and Dennis Helgeson of Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Albertina Anderson, 93, Dies Monday

Mrs. Albertina Anderson, 93, mother of Mrs. George Mostue of this city, died Monday evening at Oakland Park Nursing home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Albertina Anderson will be held Thursday at 2:30 p.m., at the Nazareth Lutheran church at Holt with Rev. Duane Aipperspach officiating. Interment will be in the Holt cemetery.

The body is reposing at the Collins Funeral home in Middle River and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of the services. A complete obituary will be in a later edition of the Times.

Lester Ellis Rites Held At Middle River

Funeral services for Lester R. Ellis, 52, of Middle River, were held Monday at 2 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in that city. Ellis died unexpectedly at his home on Wednesday afternoon, September 3.

Rev. Donald Fredine officiated at the services. Music was provided by Mrs. Richard Luoto, soloist, and Mrs. Floyd Peterson, organist. Interment was in the Riverside cemetery, near Middle River, with the Collins Funeral home of that city in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Ingval Gullikson, Squire Holmes, Carl Huset, Roy Geer and Howard Young.

Serving as active pallbearers were Curtis Neumann, Gary Peterson, Clayton Troskey, Iver Jesme, Willy Johnson and Morlyn Kolden.

Lester Robert Ellis was born Sept. 7, 1922 at Milton, N.D., to Kenny and Petra Ellis. He attended school and grew to manhood at Clearbrook.

Ellis was a veteran of World War II. He served in the U.S. Army and received his discharge in December of 1945.

On July 21, 1953, he was married at Stephen to Rosemary Ann Kosmatka. Since their marriage, they have made their home at Middle River, where he was the Standard Oil bulk dealer for six years and served as rural mail carrier for 16 years. At the time of his death, he was operating a tax and accounting office in Middle River. He was also active in a variety of community affairs, serving for several years as Justice of Peace.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Thomas (Sandra) Donarski of Lawrenceville, Ga.; a son, James Ellis who is serving with the U.S. Marine Corps in San Diego, Calif.; his mother, Mrs. Petra Ellis of Middle River, his grandmother, Mrs. Vilda Holand of Clearbrook; and three brothers: Clarence Ellis of Crookston, and James and Palmer, both of Kalispell, Mont.

He was preceded in death by his father.

Rites Held At Greenbush For J. M. Petterson

Joseph Petterson, 68, of Crookston, brother of Mrs. Charles Hasnedl of St. Hilaire, died unexpectedly Friday afternoon at Riverview hospital in Crookston.

Funeral services for Joseph Petterson were held Tuesday at 10 a.m., at the United Free Lutheran church at Greenbush with Rev. Karl Stendahl officiating. Miss Renae Melby and Gilbert Oistad were the soloists and Mrs. Karl Stendahl served as organist. Interment was in the St. Pauli Lutheran cemetery, near Greenbush, with the Collins Funeral home of Karlstad in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Henry Klegstad, Clarence Melby, Lloyd Porter, Frank Zhorela, Cyril Robinson and Harold Johnstad.

Military honors were accorded by members of the Karlstad American Legion post.

Joseph Morris Petterson was born Feb. 23, 1907 in Pelan township, Kittson county, near Karlstad, to Ole and Olga Petterson. He attended school and grew to manhood in the Halma community.

Petterson was a veteran of World War II. Following his discharge from the U.S. Army in May of 1945, he returned to the Karlstad community where he was employed as a mechanic throughout the area.

On May 18, 1956, he was united in marriage to Palma Johnson at Biwabik. The couple made their home at Grand Forks, N.D., until 1960, when they moved to Crookston. He was employed there as a mechanic for International Harvester company for 13 years. Since his retirement, he had continued to make his home at Crookston.

He was a member of the Karlstad American Legion post.

Surviving are his wife; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Donald (Janice) Melby of Greenbush; one stepson, Sidney Nohre of Circle Pines; five grandchildren, and three brothers: Iver Petterson of Lake Bronson, and Otto and Walter, both of Miles City, Mont.

Also surviving are seven sisters: Mrs. Robert (Sarah) Anderson of Minneapolis, Mrs. Carl (Agnes) Lander of Hamilton, Mont., Mrs. Elvin (Annie) Ording and Mrs. Jerry (Elizabeth) Pilger, both of Manitowoc, Wis., Mrs. Glen (Mathie) Johnson of Kent, Wash., Mrs. Tony (Sylvia) Nastrol of Sacramento, Calif., and Mrs. Charles (Ellen) Hasnedl of St. Hilaire.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by one sister.

THIS ORPHAN COLT has a nanny for a nanny. Shortly after this thoroughbred filly foal was born on the Carpenter farm west of Thief River Falls about a week ago, the mare became badly injured and had to be destroyed. Search for a substitute mother resulted in borrowing the nanny goat which accepted the colt without question. And the colt seems to be thriving on goat's milk. The youngster's mother was Brighton Queen, a thoroughbred mare which had a successful racing career, winning races at Assiniboia Downs, Winnipeg; Miles Park, Ky.; Columbus, Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio; Waterford, W. Va.; Aksarben track, Omaha, Neb., and other cities. At a week of age the colt towers above the goat, earning the pair a designation as "the odd couple".

Minnesota State Fair Lists No Food Poisoning

Not a single confirmed case of food poisoning was reported at the 12-day 1975 Minnesota state fair.

Quite an achievement for the state's biggest outdoor festival, considering the hundreds of tons of food and beverages dispensed mainly from temporary facilities to some 1.5-million visitors to the fair.

This was the fifth straight year for that achievement. Complaints, yes, but not a single confirmed case of food poisoning.

Intensive joint inspections by the Minnesota departments of agriculture and health performed an important role in maintaining this impressive consumer protection record. Inspection teams made 4,096 separate inspections, visiting each food concession at least once every four hours and as often as every two hours.

But the inspection authorities also credit the cooperation received from the state fair administration and its police, sanitation and medical station departments, and from the more than 300 food service concessionaires.

Violations found by inspectors were immediately and voluntarily corrected. Sanitation procedures, considering the largely temporary and outdoor facilities, were generally excellent. Inspectors issued 1,413 instructions for correction of sanitary and food safety problems.

Inspectors did condemn and destroy more than one ton of food and food service supplies, but noted this was a minute fraction of the total food inspected and served. All of the condemned food was a handling or storage problem, not a manufacture or preparation problem.

Most of the volume of condemnations was represented by 1,705 pounds of beverage and confection ice in 23 different violations of dirty or broken containers.

Also condemned and destroyed at State Fair food concessions were 50 gallons of beverages, 10 pounds of ground beef, 15 pounds of prepared meat loaf, 10 pounds of adulterated hamburger, 10 pounds of cooked chicken, 1.5 gallons of potato salad, one gallon of spaghetti and meat balls, 10 candy bars, 100 paper cups and four rusty and broken seam milk cans used for food storage.

State Student Loan Program To Aid Minnesotans

The state student loan program is expected to provide aid to thousands of Minnesota residents enrolled in post-secondary education this year despite recent difficulties in selling bonds to finance the program, according to Richard C. Hawk, executive director of the higher education coordinating commission.

All applications are being accepted from students and processed by the commission Hawk said. The commission expects to make approximately 5,000 loans in the next four months, he said.

"Although there now are enough funds to make loans through January, and the future bond market conditions are uncertain, the outlook is encouraging for financing the program for the entire academic year," Hawk said. "Students who need financial aid should not hesitate to apply."

Students should see the financial aid officer at the post-secondary institution which they attend for application information on the state student loan program as well as several other state and federal programs available. High school seniors should discuss sources of financial aid with their high school guidance counselor.

The state student loan program is one of several financial aid programs available to post-secondary students. It was authorized by the Minnesota legislature in 1973 and began operation following the successful sale of $29.4 million in revenue bonds by the higher education coordinating commission in February of 1974. In less than two years it has provided approximately $25 million to some 14,000 students. The 1975 Legislature increased the bonding authorization to $90 million—enough to provide some 40,000 loans during the next two years.

Since funds from the initial bond sale are nearly exhausted, the commission last month attempted to sell $16 million in revenue bonds to continue financing the program. Due largely to an unfavorable bond market, the commission sold only $8 million in revenue bonds, (to a syndicate co-managed by first national bank of St. Paul, banc northwest of Chicago and the Minneapolis investment firm of Piper, Jaffray and Hopwood, Incorporated). The interest rate was 6.8 per cent for the 10-year notes.

"The high yield which characters the current tax exempt bond issues are hard to manage within the context of the state student loan program," Hawk said. "The maximum interest rate which students are charged is seven per cent under the federally insured student loan program. Thus, an interest rate approaching seven per cent, which current bond market conditions demand, makes financing of the program difficult."

Hawk said that despite the bond market conditions, the commission is exploring new alternatives to provide financing for the programs beyond January.

He explained that in addition to the state loan program, a variety of other gift, work and loan financial aid is available from state, federal and private sources. Major programs include the state scholarship and grant-in-aid programs, the new state work-study program, the basic educational opportunity grant program and the federally insured student loan program under which loans may be obtained from private lenders.

Under the state student loan program, any person who is registered or accepted for enrollment at an eligible institution in Minnesota, or a Minnesota resident who is registered or accepted for enrollment at an eligible institution in another state may apply. Students amy borrow up to $2500 per academic year. A student may borrow up to a total of $7500 as an undergraduate or $10,000 if he or she is a graduate student. All loans are insured by the federal government.

ROADSIDE REST area along the highway between St. Hilaire and highway 75 was created as a group project by the Black River 4-H club. It has received county honors in the 4-H community pride contest and been submitted for state consideration. In addition, Wendy Noreen has been selected by the club for a trip to St. Paul for the community pride competition, held in conjunction with the state 4-H market livestock show. The park and picnic area is located on the North side of the road where a house owned by the Noreen family was burned in a case of arson. Club members cleaned up the site, provided trash barrels and a picnic table, painted signs and planted flowers. They also kept the grass mowed during the summer

Minnesota Hogs Certified Free Of Brucellosis

Minnesota has achieved an important new milestone in agricultural achievement and meat consumer protection, agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald said recently.

Wefald congratulated the state's pork producers and the Minnesota livestock sanitary board for having won federal qualification as one of the ony 14 states free of swine burcellosis—a disease that can result in undulant fever in humans.

Commissioner Wefald said that Minnesota is the first state in the nation's top 10 pork producing states to qualify for the swine brucellosis free rating.

Minnesota five years ago won its brucellosis free rating on cattle, and three years ago won certification as free of hog cholera.

Dr. J. G. Flint, executive secretary of the Minnesota livestock sanitary board, said the achievements in control of communicable cattle and hog diseases are the result of 35 years of regulatory effort and education combined with strong cooperation from the Minnesota cattle and swine breeders associations.

Commissioner Wefald observed that the brucellosis free ratings for both cattle and hogs raised in Minnesota should enhance the international export marketing opportunity for live animals as well as the beef and pork products of this state's meat industry.

Consumers and regulatory authorities throughout the world are becoming increasingly quality conscious and insist upon assurance that the meat and other food products they eat are absolutely safe for human consumption.

No other major livestock producing state is in as strong a position as Minnesota now is with the federal swine and cattle disease free qualifications to compete for a larger share of the world red meat market.

Minnesota's swine brucellosis free rating followed an intensive 12-month testing period in which 260 herds of breeding stock and over 409,000 sows and boars slaughtered at cooperating packing plants were evaluated.

Other states swine brucellosis free are Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Maine, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Clinic For Well Children To Be Held In Grygla

Several early and periodic screening clinics have now been held in Marshall county. Many parents have been very satisfied and are encouraging their friends and relatives to get their well children into these clinics, according to Mrs. Viola L. Rud, Marshall county public health nurse. Next clinic will be October 27 in Grygla.

A fee of $17.60 is charged but can be adjusted according to family income. Thorough examinations of growth, vision, hearing, nutritional status, learning development, emotional development, immunization and basic blood and urine tests are done by trained personnel. Complete examination takes approximately two hours per child.

An appointment must be made in advance. A child between the age of six months and six years qualifies. For more information or appointment write or call the Marshall county nursing service, Warren, Minnesota 56762, phone 742-9631.

Information needed includes the child's name, address, birthdate, father's name and physician's name and address.

Study Club To Sponsor Market In Newfolden

Newfolden study club will sponsor its second annual country store market Saturday, September 27 from noon to 4 p.m. in the shop area of Marshall county central high school.

The market will feature a number of items for sale including bundles or arrangements of dried flowers or weeds, homemade soap, various arts and crafts, crocheted and knitted articles, leatherwork, paintings, macrame, decoupage, baked and canned goods, quilts, house plants and second-hand books.

Persons interested in exhibiting and selling items at the market are encouraged to contact the Newfolden study club for space arrangements. The club's mailing address is Newfolden 56738, and the telephone number is 874-5170. The charge for space will be 50 cents for an individual and two dollars for a club.

Farm Prices Are Lower Now Than Last 30 Months

"Farm food prices are still penny cheap if consumers can wade through all the so-called expert analyses. In fact, farm prices now are lower than they have been in the past 30 months. Indeed, prices Monnesota farmers receive for the food and fiber they produce should have a very minimal impact on consumer food prices and the cost of living index," agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald said recently.

Review of prices received by Minnesota farmers during the past two and one-half years revealed that current prices on all farm commodities are below every peak by at least 11 per cent and as much as 83 per cent, or from 1.3 to 21.8 cents per pound.

"Take wheat for example, which has been a farm commodity of major consumer concern in the wake of recent export grain sales to Russia. Minnesota's mid-July official price average paid to farmers was 6.6 cents per pound. That was 2.4 cents or 27 per cent below the recent high of nine cents a pound in February 1974, reached after the record 1973 export grain sales to Russia.

"One of the federal economic experts expressed fear that rising farm wheat prices would send bread prices to $1 per pound loaf. If bread ever does go that high, and I doubt it, it won't be because of the farm price. There is only a half pound of wheat flour in a pound loaf of bread, and at the mid-July Minnesota price the farmer's share of the bread price is only 3.3 cents," Wefald commented.

"Further," Wefald pointed out, "your don't hear any of the Potomac experts telling consumers the fact that farm chicken prices in Minnesota are at the lowest level in history, a pitiful 2.5 cents per pound . . . or about 15 cents the farmer now gets for a heavy stewing or roasting hen.

"Minnesota's egg-type chicken industry is currently facing possibly the toughest cost-price squeeze in decades if not in all history. On top of the record low price for spent hens, eggs in mid-July were bringing the farmer only 34 cents a dozen, or 22.7 cents a pound. That is just eight-tenths of a cent above the lowest price in the past 30 months," Wefald emphasized.

He offered the following mid-July farm price averages and high-low comparisons, translated into one pound prices that should be more readily understood by consumers and some of the "experts" that are the farm marketing terms of bushels, hundredweights, dozen, and tons:

Corn, 4.7 cents; recent high six cents, October 1974; recent low 2.1 cents, February 1973. Oats, 4.4 cents; recent high 9.52 cents, November 1974, recent low 2.3 cents, March 1973. Soybeans, 8.6 cents; recent high 16.7 cents, June 1973; recent low 6.5 cents, January 1973. Wheat 6.6 cents; recent high 9 cents, February 1974; recent low 3.3 cents, February 1973. Barley 5.6 cents; recent high 8 cents, November 1974; recent low 2.4 cents, February 1973. Rye 3.8 cents; recent high 5.2 cents, January 1974, recent low 1.6 cents, April 1973. Milk 7.3 cents; recent high 8.2 cents, January-March 1974; recent low 5.6 cents, June 1974. Turkey 35 cents, recent high 50 cents, September 1973; recent low 20 cents, June 1974. Chickens 2.5 cents; recent high 14.5 cents, September 1973; recent low 3 cents, February-June 1975. Eggs 22.7 cents; recent high 44.5 cents, August 1973; recent low 21.9 cents, June 1975. Pork (hogs) 55 cents; recent high 57.1 cents, August 1973; recent low 22.3 cents, June 1974. Beef (cattle) 40.9 cents; recent high 52.7 cents, August 1973; recent low 30.2 cents, February 1975.

Lamb (sheep and lamb) 44.46 cents; recent high 47.9 cents, June 1975; recent low 31.6 cents, October 1974.

4-H CLUBS

New Maine

On Sept. 3, the New Maine 4-H club held its regular meeting, called to order by Todd Swenson. Roll call was answered by 'favorite candy bar.' Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved. Outstanding bills were brought forward.

New business consisted of Mr. H. Stokke asked the club if they would sell concessions at the horseshoe tournament on Sept. 14 at 2 p.m. in Newfolden. The club accepted and plans were made. All junior and adult leaders were asked to help set up at 12:30. The members were reminded, that their records were to be handed in no later than Sept. 19. Election was held for 1975-76 officers: President, LaVonne Mattson; vice president, Denise Graham; treasurer, Teri Darling; secretary, Diane Graham; reporter, Teri Carlson. Key Leader, Mrs. A. Larson. Other leaders: Mrs. B. Wagner, Mrs. K. Graham and Mrs. J. Riske. Lunch was served by Wagners and Mattsons. The program was given by Wendy Swenson and Darla Bjorgaard. Debbie Odberg gave a project talk.

Our Club Trip

On Aug. 19, the New Maine 4-H club traveled to Bemidji. They stopped at the Diamond Point park and had dinner before going on tour.

To start our tour we visited the college where we learned of the different courses that were offered. We also toured the dorms which the students could rent for the school term.

We also went to visit Paul Bunyan, where we saw different museums which contained old Indian costumes, weapons, stuffed wildlife scenes and many more interesting articles. Before leaving for home we had a late lunch. The members attending were Vernice, Sue and Kari Larson, Pam Odberg, Nadine Nelson, Stacy Lysne, Teri Darling, Jan and Erich Riske, Avis and Vonnie Mattson, Bev Todd, Wendy, Scott Swenson, Teri Carlson, Donna, Debbie DeDe, Diane and Greg Graham, Bernard and Dana, Darla Bjorgaard, Jane Erickson, Danny and Lowell Engen and the bus driver, Jim Pederson.

New AAA Text Stresses Driving Isn't Automatic

Thousands of Minnesota's high school students have been learning the fundamentals of good driving from the American automobile association (AAA) textbook, "Sportsmanlike Driving," for 39 years.

A major revision of the popular driver education text, currently used in approximately 70 per cent of the nation's high school driver education programs, is now available.

The new edition's 12 chapters are organized to offer a sequential guide for the learning driver. Starting with an overview of the highway system, the book discusses automobile systems and components, then considers basic maneuvers.

Progressing through an explanation of driving laws and signs, highway conditions, and vehicle performance, "Sportsmanlike Driving" also devotes a chapter to the pedestrians and bicyclists who share highways with motorists.

Drivers are not presented merely as manipulators of vehicles but as rational beings who think and make complex decisions in a constantly changing traffic environment. A procedure is developed for arriving at a compromise when multiple threats exist.

Other chapters cover system failures, driver performance, potential hazards existing in mechanical systems and human behavior associated with driving. Effects of alcohol, other drugs, and physical impairments are detailed. Concluding chapters deal with motorcycle operation and career opportunities in the highway transportation system.

"Sportsmanlike Driving's" objective, according to Arthur C. Tomlinson, executive vice president of the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA), is to establish a solid base for driver education programs, especially courses offering concurrent laboratory instruction. The test's emphasis on quality education is supported by performance objectives preceding each chapter. These provide a monitor of student progress.

Information on ordering the texts, published by McGraw-Hill, may be obtained from: The Minnesota state automobile association, 7 travelers trail, Burnsville, Minn. 55337, 612-890-2500, ext. 255; or the auto club of Minneapolis, 13th at LaSalle, Mpls., Minn. 55403, 612-332-0255; or the auto club of St. Paul, 170 east 7th st., St. Paul, Minn. 55101, 612-222-5041.

State's Traffic Crashes Cost $280 Million

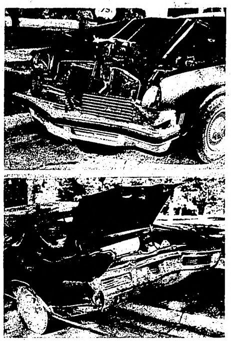
If the figures 852 dead and 39,537 injured are not enough to impress the impact of traffic crashes in Minnesota last year on you, perhaps something with a dollar sign will.

According to the Minnesota department of public safety, the direct cost of traffic accidents in 1974 is conservatively estimated at over $280 million with over half of that figure resulting from nonfatal injuries.

Since it is not possible to make exact cost calculations of this nature, the department's quarter billion dollar plus estimate is based on approximate accident cost figures supplied by the National safety council. Under this schedule the calculable costs of motor vehicle accidents are wage loss, medical expense, insurance administrative costs, and property damage.

With each death representing $97,000 in these costs, the state's 852 fatalities accounted for about $85.5 million in costs. Nonfatal injuries, of which there were just under 40,000, accounted for nearly $160 million in costs, figured at an average of $4000 per case by the safety council. The state's 76,000 property damage crashes added another $40 million dollars to the total at an average cost of $530 each.

While waiting to turn keep your tires straight until you actually make your move, says the tire industry safety council. If you should happen to be hit from behind, at least you can't be knocked into oncoming traffic.



TWO VEHICLES were considered a total loss following an accident which happened about 4:26 p.m. Monday near the intersection of Kneale avenue and Hughes street. The car in the top photo, driven by Mary Broeker and owned by Leona Broeker of Thief River Falls, was traveling north on Kneale avenue when it struck the parked car owned by Dean Ronald Kieper (bottom photo). According to the city police department's investigation report, the accident happened when Miss Broeker attempted to catch a cat which was loose in the car. She was checked and released at Northwestern hospital.

hospital ambulance service and propose the purchase of a new ambulance that could be equipped to provide more comprehensive emergency treatment. The board discussed the matter but took no action pending further consideration.

At the insistence of federal officials, the board approved realignment of federal aid county roads to include a total of 111 miles instead of 64.6 miles, as was adopted earlier.

Commissioners Odin Hanson, Glenn Tasa and Edgar Naplin were appointed to serve joint Pennington-Red Lake county drainage ditch board.

If the Shoe Fits . . .
Can children feel short shoes?
There is a saying in the shoe trade, "Children's feet seldom hurt". Why? Growing children have soft bones in their formative years and if their feet are in tight shoes, the children might not complain. However, the bone structure is changing which will create problems later on.
We have often seen shoes two sizes too small on children and yet they say they feel fine. But where are growing feet to go in a small shoe? Many times you will not see the bunions, ingrown toenails, corns developing, but a basic change in foot proportions may show up in 6 months or a year or two. Basic weakness in arches, or the most common of rotating heels are hard to correct. Ask any mother who has had a child wear corrective shoes, braces or splints. It is an expensive nightmare and progress toward correction is usually slow.
We have all types of insurance for life, health, and property. For proper foot insurance, have your children's feet checked regularly and make sure the shoes you buy them are fitted by persons who consider shoe fitting a profession - not a sideline.

adult evening classes
general information

The Area Vocational Technical Institute presents the Adult Education Program as a service to the people under the direction of the Board of Education of Local School District 564.

We extend our welcome to the citizens of the area to participate in our Adult Education Program offerings. We remind you to make suggestions for courses of interest to you.

Remember, the use of our school facilities for Adult Education classes gives maximum utilization of our buildings and equipment; hence, a greater return on the taxpayers' investment.

SENIOR CITIZENS (age 60 and over) or any unemployed person who can produce a mail claim address card from the state employment service are granted free tuition if they enroll in adult evening classes.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

New AAA Text Stresses Driving Isn't Automatic

Thousands of Minnesota's high school students have been learning the fundamentals of good driving from the American automobile association (AAA) textbook, "Sportsmanlike Driving," for 39 years.

A major revision of the popular driver education text, currently used in approximately 70 per cent of the nation's high school driver education programs, is now available.

The new edition's 12 chapters are organized to offer a sequential guide for the learning driver. Starting with an overview of the highway system, the book discusses automobile systems and components, then considers basic maneuvers.

Progressing through an explanation of driving laws and signs, highway conditions, and vehicle performance, "Sportsmanlike Driving" also devotes a chapter to the pedestrians and bicyclists who share highways with motorists.

Drivers are not presented merely as manipulators of vehicles but as rational beings who think and make complex decisions in a constantly changing traffic environment. A procedure is developed for arriving at a compromise when multiple threats exist.

Other chapters cover system failures, driver performance, potential hazards existing in mechanical systems and human behavior associated with driving. Effects of alcohol, other drugs, and physical impairments are detailed. Concluding chapters deal with motorcycle operation and career opportunities in the highway transportation system.

"Sportsmanlike Driving's" objective, according to Arthur C. Tomlinson, executive vice president of the Minnesota state automobile association (AAA), is to establish a solid base for driver education programs, especially courses offering concurrent laboratory instruction. The test's emphasis on quality education is supported by performance objectives preceding each chapter. These provide a monitor of student progress.

Information on ordering the texts, published by McGraw-Hill, may be obtained from: The Minnesota state automobile association, 7 travelers trail, Burnsville, Minn. 55337, 612-890-2500, ext. 255; or the auto club of Minneapolis, 13th at LaSalle, Mpls., Minn. 55403, 612-332-0255; or the auto club of St. Paul, 170 east 7th st., St. Paul, Minn. 55101, 612-222-5041.

State's Traffic Crashes Cost $280 Million

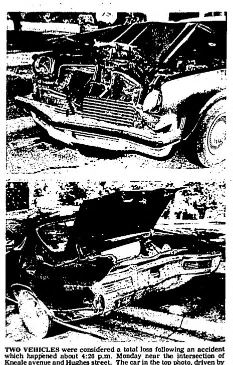
If the figures 852 dead and 39,537 injured are not enough to impress the impact of traffic crashes in Minnesota last year on you, perhaps something with a dollar sign will.

According to the Minnesota department of public safety, the direct cost of traffic accidents in 1974 is conservatively estimated at over $280 million with over half of that figure resulting from nonfatal injuries.

Since it is not possible to make exact cost calculations of this nature, the department's quarter billion dollar plus estimate is based on approximate accident cost figures supplied by the National safety council. Under this schedule the calculable costs of motor vehicle accidents are wage loss, medical expense, insurance administrative costs, and property damage.

With each death representing $97,000 in these costs, the state's 852 fatalities accounted for about $85.5 million in costs. Nonfatal injuries, of which there were just under 40,000, accounted for nearly $160 million in costs, figured at an average of $4000 per case by the safety council. The state's 76,000 property damage crashes added another $40 million dollars to the total at an average cost of $530 each.

While waiting to turn keep your tires straight until you actually make your move, says the tire industry safety council. If you should happen to be hit from behind, at least you can't be knocked into oncoming traffic.



TWO VEHICLES were considered a total loss following an accident which happened about 4:26 p.m. Monday near the intersection of Kneale avenue and Hughes street. The car in the top photo, driven by Mary Broeker and owned by Leona Broeker of Thief River Falls, was traveling north on Kneale avenue when it struck the parked car owned by Dean Ronald Kieper (bottom photo). According to the city police department's investigation report, the accident happened when Miss Broeker attempted to catch a cat which was loose in the car. She was checked and released at Northwestern hospital.

hospital ambulance service and propose the purchase of a new ambulance that could be equipped to provide more comprehensive emergency treatment. The board discussed the matter but took no action pending further consideration.

At the insistence of federal officials, the board approved realignment of federal aid county roads to include a total of 111 miles instead of 64.6 miles, as was adopted earlier.

Commissioners Odin Hanson, Glenn Tasa and Edgar Naplin were appointed to serve joint Pennington-Red Lake county drainage ditch board.

If the Shoe Fits..

Can children feel short shoes?

There is a saying in the shoe trade, "Children's feet seldom hurt". Why? Growing children have soft bones in their formative years and if their feet are in tight shoes, the children might not complain. However, the bone structure is changing which will create problems later on.

We have often seen shoes two sizes too small on children and yet they say they feel fine. But where are growing feet to go in a small shoe? Many times you will not see the bunions, ingrown toenails, corns developing, but a basic change in foot proportions may show up in 6 months or a year or two. Basic weakness in arches, or the most common of rotating heels are hard to correct. Ask any mother who has had a child wear corrective shoes, braces or splints. It is an expensive nightmare and progress toward correction is usually slow.

We have all types of insurance for life, health, and property. For proper foot insurance, have your children's feet checked regularly and make sure the shoes you buy them are fitted by persons who consider shoe fitting a profession - not a sideline.

Prowlers, Eagles Renew Rivalry

Thief River Falls might well be facing its stiffest challenge of the 1975 football season Friday when the Prowlers travel to St. Cloud Apollo to face the highly regarded Eagles.

Granted, Northwest Conference games are much more meaningful and NWAC rivals Bemidji, Fergus Falls and Crookston are by no means pushovers. But, it's very likely that Apollo has the best personnel Thief River Falls will run up against this fall. And despite its nonconference billing, a Prowler win over the Eagles will be every bit as satisfying as an NWAC victory and would be cherished, to be sure.

The challenge of facing a large school is there for the Prowlers against Apollo. Despite the vast enrollment difference and the nearly 300 miles separating the two schools, a keen rivalry has surfaced between the Prowlers and Eagles over the past three years.

Unfortunately the Thief River Falls-Apollo series will end after Friday. Thief River Falls has been most fortunate to be able to keep the well-regarded Apollo ball club on its schedule. Under the Minnesota State High School League's state playoff system, Apollo, being of a larger class can gain no playoff points by playing Thief River Falls. The Prowlers, on the other hand, can indeed score playoff points with wins over the Eagles.

The three previous ball games between the two schools have been well played, and for the most part, close contests. Thief River Falls won that memorable 12-6 game here in 1972, Apollo won at home 34-12 in 1973 and the Eagles won again last year 14-7 in another thriller. Even that 1973 encounter at St. Cloud was interesting. The heavily underdog Prowlers held the Eagles to a 6-6 stalemate in the first half before Apollo exploded for 21 third quarter points.

TRF, Apollo Scout By Game Films

Scouting reports are normally a vital part of a team's pre-game preparation. Assistant coaches throughout the state are on the road each week scouting future opponents while never even seeing their own team play a single game until perhaps the last week of the season.

However, for the second straight year Thief River Falls will play St. Cloud Apollo without the aid of a first-hand scouting report. Because of the distance involved, Thief River Falls scouts used to "fly" when scouting the Eagles. A rain storm just before take-off grounded last year's scouting trip, though, and this year both teams agreed to exchange game films instead of making time consuming and costly scouting trips.

The film exchange is both good and bad, explained Thief River Falls coach Jim Sims. It saves time and money, but it certainly doesn't give the kind of information normally accumulated by scouts.

"We feel scouting is real vital in our preparation," said Sims. "Using film isn't bad if the film is excellent and if we got them back early enough. But, it's still nothing like sending your scouts. It's hard to pick up everything on film, and a lot of times the film quality is not the best. We wouldn't want to do it (exchange film) all the time."

Thief River Falls coaches spent the week looking at films of Apollo's first game 19-7 win over Willmar. At the same time Apollo coaches were scanning Thief River Falls' first game 25-14 loss at Grand Forks Red River.

In addition to the films, Sims reported that "we know they're only going to do so many things and they know we're going to do just so many things. We've seen each other before; we basically know what to expect."

2-0 Cardinals Will Host 0-2 Huskies Friday

North Tri County Conference North Division leading Plummer hosts Goodridge at 8 p.m. Friday to highlight the area small school prep football schedule.

The Cardinals will put their 2-0 record on the line against the Huskies who are winless in two starts this fall. Plummer edged Gonvick 8-0 and Goodridge fell to Grygla 20-12 in last week's games.

Other area games Friday will find Grygla hosting Middle River in another North Tri County Conference game at 1:30 p.m. while Marshall County Central-Newfolden visits Warroad for a 7:30 p.m. Top of the State Conference game.

Grygla is 1-1 for the year following last week's win over Goodridge. Newfolden also owns a 1-1 record after beating Lake of the Woods-Baudette 22-8 last week.

Other North Tri County scores last week found McIntosh beating Middle River 22-14, Oklee ripped Mentor 42-0 and Clearbrook knocked off Erskine 14-6.

In Top of the State play last week, Stephen blanked Warroad 14-0, Argyle defeated East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 26-18, Greenbush topped Kennedy 18-8, Karlstad downed Crookston Cathedral 14-7 and Hallock edged Roseau 8-6.

Crookston Tops LHS Girls' Net Team 4-1 Mon.

Crookston defeated Thief River Falls 4-1 Monday in a match-up of strong area high school tennis teams.

The match was the 1975 season opener for the Prowler girls who will be back in action Saturday when Mahnomen visits Thief River Falls for a 10 a.m. match. The Prowlers will host Roseau at 4 p.m. Monday.

Marchelle Cuppett was the only Prowler winner at Crookston. He beat Grechen Eickhoff 6-0, 6-0 in number three singles.

Sue Ross defeated Marty Minor 6-1, 6-1 in number one singles and Martha Eickhoff stopped Chris Gibson 6-3, 6-2 in number two singles.

Crookston also won both doubles encounters. Kari Roelots and Meg Schabel defeated Lori Lundin and Kelly Bjorkman 6-4, 4-6, 6-1 in number one doubles while Lynette Bakken and Hedi Eickhoff beat Pam Prichard and Jennifer Pluth 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 in number two doubles.

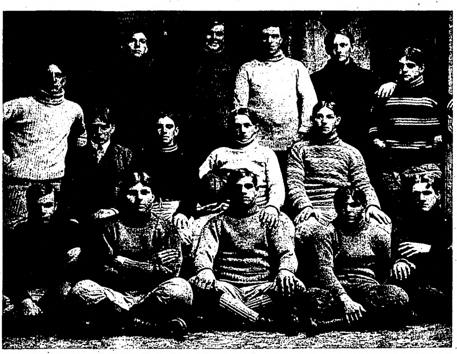
Pam Kotechevar of Thief River Falls was a winner in a singles exhibition match 6-0, 6-0.

LHS Golf Team Places Fourth In Perham Meet

Lincoln high school girls' golf team participated in an eight-team invitational meet at Perham, Monday, finishing in the middle of the pack with a fourth-place effort.

Fergus Falls won the event with a 221 team stroke total, followed by Perham at 226, Detroit Lakes 236, Thief River Falls 245, Breckenridge 250, Fosston 257 and Barnesville.

Debbie Myer of Perham was the meet medalist with a 49. Cheri Onkka of Thief River Falls was runner-up, just one stroke back at 50.



IN CONJUNCTION with the United States Bicentennial observance, Lincoln high school athletic director Russ Smith has put several photographs of early Thief River Falls football teams on display around town. Among the photos is this picture of the 1907 football team, the first athletic squad to represent Thief River Falls high school. Players identified in the picture include Ernie Richards (second from right in front row); Homer Muzzy (far left in middle row); Stafford Curran, the team captain (fourth from left in middle row); Tom Lonson (on Curran's immediate right); and Ernie O'Neill (fourth from left in back row). Other members of the team, but not identified in the picture, included Colin McNevin, John Berg, Tom Crowe, Bill Prichard, Malcolm McNevin, John Zavoral, Charles Kratka, Nick Werstlein and student manager Martin Meehan. The team photos are on display at the Model Barber Shop and at First Northwestern Bank.

"Would Like To End Series At Two Wins, Two Losses"

Prowlers, Eagles To End Series At St. Cloud Apollo On Friday

Thief River Falls evened its 1975 season record at 1-1 last week with a decisive 33-14 win over Detroit Lakes. This week the Prowlers would like to even their series record against St. Cloud Apollo at 2-2 as coach Jim Sims' Lincoln high school football team travels to St. Cloud for a 7:30 p.m. game Friday against the always strong Eagles.

This will be the final meeting between the Prowlers and Eagles who have met three times previously. Apollo has won two of the three encounters and Sims makes it very clear that "we would like to end the series at two wins and two losses apiece."

The first meeting between the two schools was a memorable one back in 1972. Apollo was the number one rated team in the state at the time when Thief River Falls pulled off a stunning 12-6 win before an overflow crowd at the Prowler athletic field in what some people refer to as "the best high school football game every played here."

Apollo bounced back to win rather easily in 1973 by a 34-12 margin on the Eagles' home field. Apollo won last year, too, but by a very slim and somewhat controversial 14-7 score.

Sims still has bitter memories about that 1974 loss. "We should be leading the series right now, not Apollo," voiced Sims as he remembered last year's loss here. "We fumbled three times inside the five yard line and had a punt return for a touchdown called back because of that damn blocking below the waist rule—that we didn't even do!"

Apollo, one of the bigger schools enrollment-wise in the state with 2,350 students, perennially ranks as a potential state power.

"They're a good football team, no doubt about it," said Sims of Apollo. "They have good size, good speed, they're well coached and have the numbers to work with."

Quarterback Don Ramler and runningback Paul Thelen are premiere performers for the Eagles. Both players are second year starters. "Ramler is an awfully good quarterback," said Sims, "and Thelen is one heck of a runningback."

Apollo varies its offensive formations, lining up with split backs, a wishbone, or a half-wishbone with a flanker. "They mix it up pretty good between the pass and the run," explained Sims. "They like the junk stuff—fleaflickers and reverses—plays where their great speed can really hurt you."

Apollo's liking for the "junk stuff" as Sims termed it showed up in the Eagles' 27-15 win over Mankato West last week when those types of plays produced a 72-yard touchdown pass from Ramler and a 69-yard touchdown run by the quarterback. Apollo beat Willmar 19-7 in their season-opener.

"We'll have to be on our toes on defense," warned Sims. "Our key will be our ends. They'll have to play well and not get trapped too deep inside on that away stuff or they run right back past you. Our secondary is going to have to play pass until the very last second or we could get burned."

Defensively, Apollo will probably present a 5-2 look. "They're a pretty sound defensive team," reported Sims. "They have good quickness and good size in the secondary."

Despite what sounds like an awesome Apollo ball club, Sims feels his team is capable of beating the Eagles. "We feel we're a good football team," he said. "We've got a good, tough schedule and Apollo is part of it. We'll be ready for them."

Sims plans few, if any changes in his line-up this week. Senior runningbacks Bryan Olson and Mike Jury both suffered injuries against Detroit Lakes, but are expected to be back in the line-up against Apollo.

The Prowlers will leave Thief River Falls via a chartered bus at 11 a.m. Friday. A pre-game meal is planned at St. John's University near St. Cloud. The team will arrive back in Thief River Falls about 3 a.m. Saturday.

Thief River Falls will be at home next week when the Prowlers host Breckenridge. An open date follows the Cowboys before Thief River Falls finishes the year with four straight Northwest Conference games against Bemidji, Fergus Falls, East Grand Forks and Crookston. The Bemidji and Crookston games will be played here. The Lumberjacks will be the Prowler homecoming opponent Fri., Oct. 3.

TRF Runners Capture Cross Country Title

Thief River Falls, paced by the first place effort of Kevin Murphy, easily beat a five-team field Tuesday to win a junior high school cross country meet conducted on the Thief River Falls Country Club golf course.

Coach Russ Smith's Thief River Falls team swept the top four place finishes and six of the top seven spots to accumulate only 16 points (in cross country, low score wins). Crookston was a distant second with 66 points, followed by Roseau with 68, Bemidji 120 and Grafton 189.

Murphy, a freshman, won the event with an 8:20 clocking over the 1.6 mile course. A total of 47 runners took part in the season-opening meet.

Following Murphy into the finishing chute were Thief River Falls teammates Tom Brosseau who finished in 8:30, Bob Fitzgerald 8:34 and Jeff Oseid 8:42. Brosseau and Oseid are freshmen, Fitzgerald is an eigth grader.

Bob Windels of Crookston finished fifth in 8:47, followed by Thief River Falls' Todd Trickle, a freshman, in 8:51 and Greg Brosseau, an eighth grader, in 8:58.

The rest of the top 12 finishers included Loren Thacker of Roseau in 8:59; Robert Kramer, Roseau, 9:01; Cornelius Whitefeather, Bemidji, 9:02; Dan Myerchin, Crookston, 9:03; and Eric Grafstrom, Roseau, 9:04.

Other Thief River Falls finishers included Jim Scheuneman, 13th, 9:07; Steve Wigness, 15th, 9:13; Joel Hallstrom, 18th, 9:16; Myles Lund, 21st, 9:20; Scott Sabo, 24th, 9:34; Todd Bergland, 26th, 9:38; Doug Green, 29th, 9:53; Rob Blankenfeld, 33rd, 10:12; Don Johnston, 34th, 10:13; Jon Onkka, 38th, 10:27; and Curtis Johnson, 39th, 10:28.

Smith was extremely pleased with his young team's effort. "It was a great start for our junior high team," he said. "This could be the best junior high team we have ever had."

Hole-In-One Is Recorded By Curt Geatz On Sunday

Third hole-in-one of the 1975 golf season was recorded Sunday on the Thief River Falls County Club golf course.

Curt Geatz aced the par three, 143-yard fouth hold Sunday afternoon using a five-iron.

Geatz, newly appointed Northland community college hockey coach, was golfing with Neil Carlson, Myrle Carlson and Dale Wennberg.

Geatz' ace was the third hole-in-one on the County Club course this year. Lincoln high school golf coach Jack Boyer was the first to record the feat in June and 15-year-old Lincoln high school sophomore Mike Olson notched a hole-in-one in August.

Boyer's ace was recorded Tues., June 3, when he was golfing with Wally DuChamp and Arnie Lee. His hole-in-one was also made on the fourth hole.

Olson's hole-in-one was made Sat., Aug. 9, when he was golfing with Tom Zieman and Brent Walton. He aced the par four, 252-yard fifth hole with a three-wood.

Kent Ehrenstrom Earns Prowler Game Ball Award

Weekly post-game recognition honors were announced Tuesday by Lincoln high school head football coach Jim Sims following the Prowlers' 33-14 win over Detroit Lakes.

Senior fullback-tackle Kent Ehrenstrom was named winner of the Prowler game ball for his outstanding performance against the Lakers.

Several other individual honors were also announced: Mike Jury, Doug Dallmann and Kent Ehrenstrom were cited for scoring touchdowns, with Jury and Ehrenstrom scoring twice; Jay Kverno was honored for throwing a block that springs a touchdown; Dallmann and Chris Biegner were credited with fumble recoveries; Kirk Reed, Matt Overby and Biegner were recognized for sacking the quarterback, a feat Reed helped accomplish three times and Beigner twice; and Mike Leach was credited for making a tackle that forced a fumble.

Dallmann was honored for becoming the first Prowler back to become a member of the "100 yard club" as he rushed for 132 yards against the Lakers.

Reed topped the Prowler defensive point scoring charts with 28 points. Biegner totaled 26 points on defense, Duane Gonsorowski 20, Overby and Terry Sullivan 14 each and Mike Kosel and Arlie Engelman 10 apiece.

Otters, Green Wave Open NWAC Schedule On Friday

After two weeks of nonconference competition, the five-team Northwest Athletic Conference will open its 1975 conference football season Friday when Fergus Falls plays at East Grand Forks.

Three other NWAC members will continue nonconference assignments this week as Thief River Falls travels to St. Cloud Apollo, Crookston hosts West Fargo and Bemidji entertains Minnehaha Academy of Minneapolis in a Saturday night contest.

+Wayne Marty of Bemidji is the league's leading scorer in nonconference games with three touchdowns and 22 points for the high scoring Lumberjacks who are averaging 40 points per game. Ben Leister of Bemidji has scored 14 points and Doug Dallmann of Thief River Falls has 13.

NWAC—Nonconference

	W	L	Pts	Opp
Bemidji	2	0	80	20
Thief River Falls	1	1	47	39
Crookston Central	1	1	20	16
Fergus Falls	1	1	21	16
East Grand Forks	1	1	14	35

+Mike Thomas of Fergus Falls leads NWAC runningbacks with 234 yards rushing. Rick Beck of East Grand Forks has rushed for 227 yards, Bob Ranum of Crookston 198 and Doug Dallmann of Thief River Falls 197. Dallmann boasts the league's best average with an average of 11.6 yards per carry.

+Jeff Eidsmoe of Bemidji leads the league's quarterbacks in passing yardage with 11 completions in 16 attempts for 187 yards and four touchdowns. Jeff Lindquist of Thief River Falls has completed three passes in eight attempts for 99 yards and Joel Rood of Crookston has completed seven of 20 attempts for 98 yards.

+Jack Schwartz of Bemidji leads the league pass receivers with six receptions for 121 yards and two touchdowns. Bob Forberg of Thief River Falls has caught two passes for 59 yards.

+Schwartz also leads the league punters with three punts for a 39.7-yard average. Jeff Pester of Crookston is averaging 38.6 yards on seven punts.

+Marty of Bemidji is the league punt return leader with a 16.3-yard average on three returns. Beck of East Grand Forks has returned three punts for a 13-yard average.

+Dallmann of Thief River Falls has totaled 54 yards in kick returns to lead the league in that department with an 18-yard average.

Changes Made In 1975 State Duck Hunting Dates

Minnesota department of natural resources has announced a change in the 1975 waterfowl regulations. Milo Casey, state fish and wildlife director, said that the season will be lengthened three days due to a revision of the season "framework" regulations announced earlier by the U.S. fish and wildlife service.

The previously announced framework was for 44 days with three extra days for opening at noon on a Wednesday. Minnesota had tentatively selected the 47 day season. Casey said the revised framework is for 45 days with a five day bonus for the mid week opener.

Casey said that Minnesota has elected to take the extra five days for a total of 50 days of hunting. This will move the closing date back to November 19. The previously announced opening date was October 1 and that date will remain the same, he said.

The U.S. fish and wildlife service also made a change in the "point system", reducing the points on the five "low point" species from 15 to 10. Under the point system, each species of duck is assigned a point value and hunters are allowed to take a duck bag totalling not more than 100 points.

Minnesota has not taken the point system in the past and for a variety of reasons elected to reject it again this year, Casey said.

"One item misunderstood by hunters," he said, "is that even under the point system, canvasback and redhead would still be completely protected in west central Minnesota, Sibley and Nicollet counties and the Mississippi river valley."

Casey said that field reports indicate good duck populations through most of Minnesota. "Our hunters will have a very good season," he predicted.

He emphasized the value of the 4 p.m. closing hour on waterfowl hunting as the key to rebuilding local duck populations to this year's level.

"Our goal," Casey said, "is to put breeding ducks on all available habitat in Minnesota. Using the mallard as an index we will reach that goal when we have about 125,000 breeding pairs."

Two Teams Tie For TRF City Trap Championship

Wilson Brothers and Thune-Upham will meet at 7 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) to decide championship honors in the Thief River Falls Trap League's city championship shoot.

Eight teams—the top four teams in the league's first and second half regular season standings—took part in the post-season city championship shoot Monday.

The league title still wasn't decided, however, since Wilson Brothers and Thune-Upham finished in a first-place tie. Out of a possible perfect 250-bird score, Wilson Brothers and Thune-Upham posted identical scores of 242.

L.B. Hartz was just one bird back at 241, Johnson's Used Cars and VFW tied at 239, Legion shot a 238, Northern State Bank 235 and the Eagles 234.

The tie between Wilson Brothers and Thune-Upham will be broken tonight. A club spokesman also announced that the club's shooting facilities will be open to all interested shooters tonight for a "hunter's warm-up."

Individuals taking part in Monday's city championship event shot 50-bird rounds, using regular season league handicaps.

Wilson Bothers shot a 242 as Wally Vagle posted a 25 straight on his first round and finished with a 23-6 on the second round for a 50; Stan Wilson shot rounds of 24-2, 24-2 for 50; John Tofte 18-7, 20-7 for 50; Bob Puetz 20-1 and a 25-straight for 46; and Dan Rawerts 13-8, 20-8 for 46.

Thune-Upham shot a 242 with Francis Anderson shooting rounds of 22-5, 20-5 for 50; Adolph Anderson 22-5, 24-6 for 50; Jay Moum 18-7, 22-7 for 50; Stan Sjoberg 22-2, 24-2 for 49; and Stan Upham 18-4, 17-4 for 43.

L.B. Hartz finished with a 241 as Howard Hagen shot rounds of 21-4, 21-4 for a 50; Pam Johnson 21-6, 20-6 for 50; David Hagen 23-5, 19-5 for 49; Walt Leach 23-3, 20-3 for 48; and Pat Fischer 21-0, 23-0 for 44.

Johnson's Used Cars shot a 239 as Del Stordahl shot rounds of 23-2, 23-2 for a 50; Oscar Johnson 19-5, 23-5 for 49; Brian Daily 23-3, 20-3 for 48; Duane Monson 23-1, 23-1 for 48; and Frandell Johnson 20-1, 22-1 for 44.

VFW posted a 239 with Terry Paulson shooting rounds of 23-4, 21-4 for 50; Craig Vollan 17-8, 16-8 for 49; Jim Cook 20-4, 23-4 for 49; Ed Krystosek 17-6, 17-6 for 46; and Mark Hagen 20-2, 21-2 for 45.

The Legion finished with a 238 as Dick Scullthorp shot rounds of 22-5, 22-5 for a 50; Jim Bass 19-5, 21-5 for 49; Al Boughton 22-2, 24-2 for 49; Don Kaspari 21-5, 18-5 for 48; and Steve Lappegaard 19-2, 18-2 for 41.

Northern State Bank shot a 235 with Orren Bendickson shooting rounds of 21-4, 21-4 for a 50; Stan Wilson 24-0, 24-0 for 48; Duane Holland 19-3, 22-3 for 47; Howard Thorson 23-0, 24-0 for 47; and Mark Enge 19-3, 18-3 for 43.

The Eagles posted a 243 as Roger Hible shot rounds of 21-5, 22-5 for a 50; Gordie Anderson 21-5, 18-5 for 48; Steve Stoltman 16-7, 24-7 for 48; John Wolbeck 18-4, 25-4 for 47; and Arnie Rantanen 16-6, 13-6 for 41.

Lincoln Girls Topple Crookston Cathedral By 2-1 Score Tuesday

Thief River Falls evened its 1975 season record at 1-1 Tuesday with a 2-1 win over Crookston Cathedral in a girls' high school volleyball match played at Crookston.

The Prowlers lost the first game of the varsity match 18-12, but bounced back to take the next two games by 18-8 and 18-12 margins.

Crookston Cathedral won the preliminary junior varsity match 2-0. The Blue Wave won by 18-12 and 18-0 scores in the B squad competition to hand the Prowler junior varsity its second loss.

Thief River Falls will return to action Tuesday when the Prowlers travel to East Grand Forks for a 7:30 p.m. match.

Lincoln Football JV Team Blanks Central By 16-0

Lincoln high school junior varsity football team blanked Grand Forks Central 16-0 Monday in Grand Forks.

Thief River Falls scored on a 32-yard run by Steve Erickson in the first quarter and on a 42-yard pass play from quarterback Mike Wiebolt to split end Mark Thorstad in the second quarter.

Bill Robson, Sheldon Idso and Mike Wigness were cited by Prowler coaches for strong defensive play.

The win was the first victory in three starts for the Lincoln sophomore-junior varsity teams.

Thief River Falls will be back in action Monday when the Prowler junior varsity plays its 1975 home opener at 7 p.m. against Crookston Cathedral.

Warroad Blanks Newfolden Girls By 2-0 Margin

Warroad defeated Marshall County Central 2-0 Tuesday in a girls' high school volleyball match played at Newfolden.

Warroad won both varsity matches against the first year Nordics by 18-1 and 18-11 margins. Mary Hackett scored seven points in Warroad's first game win and Judy Stukel served eight points for the Warriors in the second game.

The Warriors also won the preliminary B squad match 2-0.

In Memorium

In loving memory of Johnnie Ruud:

Three years have passed since you left us,
But your smiles are with us yet.
We will always cherish the memory of you.
Whom we will never forget.
We, who love you, sadly miss you.
As it dawns another year.
In the lonely hours of dreaming,
Thoughts of you are always near.
No one knows the silent heartaches.
Only those who lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence.
For the husband, dad and grandfather we loved so well.

Sadly missed by wife, Vivian, son Russ, daughters, Jean and Darlene, and their families.

Order for Hearing on Petition for General Administration
State of Minnesota,
County of Pennington—ss.
IN COUNTY COURT
PROBATE DIVISION
IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF Clara Halland, Decedent.

IT IS ORDERED that the petition for general administration filed herein and any objections filed thereto be heard on September 26, 1975, at 10:30 o'clock A.M. by this court in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, Minnesota. That, if proper, at said time and place a representative will be appointed to administer the estate, who shall collect all assets and file an inventory thereof, pay all legal debts, claims, and taxes, and expenses of administration, and sell such real and personal property as may be necessary and for the best interests of the estate. Upon completion of administration, the representative shall file a final account for allowance and shall distribute the estate to the persons thereunto entitled as ordered by the court and do all other acts to close the estate.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that creditors of decedent file their claims in this court within sixty (60) days from the date hereof and that said claims be heard on November 5, 1975, at 2:00 o'clock P.M. by this court in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Dated September 2, 1975.

In Memorium

In loving memory of Johnnie Ruud:

Three years have passed since you left us,
But your smiles are with us yet.
We will always cherish the memory of you.
Whom we will never forget.
We, who love you, sadly miss you.
As it dawns another year.
In the lonely hours of dreaming,
Thoughts of you are always near.
No one knows the silent heartaches.
Only those who lost can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence.
For the husband, dad and grandfather we loved so well.

Sadly missed by wife, Vivian, son Russ, daughters, Jean and Darlene, and their families.

315.17 Acre Grain Farm, owned by Ernest & Melvina Gagnon

Legal description of this farm is:

The East Half Southwest Quarter (E½SW¼) and Government Lots 6 & 7 and the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Six (6) in Township One Hundred Fifty-(150) North of Range Forty-three (43) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian. This is in Terrebonne Township in Red Lake County, located 2½ miles West, on Black top road, from Terrebonne on Minnesota Highway 92. The farm consists of 296 tillable acres of which 36 acres are summer fallowed in 1975, 7 acres of woods, and 2.2 acre building site. The building site has an older modern home, 36'x48' quonset, old barn, 24'x36' cattle shed, tool shed, double garage, concrete silo and wooden granary. The buildings are available for inspection by appointment only. Major ditching is done. The farm has a wheat allotment base of 11.2 acres, corn base 23.6 acres and barley base of 6.2 acres. The buyer may have possession of the farm upon removal of crops, with the exception of the home, garage and tool shed which will be occupied by Sellers until September 1, 1976. Sealed bids will be accepted until 1 p.m. on Friday, October 3, 1975, at the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON in Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, at which time they will be opened. Bids must be accompanied by a certified check, money order or cashier's check in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted. Those present submitting sealed bids will be allowed to raise their bids orally in multiples of $100.00. Sellers reserve the right to reject any and all bids. A deposit of 29% of the final bid must be paid at the close of bidding. The sellers will finance the balance on a Contract for Deed payable at 7% interest with principal payments over a period of 10 years. No right of prepayment shall be extended until 6 years from the date of sale. For further information contact the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

FOR SALE ON BIDS

Legal description of this farm is:

The East Half Southwest Quarter (E½SW¼) and Government Lots 6 & 7 and the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Six (6) in Township One Hundred Fifty-(150) North of Range Forty-three (43) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian. This is in Terrebonne Township in Red Lake County, located 3½ miles West, on Black top road, from Terrebonne on Minnesota Highway 92. The farm consists of 294 tillable acres of which 36 acres are summer fallowed in 1975, 7 acres of woods, and 3.2 acre building site. The building site has an older modern home, 26'x48' quonset, old barn, 34'x36' cattle shed, tool shed, double garage, concrete silo and wooden granary. The buildings are available for inspection by appointment only. Major ditching is done. The farm has a wheat allotment base of 11.2 acres, corn base 23.6 acres and barley base of 6.3 acres. The buyer may have possession of the farm upon removal of crops, with the exception of the home, garage and tool shed which will be occupied by Sellers until September 1, 1976. Sealed bids will be accepted until 1 p.m. on Friday, October 3, 1975, at the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON in Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, at which time they will be opened. Bids must be accompanied by a certified check, money order or cashier's check in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted. Those present submitting sealed bids will be allowed to raise their bids orally in multiples of $100.00. Sellers reserve the right to reject any and all bids. A deposit of 29% of the final bid must be paid at the close of bidding. The sellers will finance the balance on a Contract for Deed payable at 7% interest with principal payments over a period of 10 years. No right of prepayment shall be extended until 6 years from the date of sale. For further information contact the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

6 Auto Mishaps Noted By Police

Six automobile accidents causing total estimated damages of $2,925 were reported to the Thief River Falls police department within the last week.

Two accidents were reported Tuesday, September 2. At 1:25 p.m., Allen Carver of McIntosh was traveling west on Third street when he collided with a car driven by Henry Delzer of Fergus Falls, who was proceeding north on Knight avenue after stopping at a stop sign. Damages were estimated at $500 to the Delzer car and $575 to the Carver vehicle.

Jerrold Nelson of Goodridge and Susan Sachau of Thief River Falls were both traveling east on third street when Nelson stopped to make a left turn on Davis avenue and was struck from behind by the Sachau car. Estimated damages were $300 to the Sachau car and $175 to the Nelson vehicle.

On Wednesday, September, 3, at 5:15 p.m., Frank Kiewel of Grand Forks, N.D., was traveling east on Third street near LaBree avenue when his car was struck in the left rear by a vehicle driven by Clarence Hanson of Plummer, which was headed in the same direction. Damages were estimated at $175 to the Hanson vehicle and $50 to the Kiewel car.

In the first of two accidents Friday, Marla Nelson of the city parked her car in the VFW parking lot facing east toward First street, leaving the engine running. The car rolled forward and struck a parked car owned by Anna Hamre of the city, causing $200 damage to the Hamre car. No damage was reported on the Nelson car from the accident, which was reported at 7:15 a.m.

At 3:48 p.m. Scott Steedsman of the city was traveling south on LaBree avenue when he stopped for a stop sign, continued across the intersection and was met by a car traveling east on Eighth street driven by Rae Ann Peters of the city. Damages were estimated at $300 to the Steedsman vehicle and $100 to the Peters car.

Sunday at 9:15 a.m., Sophie Sundby of the city was driving east on Sixth street, stopped for a stop sign and pulled into Main avenue when she met a vehicle driven by Donald Nicholson of the city which was traveling south on Main. Estimated damages were $250 to the Sundby car and $300 to the Nicholson vehicle.

In other incidents, on Tuesday, September 2 Wayne Klemetson of the city, 29, was apprehended by officers on a stake-out for allegedly putting two loaves of bread into his truck while unloading other items at a local store.

Wednesday, September 3, Donna Burdenie of the city reported that during the night on August 28 the gas cap was taken from her car. The loss was valued at $15.

In one of two incidents Thursday, Tim Munt of the city reported his car taken from his home between 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6:45 a.m. Thursday. It was found Friday in the Hartz warehouse parking lot. Mrs. H. O. Berve of the city reported that an intruder had had attempted to kick her garage door open, but nothing was taken. She reported another break-in into her garage Sunday night.

Friday at 9:28 p.m. an off-duty officer noticed two young males tampering with a car at the city pound. They were allegedly attempting to remove the mag wheels from the car. Two male juveniles, both 16, apprehended.

Thefts from two cars were reported Saturday. Duane Morben of the city said a pair of binoculars and a railroad flashlight valued at a total of $96 were taken from his vehicle, probably while it was parked behind the VFW. Ronald Johnson of the city told police a hunting knife, .22 shells, ear muffs and some tools valued at a total of $22 were taken from his car while it was parked across from the Eagles hall.

Sunday at 7:20 a.m., police were informed that someone was laying alongside highway 59 just outside of town. Upon investigation Jack Beverford, 18, of St. Hilaire was found asleep alongside the highway. He allegedly had two flags valued at $87 under his jacket. The flags were discovered to have been taken from the Country Inn.

Monday a local store apprehended a female juvenile, 15, for allegedly shoplifting a package of candy valued at 77 cents.

Robert Mattson of 614 Kneale av. S., city said Tuesday that nine stereo tapes valued at $68 were taken from his vehicle while it was parked at the Casino club.

MISS KIM L. Hinrichs, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Hinrichs of 511 Merriam Ave. S., is home on 15 days leave after graduating from the Navy WAVES recruit training course at Orlando, Fla. Miss Hinrichs, a 1975 graduate of Lincoln high school, enlisted in the navy's delayed entry (CACHE) program through the Thief River Falls navy recruiting station on February 28. She started recruit training at the navy's 1,200-acre Florida base on June 27, and will report to the navy radioman class "A" school at San Diego, Calif., when her leave expires.

Rockefeller To Address State GOP Convention

Minnesota Republican state chairman Charles A. (Chuck) Slocum and state chairwoman Mrs. Carolyn Ring have announced that Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller will address the Minnesota Republican state convention in St. Cloud on November 15.

It will be the Vice President's first visit to Minnesota since he was sworn in on December 19, 1974.

Rockefeller served as governor of New York from 1959 through 1973. He also held a series of positions in the federal government in the state department and the department of health, education and welfare.

July Fatalities Boost Road Toll In Minnesota

A high fatality count during July has brought the total for the first seven months of 1975 to within of the toll for the same period last year, the Minnesota department of public safety reported today.

"The count for July of last year was extremely low," Public safety Commissioner Edward G. Novak said, "with 77 traffic deaths. This year it jumped to 104, which is closer to the July totals of previous years.

"Though the total count is still below that of last year, three important categories show higher totals - pedestrians are now 65 compared to 53; bicyclists 13 compared with last year's nine; and 42 motorcyclists 42, have been killed so far compared with 34 during the first seven months of 1974.

"We realize that it is almost impossible to reduce the number of fatalities by more than 170 every year as we did last year, but we are concerned by the large increase during just the month of July.

"We are hopeful that during the remaining five months we can again show substantial decreases, so that we may end the year with less than 800 fatalities, compared with 852 for all of 1974.

"Though some disagree, we still are convinced that lower speeds have accounted for the greatest saving of lives, and this is borne out by statistics from every state in the nation. But experience nationally and here in Minnesota also is beginning to indicate a gradual speedup over the 55 mph limit.

"I guess we must convince ourselves that slower speeds do save lives, and that includes our own and those of our friends and families."

July Bond Sales Total $35,784 In Pennington

July savings bond purchases in Pennington county totaled $35,784, according to G. A. Belto, county chairman. Total sales in 1975 through July were $149,652 or 50 per cent of the county quota for the year.

Totals for other counties in the area were: Red Lake—$5,406 in July, $39,824 for year, 45 per cent of quota; Marshall—$8,034 in July, $89,277 for year, 45 per cent of quota; and Polk—$52,069 for July, $368,592 for year, 57 per cent of quota.

State savings bond purchases in July were above totals at the same date last year. July E bond purchases were $9,083,694 compared with $7,083,168 for 1974. July H bond purchases were $242,000 compared with $162,500 for 1974. Year to date E and H bond purchases were $66,428,645 compared with $62,184,585 for the same period in 1974.

6 Auto Mishaps Noted By Police

Six automobile accidents causing total estimated damages of $2,925 were reported to the Thief River Falls police department within the last week.

Two accidents were reported Tuesday, September 2. At 1:25 p.m., Allen Carver of McIntosh was traveling west on Third street when he collided with a car driven by Henry Delzer of Fergus Falls, who was proceeding north on Knight avenue after stopping at a stop sign. Damages were estimated at $500 to the Delzer car and $575 to the Carver vehicle.

Jerrold Nelson of Goodridge and Susan Sachau of Thief River Falls were both traveling east on third street when Nelson stopped to make a left turn on Davis avenue and was struck from behind by the Sachau car. Estimated damages were $300 to the Sachau car and $175 to the Nelson vehicle.

On Wednesday, September, 3, at 5:15 p.m., Frank Kiewel of Grand Forks, N.D., was traveling east on Third street near LaBree avenue when his car was struck in the left rear by a vehicle driven by Clarence Hanson of Plummer, which was headed in the same direction. Damages were estimated at $175 to the Hanson vehicle and $50 to the Kiewel car.

In the first of two accidents Friday, Marla Nelson of the city parked her car in the VFW parking lot facing east toward First street, leaving the engine running. The car rolled forward and struck a parked car owned by Anna Hamre of the city, causing $200 damage to the Hamre car. No damage was reported on the Nelson car from the accident, which was reported at 7:15 a.m.

At 3:48 p.m. Scott Steedsman of the city was traveling south on LaBree avenue when he stopped for a stop sign, continued across the intersection and was met by a car traveling east on Eighth street driven by Rae Ann Peters of the city. Damages were estimated at $300 to the Steedsman vehicle and $100 to the Peters car.

Sunday at 9:15 a.m., Sophie Sundby of the city was driving east on Sixth street, stopped for a stop sign and pulled into Main avenue when she met a vehicle driven by Donald Nicholson of the city which was traveling south on Main. Estimated damages were $250 to the Sundby car and $300 to the Nicholson vehicle.

In other incidents, on Tuesday, September 2 Wayne Klemetson of the city, 29, was apprehended by officers on a stake-out for allegedly putting two loaves of bread into his truck while unloading other items at a local store.

Wednesday, September 3, Donna Burdenie of the city reported that during the night on August 28 the gas cap was taken from her car. The loss was valued at $15.

In one of two incidents Thursday, Tim Munt of the city reported his car taken from his home between 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and 6:45 a.m. Thursday. It was found Friday in the Hartz warehouse parking lot. Mrs. H. O. Berve of the city reported that an intruder had had attempted to kick her garage door open, but nothing was taken. She reported another break-in into her garage Sunday night.

Friday at 9:28 p.m. an off-duty officer noticed two young males tampering with a car at the city pound. They were allegedly attempting to remove the mag wheels from the car. Two male juveniles, both 16, apprehended.

Thefts from two cars were reported Saturday. Duane Morben of the city said a pair of binoculars and a railroad flashlight valued at a total of $96 were taken from his vehicle, probably while it was parked behind the VFW. Ronald Johnson of the city told police a hunting knife, .22 shells, ear muffs and some tools valued at a total of $22 were taken from his car while it was parked across from the Eagles hall.

Sunday at 7:20 a.m., police were informed that someone was laying alongside highway 59 just outside of town. Upon investigation Jack Beverford, 18, of St. Hilaire was found asleep alongside the highway. He allegedly had two flags valued at $87 under his jacket. The flags were discovered to have been taken from the Country Inn.

Monday a local store apprehended a female juvenile, 15, for allegedly shoplifting a package of candy valued at 77 cents.

Robert Mattson of 614 Kneale av. S., city said Tuesday that nine stereo tapes valued at $68 were taken from his vehicle while it was parked at the Casino club.

MISS KIM L. Hinrichs, 18-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Hinrichs of 511 Merriam Ave. S., is home on 15 days leave after graduating from the Navy WAVES recruit training course at Orlando, Fla. Miss Hinrichs, a 1975 graduate of Lincoln high school, enlisted in the navy's delayed entry (CACHE) program through the Thief River Falls navy recruiting station on February 28. She started recruit training at the navy's 1,200-acre Florida base on June 27, and will report to the navy radioman class "A" school at San Diego, Calif., when her leave expires.

Rockefeller To Address State GOP Convention

Minnesota Republican state chairman Charles A. (Chuck) Slocum and state chairwoman Mrs. Carolyn Ring have announced that Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller will address the Minnesota Republican state convention in St. Cloud on November 15.

It will be the Vice President's first visit to Minnesota since he was sworn in on December 19, 1974.

Rockefeller served as governor of New York from 1959 through 1973. He also held a series of positions in the federal government in the state department and the department of health, education and welfare.

July Fatalities Boost Road Toll In Minnesota

A high fatality count during July has brought the total for the first seven months of 1975 to within of the toll for the same period last year, the Minnesota department of public safety reported today.

"The count for July of last year was extremely low," Public safety Commissioner Edward G. Novak said, "with 77 traffic deaths. This year it jumped to 104, which is closer to the July totals of previous years.

"Though the total count is still below that of last year, three important categories show higher totals - pedestrians are now 65 compared to 53; bicyclists 13 campared with last year's nine; and 42 motorcyclists 42, have been killed so far compared with 34 during the first seven months of 1974.

"We realize that it is almost impossible to reduce the number of fatalities by more than 170 every year as we did last year, but we are concerned by the large increase during just the month of July.

"We are hopeful that during the remaining five months we can again show substantial decreases, so that we may end the year with less than 800 fatalities, compared with 852 for all of 1974.

"Though some disagree, we still are convinced that lower speeds have accounted for the greatest saving of lives, and this is borne out by statistics from every state in the nation. But experience nationally and here in Minnesota also is beginning to indicate a gradual speedup over the 55 mph limit.

"I guess we must convince ourselves that slower speeds do save lives, and that includes our own and those of our friends and families."

July Bond Sales Total $35,784 In Pennington

July savings bond purchases in Pennington county totaled $35,784, according to G. A. Beito, county chairman. Total sales in 1975 through July were $149,652 or 50 per cent of the county quota for the year.

Totals for other counties in the area were: Red Lake—$5,406 in July, $39,824 for year, 45 per cent of quota; Marshall—$5,034 in July, $89,277 for year, 45 per cent of quota; and Polk—$52,069 for July, $368,592 for year, 57 per cent of quota.

State savings bond purchases in July were above totals at the same date last year. July E bond purchases were $9,083,694 compared with $7,083,168 for 1974. July H bond purchases were $242,000 compared with $162,500 for 1974. Year to date E and H bond purchases were $66,428,645 compared with $62,184,565 for the same period in 1974.

Growing up

Look at your lanky, teen-age son! It's hard to believe that he once wore these shoes. It seems only yesterday that he was a baby, yet he himself is the best testimonial that the years have passed. Now he stands almost as tall as you. He is a fascinating maze of contradictions—an eager, lovable youngster one minute, a scowling, angry adolescent the next.

It takes patience to understand a teen-ager—patience, and a lot of love. Though he strives to be adult, he is still a boy. Though he clings to childhood, he is almost "grown-up." You may not always be aware of it, but he still looks to you for many things. And he sees in you an example that he will, almost unconsciously, follow in many ways.

Are you setting a good example? How about church, for instance? If you haven't been going lately, start again next Sunday for your son's sake, as well as your own. And don't forget to take him with you!

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

"...If any one will not work, let him not eat." 2 Thessalonians 3:10. The Apostle Paul had just written about his own way of making a living. Although he preached daily and did Christian work of all kinds, he earned his own living by making tents. He made this point to some in the church who liked to sit around and not work as they should.

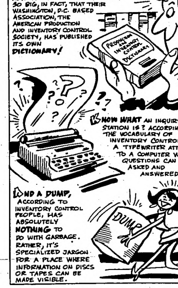
Today is just after Labor Day, 1975. Much has been done to improve the lot of both skilled and unskilled labor in the U.S. The union movement, however, has had growing pains just as our Country has in adjusting to success. The nation became more and more interested in luxury living, and labor naturally demanded more as well. The wage earner now has more security and fringe benefits than any workman in the world and this is good. There is no reason why a man who works for another all his life and does faithful work should become a ward of the county welfare in his old age or in sickness. Much of the union effort has been to prevent these problems, and we are all proud of their achievement. The matter of survival is not the problem as it used to be.

Organized labor today is not limited to essentials, but it is now branching out into political education and the grasping of political power. It spends enormous sums in its own interest and literally buys its representatives in Congress. Many farm districts have representation from the AFL-CIO supported power structure. With this power comes responsibility. On "Meet The Press" this week, labor leaders were interviewed. Not a single one of them brought up the matter of a worker producing more to help the wage-price spiral. Their only apparent concern was increased wages for the same work - and as we all know - even for less work or no work at all. Political power was also uppermost on their mind and they talked as if the Democrat Party with its socialistic legislation was the only answer.

Although no group or person has a corner on greed, labor is also guilty. The time has long since passed that organized labor should grow up and realize that things have changed. It must realize that unless labor produces more per man hour and more economically for their employers, there might be no jobs for them. Unless they can help the auto industry produce a competitive item with some quality workmanship, the 20 per cent foreign car market will likely double or triple.

When the AFL-CIO puts their boys in Congress and tells them to vote for more socialism, they should remember one little fact. There is no labor union movement worth even the name in our "wonderful" socialist countries such as Russia, China, and Cuba. Those who don't like their wages get the option of slave labor with no pay at all. In fact, Mr. Solzhenitsyn said their food ration was being cut as our President helped seal their doom by his performance at Helsinki. This would mean that the millions in slave labor camps today will not live even the usual ten years before starvation and overwork kills them. Now, no one in our Country wants that, even if Congress continues to vote its way into such a system. This is what we will get if we insist on wage and price controls which seem to be the easy answer. The only trouble with that answer is that it doesn't work, it never has and it is not working in Russia. Their controls have been in effect with ruthless enforcement for over 40 years, and today they cannot even feed themselves.

The answer then, is not government as the leadership or organized labor demands. It is rather in the realm of the spirit of man. We must be workmen worthy of our calling. Actually is't fun to work and do a good job and that's what this Country really needs.



FANCY THAT!
EVERY PROFESSION HAS ITS OWN JARGON, BUT INVENTORY CONTROL PEOPLE HAVE TAKEN UP WRITING A NEW VOCABULARY IN A BIG WAY. SO BIG, IN FACT, THAT THEIR WASHINGTON, D.C. BASED ASSOCIATION, THE AMERICAN PRODUCTION AND INVENTORY CONTROL SOCIETY, HAS PUBLISHED ITS OWN DICTIONARY!
PRODUCTION AND INVENTORY CONTROL DICTIONARY
KNOW WHAT AN INQUIRY STATION IS? ACCORDING TO THE VOCABULARY OF INVENTORY CONTROL, IT'S A TYPEWRITER ATTACHED TO A COMPUTER WHERE QUESTIONS CAN BE ASKED AND ANSWERED!
AND A DUMP, ACCORDING TO INVENTORY CONTROL PEOPLE, HAS ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO DO WITH GARBAGE. RATHER, IT'S SPECIALIZED JARGON FOR A PLACE WHERE INFORMATION ON DISCS OR TAPES CAN BE MADE VISIBLE.

400 People Are Killed Annually By Lightning

About 400 people are killed by lightning each year in the United States, although the chance of being killed by lightning is quite low. However, there are some facts about lightning that can reduce even further the chance of being hit.

One of the first things to know, say researchers in atmospheric physics at the University of Minnesota, is that lightning is most likely to strike the tallest object in the area. It follows, then, that a tall, isolated tree is a dangerous refuge during a thunderstorm, that the mast on a sailboat will attract lightning, and that other tall objects will be unsafe to be near.

Overlooked, perhaps, is that even a small human being on the water or in an open field may be the tallest object around and a possible target for lightning.

"If your hair is standing on end, you know you're in a dangerous electrical field," said Frances J. Anderson, a research associate in physics at the university. Anderson demonstrated this phenomenon in the lab by placing a small frizzy-haired doll underneath a metal plate connected to a small machine that generates current. As she cranked the machine, current collected in the plate. Soon the doll's hair was standing on end.

"If this happens to you," she advised, "run for shelter."

A metal building or automobile provides the safest shelter during an electrical storm. Anderson said the occupants are shielded from the current by the metal. "Even an airplane, with its metal shell, provides good protection from lightning. People can be inside a metal structure and never know current is being conducted through it and around it," she said.

Although a wooden structure might not be as safe as a metal one because it would not provide a shield for stray current, Anderson said that wiring and plumbing probably provide some shielding effects. A poorly grounded lightning rod is worse than none at all because it invites lightning without providing a safe current path.

Anderson also cautioned against taking baths or showers during lightning storms. "The vent pipe can pick up a charge," she said, "carrying the current into the tub. Running water can also be a hazard."

"People hit by lightning can usually be revived," said Anderson, sho also teaches physics to medical personnel. "They are probably not dead but in a state of shock. People should realize that they're perfectly safe to touch.

"Artificial respiration and heart massage can save them. Someone should run for medical aid."

Each year about 1,000 persons in the United States are injured by lightning and live. Most of these accidents take place in rural areas, where people may be relatively unprotected.

Lightning is produced when the water droplets within a thundercloud become electrically charged. Drops at the top of the cloud become positively charged and drops at the bottom become negatively charged. These electrical forces in the clouds induce opposite electrical charges on the surface of the earth. Various forms of lightning occur as these electrical charges from cloud to earth and from earth to cloud combine.

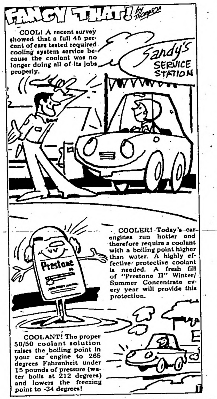
Mrs. Chester Nessen is now back to work at Ben Franklin after a vacation and having surgery.



COOL! A recent survey showed that a full 45 percent of cars tested required cooling system service because the coolant was no longer doing all of its jobs properly.

COOLER! Today's car engines run hotter and therefore require a coolant with a boiling point higher than water. A highly effective protective coolant is needed. A fresh fill of "Prestone II" Winter/Summer Concentrate every year will provide this protection.

COOLANT! The proper 50/50 coolant solution raises the boiling point in your car engine to 265 degrees Fahrenheit under 15 pounds of pressure (water boils at 212 degrees) and lowers the freezing point to -34 degrees!

MICHELIN. THE NEW AMERICAN TIRE COMPANY.

Michelin is here in America. Making tires for American cars and roads.

The same Michelin that has been pioneering major tire innovations for 86 years.

Important "firsts" like: the detachable pneumatic tire in 1891; the low-pressure comfort tire in 1923; the "stop" tire, with nonskid blades, in 1934; the steel-cord tire in 1937...

Then, we changed the tire industry. In 1948, Michelin introduced the steel-belted radial.

Today, twenty-seven years later, the radial is considered to be the best tire in the world. Radials are the only passenger car tires we make. Since introducing the radial tire, we've concentrated our entire passenger tire manufacturing technology on producing nothing else. But we've made it better and better. Today we make radials for all cars and driving conditions.

Now, we're building the Michelin 'X' radial in our new American plants.

We're working on the future, too. While we're busy producing the best tire we know how to make today, we're studying American road and driving patterns to anticipate the needs of tomorrow.

So even before conditions change, we'll be ready to meet them with the best tire possible.

Michelin: Bringing 86 years of tire-making experience to the American motorist.

"The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man, help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces; let cheerfulness abound with industry. Give us to go blithely on our business all this day, bring us to our resting beds weary and content and undishonored, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep."

Heart Of The Matter

Clarence M. Kelley, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), comes to the heart of the matter regarding the growth of crime in a recent commentary in the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.

"Crime has continued to grow beyond our worst expectations because, in my opinion and that of many other lawmen with whom I talk, the rewards from criminal offenses have become much larger than the risks."

Kelley points out that the changes of a burglar going to jail for his crime has placed the risks substantially below those which any citizen encounters in becoming victim of a serious crime.

"Even the most liberal estimates of the number of offenders found guilty and imprisoned for burglary and other serious crimes amount to only a small fraction of the aggregate of these offenses," the director writes. "By comparison, the loot from burglary crimes, which had an average value of $337 for each reported offense in 1973 (the last full year for which such figures have been compiled), looms disproportionately large in relation to the small risks incurred in obtaining it."

Commenting on the preoccupation by too many people that offenders are themselves victims of sociological injustices, thereby being irresistably forced into criminal pursuits, Kelley strikes another obvious note of truth:

"This admirably humanistic perspective of the crime problem has, as many authorities are increasingly inclined to acknowledge, seriously discounted the possibility that criminal offenders are mainly rational—albeit unprincipled—individuals who see crime as an easier means than lawful industry of gaining what they want."

What the FBI director is saying is that, contrary to the old cliche, crime indeed DOES pay. It pays well enough, in relation to the personal hazards involved, to entice intelligent persons into willingly breaking the law as a way of life. Likelihood of personal loss—from defense by victims or intended victims, apprehension by law enforcement or punishment by the courts—is not sufficient to deter the individuals from taking the chance.

The sooner that the courts and the corrections departments come to this realization, the sooner something can be done to reverse the trend. It is time, as Kelley states, for ". . . meaningful penalties as the certain consequence for those found guilty of crime, whatever their motivation."

That is the heart of the matter—that penalties be imposed as a "certain consequence", an expected punishment without hope for pardon or exception. It's not the only answer, but it's one answer that can be drastically improved in a very short time.

Memory Problems

Perhaps no one in this area of the state has as poor a memory as this writer. We can't dial a seven digit telephone number without checking at least once during the dialing to be sure of the proper sequence. More than once we have arrived home without making a stop to pick up one of the kids. And we have missed more than one appointment—including some of our own making—because we simply forgot about it.

Maybe that's why we paid particular interest to this item from Ralph Anderson's column in the Detroit Lakes newspaper:

Memory experts claim no one forgets anything he really wants to remember. So why do you forget important things like your wallet, instructions from your boss or your best friend's birthday.

No one knows.

What is known is that your memory doesn't have to be foggy forever. Your answers to the following questions may tell whether you need help to remember to stop forgetting.

1—During the past year, have you forgotten at least two of the following items: hats, umbrellas, gloves and other such articles?

2—Can you correctly recall the phone numbers of four relatives or friends?

3—Do you forget to mail metters?

4—After a casual gathering, can you remember the names of at least two people you met?

5—Have you forgotten your house, car or office keys on at least two occasions during the past six months?

6—Do you forget to take medicine at prescribed hours?

7—Have you had to pay penalties because you didn't pay bills on time?

8—Have you often forgotten to wait for change?

9—Do you forget important birthdays and anniversaries?

10—Have you ever had to return home because you couldn't remember whether you had turned off the stove?

11—Have you forgotten at least two appointments or social engagements in the last six months?

12—Have you hidden things for safekeeping and never found them?

DESIREABLE ANSWERS

1. No; 2. Yes; 3. No; 4. Yes; 5. No; 6. No; 7. No; 8. No; 9. No; 10. No; 11. No; 12. No.

CONCLUSION

Each desirable answer earns one point. An undesirable answer receives zero. A score of nine to 12 is above average, suggesting an excellent memory. A score of six to eight is average. Five or less suggests that you should take steps to improve your memory.

19 As Legal Age

Following editorial is from the Fergus Falls Daily Journal:

We're pleased to see that the Minnesota House of Representatives is giving serious thought to changing the state's legal age for drinking from 18 years of age, to 19.

Last week a House committee agreed to send three 19-year-old drinking bills to a subcommittee, which will hold hearings on the idea in outstate Minnesota.

A 19-year-old drinking bill passed the Minnesota Senate last May 13 on a vote of 47-16. Thirteen different House members are listed as sponsors on House bills to make a similar change.

The legislature made 18 the general age of adulthood in 1973, and at the same time lowered the legal age for purchasing liquor from 21 to 18. We favored the change of adulthood to 18, but thought the drinking age should be at least one more year because of the difficulties that would arise in the state's high schools. We've seen no reason to change our mind.

Eighteen is a problem because many high school seniors are that age. They legally can procure liquor during school hours and presumably, in some cases, find a way to consume some of it during breaks in the day. There is often pressure brought to bear on them to make purchases for their younger friends. And there are more disciplinary problems in high school athletics when some team members are eligible, by law, to drink booze.

It doesn't seem fair to us when, at some time during the senior year, the happenstance of a birthday entitles one student to take part in certain social privileges which are denied to others. The mere fact of a date suddenly can separate classmates who have been together for years participating in out-of-school activities as well as school-sponsored functions.

Apparently the problem is more acute in rural Minnesota than in the metropolitan areas, although it's hard to see why. "This is an issue being talked about constantly, at least in rural Minnesota," said Rep. George Mann, DFL-Windom.

The other side is taken by Rep. Ray Faricy, DFL-St. Paul, who suggests that a "lax educational system" is to blame for liquor getting in the schools. "I keep hearing that's God's country out there (in rural Minnesota). What's going on out there that kids are bringing booze into the schools?" Rep. Faricy asked.

Well, we can't believe that Mr. Faricy's attitude is as callous as it seems. And we do think that Rep. Mann's thinking represents a consensus of outstaters. It would do the whole state some good if the 1976 Legislature changed the legal drinking age to 19.

Danger In Silos

Livestock producers throughout the Times area who feed silage as a part of their program will soon be chopping corn to fill their silos. Every year a number of deaths occur throughout the nation as a result of lethal gas from silage containing high concentrations of nitrate.

The greatest danger occurs 12 to 72 hours after silo filling, but the gas production may occur up to two weeks after the last silage has been blown into the silo. Workers who breathe the gases experience severe chest pains, coughing and a burning sensation in the throat and chest.

To prevent danger from the threat of poisonous gases, take the precautions suggested below—even if you have filled silo safely for many years and never experienced any problem:

(1) Run the silo blower 10 to 15 minutes before entering the silo and keep it running while you're inside.

(2) Be alert for irritating odors and watch for reddish brown to yellow colored fumes.

(3) Let silage build up during the filling operation before closing silo doors.

(4) Keep children and animals away from feed rooms around the silo.

(5) Don't enter the silo for at least 10 to 14 days after filling.

(6) If you must do some work within or around the silo, have someone work with you.

MINNESOTA REPORT

WALTER F. MONDALE

For years economists have singled out construction as an industry with an important "multiplier effect." Construction and public work projects help a whole range of related areas . . . and a recovery in construction can help to lead to a resurgence of the whole economy.

Fortune Magazine places construction among the three hardest-hit industries in this country.

The plight of the building trade is one that should concern us all.

In 1946, this country adopted a national commitment to decent housing for every American. Yet, today, home ownership is beyond the reach of the average family.

Just to keep up with the growing needs, we would have to build two million new housing units this year. We will lose about 600,000 units to decay, abandonment and demolition. And so our housing needs this year amount to 2.6 million new units at best.

The Emergency Housing Act of 1975 which - - through interest subsidies, guaranteed loans and mortgage assistance - - would have encouraged the construction of 100,000 additional homes, but unfortunately it was vetoed.

The President signed a more modest bill - - containing my amendment protecting unemployed workers against home foreclosure and providing for government guarantee of 7.9 per cent mortgages. Unfortunately, the Department of Housing and Urban Development has so far failed to implement the bill.

We now are working on a new Accelerated Public Works bill - - to provide assistance to state and local government for short-term public works with quick and high employment impact. This bill can put people to work and provide lasting benefits to local communities.

These programs are all well within the budget criteria established by Congress earlier this year. Yet regretably, the Administration is still not cooperating as fully as it could.

The slump in the housing industry is a matter of great importance. It is time we, the Congress, the President and the American people worked in the spirit of "cooperation, conciliation and compromise" we were promised only months ago to restore this vital industry.

Chocolate Peanut Butter Sandwiches

No matter what the season, these easy to make and delicious tasting chocolate peanut butter sandwiches made with semi-sweet real chocolate morsels and miniature marshmallows can't be beat.

Here is the recipe as developed in the Nestlé Test Kitchens.

1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate Morsels
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 cup butter
2 eggs
2 cups unsifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups quick oats, uncooked

Peanut Butter Filling

1½ cups chunk style peanut butter
½ cup unsifted flour

Preheat oven to 350°F. In large saucepan, combine brown sugar, Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate Morsels, miniature marshmallows and butter. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until melted and smooth. Transfer to large bowl; cool 10 minutes. Beat in eggs. Add flour, baking soda and salt; mix well. Stir in oats. Drop by level measuring tablespoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets.

BAKE: 350°F. TIME: 12-15 minutes.

Cool slightly; remove from cookie sheets. Cool completely. Spread 2 measuring teaspoonfuls Peanut Butter Filling over bottom of half of the cookies. Top with remaining cookies.

PEANUT BUTTER FILLING: In small bowl, combine peanut butter and flour; mix well.

Makes about 3 dozen 2½" sandwich cookies.

Sunrise, Sunset Cause Hazards For Drivers

Although late summer usually brings beautiful driving weather to Minnesota, it also brings an extreme driving hazard in the low blinding sun present during peak traffic periods in the morning and evening, Minnesota department of public safety Commissionter Edward G. Novak warned today.

As the days get shorter this time of year, the sun rises and sets later in the morning and earlier in the evening leaving a situation where motorists must face a blinding sun low in the sky on their way to and from work.

The primary victims of this situation are those who must drive east in the morning and west in the evening, but it also affects those headed in north and south directions in that they must face into the sun at intersections where reduced visibility can provide tragic consequences.

To minimize the effect of this hazard, Novak urged drivers to keep their windshields extra clean as a dirty or spotted windshield will magnify the danger by producing even more glare in the driver's eyes. Automobile sun visors and sun glasses should also be put into use as they can greatly reduce the blinding effect.

If you are fortunate enough to be driving with the sun at your back, you can help alleviate the problem for other drivers by turning your headlamps on during these hazardous periods to make sure you can be seen by the driver who must face the sun.

Lose Up To 10 lbs. In 10 Days

New Grapefruit Diet 'Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

PHOENIX (Special) — An amazing new improved version of the popular grapefruit diet has recently been developed featuring the use of a "grapefruit pill" that enables overweight people to easily and quickly become slim, trim and attractive "while eating almost as much as you want."

The new chewable (candy-like) grapefruit pill puts an end to the inconvenient mess, fuss and high cost of eating half a grapefruit at every meal. Happy testimonials from people all across the country claim "you save time and money while achieving more effective weight loss results with this new diet plan."

Lose up to a Pound a Day

Those who follow this simple diet plan report an average loss of up to a pound a day and even more without strenuous exercise or starvation.

Fortified with vitamin E and C, the new whole grapefruit extract pill and foods as prescribed by the diet will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

Eat All You Want

Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, lobster, chicken, fish, some sauces, gravies, bacon, eggs, and still lose weight.

Diet Now Available

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and grapefruit pills, send $5 for 10 day supply (or $8 for 20 day supply or $10 for 30 days supply) cash, check, or Money Order to: GRAPEFRUIT FARMS, Dept. D35, 4643 E. Thomas Rd., Phoenix, Arizona 85018. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied.) BankAmericard or Master Charge OK (send number and expiration date).

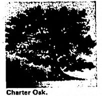
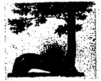
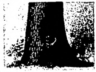
TREES IN AMERICAN HISTORY



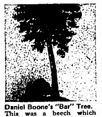
Charter Oak.
Perhaps the most famous tree in American history, this great oak provided a hiding place for the charter of the Connecticut Colony when King James II demanded its surrender in 1687. The tree, which stood near Hartford, Conn., blew down in a gale in 1856.



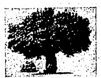
Indian Trail Tree.
To mark a trail for hunting or trading, Indians often bent young trees over and tied their tips to the ground. Frequently, these trees took root a second time, as did this one, now preserved in a park near Evanston, Ill.



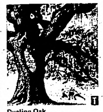
Mullan Tree.
This western white pine in Coeur d'Alene National Forest, Idaho, is named for Captain John Mullan. It marked a military road built under his direction, and is inscribed "MR July 4, 1861." Work on the 624-mile road from Fort Benton, Mont., to Walla Walla, Wash., was begun in 1856, but was postponed 3 years because of Indians on the warpath.



Daniel Boone's "Bar" Tree.
This was a beech which stood in northeastern Tennessee until 1917. Boone, probably the first man to explore the forests of the Middle Appalachians, carved this inscription on the tree: "D. Boon cilled A BAR On Tree in THE YEar 1760."



Sailor's Sycamore.
As far back as 1800, sailing masters used this tree to locate their anchorage as they came into Santa Barbara, California. These drawings are part of the St. Regis Paper Company exhibit, "Man & Nature." Over half a million people have seen the art in cities where the company has packaging, paper and construction products operations. The company plants about 25 million seedlings a year, some of which may become historic trees of the future.



Dueling Oak.
In the early Creole days of New Orleans, honor was delicate, and almost any real or fancied slight was an excuse for a duel "under the oaks." This live oak in New Orleans' City Park is a memento of that era.

Fall Time Delights

Chocolate Surprises

1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate Morsels
1½ cups unsifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter, softened
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
About 60 miniature marshmallows (about ¾ cup)

Chocolate Frosting

¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate Morsels
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

Preheat oven to 375°F. Melt over hot (not boiling) water, Nestlé Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate Morsels; remove from heat and set aside. In small bowl, combine flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; set aside. In large bowl, combine butter and sugar; beat until creamy. Beat in egg. Add melted chocolate, sour cream and vanilla extract; mix well. Blend in flour mixture. Drop by slightly rounded teaspoonfuls onto greased cookie sheets.

BAKE at: 375°F. TIME: 8 minutes

Immediately push 1 miniature marshmallow into center of each warm cookie. Cool completely; frost top of each cookie with Chocolate Frosting.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING: In small saucepan, combine milk, butter and salt. Bring just to a boil; remove from heat. Add Nestlé Semi-Sweet Real Chocolate Morsels and vanilla extract; stir until morsels melt and mixture is smooth. Transfer to small bowl. Add confectioners' sugar, beat until smooth.

Makes about 5 dozen 2" cookies.

Butterscotch Covered Apples

1 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) Butterscotch Morsels
2 tablespoons corn syrup
2 tablespoons shortening
1½ teaspoons water
4 apples

Combine over hot (not boiling) water, Nestlé Butterscotch Morsels, corn syrup, shortening and water; stir until morsels melt and mixture is smooth. Place wooden stick in each apple. Dip apples, one at a time, into butterscotch mixture. Place on waxed paper. Chill in refrigerator at least 15 minutes.

Makes 4 covered apples.

COMBINE GRAIN MONITOR
PATENTS APPLIED FOR

WHAT IS IT?

The Combine Grain Monitor is an electronic device for indicating directly to the operator the amount of grain being lost over the straw walkers and cleaning shoe during combining.

It consists of electronic sensing plates located inside the combine at the end of the cleaning shoe and the straw walkers. When the combine is overloaded and begins throwing grain over, the kernels strike these sensor plates and the meter indicates the amount of grain being lost. You have a continuous picture of the machine performance right from the driver's seat. You can now tell when to make adjustments or change the forward speed to suit conditions. The sensors are so sensitive that one kernel falling from 6 inches will register on the meter. Straw or combine vibrations do not affect them.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Pity the poor middle class—caught between increasingly generous welfare programs its members don't qualify for and the brutal tax increases (plus inflation) required to pay for them all.

For most Americans, this problem is not news—they're feeling it! But few know in detail how bad things really are. Take a look at some specific examples:

INFLATION—In the five years since 1970, the cost of living has increased 38 per cent. That is, it now takes $1.38 to buy what $1 would buy then.

Until recently, per capita income managed to keep a little ahead of inflation, going from $3,945, in 1970 to $5,722 now—a gain of 45 per cent. But, last year the average American worker lost purchasing power for the first time in 15 years: Per capita income increased 9 per cent, while the cost of living went up 11 per cent, a net loss in purchasing power of $122, or 2 per cent.

TAXES—Taxes have been the fastest-rising item in the family budget for over five years. State and local taxes per capita have increased 48 per cent since 1970; the federal income tax is up 42 per cent. Inflation is increasing the tax load in several ways: Real estate taxes zoom as the price of houses goes up, even though the houses are no bigger or more luxurious. Sales taxes go up with the rise in consumer prices. And progressive income taxes push people into higher tax brackets, although their inflated income won't buy any more than their older, lower income used to.

SOCIAL SECURITY—A special case. Practically no one argues against the concept of social security protection these days but common sense should tell us that the benefits can't be increased past the ability of present workers to pay for them. And yet, social security benefits have increased 80 per cent since 1970—more than twice the increase in the cost of living (inflation). Meanwhile, the maximum social security tax payment has gone up 120 per cent, with more rises in sight.

EDUCATION—The cost of a four-year college degree at a state school has gone from an average of $5,448 in 1970 to $11,680 today, and that's for one child. For a private institution, the figures are $7,472 and $16,128. The children of low income parents may qualify for various forms of public assistance, including scholarships. But if your income is solidly middle class, you're not likely to get much help—no matter how many children you have.

WELFARE—There are now over 30 different public assistance programs at the federal level alone. The budget of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has grown in five years from $62 billion to $120 billion, an increase of 94 per cent. It is now the largest single item in the federal budget.

So chaotic and arbitrary is our welfare "system" that while some of the poor probably do not have adequate diets, others are living better on public assistance than many of their working, taxpaying countrymen. For example, in 1973 the Joint Economic Committee of Congress found that a family of four living in New York City on welfare could take advantage of programs that would provide the equivalent of an after-tax income of $8,959 a year. That, in turn, is the equivalent of about $11,500 before taxes and other work-related expenses. And the average family income that year was $11,116.

WHAT TO DO? Nothing . . . until the average, working middle class American turns his irritation into anger and focuses it effectively on Congress. In our system, the squeaky wheel gets the grease. A well-organized, noisy special interest lobby will win every time over the broad interests of the average American taxpayer, unless enough taxpayers complain loud enough, long enough—and then back up their complaints at the voting booth.

Does the sale of U.S. grain to the Russians mean you will have to pay more dough for your bread (or, depending on your generation, more bread for you dough)?

Maybe. But, food prices here are likely to go up even higher over the long run if we don't sell enough grain abroad, while other things may cost less if we do:

Why? Well, there are three major upward pressures on food prices.

One of these pressures, of course, is demand. If there is less food available than potential buyers want to buy, prices will rise as the buyers bid against one another for what they can get. This process is what caused a big jump in food prices after the Russian grain purchases in 1972. But conditions are different now. The U.S. harvest will be much larger, even allowing for recent bad weather. And, worldwide demand is relatively lower today than it was in 1972.

There is nothing alarming about the U.S. exporting food. We usually export about two thirds of our wheat crop. This year, we have so much food we may not be able to sell abroad as high a percentage of it as we have in the recent past.

Another upward pressure on food prices—by far the biggest—is inflation. It will have much more affect on our food budgets in the coming year than Russia's shopping in our store. Responsible control of the federal budget is the only cure for inflation.

The third pressure on food prices is cost increases (other than those caused by inflation) in the production, processing and distribution of food. Energy and fertilizer are two of the major costs of food production—and both come primarily from petroleum and natural gas.

Now, as everybody knows, we're importing a lot of petroleum today—at very high prices. As a country, we have to earn the money (foreign exchange) to pay for those imports, just the way an individual wage earner pays his own bills. We earn this money by selling our products to other countries. And one of the most important products we have to sell is food. For example, in 1974 we spent $24 billion for foreign petroleum, and we earned $22 billion from food sales—almost enough to pay the oil bill.

What if we didn't export food? Unless we made up that $22 billion in income from something else—which is not likely—we would be in big trouble. First, we would have far more food than could be used here, so either many farms would fail or the taxpayer would have to start shelling out for farm price supports again. And second, we would have to cut down on our imports, because we would not be earning enough foreign exchange to pay for them.

In practice, what would happen is that imports would grow more expensive for us. (When an American importer buys a foreign product, it is really a two-stage transaction. First he buys the foreign currency to pay for the product. Then he pays the foreign merchant with it. So, if the total amount of foreign exchange we earn is not enough to pay for what we want to buy abroad, the "price" of foreign currency—exchange rate—will go up. That is, it will take more dollars to buy yen, or deutsche marks, or whatever. For us, that's the same as saying it will take more dollars to buy a foreign product.) And, of course, petroleum is a major example of the imports that would become more costly.

Because of the key role petroleum plays in food production, increases in its price eventually show up in higher food prices. That's why limiting exports is not a very good way to cut food costs.

Despite some rough price increases lately, we still pay a smaller proportion of our income for food than the citizens of any other country—thanks to the unrivaled efficiency of our agricultural system. The best thing we can do to keep food prices down is to promote the continued efficiency of the production system by letting the farmer expand to meet a growing market, worldwide.

Chew on that for awhile.

"No Deposit, No Return" Motto Of 4-H Achievers

Providing companionship to the aged is just one of many service projects young people 9-19 in the national 4-H achievement program are involved in. Outstanding 4-H achievers may share in awards donated by Ford Motor Company Fund and arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee. Top awards in the program are silver trays presented to the high ranking boy and girl by the President of the United States.

CHICAGO—"No deposit, no return! If a person doesn't give of himself he won't receive or achieve anything in his lifetime," says Gregory Hartman of Pueblo, Colo.

One of last year's Henry Ford II scholarship winners in the national 4-H achievement program, Hartman adopted a war orphan and corresponded with him for many years. He sent money so the youngster could stay in an orphanage and off the streets. Now the adopted boy is old enough to work and help support himself and his ailing mother. Thus, one of Hartman's many "deposits" in life has produced a "return."

Learning and sharing

The 4-H achievement program is sponsored by Ford Motor Company Fund through the National 4-H Service Committee. Under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service, young persons from 9 to 19 give their time and talents to a variety of individual and group service activities.

The young achievers may work with low-income adults and children in expanded food-nutrition programs. Or volunteer their after-school and weekend hours as candy stripers in local hospitals. Or provide companionship to the aged and assistance to the mentally retarded.

Whatever activity 4-H'ers choose, their dedication to serving others is an outgrowth of the learn-by-doing situations they encounter in the 4-H program. 4-H projects stress practical skills that contribute to personal growth and development and ultimately benefit the community and the nation.

Top 4-H'ers recognized

4-H'ers who excel in achievement may share in awards offered by Ford Motor Company Fund. Awards include medals of honor to four members per county, an expense-paid trip to the 54th National 4-H Congress (Nov. 30-Dec. 4 in Chicago) to one winner from each state, and $800 college scholarships to nine national winners.

The high-ranking boy and girl among the national winners receive silver trays presented by the President of the United States.

All winners are selected by the Extension Service on the basis of achievements and leadership in 4-H and their community service. Additional information on the program may be obtained from county extension agents.

A Simple Operation!

Simplicity describes the design as well as the operation of this drying system. Fewer moving parts reduces 'downtime' and eliminates a lot of unnecessary worry. Controls are placed for easy use and identification. There is no need to stand by the controls adjusting and readjusting. Depending on field drying conditions, periodic moisture tests and compensating adjustments are all the attention that's required.

For reliability and simplicity in a one pass continuous flow dryer, it's the Tox-O-Wik II 960.

50th Anniversary At St. Bernard's

St. Bernard's elementary school in Thief River Falls will celebrate its 50th anniversary at a special mass at 2 p.m. on Sunday, October 5. Rev. Stanley C. Bourassa, superintendent of schools for the Crookston diocese, will deliver the homily. Also concelebrating will be Monsignor A.I. Merth, pastor at the time of the school's opening and at present in residence at St. Bernard's rectory.

The original building was a retired public school building brought over from the east side. It stood vacant for one year on St. Bernard's property until refurbished and made usable again for elementary school service. The classes were moved into a new building when the present church and school structure opened in 1952.

At the time of its opening, there were eight grades, four in each classroom. The staff consisted of four sisters of Mount St. Benedict in Crookston. For awhile there were nine grades. The opening of junior high school in the city caused a falling back to six grades in the St. Bernard's program.

Present enrollment is 111, up slightly from last year. The sixth grade with 22 students was again opened after having been closed out a year ago. There were 19 students in the 6th grade twenty years ago, an indication that there is still a demand locally for St. Bernard's type of education.

An educational feature at St. Bernard's school this year is the total faculty involvement in the "Right to Read" program. Each student is carefully and individually rated for level of reading ability and then helped to move up to higher levels with progress noted at each step. The program has received considerable commendation.

Inter City Gas To Raise Rates Starting Oct. 9

G.H. Lucas, vice-president of Inter City Gas Limited, Inc. of Cloquet, said Tuesday that beginning October 9, customers in its service area (including Thief River Falls) will find an increase of 12.295 per MCF on their gas bills.

Lucas explained that the company found it necessary to raise its rates in order to "pass along" increases from its suppliers in the purchase cost of gas. He said the increase is the equivalent of slightly less than two cents per gallon of number two fuel oil.

Though exact figures are not yet known, a further increase of about the same amount will be charged beginning on the January 6 billing.

Regarding the future supply of gas, Lucas sought to assure residents in the Inter City service area that they needn't be alarmed by reports of a gas supply problem on the eastern seaboard. Three of the Inter-City suppliers have not mentioned plans for any cutbacks during the forthcoming heating season, and the fourth anticipates a reduction in volume from 2½ to five per cent depending on the severity of the weather.

According to Lucas, this will not affect residential or small commercial firm gas customers who have no other forms of fuel available.

Red Lake Man's Leg Wounded In Shooting Thurs.

Marvin Head, 24, of Red Lake is in Northwestern hospital with a severe wound to his right leg following an accidental shooting in Beltrami county, 10 miles north and seven miles east of Grygla, Thursday night.

According to Leroy Walberg, Beltrami county deputy sheriff, Preston Graves, 28, Red Lake, was sitting in the drivers' side of a vehicle when a 30-06 rifle he was attempting to load accidentally discharged. Head, who was sitting in the passenger side of the front seat, was struck in the upper portion of his leg by the bullet, which then passed through the seat and the car door.

After applying a tourniquet, Graves drove Head to a nearby farm owned by Milfored Gram. From there an ambulance was called. The shooting occurred between 8:30 and 8:45 p.m.

During a visit to the hospital Saturday morning, Walberg was told that Head was listed in fair condition, but due to extensive damage to the leg, amputation may be necessary.

ICC Grant Will Help Winterize Homes For Poor

Inter-County community council has received a grant of $68,000 from the Upper Great Lakes Regional commission. The grant, a part of $1,906,707 of title X funds allocated to the seventh congressional district, will be utilized to weatherize and repair homes in Pennington, Polk, and Red Lake counties which are owned by senior citizens and other low-income residents.

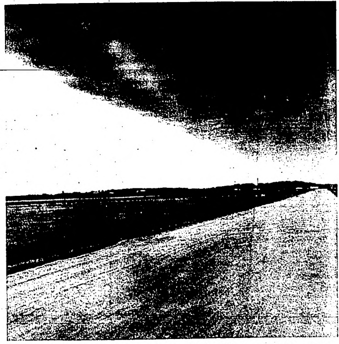
It is anticipated that the labor intensified program will improve approximately 75 homes and will contribute significantly to the reduction of unemployment in the area by providing employment to approximately 21 local people to complete the task.

Weatherization tasks will include insulating of attics and walls where possible, caulking, weather stripping, foundation incasement, repair of windows, doors, storm windows, storm doors and other air leaks.

Low-income home owners who reside in these counties and feel that they may qualify are asked to make application for the service at the Inter-County community council office in Oklee.

Unemployed persons wishing to apply for employment on the project may register at the state employment services office in Crookston or Thief River Falls.

The 12-week project is expected to begin by September 22. Application deadline is this Friday.



UNUSUAL FORMATION of clouds moved into the Thief River Falls area on Wednesday evening. This photo was taken facing west along the road leading from the Thief River golf club toward highway 32. The sky to the south was almost completely clear while the heavy cloud formation extended in almost a straight line from the horizon across the northern part of the sky. Although the sky looked ominous and temperatures became considerably colder, no storm damage occurred. The apparent front brought with it cold temperatures which resulted in the first frosts of the season in this area on Thursday and Friday nights.

Local AVTI Has Enrollment Over State Average

While preliminary figures show that fall enrollments in Minnesota's 33 area vocational-technical institutes are up nine per cent over last year, the Thief River Falls AVTI shows an increase of 28.2 per cent with its jump from 354 students last October 1 to 454 on opening date this year.

According to figures released by the Minnesota department of education, this gives the local school the seventh highest percentage of increase in the state, ranking among the top 21 per cent of Minnesota AVTI's.

Faribault, Jackson, Dakota County, and Pine City were immediately above Thief River Falls in percentage of increase, with East Grand Forks at 46 per cent and Hutchinson having the greatest increase at 48 per cent. Staples (.7 per cent) and Suburban Hennepin (.2 per cent) had the lowest percentage increases in the state, but Duluth was on the very bottom with a decrease of 15.6 per cent.

A list of the enrollment at area schools October 1, 1974, their unofficial 1975 opening date enrollment, and percentage of increase, respectively, is as follows: Moorhead—903, 926, and 2.5 per cent; Brainerd—637, 670, and 5.2 per cent; Bemidji—263, 288, and 9.5 per cent; Detroit Lakes—510, 602, and 18 per cent; and East Grand Forks—189, 276, and 4.6 per cent.

According to Robert Van Tries, assistant commissioner for vocational-technical education, at the beginning of September over 70 per cent of all vo-tech courses were filled and there were lengthy waiting lists for most programs.

Concert Series Membership Is Open To Public

In announcing continuation of the open membership period for the Thief River Falls concert association, Mrs. George Martin, membership co-chairman, noted that "the series is great fun; the drive is short and the price is certainly reasonable".

She said that the season membership sale is necessary to provide the best possible series of concerts with the greatest possible variety of programs. No tickets for individual concerts are sold.

Concerts scheduled for the 1975-76 series include "The Revelers" on October 5 at 3:30 p.m., "Legends of Jazz" on October 26 at 8 p.m., "The Taylor Family" on January 12 at 8 p.m. and the "New Christy Minstrels" on March 19 at 8 p.m.

PENNINGTON CO
EXTENSION
DEMON. PLOT

STUDY REPORTS on various phases of sugar beet processing and marketing are being received by the Northern Minnesota Sugar Beet Development association, according to Terry Courneya, secretary. The Arthur D. Little market study will be received September 22 at a meeting of the company's representatives and the Minnesota bank for cooperatives, American Crystal sugar company, Minnesota Valley sugar beet development association and the local association. Final report from the Ken R. White company on alternatives and estimated costs of plant construction is due October 1 with preliminary reports indicating plant cost in excess of $60 million. The preliminary report was presented last Wednesday at Moorhead. A preliminary report on the cost study of transportation of beets to plant locations being considered has been given orally by the University of Minnesota with the final report due by the end of December. The photo above shows one of five sugar beet plots located in Pennington county to check quality and yield data. This plot is located along highway 32 about a mile south of St. Hilaire. The local beet development association will meet again early in October to consider the reports.

Current Census Reveals County Population Gain

By an unofficial count released Friday by Pennington county auditor C. W. Rodekuhr following completion of the special census, population in the county has increased by a total of 1,326 persons, or 10 per cent, since the 1970 census. The current population is listed unofficially as 14,592 compared to 13,266 in 1970.

The largest increase was recorded in the rural areas of the county, with the new total of 5,663 far exceeding the 1970 figure of 4,648. Population in Thief River Falls was set at 8,929, compared to 8,618 five years ago.

According to John Rundle of Pelican Rapids, a U.S. census bureau employee who served as jobs director for the county census, a number of recent censuses in the country have indicated that population is expanding in the rural areas at a faster rate than the cities. "It used to be that people were only leaving the larger cities," he said. "Now they seem to be leaving the smaller ones."

Rundle could give no reason for the larger rural increase in Pennington county. But he speculated that inflationary trends have driven up taxes in the cities, and have made rural life seem much more attractive for a number of people.

The first census interviews were conducted on Thursday, September 11, and interviews were completed early Friday. A total of 15 city and 14 rural area census takers participated. June A. Prestegaard and Myrna L. Giauque served as crew leaders.

Rodekuhr said the primary reason the county requested the census was the expectation of receiving more federal state aid funds if there was a population increase in the county. He added that under the present allocation formula of $42 per capita, an additional $55,692 would accrue to the county in 1977, the earliest date the increase could be received.

The auditor cautioned, however, that the allocation formula (set in Washington, D. C.) is subject to yearly revision, and could be changed by 1977. Thus, the above figure is merely speculative.

Another benefit the census should provide would be to assist the county in preparation for future redistricting of county board of commissioners' districts and possibly city council wards. Since the census totals were gathered on a block-by-block, township-by-township basis, they should enable the county to determine, for the first time in many years, the population density in various areas of the county.

Officials Disagree On Law Application

by Paul Forsberg
Times Reporter

Throughout the complicated history of criminal justice in the United States, conflicts in point of view between those responsible for creating the law and those in charge of enforcing it have been frequently evident.

When a group of law enforcement officials from Region A met at a review meeting in Thief River Falls recently to discuss the first draft of recommendations by the state task force of criminal justice standards and goals, it became apparent that a number of philosophical differences exist between the task force and Region A authorities, particularly concerning the rights of offenders.

Authorities attending the hearing included: Charles R. Richards, Pennington county sheriff; Curt Geatz, Thief River Falls, department of corrections; Tom Tolman, Beltrami county sheriff; sergeant Ray Holter, Bemidji police department; Earl Anderson, Stephen; Dave Strong, Northwest juvenile training center; Will Najjar, Bemidji department of corrections; Carol B. Dahlen, Region D advisory council staff; and four officials of the Region A crime commission in Bemidji.

The state task force was formed in September of 1974 by Leonard Keyes, chairman of the governor's commission on crime prevention and control, to review recommendations of the national advisory council and to prepare a report discussing their applicability to Minnesota's criminal justice system. The advisory council report dealt with four priority areas, including: Reduction of juvenile delinquency; delivery of public and private social services; and the improvement of social conditions of groups represented in the criminal justice system; improvement of court ability to provide speedy and effective justice; and encouragement of increased citizen participation in crime control activities.

What resulted after nearly a year of task force conferences, committee meetings and public meetings was an 87-page draft report which, in its own words, "attempted to develop long and short range goals specifically designed to meet the needs of Minnesota's criminal justice system and attempted to recommend operational changes which could improve our state's criminal justice agencies and assist those persons, both victims and offenders, who come in contact with criminal activity and its consequences."

The task force felt that "there is clearly insufficient information about the causes of crime, the effects of social conditions on the incidence of crime, and specific activities which can be undertaken to prevent crime," and that developing this information "should be one of the very highest priorities that should be pursued by Minnesota criminal justice practitioners and the community as a whole."

However, if discussion at the Thief River Falls meeting was a true indication, Region A law enforcement officials believe one of the task force priorities should be to rethink its priorities.

A report on the meeting prepared by Reno C. Wells, coordinator of the Region A crime commission, based on tape recorded discussions during its over four-hour duration, pointed out a number of conflicting beliefs between the authorities and the task force.

"We feel that the task force has avoided the issue of discussing the type of individual that it deals with every day" commented the Region A report (regarding task force recommendations on inmate rights). "One is given the impression that every person admitted to the department of corrections is amenable to treatment-rehabilitation and this is plainly not the truth. As a matter of fact, we feel that a majority of those admitted are not amenable to any type of treatment-rehabilitation whatsoever. We realize that the treatment-rehabilitation program is a terrific philosophy, however, let's be realistic and face realistic situations."

Although this statement dealt specifically with one section of,

Former TRF Man Killed In N. D. Farm Accident

Duane M. Lofberg, 44, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lofberg of Thief River Falls, was killed Friday morning in a farm accident five miles northeast of Gilby, North Dakota, where he worked as a laborer.

A Grand Forks county sheriff's deputy reported that Lofberg was apparently checking a potato harvesting machine when his parka became entangled in the machine and he was pulled in. He was found dead at the scene.

Funeral services for Lofberg will be held Tuesday at 11 a.m. at Gilby Presbyterian church. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

The body will repose at the Norman funeral home at Grand Forks this afternoon and evening (Monday) and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the service.

A complete obituary will be in the Wednesday edition of the Times.

Wallace Sparby

Sparby Elected To School Board Delegate Group

Wallace Sparby, vice chairman of the Thief River Falls board of education, has been elected to a second two-year term on the delegate assembly of the Minnesota school boards association.

Sparby was reelected last week at a regional meeting of the MSBA held at the high school in Fertile. A number of the local board of education members and Supt. William Corliss attended the session, as did legislators from the area included in the region.

It was reported by W.A. Wettergren, executive director of the MSBA, that of the first 100 schools in Minnesota to reach settlement on teacher contracts, average settlements have been for increases of 9.46 per cent for 1975-76 and 6.9 per cent for 1976-77.

The group in attendance at Fertile expressed the consensus that laws regarding negotiations are as broad now as they should be. Open meeting law provisions were reviewed and discussion was held on a proposal to raise the legal age for consumption of alcoholic beverages to 19.

Harold Souths Observe Their Golden Anniversary

Large number of relatives and friends gathered recently at the Faith Lutheran church in Goodridge to help Mr. and Mrs. Harold South observe their 50th wedding anniversary.

Highlighting the event was a program with the couple's son-in-law, Joe Ulring of LaCrosse, Wis., as master of ceremonies. The program began with Rev. Bruce Anderson giving the devotional meditation and intern Gary Halverson extending personal congratulations. Urling sang, "O Savior Hear Me," with Mrs. Urling as accompanist and April Larson providing the flute obbligato. Other vocal selections were "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," sung by Mrs. Ulring with Beth Russell accompanist; "If I Were a Rich Man," by Judd Larson, accompanied by Mrs. Urling and Beth Russell; "Do You Love Me," by Mr. and Mrs. Urling; the hymn, "For All the Saints," by the Urling family and guests accompanied by Suzy Pruvot; and "Wells Fargo Wagon," by Mr. and Mrs. Urling, Janey, Scot, Mr. and Mrs. Judd Larson and Mr. and Mrs. Rich Russell. Instrumental selections were a piano solo by Beth Russell and the oboe solo, "Invention," by Janet Ulring, accompanied by Mrs. Ulring.

The program concluded with words of appreciation and thanks from Mr. and Mrs. South.

A reception followed with Mrs. John Coan and Mrs. Ruth Liedberg at the guest book. Mrs. Alma Peterson of Sleepy Eye was in charge of pinning the corsages, featuring daisies and mums centered with yellow roses. The thank-you scrolls were distributed by Marcia Coan. Hostesses were Mrs. Ole Prestebak and Mrs. Albert Johnson.

Centering the serving table was an anniversary cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Eugene Wiskow. Blue and gold flowers, blue birds and sugar bells decorated the cake. Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Orris Olson, Mrs. Ida Sund, Mrs. Ole Easthouse and Mrs. Elmer Johnson. Mrs. Bert Coan poured.

The head table was set with gold and white dinnerware, accented by gold accessories. The centerpiece, a floral arrangement in blue, gold and white, was a gift from Lawrence and Jean Boone of Grand Rapids, Mich., cousins of the couple.

Relatives and friends attending were from Vauvenargues, France, Milwaukee and LaCrosse, Wis.; Dubuque, Iowa; Seeland, Mich.; Grand Forks, N.D.; Thief River Falls, Goodridge, Grygla, Lake Park, Calloway, Detroit Lakes and Sleepy Eye.

Newfolden EFC To Host Northern Gospel Singers

The Evangelical Free Church Ladies Aid of Newfolden will meet at the church Friday, at 8 p.m.

A musical program will be presented by Delbert Erickson and Northern Gospel Singers. The group consists of singers from Badger, Greenbush and Thief River Falls.

Hostesses will be: Mrs. Clara Aune, Mrs. Art Ellingson, Mrs. Arnold Larson and Mrs. Melvin Mattson.

The public is welcome.

Officers Elected By Deer Park Garden Club

At the September meeting of the Deer Park garden club, officers were elected, the club study for the year was chosen, and the theme to be based on the Bicentennial, was discussed.

Mrs. Elva Fiedler, the current president, was reelected to serve as president. Other officers elected were Luella Peterson, vice president; Janice Peterson, secretary and Lavonne Radniecki, treasurer.

Wild flowers was chosen as the club study for the year with each member selecting a flower which they will study and report as they researched the bird of their choice this year.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Alice Skreland with President Mrs. Fiedler presiding. Roll call was answered by members reciting a bit of poetry or a song referring to the bird of their choice.

Reports were given on the 13th District Horticultural flower show held at Badger and on the International flower show held in Winnipeg. It was also noted that the treasurer had sent the club's contribution of $20 to the Goodridge Bicentennial committee.

Attending the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Harold South, Mrs. Leo Ellingson, Mrs. Mordy Morrison, Mrs. E. Fiedler, Mrs. E. Swanson, Mrs. B. Svanjord, Mrs. A. Peterson, Mrs. R. Radniecki, Mrs. F. Lundeen, and Mrs. C.R. Appelman.

Mrs. Ida Sund attended the meeting as a guest.

Campanula Club Hears Report On Flower Show

The Campanula Garden Club met at the Pioneer Village school September 10 at 2 p.m., with 12 members present. President Geneva Overum conducted the meeting. The garden club creed and the September quotation were read by the members. Roll call was answered with a short report of grade school experiences by each member. Reporting the Fall flower show at Badger on August 19 were: Mrs. Viola Koglin, Mrs. Marie Cernousek; Mrs. W. Fischer, Mrs. Amy Meyer, Geneva Overum and Mrs. Clara Voldness. It was decided that Mrs. Lilliam Aasland and Mrs. Dolly Mead will care for the flowers at the courthouse during September.

A heritage theme and silent auction were planned for the October meeting which will be held at the L. A. Meyer home. Members also signed a birthday card to be sent to Anna Magnuson. Following a demonstration by Mrs. Walter Fischer on making a corsage, the members each made their own which they wore.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Emil Koglin, Mrs. Joe Mead, Mrs. L. A. Meyer, Geneva Overum and Mrs. Norman Voldness. A plant exchange concluded the afternoon.

Ten Residents At Valley Home Note Birthdays

Ten residents at Valley Home observed their birthdays during the month of August. They were also special guests at the monthly birthday party hosted by the home. The party included games and a special lunch with a decorated birthday cake.

Birthday celebrants were Mary Kavanough, Jennie Sande, Carl Quam, Luci Paskiwitz, Myrtle Troland, Anna Trochman, Olga Halme, Jeanette Helle, Myrtle Vistad and Emma Hanson.

Other activities at the Home included visits from church groups, students and local residents. As usual, the Catholic Caughters called at the home, the first part of the month, visited with the residents and distributed greeting cards to those having birthdays.

Representatives of Trinity Lutheran church visiting with the residents at the home during the month were members of the Mary circle. They served lunch, featuring a variety of breads.

A group of young people from California, called at the home, led a song fest and presented a musical program. In the group was a relative of Mrs. Minnie Roseland. Also presenting programs to the residents were Debbie Waterworth and Bobbi DuChamp, who showed movies and served popcorn; and Mrs. Neal Paulson and Mrs. Edwin Anderson, who presented a musical program.

The local practical nursing students, as part of their training, toured the home and spent time with the residents.

Adding variety during the month was a visit made by the A & W Root Bear, who distributed candy to the residents.

Wanda L. Wright Weds Lee Hanson At Plummer

Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Hanson are at home in Plummer following an exchange of marriage vows at the Immanuel Lutheran church in that city, and a wedding trip to the International Peace gardens in North Dakota and Canada.

Mrs. Hanson is the former Wanda L. Wright, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wright, Jr., of Plummer. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hanson of Mentor.

Rev. Max A. Dietze officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by approximately 110 relatives and friends. Mrs. Nels Vigstol was the organist and Anita Novak and Cheryl Felling sang "Let Me Be There," and "Follow Me."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a floor-length gown featuring a lace top with rounded neckline and long puffy sleeves. Bands of white lace with sequins and seed pearls enhanced the skirt. Her chapel-length veil fell from a headpiece of pearl embroidered lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations with blue and white ribbon streamers.

Maid of honor was Ranae Snow of Grand Rapids, cousin of the bride. Her short-sleeved, floor-length gown with stand-up collar, was fashioned of polyester featuring a white floral print on a blue background. To complete her attire, she wore a white, wide brimmed hat with ribbon matching her gown; and she carried a bouquet of blue-tipped carnations.

Wearing similar attire, only in yellow and green, respectively, were the other attendants, Vivian Hall of Plummer, sister of the groom, and Beth Leining of Plummer, a cousin of the bride.

David Genereux of Red Lake Falls, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Gary Wright of Plummer, brother of the bride, and Lester Hanson of Mentor, a brother of the groom. The ushers were Mark Wright, brother of the bride, Scott Leining, cousin of the bride, and Jerome Hanson, brother of the groom. All wore navy blue crushed velvet tuxedos with white carnations tipped to correspond with the gowns worn by the bride and her attendants.

The mother of the bride was attired in a green long-sleeved gown trimmed with lace and velvet ribbon. The mother of the groom wore a floor-length gown fashioned with a tangerine bodice and a tangerine and white skirt. Both wore identical corsages of yellow roses and white carnations.

Honor guests at the ceremony were Mrs. Florence Wright, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Malvina Masters and Mrs. Rachel Hanson, grandmothers of the groom.

For the reception that followed in the church parlors, Bobby Genereux and Nancy Qualley served as host and hostess. Patricia Wright, aunt of the bride, presided at the guest book as Steve and Virginia Anderson, brother-in-law and sister of the groom, served the punch.

The three-tiered Lady Windemere wedding cake, baked and decorated with yellow and blue flowers by Mrs. Merv Hyde, was cut and served by Gayle Myhrer, cousin of the bride, and Agnes Hanson, sister-in-law of the groom. Pouring were Margeret Thompson, cousin of the bride and Alice Wright, aunt of the bride.

Waitresses were Linda Guillemette, Kathy Genereux, Linda Sletton, friends of the couple, and Jeannie Wright, cousin of the bride. At the gift table were Debra and Dianna Qualley, friends of the couple.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Pershing high school, Plummer, and is employed by Arctic Enterprises, Inc., in Thief River Falls. The groom is a 1971 graduate of Mentor high school and is employed in Red Lake Falls by Glenn A. Struthers honey farm.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

Due to the BiCentennial celebration next year, the news media is steadily making us more aware of past historical events. Adding to the contributions last week was Mrs. John (Roberta) Olson, who writes a terrific column, "In The Pink," for the Fertile Journal. Her article was especially interesting, not only because it contained historical facts taken from the Ulster County Gazette, printed in Kingston, N.Y., on Saturday, Jan. 4, 1800, but because it gave information regarding the burial of George Washington, who was married to one of my husband's great-great-great ancestors. Mrs. Olson stated that the article was printed as it appeared in the four-age newspaper owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Berg of Fertile, who preserve it under glass.

The article bore the headlines, "WASHINGTON ENTOMBED. George Town, Dec. 20, 1799.

On Wednesday last, the mortal part of WASHINGTON the Great—the Father of his Country and the Friend of man, was consigned to the tomb, with solemn honors and funeral pomp.

A multitude of persons assembled, from many miles around, at Mount Vernon, the choice abode and last residence of the illustrious chief. There were the groves—the spacious avenues, the beautiful and sublime scenes, the noble mansions—but alas! the august inhabitant was now no more. That great soul was gone. His mortal part was there indeed; but ah! how affecting! how awful the spectacle of such worth and greatness, thus, to mortal eyes fallen!—yes! fallen! fallen!

In the long and left Portico, whereon the Hero walked in all his glory, now lay the shrouded corpse. The countenance still composed and serene, seemed to depress the dignity of the spirit, which lately dwelt in that lifeless form. There those who paid the last sad honours to the benefactor of his country, took an impressive—a farewell view.

On the ornament, at the head of the coffin, was inscribed SURGE AD JUDICIUM (Latin, meaning "Rise to Judgment")—about the middle of the coffin, GLORIA DEO (Glory to God)—and on the silver plate, GENERAL GEORGE WASHINGTON, Departed this life on the 14th December, 1799, Aet. 68;

Between three and four o'clock, the sound of artillery from a vessel in the river firing minute guns, awoke afresh our solemn sorrow—the corpse was moved—band of music with mournful melody melted the soul into all the tenderness of woe.

The procession was formed and moved on in the following order: Cavalry, Infantry, Guard, with arms reversed, music, clergy, The General's horse with his saddle holsters, and pistols.

Pallbearers, Cols. Simms, Romsay, Payne, Gilpin, Marsteller, Little. Mourners Masonic Brethren, Citizens.

When the procession had arrived at the bottom of the elevated lawn on the bank of the Potomac, where the family vault is placed, the cavalry halted, the infantry marched towards the Mount and formed their lines—the Clergy, the Masonic Brothers, and the Citizens, descended to the Vault and the funeral service of the Church was performed—the firing was repeated from the Vessel in the river, and the sounds echoed from the woods and hills around.

Three general discharges by the infantry—the cavalry, and 11 pieces of artillery, which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the Vault, paid the last tribute to the entombed Commander in Chief of the Armies of the United States and to the departed Hero.

The sun was now setting. Alas! the son of glory was set forever. No—the name of WASHINGTON—the American President and General—will triumph over DEATH! The unclouded brightness of his Glory will illuminate the future ages."

Our recipe today was contributed by Mrs. Adele Krug, a former Thief River Falls resident, who lived for 43 years in Washington, D.C., on the campus of Gallaudet college. She returned to her home in Maryland last week after visiting here with her 95-year-old father, Anton Jensen, a resident at the Valley Home. While here she renewed acquaintances with her classmates at her 50th high school class reunion; and traveled to Fergus Falls to speak to the International Quota club, outlining the program of Gallaudet College, the only accredited liberal arts college for the deaf.

Mrs. Krug, who retired from the college in June, was associate professor of library science at Gallaudet. She stated that the two main purposes of the college are training the hearing impaired to be useful citizens in specialized lines of endeaver, and training professionals to work with the deaf. Since communication is the biggest problem of the deaf, the college offers both sign and lip reading. Enrollment is about 1,200 with students coming from all the states and 16 foreign countries. Several from this area have been students, including Nancy Lund of this city.

Since the death of her husband, who was dean of men and the head of the biology department at Gallaudet, Mrs. Krug has resided in Maryland. She has four children, two girls and twin boys, all living on the East Coast. Completing her family circle are six grandchildren.

Her retirement plans include traveling, spending time with her children, craft work and possibly writing a book about the college, where she lived and worked through three of its four administrations.

She also considers returning to tranquility in Thief River Falls, but is torn between that and staying in the East to be near her children.

While in Fergus Falls, she sampled Pickled Fish and obtained today's recipe from Mrs. Emma Ness of that city.

Pickled Fish

Fillet fish (Northern, White Fish, etc.), cut in small chunks, wash and drain.

For each quart of fillets use 1 cup white 5 per cent vinegar and ⅓ cup pickling salt. Pour mixture over fillets, put a weight on top to keep the fish under brine.

On the 6th day drain off the salt brine and wash several times in cold water, until water in clear when drained.

Cover with clear cold water and let stand one hour. Drain well. Make a solution of:

1 cup 5 per cent white vinegar
1 cup sugar
Warm just enough to dissolve sugar
Add ½ cup 20 per cent Sherry Wine
Cool before pouring over fish.

Alternate layers of onions, fish and pickling spices in jar. Pour solution over fish and seal jars.

Bergland Upset At Boycott Of Grain Shipments

Congressman Bob Bergland has criticized the international longshoremen's association for its attempts to halt grain shipments to the Soviet Union. Rep. Bergland, as a member of the House agriculture committee, said that the ILA should stay out of this nation's trade policy and wired George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO the following message:

"I am distressed by your stated reasons in support of the longshoremen's boycott of Russian-bound grain loadings at Gulf ports.

"The facts are that current wheat and corn prices are $3.95 and $2.96, respectively—well below the high levels of last year when wheat brought $5.73 a bushel and corn, $3.88. Continued loadings of these grains cannot be fairly criticized as inflationary, until prices rise above the levels of last fall.

"I must object to the unilateral actions undertaken by the longshoremen denying due process to persons affected by this boycott—an action totally inconsistent with our principles of government by law.

"I urge you to use your considerable influence to end this boycott and bring the issue to a legitimate forum for resolution."

In releasing the telegram, Rep. Bergland also pointed out that meanwhile, other importing countries have been active in covering their import requirements. He emphasized that of special significance in this regard have been grain purchases by east European countries from the U.S. "Normally they would purchase most of their imports from within the Soviet Bloc." For example, Poland has contracted for 842,600 tons of U.S. grain, East Germany for 2,115,700 tons.

In addition, Rep. Bergland defended the sales to the Soviets by pointing out that the United States only consumes about 35 per cent of its wheat production and about 75 per cent of the corn produced in the nation.

Bergland also noted that there seems to be no real correlation between the price of bread and price of wheat. He cited as an example that although the price of a bushel of wheat dropped from $5.52 in February of 1974 to $3.57 in June of 1975, the price of a loaf of bread during the same period increased by nine per cent. Bergland further commented that "it is very tempting for food processors and handlers to blame any price increases on the Soviet grain sales."

Daniel A. Norby Completes Army Basic Training

Private Daniel A. Norby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Norby of Plummer, recently completed basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif.

According to staff Sergeant John Smith, army recruiting representative in Thief River Falls, Private Norby is now stationed at Ft. The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

After reading about the Minnesota State Legislature, some exciting possibilities come to mind. These will be only imagination, but I write it because this account of bad thinking on the part of the Minnesota Legislature is typical of liberal thought today. I believe it is dangerous and although I'm dead serious, I think a little humor or whatever you wish to call it might be in order. In no way am I calling our liberal legislature any names nor am I afraid they will get away with their bad thoughts. What they propose, however, may easily grow into a lot more than it might appear now.

The headlines at the top of the front page of the Grand Forks Herald on September 3, 1975, was: "Takeover of Business Under Study". Read this if possible. Part of it is as follows: "The Minnesota State Legislature will be studying the concept of state ownership of usually privately owned enterprises in the coming session. House Minority Leader Representative Henry Savelhoul, R-Albert Lea said the memorandum, obtained from an independent source, is the first time the plan to take over businesses has surfaced in writing. It looks like there is a design by some members of the leadership to....get involved in farming, banking, transportation and the energy area."

As I read this, the thought came to me. What a delightful thing it would be to send an invitation to Fidel Castro. After all, why not get a man who is recognized for his many abilities to help all the people with their problems. There would be little difference in attitude or in programs proposed-at least if we were to compare voting records of the kind that are responsible for this news item. It would be especially fitting after Senator McGovern has just been to Cuba and reports of his great respect for this "wonderful humanitarian". The fact that this miserable thief has stolen $1.5 billion from U.S. citizens makes him even more qualified for this job. Since he did this stealing for his people, just think how much he could steal for us!

Read this newspaper article carefully and sit still and shudder a little bit. When you have recovered, pray to God that it won't happen here! Remember when you pray that it has already happened in China. The people prayed there too, but they finally accepted the agrarian reformers.

These nice fellows took over China and mercilessly exterminated 35 to 70 million of their own people. The reason they did this, you see, was that some of the people didn't want quite all that help. In Minnesota, of course, there will be only a few hundred thousand farmers, their families, bankers, businessmen and their families, doctors, honest teachers, and a fair number of honest clergymen. The boys we sent to St. Paul are full of ideas about helping us and we should realize it is for our own good. After all, this is what the majority of voters sent liberal legislators to St. Paul to do.

In the name of social planning you will be helped beyond your wildest dreams. You will have no worries, no debts, no income tax, in fact you will have no property so really you will have nothing to worry about!

Coming cack to Castro, we should realize that a lot of experience is required for the state to take over our businesses. This is a man who knows how to do things. He should be made King of the Mid-West and then he could even give some of these overworked liberals a rest. He knows how to make the poorest man in town just as rich as the richest man who owns a farm or a factory. Those who are working in banks and hospitals will get a chance to enjoy fresh air because we'll need at least 50 people to replace everyone of those efficient farmers who do it alone with their big tractors.

This is a great moment in our lives. We now have elected men who will think for us. They will even worry for us-and if we don't like all their help, there will be a solution for that too.

Yes, I think we should replace our liberal Congress with a King-and why not Castro? At least then we'll know what to expect.

Admit Women To U.S. Coast Guard Academy

Women will be admitted to the U.S. coast guard academy, New London, Conn., with the class entering next July it was announced recently by Admiral Owen W. Siler, commandant, U.S. coast guard. It will mark the first time in the 100-year history of the academy that women will join the corps of cadets at New London.

Admiral Siler said his decision to admit women to the academy was based on the many contributions he expected women to make in the peacetime missions of the coast guard such as marine enviornmental protection, law and treaty enforcement, boating safety, aids to navigation and life saving. He noted that current statutes do not bar the admission of women to the coast guard academy and that action by Congress will not be required.

This decision is also in keeping with the strong commitment of the leadership of the department of transportation to assure equal rights for women, according to the coast guard commandant.

Of the 452 women on active duty at the present time in the coast guard, 32 are officers and 420 are enlisted. The highest ranking woman in the coast guard today is a captain.

Appointments to the coast guard academy are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition. There are not any congressional appointments, as at the other service academies, nor are there any geographical quotas. Deadline for submitting applications to the academy for the class of 1980 is December 15, 1975.

Interested applicants should contact their nearest coast guard recruiter.

Northland Will Offer Seminars On Bicentennial

Northland community college will offer three seminars this fall quarter on the American Revolution Bicentennial. The seminars will be part of the "American Issues Forum" which is a program developed for the nation's Bicentennial under the auspices of the national endowment for the humanities and with the co-sponsorship of the American Revolution Bicentennial administration and endorsed by the Thief River Falls Bicentennial commission.

Seminar dates and topics are: October 1—"The American People", October 29—"Frontiers Aplenty" and December 3—"Citizen and the Law".

Printed support material for the seminars has been purchased from United Press International and will be made available to all participants.

A registration and information session will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the college auditorium. Coordinators for the seminars will be John Steidl, Rich Lytle and Merle Kruschke, under the direction of Dean Willard Kottke.

"The seminars should be of special interest to educators who may wish to use the ideas and materials in their classrooms, local bicentennial-commission members from the various communities of northwestern Minnesota, and the general public who may wish to increase their awareness of our country, what it is, how it got that way and where it is headed," says Kottke.

A registration fee of $10 will be charged with seminar participants earning one continuing education unit (CEU) credit.

For additional information call Northland college (681-2181).

Halland Is VFW Quartermaster

At the September meeting of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793, Oreal Halland was installed into the quartermaster office. Ten delegates were selected to attend the fall conference of the VFW at Grand Rapids on September 20.

Sheriff Charles Richards and Ellsworth Jorgenson spoke in behalf of the recruitment program for the local National Guard. Art Heinze, executive secretary of the United Way, also spoke to the post using film strips promoting the United Way campaign beginning in October.

Dairy-Livestock Committee Asks Aid For Farmers

Claiming that dairy and beef farmers are desperate because of skyrocketing production costs, a dairy and livestock committee has asked the U.S. department of agriculture for assistance to farmers.

The Minnesota Farmers Union Dairy and livestock advisory committee told a meeting of the press recently at the press club in downtown Minneapolis that farmers are living off equity that has taken them many years to build.

"It's like spending your life savings," committee chairman Dennis Sjodin stated. "We continue to borrow and borrow, hoping that conditions will improve. They haven't."

Sjodin explained that for each 100 pounds of milk he sells it costs him about $1 more to produce it. "That's a tough way to do business," he said.

The committee recommended that USDA utilize existing programs such as the emergency livestock feeding program, where USDA can sell oats to farmers at reduced prices, if farmers are threatened with having to sell off a part of their herd to buy feed for the rest.

The state agriculture stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) committee, whose next meeting is September 18, has power to enact this program. The advisory committee requests that the state ASCS committee seek full information from Washington on the program and then inform farmers about applying for it.

The advisory committee also called for agriculture secretary Earl Butz to raise dairy price supports to the legal limit of 90 per cent of parity. They also requested that he reduce dairy product imports which hurt American dairy farmers.

In addition, the advisory committee has asked congressional help to revise existing prigrams, especially formulas for payment of disaster aid. Farmers currently are being charged for chopping up corn stalks from the drough and because of this, are not getting full disaster payments. Also, payments are based on historic alloted acres last used in 1960.

Slum populations of developing nations are increasing three to four times faster than the more modern parts of cities. To help curb the migration of poor families from rural areas to the cities, where they are forced to resettle in slums and shanty towns, UNICEF last year trained over 13,6000 village leaders in 30 countries to encourage self-help projects for the improvement of local water supply, sanitation and health services.

TRF Bank Debits In July Climb From July 1974

Bank debits in Thief River Falls during July showed an increase of 18 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. In dollars, bank debits volume during July was $41,429,000. In the same month of 1974 the total figure was $34,982,000.

The cumulative January through July total of $236,561,000 was nine per cent above the total for a year ago at this time.

For Minnesota the July volume of bank debits for reporting cities did not change from July of last year. Debits for the 12 months through July increased six per cent from the previous 12 month period.

Bank debits for the most part are checks against depositors' accounts and thus represent payment for goods, services, debts and other cost. They also include all debits against the checking accounts of individuals, partnerships and corporations, and of states and political subdivisions. They do not include debits to savings accounts, the accounts of other banks, or the United States government.

The volume of bank debits reported by the total sample of ninth Federal Reserve district cities for July increased three per cent from a year ago. The cumulative total for the 12 months through July indicated eight per cent increase from the previous 12 month period.

Most Minnesota Schools Without 75-76 Contracts

"Our negotiations department reports settlements in only about 120 districts," explains President Donald C. Hill of the Minnesota Education association (MEA), which is the exclusive representative for teachers in some 400 districts.

"This means," Hill points out, "that, with very few large districts settles, between 80 and 85 per cent of the teachers in Minnesota are working without new contracts.

"We've never gone so late in the year with so large a number in that situation."

Included among the unsettled is the MEA-affiliated inter faculty organization (IFO), which is the exclusive bargaining agent for some 2,000 faculty on the state's seven public four-year university campuses (formerly state colleges).

The other MEA college faculty affiliate, the Minnesota community college faculty association (MCCFA), which is the exclusive representative for some 1,000 faculty on the 18 state two-year college campuses, describes as "extremely unsatisfactory" the legislature's action in disregarding an arbitration award.

The IFO, according to Hill, has presented its demands "and substantive negotiations have begun" but "the community college situation is more complex."

The MEA, says Hill, is "strongly supporting MCCFA in trying ot persuade the Legislature to correct the injustice of its action in amending the MCCFA contract—after an arbitration panel had awarded cost-of-living increases.

"The legislature discriminated against the community college faculty," Hill charges, "by singling out that 1,000-member faculty and denying them that adjustment while granting it to most other state employees.

"And they also barred other higher higher education faculty from negotiating cost-of-living clauses," he said.

School districts that have developed hot spots in this negotiations season, Hill reports, include Austin, Bloomington, and White Bear Lake (which have been certified at impasse by the bureau of mediation services), South Washington county, Centennial (where bannering has been taking place), Winona (where the school board has refused to discuss retroactivity), Delano (where begotiations are hung up because of misunderstanding on application of increases in extracurricular pay) and Aitkin (almost no progress reported).

"Teachers know by now," Hill concludes, "that we don't have to settle for second best.

"I want every one of our teachers to realize they've got to be tough in negotiating contracts for this year and next. We have to be diligent when confronting school boards. Teachers don't have to—and they must not—accept unreasonable settlements.

"Some of our political leaders in Minnesota have been critical of MEA's local negotiators for being so hard-nosed on education issues. The non-MEA negotiators who say that the only negotiable items are money and working conditions are wrong."

Need to relieve human suffering and stop the downward spiral of purchasing power, production and employment formed the background for establishment of the unemployment insurance program in the 1930s.

Local Officials Disagree With Crime Task Force

the task force report, it is an accurate reflection of the Region A authorities' attitude toward several other sections as well. Complaints that the task force had overlooked the daily realities of criminal justice, at least in this part of the state, were frequently heard during the meeting.

Disagreement with the task force was particularly prevalent concerning recommendations on juvenile justice.

For example, the officers completely disagreed with the task force concept of the creation of intake services in juvenile courts. According to the concept, intake personnel would have the authority to dismiss complaints against juveniles when they do not fall within the jurisdiction of the court, nor seem serious enough to warrant court intervention, or seem arbitrary, vindictive, or against the obvious interests of the child. They would also have the power to divert as many juveniles as possible to alternative programs and resources and to consult with the prosecutor whether to petition cases in court.

After considerable discussion the officers determined that: Intake personnel, as described by the task force, would be making decisions only the court should make; officers would eventually be forced to forward all juvenile cases before the intake service, causing another delay between arrest and appearance before the court; and the placement of intake personnel would complicate a system that is already working quite effectively.

Participants in the meeting also argued with task force recommendations on juvenile detention. One point of dispute was length of detention. The task force reported state juvenile detention should not exceed 24 hours without the filing of a formal petition, or 24 hours without a judicial decision to determine need for continued detention. The Region A authorities countered that these limitations were not consistent with Supreme Court rulings which have set detention limits.

Also, the task force contends that the juvenile court and presecutor's office should be available on a 24-hour basis for emergency hearings. The meeting group stated that because judges in Northwestern Minnesota work a tri-county area, this proposal is unrealistic.

Other points presented on juvenile detention which differed with task force recommendations included: Region A doesn't have "proper facilities" to house juveniles according to task force specifications; with new jails and more new jailing facilities in the process of construction, facilities will be quite adequate for juvenile detention; the cost of transporting juveniles to what the task force considers adequate facilities would be a tremendous burden on the Region A counties; emergency shelter care facilities, perhaps a good idea under certain conditions, would be dangerous if an "enraged juvenile" is placed there; and it is doubtful that transporting a juvenile a great distance from his home community would be in his best interests.

Here again, it was stated that the task force misjudged the character of the offender, and had arrived at its recommendations based on a model that was unrealistic. "Most of the really vicious, violent offenders we get in my county are juveniles," sheriff Tom Tolman said. "The task force doesn't tell us what to do about them."

Sheriff Chuck Richards added that the task force recommendations on juvenile justice may be pertinent in a large metropolitan area, but are not suitable in predominantly rural areas. He advised that officials attending the meeting recommend that the entire section on juvenile intake services, detention and disposition be eliminated. The group agreed.

Another section discussed was on police detection, deterrence and apprehension. Contrary to the task force, the meeting group felt it was unnecessary to have officers patrolling on a 24-hour basis if they are properly trained and stategically placed. They also opposed the creation of a user's board to advise the commissioner on the provision of support services to local law enforcement agencies, feeling that the state bureau of criminal apprehension is already providing adequate service in this area.

The group supported task force positions on contracting of services and establishment of a state-wide minimum entry level salary for all law enforcement officers, but opposed the lateral entry system for new personnel, stating this would be politically controlled.

Although the Thief River Falls meeting stretched on for over four hours, large sections of the task force recommendations were not discussed. In some cases, avoidance of discussion resulted from tacit agreement on the merits of a task force recommendation, such as community crime prevention.

Other sections were not discussed due to a lack of time, or because they did not pertain to the every day activitity of the law officer and were more relevant to the judiciary or the community as a whole. Still other sections were not brought up because the task force report had only recently been released, and the meeting participants hadn't been given the opportunity to consider the full impact of some of the recommendations.

It is clear that while law enforcement officials in Region A agree that some of the task force recommendations are excellent and should be implemented, others are, in Richard's words, "just plain ridiculous."

The recommendations could have a major influence on future legislative action on criminal justice practices, but Richards is not overly concerned at this time. Before the second draft of the task force report is released, a number of hearings and meetings will be held throughout the state, and, Richards hopes, some changes will be made. "We know we're not stuck with anything—yet," he said.

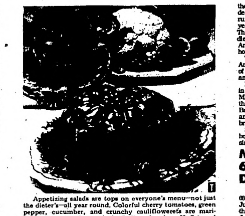
John Quesnell Writes Third Marriage Book

John Quesnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Quesnell of Thief River Falls, has recently completed another book which has been published by Franciscan Herald Press in Chicago, Ill.

"Holy Terrors and Holy Parents" is the title of the book which is listed as a practical guide for Christian parents. "Mr. Quesnell synthesizes popular psychological principles with Christian values, and makes it clear to parents how principles are to be handled," a review of the book states.

"In a very practical way," writed Rev. Paul Marx, O.S.B., "he duscusses the impact that a hedonistic idea of fulfillment has had upon our large society as well as family life. He recognizes the need to continue to use such terms as sin and not to simply sweep all sense of judgment under the rug with the simplistic explanation that 'each person must do what he thinks best!' "

Quesnell, a marriage and family counselor in Minneapolis has also written several other books including "The Message of Christ and the Counselor", "The Family Planning Dilemma Revisted" and "Marriage: A Discovery Together".



Appetizing salads are tops on everyone's menu—not just the dieter's—all year round. Colorful cherry tomatoes, green pepper, cucumber, and crunchy cauliflowerets are marinated in spicy low calorie Italian dressing. Unflavored gelatine then molds this mixture into a refreshing entree or side dish salad.

VEGETABLE SALAD MOLD ITALIANO

1 small cucumber, diced
12 cherry tomatoes, halved
1 cup diced green pepper
1 cup small cauliflowerets
1/2 cup bottled low calorie Italian dressing
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
2 cups cold water

In large bowl, toss vegetables with low calorie Italian dressing; marinate in refrigerator overnight.

In medium saucepan, sprinkle unflavored gelatine over 1/2 cup water; let stand until gelatine is moistened. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in remaining 1 1/2 cups water.

Stir gelatine into vegetable mixture; turn into 6-cup mold and chill until firm. Makes 8 servings. Approximately 45 calories per 3/4 cup serving.

Mrs. Albertina Anderson Rites Held At Holt

Funeral services for Mrs. Albertina Anderson, 93, of Thief River Falls, were held Thursday at 2:30 p.m., at the Nazareth Lutheran church at Holt. Mrs. Anderson died Monday evening, September 8, at Oakland Park Nursing home.

Rev. Duane Aipperspach officiated at the services. Marvin Sandberg was the soloist and Mrs. Orville Larson, the organist. Interment was in the Holt cemetery with the Collins Funeral home of Middle River in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Stuart McLeod, Lue Helland, Gordon Hanson, Milton Davidson, Forrest Johnson, and Merle Johnson.

Albertina Augusta Anderson was born in Sweden on Jan. 20, 1882. At the age of seven years, she came to the United States with her mother, settling in the Holt community. There she attended school and grew to womanhood.

She was united in marriage at Holt to Olaf Sandberg. He died a short time later. In May of 1921, she was married to Guy A. Anderson at Holt. The couple made their home at Holt where Anderson farmed and served as rural mail carrier for over 30 years. In 1941, they moved into Thief River Falls. Her husband died in September of 1943. Mrs. Anderson had since made her home here.

While living in Holt, Mrs. Anderson was active in the work of the Nazareth Lutheran church and its ladies aid.

Her only survivors are her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George (Inez) Mostue of this city; and two grandsons: Brian Mostue of Portland, Ore., and Brooks Mostue of Cambridge, Mass.

She was preceded in death by both husbands, her parents, and a sister who died in Sweden.

Mrs. F. Clinton, 68, Once Of TRF, Dies In Colorado

Mrs. Frank (LaVaun) Clinton, 68, of 868-23 Road, Rt. 2, Grand Junction, Colo., and formerly of this city, died Friday in Grand Junction.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frank Clinton are pending. Services and interment will be in Grand Junction.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Francis (Patricia) Collister, both of Grand Junction; and one brother, Lester Duckworth of Crookston;

She was preceded in death by her parents, James and Teckla Duckworth, one sister and a brother.

Rites Held At Trinity For Mrs. Robert Lund, 81

Funeral services for Mrs. Robert Lund, 81, a long-time resident of this city, were held Friday at 3 p.m., at Trinity Lutheran church. Mrs. Lund died Tuesday at St. Mary's hospital in Rochester, following a brief illness.

Rev. Berton R. Hushagen and Rev. Harold Peterson officiated at the services. Organist was Mrs. Carl Nordvall. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Dr. A. E. Jacobson, Frank Tunberg, Martin Gulbranson, A. F. Berge, A. L. Williamson and L. B. Hartz.

Active pallbearers were G. A. Beito, Arnt Aune, Clarence Isaacson, Wallace Tunberg, Juel K. Stadum, and Otto Stenberg.

Mrs. Lund, the former E. Luella Tosdal, was born Dec. 21, 1893. Her early years were spent in Estherville, Iowa. She attended St. Olaf college, graduating with the class of 1916 to 1918, she taught in the high school at Belgrade and from 1918-19, she taught at Fairmont.

On July 30, 1919, she was united in marriage to Robert Lund, a member of her college graduating class. They made their first home in Wanamingo where her husband was cashier of the Security State bank. In 1922, they moved to Holt and in 1925, they came to this city, residing since 1939, at 1205 Taft street East.

Mrs. Lund was a member of Trinity Lutheran church, and actively participated in Lutheran Church Women and its circles. For a number of years, she taught Sunday school. In recent years, she had been a continual supporter of the Trinity Golden Years group. For the support of this group a memorial endowment fund has been established in her name.

During her 50 years as resident of the Thief River Falls community, Mrs. Lund has been a member of a number of civic and social organizations,—including the American Legion auxiliary, the Garden club, Federated Women's club and the golf club. She also served for several years as a Girl Scout leader.

Surviving are her husband; one son, Robert T. Lund of Weston, Mass.; two daughters: Lois Lund of East Lansing, Mich., and Mrs. Allen V. (Louella) Hanson of Suffern, N.Y.; five grandchildren, and two brothers: Orlando Tosdal of Minneapolis and Harry of Belmont, Mass.

Fred Rode, 74, Rites Held At Wyndmere, N. D.

Fred Rode, 74, of Wyndmere, N.D., died September 9 at his home. His mother, Mrs. Mary Rode and sisters, Mrs. Olga Leach and Mrs. J. H. (Menna) Bjerke are all Thief River Falls residents.

Funeral services for Fred Rode were held Saturday at 10:30 a.m., at St. John's Catholic Church at Wyndmere, with Msgr. N.T. Cloos officiating.

Pallbearers were A. B. Dahlman, George Dahlman, Maurice Pat Donovan, Cliff Danner, Edward Sellner and Erv Wilfred.

Interment was at the church cemetery. The Joseph Vertin & Sons funeral home of Breckinridge was in charge of arrangements.

Fred Rode was born March 22, 1901 at Wentworth, S.D. to William and Mary (Klusterick) Rode. When he was 14 years old he moved with his family to Dorothy, Minn., where they farmed. Rode began his employment with the Northern Pacific Railroad in 1919.

He was united in marriage to Elodia Casavan on May 26, 1925 at Crookston. The couple lived at Dorothy, East Grand Forks and St. Paul before settling in Wyndmere in 1935, where they had since resided. He was a section foreman with the railroad retiring in 1967.

Rode was a member of St. John's Catholic Church, Knights of Columbus and Brotherhood of Maintenance Way.

He is survived by his wife, Elodia, two sons: Donald of Brooklyn Center, and Francis of Mooreton, N.D.; two daughters: Mrs. Erv (Betty Lou) Wilfred and Mrs. Elaine Lade both of Salt Lake City, Utah; and 19 grandchildren.

Also surviving are his mother, four brothers: Emil Rode of St. Paul, Art of Duluth, Eddie of Park Rapids and Alvin of Coos Bay, Ore., and five sisters: Mrs. Arthur (Martha) Casavan of Coos Bay, Mrs. Elsie Scheuring of Aurora, Mrs. Victor (Agnes) Gabard of Dorothy, and Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Bjerke of Thief River Falls.

He was preceded in death by a son, Vern, his father and a sister.

C. H. Carlson, 67, Of Grygla Dies Sunday

Clarence H. Carlson, 67, a long-time resident of the Grygla community, died unexpectedly Sunday at Crookston. Death was attributed to an apparent heart attack.

Funeral services for Clarence Carlson are pending. The Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements. A complete obituary will be in the Wednesday edition of The Times.

Rites Held At Mahnomen For Mrs. Rothschadl

Funeral services were held Saturday, September 6, at St. Ann's Catholic church at Waubun for Mrs. James W. Rothschadl, Sr., 86, mother of Doris Rothschadl of Thief River Falls. Mrs. Rothschadl died September 3 at the Mahnomen nursing center.

Rev. Rudolph, OSB, officiated at the services. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Rothschadl, the former Anna Blattenbauer, was born July 1, 1888 in Czechoslovakia to Mr. and Mrs. Anton Blattenbauer. She came to United States in 1904, settling in the Yankton, S.D., area. She was married there on Oct. 20, 1908 to James W. Rothschadl. They moved to Waubun in 1912 and since then she had resided there.

Surviving are four sons: Robert Rothschadl of Duluth and Fred, James, Jr., and Richard, all of Wauban; two daughters: Mrs. Woodward (Agnes) Crabtree of Duluth and Doris of Thief River Falls; 23 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband in April of 1971, two daughters, a son, two brothers, four sisters and a grandchild.

Detection Test For Birth Defects Is Studied At U of M

by Markie Harwood
U of M News Service

A new technique that allows geneticists to study the fine structure of human chromosomes and detect minor chromosomal defects has been developed at the University of Minnesota, according to Dr. Jorge J. Yunis, professor and head of medical genetics in the department of laboratory medicine and pathology.

Observing a few drops of blood in a culture medium under a microscope, geneticists formerly could distinguish approximately 300 bands in chromosomes at a certain stage of cell division. The dark and light bands contain a number of genes, and by finding band defects the geneticists could predict congenital abnormalities.

Yunis has found that observation of the chromosomes at an earlier stage of cell division, when the chromosomes are more elongated, reveals more than 1,000 bands. Each band thus contains fewer genes, and a larger number of birth defects can be predicted with accuracy.

In the past, severe chromosomal defects could be observed and gross congenital defects predicted in .5 per cent of the population. With the improved banding technique, minor defects, believed to be present in three to ten per cent of the population, can now be predicted. People with such minor defects as short stature, sub-fertility, bone defects, low normal intelligence or behavioral disorders may appear normal, Yunis said.

One purpose of the banding test is to prevent congenital defects before birth. The test can be given in the 16th week of pregnancy and completed in one week. The test previously took three to four weeks, but now there is a method of synchronizing the cell division so that enough of the cells divide at the same time to allow observation within a week. This is important, Yunis said, because if severe defects are found, the mother has time to elect termination of the pregnancy before the 20th week, the last week that abortions are legal.

While abortion and sometimes costly treatment are now the only means of preventing deformities, less expensive treatments may be found, Yunis said. By learning about the genes in the small and defective chromosome bands, scientists may soon learn how to compensate for a defective band, he said.

From a preventive point of view, Yunis said, the incidence of gross chromosomal defects would decrease by one third to one half if women over the age of 35 would not have children, based on evidence that the probability of these defects increases as the mother ages. For example, 50 per cent of Down's symdrome or mongolism cases occur among children who were born to women over the age of 35, he said.

Normal parents could potentially have a child with congenital defects, Yunis said. One of the parents may have a broken chromosome, with the broken-off portion attached to another chromosome. This is known as balanced translocation and the person is normal. If a child is conceived and only part of the broken chromosome is transmitted, the child has a chance of being born with a birth defect, Yunis said.

Although the university hospitals' laboratory is the only place in the nation where the new test is provided as a service for prenatal diagnosis or for patients with congenital defects, the tests will soon be used as a routine screening procedure, Yunis said. For example, the laboratory tests here have revealed that patients at state institutions for the mentally retarded and the mentally ill have chromosomal defects that were not observable with the previous banding techniques, he said.

In collaboration with Drs. Raymond Lewandowski and Otto Sanchez, medical fellows, Yunis is now studying a banding technique that could be used at an even earlier stage of cell division, when approximately 6,000 bands would be evident in the chromosomes. At that point of cell division, about one gene per dark band and ten genes per light band can be observed under a simple microscope, Yunis said.

The role of chromosomal defects in causing cancer is also being studied with the new banding technique, Yunis said. Formerly, it could only be observed that 50 per cent of the patients with leukemia and other malignancies have gross and non-specific chromosomal defects. Now, with the more refined banding technique, it has been found that specific chromosome band defects are present in a few malignancies. Researchers will probably find that specific chromosomal defects are a common occurrence in cancer, Yunis said.

Discover Source Of Mississippi River In 1832

Though explorers had known the Mississippi river for almost three centuries, its source at Lake Itasca wasn't known until discovered by Henry Schoolcraft in 1832, reports the Minnesota Bicentennial commission.

In the early 1800's when the Mississippi valley became U.S. territory, the U.S. government sent Zebulon Pike to explore the headwaters of the Mississippi. Pike went as far as Leech lake which he believed to be the main source of the Mississippi.

Lewis Cass took up the search for "the source" in 1821. He followed the river up to what is now called Cass Lake. He was convinced that this was the source.

Giacomo Beltrami was the next explorer in search of the source. He found a small lake now called Lake Julia which he mistakenly believed to be the source not only of the Mississippi, but of the Red River as well.

Henry Schoolcraft was the first explorer to see the source, the lake he names "Itasca," Schoolcraft combined the last four letters of "Veritas" and the first two letters of "Caput."

Schoolcraft found the lake by following a small stream southward from Bemidji to a swamp where he proceeded over land toward the southwest. On July 13, 1832, he discovered his Lake Itasca.

Four years later Nicollet traveled to the lake and found five creeks flowing into the lake. One of those he called "the infant Mississippi." Today it is called Nicollet Creek.

Nicollet scientifically studied and surveyed the area. He was the first scientific explorer of the Itasca country.

In 1888, Jacob Brower traced Nicollet Creek to a remote lakelet which he called "Hernando de Soto Lake." As a result of Brower's work, the Minnesota legislature established the Itasca state park.

The explorers: Pike, Cass, Beltrami, Schoolcraft, Nicollet and Brower blazed the trails to Itasca and made its location known. Their efforts were in the true "Spirit of '76."

Torfin To Begin Air Force Basic Training Dec. 3

Gregory Irving Torfin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Iver G. Torfin of Thief River Falls, entered the United States air force delayed enlistment program on September 5, according to Technical Sergeant Clancy Johannesson, air force recruiter in Grand Forks, N.D.

Airman Torfin selected the mechanics area for job training and will attend a six-week basic military training course at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex. beginning on December 3.

Gloomy Outlook For Minnesota Dairy Industry

Minnesota's important dairy industry, fourth ranked in the nation, appears to be headed into a new stage of crisis in nearly three of the worst years that industry has experienced, according to Minnesota agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald.

"Dairy farmers are again quitting in numbers that have the processors and marketing cooperatives alarmed," he said.

"Milk production is dropping sharply. Minnesota's June-July milk output dropped by 10.2 million gallons below the same two months last year. For example, this year through mid-August the supply of grade A fluid milk in Minnesota's 13-county metropolitan market production area is down by 17.24 million gallons or more than 18 per cent less than the fluid milk supply during the same period last year.

"Observers at the stockyards in South St. Paul report a sharp upswing in the volume of dairy cattle being sold for beef slaughter, notably a significant number of heifers that, normally would be going back to farms for replacement cows on the milk production line. Our July milk cow count was a new record low, 875,000, down 3,000 from June.

"Every contact we made in the industry expressed concern for this new exodus and indicated that the recent flood and drought damage to hay and grain crops is the straw that probably breaks the hopes of many struggling dairy farmers.

"But the root of the problem eroding our dairy industry continues to be the bad federal farm policy actions that placed and have kept milk producers on the economic ropes . . . the drastic milk price rollbacks in 1974 coupled with two years of record imports of dairy and meat products that depressed the entire domestic livestock industry," commissioner Wefald maintained.

He said that Minnesota dairy farmers are still caught in the most prolonged and one of the most severe cost-price squeezes experienced by any commodity segment of agriculture. Recent price increases on slaughter beef cattle have given dairymen an escape.

"Prices received by Minnesota farmers for their milk have had the tightest spread among all commodities reported in the monthly farm price index. In the past 30 months, the price of raw farm milk has fluctuated only 2.6 cents a pound between the high of 8.2 cents in January-March 1974 and the low of 5.6 cents a pound in February 1973.

"Minnesota's mid-July farm milk price was a meager 7.3 cents a pound, or less than 63 cents a gallon. That was only 64 per cent of the national farm milk parity price, and still nearly one cent a pound under the average price Minnesota farmers received the first three months of 1974 before the feds lowered the price rollback boom.

"Milk production costs have been going up like everything else except for the prices farmers receive. Right now, due to flood and drought damage again this year, farmers are paying $1.75 and more per bale for hay or triple the normal cost. Feed grain prices are increasing, tood. The current hay price alone is three times the value of a gallon of Minnesota farm milk," commissioner Wefald added.

Industry spokesmen have expressed concern that the continuing decline, coupled with a final evaluation of the massive flood-drought crop losses, poses even more serious problems for farmers, processors and consumers in the months ahead.

Dwindling production is placing more pressure on milk processing and marketing patterns. Consumer damand for cheese, ice cream and other manufactured dairy products is boosting the price and marketing opportunity for farmers who produce class 2 or grade B milk, at the expense of grade A producers and fluid milk consumers.

One industry authority said that if the present trend is not correct fluid milk supplies could be extremely short this fall and winter, suggesting higher prices will be necessary all along the line from farmer to consumer to maintain the Grade A fluid milk program and minimal consumer supplies.

Commissioner Wefald said the industry recognizes the outlook is not bright. Consumers who think nothing of paying double the normal price for any competitive beverage . . coffee, tea, cocoa, pop, beer and liquor . . . have not only protested even the necessary minimum price increases on fluid milk but have curtailed consumption.

Minnesota's July milk production was 744-million pounds (64,118,000 gallons). That was the lowest July output since 1955, a reduction by 68-million pounds (5,862,000 gallons) compared to this June, and a reduction by 46 million pounds (3,965,000 gallons) compared to July, 1974. Average production per cow in July dropped to 73.3 gallons, the lowest for that month in four years because increased costs forced farmers to cut feed rations.

Start Obesity Treatment Plan At The U of M

Physician referrals of patients with serious obesity problems are now being accepted for a new program at the University of Minnesota. The program will consist of behaviorally oriented weight reduction plan conducted by a multidisciplinary team.

Located in the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation in university hospitals, the project will focus on patients who have been chronically ill or disabled, groups usually not included in such treatment programs.

Under the direction of a team consisting of a physician, a psychologist, two dietitians and a physical therapist, the plan will emphasize long-term weight maintenance as well as immediate weight loss. In particular the function of exercise in weight loss and in keeping weight down will be examined. A variety of medical and psychological approaches will include monitoring of heart activity, biochemical measures, study of the effects of weight-control medications and training of patients to monitor their eating behaviors.

"That obesity presents a significant health hazard is hardly disputed," said Dr. Joseph Canell, project director. "The otherwise well person who is 20 to 30 per cent over his weight norms for sex and height substantially increases his risk of developing metabolic, respiratory, heart, joint and renal disease.

"Even if there are no other health problems, obesity can contribute a burden to the morbidity and mortality of most people. When a person already afflicted with an acute or chronic disease is further compromised by obesity, the risk of complications to the primary disease increases substantially."

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT

The Community Development Renewal Project in South Central Area proposed under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 has been environmentally reviewed by the City. It is our conclusion that the South Central Area project will have no significant effect on the environment.

The activities proposed for the South Central Area are as follows: Acquisition and clearance of Burlington Northern property between Main and LaBree Avenue, more precisely, the acquisition and removal and/or relocation of Falls Farm Service, one quonset storage shed, the railroad depot, and its related parts on the project site. In addition, the assistance in rehabilitation of at least ten homes in the City. The implementation of the proposed activities has been environmentally reviewed concerning: Historic Properties, Noise Standards, Coastal Zones and Wetlands, Air Quality, Water Quality, and Wildlife legislation set forth by the Federal and State government. After reviewing the possible impacts this project has on the physical, social, and aesthetic environment of the area, it is our conclusion that none of the proposed activities would significantly alter any portion of the existing environment.

The City has prepared an ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW RECORD that examines the project and has the data base that was used to determine the possible environmental effects of the project.

This ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW RECORD is on file in the Community Development Office of the City Auditorium and may be examined or copied during working hours (8-5) Monday through Friday.

Due to the finding of no significant effect mentioned above, no further environmental review of this project is proposed to be conducted and the City intends to request HUD to release funds.

Any comments may be submitted to the Community Development Office, P.O. Box 528, City Auditorium, Thief River Falls until September 18, 1975 which is 15 working days following first day of publication August 27, 1975.

"When a man considers all that he doesn't know, the immeasurable abundance of things of which he has no or only the vaguest idea, he gets downcast. And yet, he also feels free and great. In the vastness of his ignorance, he stands trembling with the feeling of infinity, as under the starry sky."

The Guns of Autumn

For 90 minutes last Friday night the CBS television network leveled its guns against hunting and fired volley after volley into a nationwide audience. Titled "The Guns of Autumn" and mislabled as a documentary, the program stirred the ire of hunters and anti-hunters alike. It was about as unbiased as a presidential candidate's campaign speech and as comprehensive as a peek through a keyhole.

There is little doubt that it was designed much more to support the network's anti-gun position than to present a factual review—documentary, if you will—of what sport hunting is all about. The emphasis on killing—and badly botched butchery at that—was certainly calculated to depict the hunter as a low form of predatory beast.

It is possible that all of the scenes depicted in the film actually happened, although the network has been found guilty in the past of falsifying facts to generate anti-hunting sentiment. One specific case involved portraying the supposed killing of a mother polar bear with cub, when the actual event was a tranquilizing of the bear as part of a study to protect the species.

One of the most offensive scenes in Friday's fiasco involved the multiple shooting of a European fallow deer on a hunting preserve where exotic animals are raised for paid "hunts". We find it extremely difficult to believe that even the most inept slob shooter could be as crude as the "hunter" shown, shooting the deer a number of times and posing for pictures while it still lived. In view of past performances, is it just possible that the incident was contrived for effect? Isn't a white fallow deer, which is unusually beautiful and on which blood would show particularly well, a little too much of a coincidence for that particularly botched shooting scene?

Whether that particular incident was staged or not, it can not by the greatest stretch of the imagination be considered indicative of sport hunting in America. Nor can any of the preserve hunts or game department population control hunts come close to the hunting experiences which millions of Americans enjoy.

The CBS network's dedication to the discrediting of hunting can be shown by the fact that when nearly all of the program's potential sponsors pulled out of sponsorship, the network bore the cost itself, plugging the gaps with its own promotional pieces. And it apparently succeeded in pulling off the ploy of calling it a documentary.

Columnist Lois Suel Wann of the New Prague Times wrote, "I hate guns with a passion, however I recognize the right of others to hunt, if that seems to be their bag." She commented on the program and noted that her husband asked why she watched it if she fould it to be so upsetting.

"It seems," she wrote, "that to look the other way and pretend that such things do not exist, is to stick one's head in the sand and hope the ugliness will go away. We commend CBS wholeheartedly on having the courage and the compassion required to investigate the story and to tell it like it is, for those creatures which cannot speak for themselves."

Could the network hope for a more perfect response?

"The show was not an indictment of the millions of hunters who are true sportsmen," she added later in the column. ". . . . It was, however, a very sad commentary on how badly other creatures can fare at the hands of man, and how urgently we need legislation, and an aroused public, to pull the plug on such brutality in the name of sport."

Editor Bill Beck of the Baudette Region stated in his editorials that "the producers could obviously not understand what motivated Arizonans to pay $500 for the privilege of taking a bull buffalo on a state game department managed hunt. Yet, we have a feeling that those same Arizonans would have difficulty in trying to understand what motivates New York City kids to play stickball, shoot heroin or join street gangs. There are cultural differences between the Big Apple and the hinterlands."

Beck says the producer of the show was asking the question, "Why do 20 million Americans set off into the fields, woods and marshes every fall in search of big and small game?" And he maintains that none of the respondents on the show gave a very satisfactory answer.

". . . .We have our suspicions that the veneer of civilization coating modern man is pretty thin stuff," he writes. "Maybe, just maybe damn it, modern man is excited by the smell of blood. The millions of hunters aside, how does one explain the fascination that big-time automobile racing holds for millions of fans? But look at the record: Mark Donahue, Tiny Lund, Peter McDonald, Jochen Rindt—all killed before millions of screaming fans on the USAC, NASCAR, or Formula I circuits during the past decade or so."

Beck also mentions the brutality of prize fighting which pits one human against another, and the thrill which hundreds of thousands of people seem to get out of watching a maddened bull bleed to death in a bullring.

Yes, part of hunting is killing. But in truth it is not a major part, just as looking at the scoreboard at the end of the fourth period is not a major part of a football game. We suppose that it is hard for those who have never experienced our sport—or who have tried it and didn't like it—to understand what we like about it. And we would be hard-pressed to try and explain it, just as we would find difficulty in explaining why we like chocolate ice cream, a hot shower or country music.

But, doggone it, if the network has any intention of trying to be fair, couldn't it tell a little about hunter support of conservation, of restoration of species from near extinction with hunter financial and physical support, of bag limit control for species protection, of habitat preservation and improvement for wildlife propagation, of arduous and often unsuccessful hunts for trophy animals, of wildlife losses from starvation and disease due to over-protection and resulting over-population?

Or at the very least, if CBS insists on presenting a distorted and biased viewpoint, why won't it come out from under the cloak of calling its efforts "documentary". If there's one thing that makes this writer as sick as a slob hunter does, it's the officious, condescending attitude of the television networks and their piously-portrayed analysts.

Talk About Taxes

Minnesota Taxpayers association has prepared a bulletin known as the "Minnesota Taxpayer" and circulated it throughout the state. In the sheet are a number of items which should make good conversation starters when anyone feels disposed to talk about taxes. Consider these points:

—A study by Ford Motor corporation shows that there are more people being supported by taxes in the United States (80,655,000) than there are people working in the private sector of the economy to pay the taxes (71,650,000). Number of state and local governmental employees in Minnesota has increased by 13.8 per cent in the past five years.

—Minnesota was among the top five states in increased spending for education in 1974-75. Average cost per student in Minnesota is $1,267 per year, compared with the national average of $1,168.

—The average American taxpayer worked until April 28 this year to pay his federal, state and local taxes.

—In 1974 the cost of food went up 11 per cent and personal income taxes rose 26 per cent.

—According to the Wyoming taxpayers association, one-fifth of the beef you eat is tax. Taxes (21 per cent) are the largest component in the price of beef.

—Recent federal allocations include the following, according to "U.S. News and World Report": $500,000 to determine under what conditions humans and monkeys clench their jaws; $81,000 to uncover the social behavior of the Alaskan brown bear; $36,500 for a probe of the evolution of song learning of parasitic finches; $15,000 to study hitch hiking; and $8,700 for a survey of 19th Century European comic books.

—The state of Minnesota collected $2,098,797,000 for fiscal year 1975. Of that, individual income taxes paid $976,593,000; corporate income taxes $199,004,000; and sales taxes $435,734,000.

—Minnesota's corporate income tax of 12 per cent is the highest in the nation. South Dakota, which has no individual nor corporate income tax, has established a temporary office in Minneapolis and is undertaking an intensive advertising program soliciting Minnesota business to locate in South Dakota.

—A recent study by "Money" magazine placed Minnesota second in the nation in the payment of state and local taxes. A family of four with $25,000 adjusted gross income and a $45,000 house averaged taxes of $2,894.

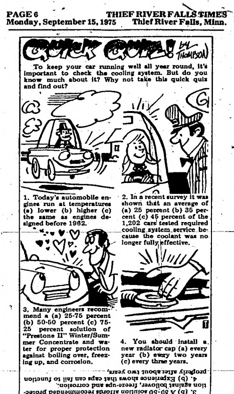
Borrowed Nonsense

During World War II, a massive flight of Allied bombers set out to spread tons of propaganda leaflets over Germany. All the planes but one returned to base safely. Everyone scanned the skies anxiously as the hours passed without a sign of the missing plane. Finally the plane came in for a landing two days later. The irate operations officer dashed out and demanded, "Where have you been?"

"Delivering leaflets," said the pilot.

"How long does it take to drop a few leaflets?" asked the officer.

"Drop them?" the pilot exclaimed. "We pushed them under people's doors!"



To keep your car running well all year round, it's important to check the cooling system. But do you know much about it? Why not take this quick quiz and find out?

1. Today's automobile engines run at temperatures (a) lower (b) higher (c) the same as engines designed before 1962.

2. In a recent survey it was shown that an average of (a) 25 percent (b) 35 percent (c) 45 percent of the 1,202 cars tested required cooling system service because the coolant was no longer fully effective.

3. Many engineers recommend a (a) 25-75 percent (b) 50-50 percent (c) 75-25 percent solution of "Prestone II" Winter/Summer Concentrate and water for proper protection against boiling over, freezing up, and corrosion.

4. You should install a new radiator cap (a) every year (b) every two years (c) every three years.

Answers: 1. (b) Today's engines run hotter than those built before 1962. 2. (c) The survey conducted by Union Carbide and an independent research company, showed that 45 percent of the cars tested needed cooling system service. 3. (b) A 50-50 solution affords recommended protection against boilover, freeze-ups and corrosion. 4. (b) Experience shows that caps can fail to function properly after about two years.

Vocational School Alternative To High Costs Of College

Proving that what goes up doesn't necessarily come down, college costs are expected to rise six to twelve per cent to all-time highs for the 1975-76 school year.

A four-year private university now costs a hefty $4,391 in tuition, board and room and other fees, according to the college entrance examination board. A public university carries a price tag of $2,679 for one year of attendance.

Total cost of college or university training can be even more staggering. One recent B.A. graduate estimated the four years he spent at a Midwestern university cost over $30,000 including tuition, living expenses, interest on educational loans, and foregone income (salary he could have earned if he was working). Graduate school might easily have tacked on another $17,000 since by then foregone income would have increased through raises.

Even with new government programs of assistance, many students are finding it difficult or impossible to finance college. Along with the escalating costs, a growing belief that college no longer is the passport to a secure, good paying job makes it a questionable investment for many. As a result, students are searching for alternatives to the traditional college route. One increasingly popular solution to the high cost of college is the vocational education offered in a variety of public and private institutions.

Vocational education offers the benefits of post secondary education without the high costs of college, according to the national association of trade and technical schools. It concentrates training in a specialized career such as computer programming, commercial piloting, fashion merchandising, advertising, commercial art, even wastewater technology. There are hundreds of careers requiring only vocational training (and not a college degree). Shorn of "extras" such as expensive student centers, sports teams and liberal arts courses, vocational schools are able to offer high quality education at a lower cost.

For example, a student interested in commercial art may attend a college or university for four years, taking a total of 96 credits. Less than half of those credits will have been earned in commercial art subjects, with the majority in such courses as English lit, science, phy ed and other nonrelated, but required courses. A career school student only pays for courses he or she needs to enter the job market.

The savings can be substantial, in this case two years of tuition. An average year at a vocational school costs $1,500 to $2,000. But, not only does the commercial art student at a vocational school pay a lower cost, he is out in the job market earlier and earning an extra two years of salary.

Unlike college, vocational training is unabashedly employment-oriented. In addition to being taught only those skills needed for entry into the job market, career students are given "hands on" training which places them in actual work environments either with cooperating employers or in the school's own shop. There, students learn by doing and as a result get practical work experience which often gives them the edge over academically-trained students.

With all the emphasis on employment, placement is high in accredited vocational schools. According to the National association of trade and technical schools, an organization of accredited vocational schools, over 70 per cent of graduates find employment in their fields shortly after graduation but the figure is probably higher since many grads leave the school area for jobs and cannot be reached. By comparison the department of labor estimates only 60 per cent of college grads obtain employment in their field.

In fact, the job market is increasingly becoming glutted with teachers, history majors, psychologists and others. Recent reports from the Labor department indicate the number of grads threatens to exceed demand by 800,000. While 15.3 million students will graduate from a college or university between 1972 and 1985, the labor force need is pegged at only 14.5 million. Less than a quarter of the 61.2 million job openings during that time will require college, and only a third of all white-collar job openings will be filled with degree holders.

According to Herbert Bienstock, assistant regional director for the U.S. Bureau of labor statistics, college graduates will increasingly be forced into fields not related to their training, such as sales, clerical and service jobs. The result will be underemployment and job dissatisfaction as grads, out of economic necessity, seek employment in areas where their training is not fully utilized.

Employment growth through 1985 is predicted to center on the service-producing areas with a 55 per cent increase in the need for craftsmen, repairmen, auto mechanics, technicians, paramedics, and others.

The major factors contributing to this demand are the growing population accompanied by increasing urbanization with its emphasis on the need for more city services and, finally, a rising standard of living has accelerated the demand for all types of services.

For a listing of vocational schools, consult the U.S. office of education's "Directory of Postsecondary Schools With Occupational Programs" which is available from the Government printing office, Washington, D.C. 20402 for $3.95.

A free 104-page directory of accredited trade and technical schools is available from NATTS, 2021 L street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Small Business Advisory Task Force To Meet

The first meeting of the Governor's advisory task force on small business has been scheduled for 9 a.m., September 19, in room 107, state capitol.

The first session will be devoted to a review of the intent of the legislation authorizing the task force and to the formation of policy, guidelines and a schedule of future meetings, according to A. M. DeYoannes, acting commissioner of the department of economic development and chairman of the task force.

The Governor's task force on small business was established by the 1975 legislature to study possible negative effects of state laws, rules and regulations on the economic conduct and management of small businesses. The task force is authorized to study methods to improve conditions for small business in Minnesota, including economic incentives, long-range planning and education, and to make recommendations.

The department of economic development has an appropriation of $60,000 for the biennium for conducting the task force's activities. In addition, the department of economic development will be responsible for professional and administrative support for the task force.

Set Sub Region Four Tournament Dates

It was decided at a meeting of athletic directors Wednesday at Crookston that the 1976 Region Eight Class AA Sub Region Four basketball tournament will be played at the University of North Dakota fieldhouse in Grand Forks.

The dates for the first ever event will be Tuesday and Wednesday, March 2 and 3.

Thief River Falls, East Grand Forks, Crookston and Bemidji are grouped into Sub Region Four of the Region Eight Class AA alignment under the new Minnesota State High School League realignment plan that goes into effect on a state-wide basis this winter.

Two games will be played Tues., March 2, at 7 and 8:45 p.m. A championship game only will be played Wed., March 3, at 7:30 p.m. The Sub Region Four winner will advance to the Region Eight Class AA tournament.

Plans will be finalized for the Region Eight Class AA tournament when athletic directors get together at Detroit Lakes Wednesday.

Pairings for the Sub Region Four tournament will be based on regular season competition between the four schools. A point system will be used when the schools meet. If the teams play each other twice during the year each game will be worth one point. However, if they meet just once, the game will be a two-pointer.

Northland Players Continue Cage Careers

David Dickey, Burnie Stephens and Ralph Fitts, three sophomores on the sensational 1974-75 Northland community college basketball team, are all enrolled in four-year schools and will continue their basketball careers.

Dickey, a junior college honorable mention All-American, is attending the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks. Fitts is now at Jamestown (N.D.) College. Stephens is attending the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

The trio was mainly responsible for Northland's outstanding 23-1 record in 1974-75 and the school's 20-5 mark in 1973-74.

TRF Runners Shine At Bemidji State

Former Thief River Falls runners Brian Phelps and Steve Taflin are key members of this year's Bemidji State University cross country team, reported Beaver head coach Bob Eudeikis.

Phelps, a Lincoln high school graduate, shared the team's most valuable runner award in 1974 as a freshman. Eudeikis feels Phelps can enjoy another successful fall in 1975.

Taflin, a Clearbrook high school graduate who attended Northland community college for two years, "has looked impressive in pre-season work-outs," said Eudeikis.

Miscellaneous

+Area high school products Ward Arntson of Plummer and Rick Lavoy of Mahnomen are starters with the North Dakota State University junior varsity football team. Arntson, a 6-2, 210-pound sophomore, is a defensive end. Lavoy, a 6-1, 224-pound freshman, is an offensive tackle.

+Former Bemidji star Earl Sargent was among 48 players reporting today (Monday) for the start of pre-season hockey drills with the Minnesota North Stars. Sargent is working as a right wing with the NHL club after being selected in the 11th round of last year's amateur draft while playing with the Fargo-Moorhead Sugarkings.

Prowlers Surrender 15-0 Lead

Ramler Keys Apollo 26-15 Win Over TRF

Reminiscent of a game played on the same field two years earlier, St. Cloud Apollo, out-played in the first half by underdog Thief River Falls, turned things around after intermission Friday to beat the visiting Prowlers 25-16.

Thief River Falls played once before on Apollo's plush Michie Field in 1973 when the Prowlers held the heavily favored Eagles to a 6-6 halftime draw after owning a 6-0 lead. However, Apollo dominated the final 24 minutes to win 34-12.

History repeated itself Friday when Thief River Falls, again a big underdog, out-played Apollo in posting a 15-6 halftime lead after jumping out to a startling 15-0 advantage. However, again Apollo turned things around in the second half as the Eagles completely dominated the final two periods to win the now-expired series three games to one.

Touchdown runs by Doug Dallmann in the first quarter and Jay Kverno in the second period sparked Thief River Falls to a surprising 15-0 lead before injuries, fumbles and a quarterback by the name of Don Ramler all took their toll on the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls racked up 102 yards worth of offense in the first half but sputtered badly after intermission when injuries and fumbles limited the Prowler attack to just 24 yards on 12 plays from scrimmage.

Two Prowler offensive starters—fullback Bryan Olson and halfback Mike Jury—missed the game entirely because of injuries. The third runningback—halfback Doug Dallmann—starred in the first half but left the game early in the second half with an injury.

In addition to the injuries, Thief River Falls fumbled the ball eight times and lost four of those bobbles as the Prowler offense became nonexistant in the second half.

Apollo, meanwhile, began to flex its offensive muscles behind the starry Ramler and backfield mate Paul Thelen, two of the quickest ball carriers to be found anywhere in the state. Exceptional speed and uncanny elusiveness made Ramler in particular and Thelen as well, nearly impossible to stop. Ramler, a quarterback mind you, rushed for 124 yards on only 10 carries while Thelen added 77 yards on a busy 20-carry night.

Ramler scored the first Apollo touchdown on a spectacular 78-yard run with 4:20 remaining in the first half. The lightning-quick signal caller turned a quarterback roll-out into a long scoring jaunt when he ducked under two would-be tacklers, bounced off another defender as he cut against the grain and raced down the sidelines.

Ramler scored again as time expired in the second quarter, capping a 10-play 60-yard drive with a 16-yard run. He put together another display of fancy open-field running that thrilled the Apollo crowd but did little for the Thief River Falls morale. It was another roll-out, and Ramler simply broke tackles with his amazing combination of speed and power, as he swept around his left end. The drive was initiated after an interception of a Jeff Lindquist pass by Apollo's Tom Pflepson near midfield. Mike Harlander place kicked the extra point after missing an earlier try to slice the Prowler lead to 15-12.

Apollo's second half dominance lead to a third Eagle touchdown—the game winner—with 5:54 left in the fourth quarter. Tom Rivers fell on a Prowler fumble at the Thief River Falls 14 yard line to set up the score. Thelen carried the ball four straight times before going into the end zone from three yards out. Harlander made the kick as the score jumped to 19-15.

Any Thief River Falls comeback hopes were crushed moments later when Apollo recovered another Prowler fumble—the eighth of the game and the fourth recovered by Apollo—at the visitor's 39.

Apollo ate up most of the remaining time with running plays before Ramler, a polished passer in addition to his obvious running talents, passed 19 yards to Dave Murphy who was wide open in the end zone behind the Prowler secondary. Harlander's kick made it 26-15 with just 33 seconds left.

"We made some blocking adjustments in the second half," explained Apollo coach Bruce Melin. "But the key was out passing game. We got them worried with out passes and that opened up our running game."

Melin felt his squad was "flat" in the first half and gave Thief River Falls credit for "an excellent performance" in the first half.

Thief River Falls did indeed play extremely well in running up a 15-0 lead.

The Prowlers scored on their first offensive possession when Dallmann skirted around right end for 22 yards and a touchdown 4:07 into the game. Dallmann, who also added the placement kick, carred three times on the five play drive, gaining 36 yards. A 15-yard facemask penalty against Apollo aided the march.

Thief River Falls scored again at the outset of the second quarter after a punt by Apollo's Gary Lenter traveled just one yard before going out of bounds at the Prowler 24. Jay Kverno scored the touchdown, picking a hole on the left side and carrying tacklers into the end zone on a six-yard run. Dallmann kept the drive alive one play earlier by exploding off left tackle for a 13-yard gain on a fourth and five situation from the 19. Quarterback Jeff Lindquist passed to fullback Kent Ehrenstrom for the two-point conversion.

LHS Tennis Team Stops Mahnomen, Waubun By 4-1

Lincoln high school girls' tennis team improved its 1975 dual meet season record to 2-1 with a pair of 4-1 wins over Waubun and Mahnomen last week.

Thief River Falls claimed a 4-1 win at Waubun Wednesday in a rescheduled match postponed earlier because of rain. The Prowlers then opened their home season schedule on a successful note by beating Mahnomen 4-1 Saturday.

The Prowlers are scheduled to be back in action today (Monday) with a 4 p.m. encounter against Roseau on the Thief River Falls courts.

Thief River Falls lost only in number three singles at Waubun Wednesday. Marty Minor beat Jo Christopherson 6-2, 6-1 in number one singles and Kris Gibson defeated Nancy Furuseth 6-0, 6-1 in number two singles.

Lori Lundin and Marchelle Cuppett of Thief River Falls downed Sheilia Paul and Laurie Furuseth 6-2, 6-1 in number one doubles while Pam Prichard and Jennifer Pluth of the Prowlers stopped Pam Fabre and Reta Helm 6-0, 6-1 in number two doubles.

Sheila Paul claimed Waubun's only win with a 6-3, 4-6, 7-5 decision over Kris Irvine in number three singles.

Again, it was in number three singles where the Prowlers lost their only points in a 4-1 decision over Mahnomen here Saturday.

Minor beat Sheila Simon 6-0, 6-1 in number one singles and Prichard downed Paula Shunhardt 6-1, 6-1 in number two sin-

THIEF RIVER Falls runningback Jay Kverno was tackled by St. Cloud Apollo defender Gary Lentner after a short gain during Friday night's high school football game played in St. Cloud. Apollo recovered from a 15-0 deficit to post a 26-15 win.

Fergus Falls Tips East Side 14-7 For Early NWAC Lead

Fergus Falls got an early jump on the rest of the Northwest Conference Friday by beating East Grand Forks 14-7 in the 1975 NWAC season opener.

Elsewhere in nonconference play, Crookston blanked West Fargo 28-0, Thief River Falls fell to St. Cloud Apollo 26-15 and Bemidji rocked Minnehaha Academy of Minneapolis 49-7 in a Saturday night game.

Fergus 14, EGF 7

Fergus Falls became the early Northwest Conference leader with a 14-7 win at East Grand Forks.

Runningback Jon Erickson starred for the Otters by rushing for 145 yards and scoring the game-winning touchdown in the third quarter.

Fergus Falls scored in the first quarter on a one-yard dive by Chuck Welle and a conversion kick by Cameron Kolle. East Grand Forks tied the game 7-7 at the start of the third quarter when quarterback Scott Selk passed 37 yards to Rick Beck and Dave Thompson kicked the extra point. Erickson broke the tie later in the same period, however, on a 17-yard run and Kolle added his second one-pointer.

The aggressive Fergus Falls defense held Beck to just one yard rushing after the Green Wave star went well over 100 yards in his first two starts.

Crookston 28, West Fargo 0

Bob Ranum rushed for 139 yards and scored three touchdowns to spark Crookston past West Fargo 28-0.

Joe Friederichs scored the first Pirate touchdown on a three-yard pass from Joel Rood in the first quarter. Jeff Pester added the two-point conversion.

Ranum then took over as he scored on runs of 36 and five yards in the second quarter and added a 15-yard touchdown run in the third stanza. Mike Radi added the two-point conversion after Ranum's first score.

Bemidji 49, Minnehaha 7

Wayne Marty scored three touchdowns to lead Bemidji past out-manned Minnehaha Academy of Minneapolis 49-7 in a Saturday night game at Bemidji.

Bemidji led 21-0 at the first quarter break on runs of 27 and 58 yards by Marty and a 29-yard pass play from Jeff Eidsmoe to Jim Grimm. Gary Hazelton place kicked all three conversion points.

The Lumberjacks added two more touchdowns in the second quarter when Don Dow scored on a one-yard dive and Grim caught a 14-yard scoring pass from Eidsmoe. Hazelton made it five straight successful conversion kicks for a 35-0 halftime bulge.

Eidsmoe passed 10 yards to Jack Schwartz in the third quarter and Marty scored on a 14-yard run in the fourth quarter as Bemidji's lead mounted to 49-0 before Minnehaha Academy got on the scoreboard.

Apollo 26, TRF 15

Thief River Falls squandered a 15-0 second quarter lead and lost to St. Cloud Apollp 26-15.

Doug Dallmann and Jay Kverno scored touchdowns in the first and second quarters, respectively, to give the Prowlers an early lead before Apollo quarterback Don Ramler ran for two touchdowns and passed for another to lead the Eagles to a come-from-behind win.

TRF Wins Crookston Cross Country Meet

Coach Russ Smith's Lincoln high school cross country team opened its 1975 season schedule in impressive fashion Thursday as the Prowlers won top honors in a six-team invitational meet at Crookston.

Thief River Falls won the season-opening event with a low score of 30 points, well ahead of second place Crookston with 59 points. Roseau finished third with 77 points, followed by Clearbrook with 94 and Waubun with 149. Bagley entered four runners in the meet, but the Flyers did not figure in the team scoring.

Dan Kezar of Thief River Falls captured top individual honors with a 15:10 effort over the cool and windy 2.8 mile course.

Steve Wraa of Clearbrook finished second, Andy Schnable of Crookston was third and Ken Larson of Roseau was fourth.

Dan Heieren of Thief River Falls was a fifth place finisher in 15:39, followed by Dan Strom of Clearbrook, Tony Brosseau of Thief River Falls in 15:56, John Albrecht of Thief River Falls in 15:58, Steve Geatz of Thief River Falls in 16:04, Matt Houtkooper of Clearbrook, Henry Carlson of Roseau, Mike Nessen of Thief River Falls in 16:09 and Kevin Culkins of Thief River Falls who finshed 14th in 16:26.

Thief River Falls also took top honors in the B squad portion of the meet with 16 points. Crookston was runner-up in the B squad competition with 52 points.

Thief River Falls runners swept the top four places in the B squad meet as Paul Phelps covered the 2.8 mile distance in 16:09, Kevin Murphy 16:11, Tom Brosseau 16:43 and Dave Glaugue 17:23.

Other Thief River Falls finishers in the B squad meet included Jon Ballingrud who was sixth in 17:47 and Tim Trudeau who was eighth in 18:11.

Thief River Falls will run again tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Prowlers take part in an invitational meet at Bemidji starting at 4:30 p.m. Thief River Falls will also run Thursday in an invitational meet at Grand Forks.

THE BALL sailed out of the reach of St. Cloud Apollo pass receiver Paul Thelen as Thief River Falls defensive back Brian Peterson defended on the play during Friday night's football game played in St. Cloud. Thelen starred on the ground for the Eagles by gaining 77 yards and scoring one touchdown to help spark Apollo to a 26-15 win.

LHS Swim Team Tops Moorhead By 116-86 Score

Lincoln high school girls' swimming team won its second dual meet decision of the 1975 season Thursday with a 116-86 victory over Moorhead in the Franklin middle school pool.

Thief River Falls swimmers won eight of the meet's 13 events. Joan Jury and Deb Williams were both double event winners to spark the Prowler win. Jury won the 50-yard freestyle in 26.9 and captured the 400-yard freestyle in 4:53.7. Williams won the 50-yard breaststroke in 36.9 and took the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:20.8.

Other Thief River Falls winners included Joy Grant with a 2:22.2 in the 200-yard freestyle; Jodi Dallmann with 154.55 points in the diving competition; Marci Pluth with a 1:01.6 in the 100-yard freestyle; and the Prowler 400-yard freestyle relay team of Shelly Lund, Grant, Pluth and Jury in 4:14.8.

Karen Eldevick won two events for Moorhead as she took the 100-yard backstroke in 1:11.9 and captured the 50-yard backstroke in 1:32.8.

Other Moorhead winners included Sue Lysaker with a 2:30.6 in the 200-yard individual medley; Jodi Holte with a 31.6 in the 50-yard butterfly; and the 200-yard medley relay team of Eldevick, Bonnie Hendricks, Holte and Mary McLoed in 2:12.7.

PLUMMER END Dave Walter (80) turned from offensive receiver into a defensive back on this play to keep Goodridge defensive back Randy Tharaldson from intercepting a pass at the Cardinal goal line during Friday night's North Tri County Conference football game. The pass fell incomplete on the play. Plummer won the game 25-16.

Cardinals Win Third Straight Game

Plummer Beats Goodridge 25-16

Four different players scored touchdowns Friday to carry Plummer to a 25-16 North Tri County Conference football win over Goodridge.

Jerry Fisher and John Greenwald scored first quarter touchdowns and Kyle Adolphson and Tom Martell scored in the fourth quarter to give the host Cardinals a 25-0 bulge.

Goodridge quarterback Jim Johnson scored twice near the end of the fourth quarter to narrow the final margin to 25-16. The Cardinals increased their record to 3-0 with the win while the Huskies dropped to 0-3.

Plummer jumped out to a quick 12-0 first quarter lead when the Cardinals recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass and converted both opportunities into points. Fisher scored on a seven-yard run and Greenwald followed with an 18-yard return of a pass interception.

The scoring subsided until the fourth quarter when Adolphson scored on a one-yard plunge and Martell scored from six yards out. Mark Genereux was successful on a conversion kick following Adolphson's touchdown.

Johnson put the Huskies on the scoreboard by scoring on a three-yard run that was followed by a two-yard touchdown minutes later. Johnson scored the two-point conversion after his first touchdown and Randy Haugen added the conversion after the second Goodridge touchdown.

"We moved the ball well at first," explained Plummer coach Gary Brantl, "but we've got lots of work left."

Despite his team's third straight loss, Goodridge coach Ken Ewertz was not displeased with the Huskies' performance: "We played a good solid football game," said Ewertz. "We had three or four good (offensive) drives that were ended with fumbles or other mistakes. I hope we play this good again - without the mistakes."

Plummer totaled 252 yards rushing, headed by a 98-yard effort by Martell on 12 carries. The Cardinals added 74 yards through the air as Fisher connected on five of 18 attempts. Dave Walter caught two passes for 30 yards.

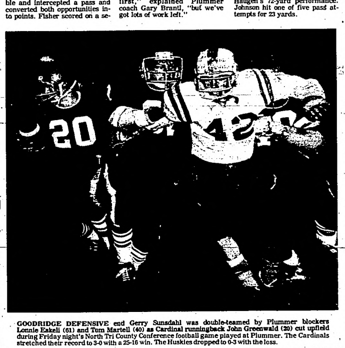
Goodridge finished with 200 yards rushing, sparked by Ryan Haugen's 72-yard performance. Johnson hit one of five pass attempts for 23 yards.

Goodridge racked up 15 first downs, but lost three of four fumbles. "Those fumbles really hurt," pointed out Ewertz.

Nose guard Dan Willett led Plummer's defensive efforts with six tackles and nine assisted stops. Brantl also cited the defensive play of end Steve Rosten and linebackers Todd Gustafson and Carl Torkelson.

Randy Nelson, an offensive and defensive tackle for the Huskies, was cited for his outstanding play by Ewertz.

Plummer will try to extend its winning streak to four games Friday when the Cardinals host Grygla in an 8 p.m. North Tri County Conference game. Goodridge will host Erskine Friday at 7 p.m. in the Huskies' 1975 homecoming game.



GOODRIDGE DEFENSIVE end Gerry Sunsdahl was double-teamed by Plummer blockers Lonnie Eskeli (61) and Tom Martell (40) as Cardinal runningback John Greenwald (20) cut upfield during Friday night's North Tri County Conference football game played at Plummer. The Cardinals stretched their record to 3-0 with a 25-16 win. The Huskies dropped to 0-3 with the loss.

Hunting, Fishing Day Scheduled On September 27

National hunting and fishing day will be observed in Minnesota Sat. Sept. 27, coinciding with the national observance, the department of natural resources announced recently. The Minnestoa DNR is coordinating the state's NHF day effort.

This year will mark the fourth annual observance of national hunting and fishing day, proclaimed in recognition of the many contributions that America's hunters and fishermen have made to conservation and outdoor recreation. Another major objective of NHF Day is to involve Minnesota's youth and the general public in environmental needs in their communities.

DNR said the three prior observances of NHF day in Minnesota have been highly successful 'thanks to the strong grassroots support that has been provided by the state's sportsmen's clubs and conservation groups," and anticipates continued strong support this year.

Individuals, organizations and groups are urged to become involved in this year's NHF observance through community programs, including participation by rod and gun clubs or local conservation groups in holding 'open house' to the public on Sat., Sept. 27.

DNR is mailing full-color wildlife and hunting posters to all junior and senior high schools in the state, and has film-strips and slide presentations available to participating groups or organizations.

Charles A. Wechsler of DNR, chairman of Minnesota's NHF day observance, points out that "hunters and fishermen have always been the leaders in nearly every conservation cause. They were the first to decry the rampant destruction of wetlands, forests and fields, because they were the first to witness these environmental abuses. Hunters and fishermen willingly contributed their time and money.

Multiple Use

Several years ago the theme of national wildlife week was "multiple use". When we forbid harvesting of a forest; we are ignoring that principle.

A forest, properly harvested will provide browse for wildlife. With no browse the deer will disappear. This may well happen in the boundary waters canoe area (BWCA) in northeastern Minnesota.

In an effort to maintain or create a true wilderness, people must be kept out. Several years ago Dick Stroud of the sport fishing institute of America took a fishing trip in the boundary waters canoe area of Ely. He saw so much garbage that he wrote a report under the title of "wilderness slums". About that same time during a visit to Ely, a Forester said to me: "I am no longer a forester; I'm a garbage man."

Muskie Story

We haven't had any muskie rampages this summer, but muskie fishing has been good. For instance, Larry Buster of Walker, along with Bill Collins and Barry Shlaes of Moline, Illinois, caught three on Leech Lake. Larry caught one weighing 22 pounds, Barry's weighed 18 pounds, 9 ounces and Bill boated one weighing 14 pounds, 8 ounces.

Don Wendt of Grand Rapids lists reported a muskie weighing 26 pounds, 12 ounces caught by Orville Viland of Blue Earth in Big Winnie. Bill Prichert of Ball Club, caught a muskie weighing 28 pounds, 6 ounces in the Little Fork River.

Sunfish Lake

Charlie Sinks of the St. Paul Pioneer Press fishing contest whispers to us that Lake Osakis is producing some excellent blue gill catches.

Non N.D. Resident Waterfowl Forms Now Available

North Dakota game and fish department has announced it is now accepting applications for non resident waterfowl hunting licenses.

Application forms are available at the department's central office at 2121 Lovett avenue, Bismarck, 58505; or from department field men and at most stores where hunting equipment is sold.

The 1975 North Dakota legislature passed a law creating a non-resident waterfowl license, good for a period of only 10 consecutive days, and restricting the hunter to one of eight zones in the eastern part of the state.

Persons holding a permit for one of the eight zones may also hunt in zone nine.

Catfish Hunter Heads National Hunt, Fish Day

Jim "Catfish" Hunter, star pitcher of the New York Yankees, and one of the nation's most celebrated hunters and fishermen will serve as honorary chairman of national hunting and fishing day, September 27.

"I've been aware of national hunting and fishing day for some time and I am certainly in total agreement with what the day is trying to do—to show all Americans that there is more to hunting and fishing than guns and fishing poles," Hunter said in accepting the position. "Hunting and fishing are an important part of conservation in America. Not many people know that sportsmen provide the American conservation movement with more money than any other group—about $250 million a year." He commented that $250 million a year is even more than some baseball players earn.

"On national hunting and fishing day, millions will learn what they can do to insure clean lakes and streams in the decades ahead," Hunter explained. "Participants in NHF Day programs will have an opportunity not only to learn to cast or shoot. They'll learn how to enjoy the outdoors while helping to conserve our natural resources for future generations. Basically, that's what national hunting and fishing day is about and I'm happy to be part of it as honorary national chairman," Hunter concluded.

Hunter also helped announce a special national hunting and fishing day program at Shea Stadium for September 27. The special pre-game ceremonies, entitled "the Yankees salute national hunting and fishing day," will feature various action demonstrations and several award presentations including New York state dignitaries and national personalities including Karen Petersen, Miss Teenage America.

September 27, 1975 will mark the fourth annual national hunting and fishing day. Over 45 million people in all 50 states have participated in the three prior observances, which were approved unanimously by both houses of congress and officially proclaimed by the president.

Ness Passes Middle River Past Grygla 28-8 Friday

Middle River broke open a tight ball game with two touchdowns in the final minutes of the fourth quarter Friday afternoon to hand Grygla a 28-8 North Tri County Conference football setback.

The host Eagles trailed the heavily favored Skippers just 14-8 late in the final quarter before Middle River quarterback Elwin Ness broke the game wide open by passing for one touchdown and running for another.

Ness was the game's individual star as he put on a passing display that found the Skipper signal caller connecting on 14 of 29 attempts for 175 yards and two touchdowns.

Middle River scored first when Ness passed 12 yards to Rick Rantanen.

Grygla led at the first quarter break, though, as Tom Olson scored on a seven-yard run and also added the two-point conversion for an 8-6 Eagle edge.

Middle River led 14-8 at halftime after Mike Ness scored from a yard out in the second quarter. Ness then passed to Terry Peterson for the conversion points.

A strong Grygla defensive effort kept the Eagles within striking range of the Skippers throughout all of the third quarter and most of the fourth stanza before Ness scored on a six-yard end sweep around the left side. Ness followed with touchdown with a two-point conversion pass to Mike Carriere.

Moments later Ness led the Skippers to another touchdown, this time hitting Rantanen with a 45-yard scoring pass.

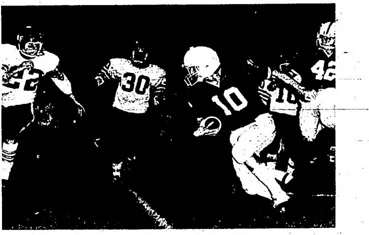
"The pass really hurt us," admitted Grygla coach Jerry Lindstrom. While the Skippers were striking for 175 yards through the air Grygla managed just 18 yards on three completions in eight attempts for Eagle quarterback Gary Satre.

Grygla rushed for 149 yards while Middle River added 105 yards on the ground. Grygla lost three fumbles, but compensated for the losses with three interceptions. Middle River was slowed down by a whopping 130 yards in penalties. Grygla was penalized for 60 yards.

Despite his team's second loss in three games, Lindstrom found reason to be pleased Friday. "We're going to win some games if we play like we did in the first half," he said. "We really physically beat those guys in the first half."

Lindstrom cited his entire offensive line for an outstanding effort in the first half. The Eagles' blockers included Kurt Hermanson, Tony Moe, Wayne Thomas, Dwight Rud, Jeff Stanley and Lee Saurdiff. In addition, Lindstrom pointed out strong running by halfbacks Tom Olson and Gordie Moe who combined for 100 yards on the ground before intermission. Saurdiff, Arlo Hagen and Satre, who intercepted two passes, played well on defense, said Lindstrom.

Grygla will play an 8 p.m. game at Plummer Friday.



ST. CLOUD Apollo quarterback Don Ramler kept his balance after side-stepping one would-be tackler and then out-raced Thief River Falls defenders Jay Kverno (22) and Kent Ehrenstrom (30) to score on a 16-yard run at the end of the third quarter during Friday night's nonconference football game at St. Cloud. Ramler scored twice to spark the Eagles to a 26-15 come-from-behind win over the Prowlers.

Warroad Beats Newfolden 22-14 With Ground Game

Warroad runningbacks Dave O'Donnell and Nick Swanson sparked a ground-gobbling Warrior offensive Friday that led to a 22-14 Top of the State Conference football win over Marshall County Central-Newfolden.

O'Donnell and Swanson did most of the damage as the Warriors rushed for 289 yards. The two offensive stars also scored one touchdown apiece as Warroad jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the third quarter.

O'Donnell scored the only touchdown of the first half when he went six yards for a second period score.

Swanson scored on a one-yard dive in the third quarter, a touchdown that was followed by a two-point conversion carry by O'Donnell for a 14-0 cushion.

The visiting Newfolden ball club battled back to tie the game 14-14 in the fourth quarter on touchdowns by Bob Tunheim and Duane Floberg. Tunheim scored on an eight-yard pass from quarterback Jeff Sorenson. Floberg scored on a three-yard run after adding the two-point conversion following Tunheim's touchdown.

Warroad's Joe Knutson broke the tie and made Warroad the winner when he sprinted 28 yards for a touchdown late in the final quarter. Swanson then added the two-point conversion to wrap up the scoring.

Newfolden very nearly had a chance to tie the game in the final moments when a perfectly-thrown Sorenson pass was dropped by the intended receiver who was in the open behind the Warroad secondary.

"We moved the ball well when we had it," said a Newfolden spokesman, "but Warroad kept the ball most of the first half." The Warriors' ground-orientated offense permitted Newfolden just 11 plays from scrimmage in the first half.

Newfolden finished with 122 yards rushing, 91 of those being supplied by Floberg. Sorenson connected on nine of 17 pass attempts for 96 yards. Rick Waterworth caught four passes for 56 yards. Warroad added just 15 yards through the air on one completion in five attempts. The Warriors finished with a 21-11 first down advantage.

Newfolden, 1-2 for the year, will return to action Friday when the Nordics host a strong Roseau team at 7:30 p.m. in an important Top of the State Conference clash.

Camp Ripley Deer Hunting Dates Are Announced

Department of natural resources announced that it has received approval from the state adjutant general's office to again hold an archery deer hunt within the Camp Ripley military reservation.

As in past years, hunting is restricted to designated areas. The hunt is scheduled to open November 1 and run through November 30 but could be shortened if impassable roads or other unforeseen problems arise, a DNR spokesman said.

Camp Ripley is located seven miles north of Little Falls. This year the season is being held concurrent with the firearms season.

DNR personnel will select the hunting zones, operate the check station, and conduct the hunt in a manner similar to those held previous years. All archers will enter and leave Camp Ripley via the railroad gate near the Mississippi river bridge.

Archers will be allowed to hunt each day of the special season, but use of the Camp Ripley campground will be restricted to weekends from noon on Fridays until sundown on Sundays.

No firearms of any type may be transported into Camp Ripley by archers or personnel accompanyiny them.

Off-road vehicles such as trail-bikes, motor-bikes, all-terrain vehicles and snowmobiles are not permitted in the Camp Ripley hunting areas. The use of standard four-wheel-drive vehicles will be allowed, however.

No open fires are allowed except in the campground. Archers will be registered at the checkpoint and can expect strict enforcement of all applicable laws and regulations.

Maps and regulations will be available after October 1, at the regional wildlife office, P.O. Box 648, Brainerd, 56401; and the DNR section of wildlife, 390 Centennial office building, St. Paul, 55155.

Card of Thanks
The family of the Walter Becklunds wish to thank everyone who visited Hilda at the hospital, both in Karlstad and Thief River Falls, for the cards and flowers that were sent, to the doctors and nurses for their care, to Pastors Earl Eveland and Clifford Anderson for their comfort and message of God's love and care.
Thank you too to those that had a part in the memorial service: Mrs. Carroll Lindstrom, organist; Glenn Espe and Floyd Hanson, vocalists; the pallbearers for their help;–and the ladies aid that served lunch. And to all who sent flowers and memorials, words just can not express our thanks to you all.
Again, thanks to all!
The Walter Becklund Family
1t72p

Card of Thanks
We would like to extend a note of thanks to all of our friends and neighbors who remembered us with prayers and sympathy. Also to those who gave memorials in memory of our beloved wife, mother, and grandmother. Thank you to Mrs. Roy Norby and Mrs. Rodney Anderson for their beautiful songs, to Clara circle for serving lunch and to the pallbearers. Also to those who brought food to our home. A special thank you to Pastor Uden for his words of comfort. God bless you all.

Card of Thanks
The family of the Walter Becklunds wish to thank everyone who visited Hilda at the hospital, both in Karlstad and Thief River Falls, for the cards and flowers that were sent, to the doctors and nurses for their care, to Pastors Earl Eveland and Clifford Anderson for their comfort and message of God's love and care.
Thank you too to those that had a part in the memorial service: Mrs. Carroll Lindstrom, organist; Glenn Espe and Floyd Hanson, vocalists; the pallbearers for their help; and the ladies aid that served lunch. And to all who sent flowers and memorials, words just can not express our thanks to you all.
Again, thanks to all!
The Walter Becklund Family
1t72p

Card of Thanks
We would like to extend a note of thanks to all of our friends and neighbors who remembered us with prayers and sympathy. Also to those who gave memorials in memory of our beloved wife, mother, and grandmother. Thank you to Mrs. Roy Norby and Mrs. Rodney Anderson for their beautiful songs, to Clara circle for serving lunch and to the pallbearers. Also to those who brought food to our home. A special thank you to Pastor Uden for his words of comfort. God bless you all.

Farm Windbreak Planting Goes On

One of the nation's most famous planting programs, the Great Plains shelterbelt program of the 1930's, is still flourishing in spirit today through efforts of local soil and water conservation districts and the U.S. soil conservation service (SCS).

Harry M. Major, SCS state conservationist in Minnesota, reported today that farmers planted 1.5 million trees during the 1975 fiscal year which ended June 30.

The trees are planted as windbreaks along the edges of fields and around homes and farm buildings to control soil erosion and offer protection from blowing snow in the winter and the hot winds of summer.

"We have been hearing recently," says Major, "about removal of windbreaks planted during the Dust Bowl of the 1930's, and to a certain extent, this is taking place. But to keep things in perspective, more trees are being planted than removed in the prairie areas of Minnesota."

Major pointed out that nearly all of the soil and water conservation districts in the prairie areas of the state were overwhelmed with requests for trees for windbreaks this spring.

"January's blizzard of the century was a graphic illustration for farmers of the value of windbreaks," he said.

"Windbreaks prevent blowing snow from drifting around a farmer's home and buildings. A well-placed farmstead windbreak can reduce home heating costs by 30 per cent," Major said.

SCS and local soil and water conservation districts assisted approximately 1,000 Minnesota farmers plant the two-acre farmstead windbreaks last fall and spring.

In addition, the state's farmers planted about 300 miles of trees—enough to stretch from Minneapolis to the tip of Minnesota at Grand Portage—as field windbreaks.

"The primary purpose of field windbreaks," said Major, "is to reduce the velocity of wind blowing across a field, thereby reducing the amount of soil that will blow off the field." A windbreak can reduce a 30 mile-per-hour wind to 10 or 15 miles per hour on the downwind side of the trees.

Roy Boman, who farms 3,000 acres near Twin Valley, planted a dozen windbreaks on the sandier sections of his farm about 10 years ago. His main prupose was to keep the soil from blowing.

Says Boman, who apparently had his own small dust bowl: "Ten years ago the sand would blow so bad here you couldn't see where you were. It never blows now."

Boman says his sunflower yields have increased tremendously since he planted the windbreaks. "The trees keep the hot wind from burning the crop out," he said.

Other advantages that field and farmstead windbreaks can bring to a landowner include:

—Greater yields in hot, sandy areas because the windbreaks conserve soil moisture and reduce the effect of hot winds on crops;

—Protection for livestock and humans from cold winds and blowing snow;

—More efficient irrigation because the windbreaks keep the water from blowing as it comes out of the sprinkler, thus allowing for a more uniform sprinkling;

—Nesting habitat and cover for birds, deer and other wildlife; and —A source of beauty in rural areas. The trees used in windbreaks can grow 80 feet tall and live up to 60 years.

A farmstead windbreak on the Jim Veenhuis farm in Murray County consists of rows of young and mature trees.

Potato Price Information Now Available

UMC To Begin Evening Courses September 22

University of Minnesota technical college - Crookston (UMC) will offer several evening courses beginning the week of September 22 and continuing through the week of October 20. Courses are designed particularly for persons who may not attend college on a regular basis but who are interested in special areas. Courses may be taken for either credit or non-credit.

Agriculture division is offering three evening courses. A meat selection course designed for homemakers who want quality meat at the most economical price will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday evenings. The class will meet in Hill 215 and the cost is $15.75.

Josie Bartlett will offer instruction in Western riding from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday and Wednesday evenings. Students will meet at Jorgenson's riding arena six miles west of Crookston. One credit may be earned, and the cost is $15.75.

A one-credit course in range management will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. Monday evenings. Cost is $15.75 and the class will meet in Owen 215.

Tuesday evening typewriting clinic will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m. Tuesdays at Dowell 202. Class cost is $15.75.

The hotel, restaurant and institutional management divisionis offering two evening classes. On Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. students can learn the art of gourmet cooking and entertaining in the home. Cost is $25 and the class will meet in Dowell 212.

A Thursday evening course in Dowell 212 will deal with the art of mixology and beverage hosting in the home. Cost is $25.

To register for any of the evening courses, call 281-6510, extension 241 between 8 and 4:30, or write UMC, registrar's office, Crookston 56716. Senior citizens are reminded that they may enroll for any class free of charge for no credit on a space available basis. Registration for seniors may be completed at the first class session.

Area Students On Dean's List At Moorhead State

Names of students who qualified for the latest dean's list at Moorhead state college by virtue of their scholastic grades earned during the spring quarter have just been announced by Dr. Robert Hanson, vice president for academic affair.

Undergraduate students from Thief River Falls who earned a grade point average of 3.25 (B plus) or better while carrying 14 credit hours or more are: Brian Boman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Boman; Brenda Burger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Burger; Timothy Carlson; Christopher Corliss, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Corliss; Connie Dahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Dahl; Mark Engelstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Engelstad; and Thomas Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lamarr Hanson.

Also Jo Oen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oen; Darrold Rodahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Rodahl; Craig Rustad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rustad; Rita Sackett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Sackett; Katherine Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Wengeler; Kathleen Wald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wald; and Gloriann Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Larson.

126th Historical Society Annual Meeting Slated

Annual meeting of the Minnesota historical society, its 126th, dedicated to a celebration of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution and scheduled September 26 and 27, will note not the anniversary of a war but, as John Adams wrote to Thomas Jefferson, "The Revolution . . . in the minds of the people . . . before a drop of blood was shed at Lexington."

The day-long formal program will focus on the 200 years since the founding of our still-enduring form of government—the oldest existing form of government on the face of the earth. It will be directed to those intangibles which affected not only the original thirteen colonies but all the states which followed this first successful revolution by a people.

Prof. Wallace Brown, a Canadian, will discuss what he chooses to call the "Good Americans" (Loyalists) and America's "First Civil War" (The Revolution). Dr. Linda K. Kerber will explore the role of American women in the Revolution and, not incidentally, the revolution in American women. Prof. William E. Lass will speak on the boundary with Canada, formed in confusion following a bitter war but proven to be the most enduring and peaceful border in history. James H. O'Donnell finds a new definition for the word "revolution" in his discussion of the impact of European settlement on the New World's first settlers, the American Indians.

The keynote address will be presented by Dr. Pauline Maier, a native of Minnesota, who asks the question, "How Could the American Revolution Have Happened?" She will note that the familiar reasons usually given do not tell the whole story when considered in the context of the times and when compared with the conditions and expectations of the rest of the 18th century world.

The area that became Minnesota, the state, was a virtually unexplored wilderness when the American colonies were fighting for their independence, but the Eastern seaboard upheavals nevertheless defined the future of the wilderness. The Minnesota scene, from 1776 to the present and into the future, will be the theme of a panel discussion featuring John Parker, Carlton C. Qualey and John E. Brandl. The day's formal program will conclude with an address by Robert A. DeForrest, who will provide an Afro-American perspective on the Bicentennial and what it means to America's minorities.

Following the annual banquet, Dudley Riggs' Brave New Workshop will lighten the day's thought-provoking program with a satirical look at America through a presentation entitled "Who Will Buy the Bicentennial?"

Many Minnesota Names Are From Indian Tribes

Some of the most beautiful names of places in Minnesota have come to us from the Indians, reports the Minnesota American Revolution Bicentennial commission. The Indian names from the southern part of the state have come from the Sioux or Dakota Indians; those in the northern part are Chippewa or Ojibway.

The name of our state is a Sioux name which means "sky-colored water."

Several Minnesota counties have Sioux names. Dakota county was named for the Sioux, or Dakota Indians themselves. Anoka county was named for the town of Anoka, which means "both sides." It was given to the town because it lies on both sides of the Rum river. Kandiyohi county took its name from Kandiyohi lake, a Sioux word meaning "where the buffalo fish come."

Winona county was named for a Sioux woman. Winona was the name given to the first female baby born into a Sioux family. If the first baby was a boy, he was named Chaska which is the name of a town in Carver county.

Some Minnesota counties that have Chippewa names are Kanabec, Koochiching, Mahnomen and Wadena. Mahnomen is the Chippewa word which means "wild rice." The name Chisago is the Chippewa term for "lovely" and Keewatin is the Chippewa word which means "north wind."

"Our appreciation of the beautiful names given to us by the American Indian shows the true Spirit of '76," the commission adds.

Entries Open For MR Parade

A parade is being planned in Middle River for Friday, October 3, at 4 p.m. to celebrate three days of activities for the community's "Old West Days and Goose Festival". Prizes will be awarded for six categories including commercial entries, antique vehicles, bands and marching units, horses, kiddies and the best overall entry.

All parade entries from the surrounding area will be appreciated. Persons wishing to enter may contact Don Blazek, Middle River, before Sept. 20.

Application Due Oct. 1 For Miss Teenage Pageant

Teen girls from Thief River Falls and the surrounding area who are interested in participating in the Miss Teenage Minnesota event to be held in Minneapolis, October 18-19 are urged to secure their applications soon as forms must be returned to pageant headquarters by October 1.

State candidates will be judged on scholastic achievement, talent, poise and personality and may secure applications by writing to Miss Teenage Minnesota Pageant; Box 17178; rice street station; St. Paul, Minnesota 55117.

Economists Urge Short Term Wage Price Control

Two Minnesota agricultural economists suggest short term wage and price guidelines and controls in certain key sectors of the economy plus measures to reduce large firms' and strong labor unions' powers in raising prices and wages.

University of Minnesota economists John D. Helmberger and John J. Waelti say "monopoly power in key sectors of the economy" is a major force "stymying government economic policy." The guidelines and controls are needed for the government to successfully pursue policies to bring about the level of spending consistent with full employment and stable prices, they add.

Too much spending generates inflation, while too little generates unemployment. The "right" amount of spending to generate full employment without inflation will not occur without government policy, the two economists say.

The economy is not competitive enough to permit stimulating demand (buying) to increase employment without permitting inflation. So certain non-competitive elements in the economy appear basically responsible for price increases in the face of substantial unemployment, Helmberger and Waelti say.

"Many, if not most people, apparently still believe that the government, faced with the public's unwillingness to accept a deep recession, will give up dampening demand and stimulate it instead. This explains why they continue to increase prices in the face of inadequate demand. Given the Ford administration's avowed determination to check inflation and the President's resistance to Congressional attempts to stimulate demand, the public may give up this belief and business and labor may stop increasing prices. If so, our demand-dampening monetary and fiscal policies may check inflation. However, with (government) policy restrictive enough to check inflation, the cost in terms of lost production and unemployment will be great," the economists say.

Courses Offered For Non-Credit At Bemidji State

A variety of non-credit courses, ranging in subject matter from beginning judo to advanced cake decorating, will be offered through Bemidji state university during evenings this fall quarter.

Held in a variety of locations in Bemidji and Park Rapids, the preliminary fall course list has been expanded to encompass 34 different offerings.

The courses, which carry a minimal fee, are being offered during the early evening to accomodate adults and children who might wish to participate in the program. Advanced registration is encouraged.

Senior citizens, 62 years and over, are admitted free of charge to all non-credit classes at BSU.

More information on the offerings is available by contacting Mrs. Ida Geittman, Area Services Office, Bemidji state university, 775-3996.

Repair Costs Of 1975 Model Vehicles Rise

In line with increases in the initial cost of new 1975 automobiles and the gasoline and maintenance required to run them, substantial increases in insurance claim frequency and cost of repair for the new models has also been cited, according to a report received by the Minnesota department of public safety.

A study of insurance collision claims for damage to 1975 model cars from the Highway Loss Data Institute shows that in all seven vehicle market classes—sub-compact, compact, intermediate, full size, luxury, specialty and expensive specialty—consistent increases in loss payments resulted in an average loss payment per claim of $596.

The initial 1975 results also showed that, although increases were large in all seven market classes, sub compacts compared poorly with the other market classes by showing the highest average loss payment per claim. Six different makes of sub compacts reflected an average loss payment of $690, a 30 per cent increase over comparable 1974 models.

The large increases in loss payments, according to the report, were expected for the 1975 models since the cost of crash repair parts has been increasing at a rate far greater than the consumer price index and other economic indicators.

Sub compacts were followed by expensive specialty and luxury cars in highest average loss payments. The lowest average loss payment was in the full size class ($541 average claim) followed by intermediates, compacts and specialty classes.

$55,000 Goal Is Set By United Way Monday

To achieve its goal of helping people, the board of directors of the Pennington county United Way adopted a campaign goal of $55,000 at its regular meeting Monday at Northwestern hospital services in Thief River Falls.

"To achieve this goal we will need to increase our participation and overall level of giving," stated Larry White, chairman of the board. "Every wage earner will be asked to make a contribution." Board members made their pledges at the meeting to serve as a pace setter for the campaign.

Business area drive will begin October 1 and will be completed by October 11, according to Art Heinze, executive secretary of the United Way. A brief and concentrated effort will be made to complete the solicitation.

Board members viewed the slide presentation which has been prepared for showing to various organizations and businesses in the community to show how the United Way helps people. Audit report and bonding were discussed as was the 1975 United Way campaign.

Red Cross Will Benefit From TRF United Way

Of the $1,000 allocated to the American Red Cross from the Thief River Falls United Way campaign conducted during 1974, $500 was used for local services including disaster assistance, water safety programs, first aid training and servicemen assistance.

Art Heinze, executive secretary of the Thief River Falls United Way, noted that the American Red Cross is being included in the participating organizations for the 1975 fund campaign which will begin October 1. Local officers administer the programs of the organization in the Thief River Falls community.

Steve Stokke serves as treasurer of the local American Red Cross chapter while Charles Samuelson is first aid representative, J.K. Stadum is in charge of military assistance and Nancy Fellman handles the swimming and water safety program. Red Cross furnished supplies, instructional course, cards and standardization for the local swimming program.

Local chapter of the American Red Cross is authorized to make an allocation in case of a family losing its home to fire, and for providing overnight lodging, meals for one or two days and a change of clothing for an entire family. Any disaster that affects more than five families is referred to the national organization for assistance.

Scout's Own Set By Girl Scouts At Camp MOE

On September 27 the Thief River Falls neighborhood Girl Scouts, will be having a Scout's Own at Camp MOE from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Each leader is responsible for the transportation of her troop.

Volunteers are needed on Saturday, September 20 and-or Sunday, September 21 to paint four buildings at Camp MOE. Persons able to help, may contact Mrs. Mary Broten at 681-6606 or Mrs. Barb Thompson at 681-3345.

City Election Filing To Open

Filings for five Thief River Falls city offices will open on Tuesday, September 23, and remain open for two weeks, closing on Tuesday, October 7, according to Jerry Wigness, city clerk. The city election will be held on Tuesday, November 4.

City officials whose terms expire include Robert Carlson, mayor; Roger Worth, first ward alderman; Ambrose Wysoski, third ward alderman; Milton Reierson, fifth ward alderman; and Arnold Narverud, alderman at large.

The term of mayor is for two years and the council positions are for four-year terms. Mayor Carlson has indicated he will file for reelection and aldermen Worth and Wysoski also expressed an intention to seek another term. Worth has served for two years under an appointment and Wysoski has 12 years of service on the council. Aldermen Reierson and Narverud could not be contacted for comment.

YOUTH DELEGATES to the Long Lake conservation center compared notes Tuesday evening prior to making a report to the sponsoring board of supervisors of the Pennington soil and water conservation district. Jim Courneya, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Courneya, and Tom Brosseau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Brosseau, attended the camp July 13-24 under sponsorship of the local SWCD. Their report Tuesday included a summary of activities and learning experiences at the camp and answering questions asked by members of the board of supervisors.

CCD Teachers At St. Bernard's Learn New Plan

Workshop on "The First Steps to Open Classroom in the Church" was conducted by Sister Mary Martin Tuesday at St. Bernard's Catholic church for teachers in the eighth and ninth grades of the church's CCD program.

The workshop was designed to introduce to the CCD teachers the concept of open education in the church. Each participant was given an opportunity to experience the program by visiting learning centers arranged in the church library. Following the two-hour workshop, teachers were expected to be able to explain the concept of open education, describe what is meant by a learning center and design an effective learning center to be used in the teacher's class.

Open education was defined by Sister Mary Martin as a teaching situation in which children are left free to learn in their own ways at their own speeds but within a carefully planned structure. A teacher's role in the open classroom is not simply that of passing information to children. Instead it is a matter of providing many varied learning experiences for children and guiding them as they teach themselves.

The learning center is an area in a classroom containing a selection of activities and materials used to teach, reinforce and enrich a skill or concept. Fundamental principles of philosophy and psychology that underlie a change from traditional classrooms to open classrooms are as follows:

(1) Each child is understood and appreciated as a unique person;

(2) Children learn from experience and from active participation in exploration of their environment;

(3) Children learn at different rates;

(4) Children learn through different styles.

Sister Mary Martin explained that students enjoy their work to a greater degree and put more of themselves into it when they have opportunities to make choices about what they will do. Use of tapes, pictures, posters and other medial can be employed and students can work individually, in small groups or as a total group.

Nelson, Peterson Given Scholastic Recognition

Frank Hamerlinck, principal at Lincoln high school, has announced that two students have been named semi-finalists in the 1976 National Merit scholarship program. They are Kari Nelson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Nelson, and James Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson.

Kari and James are among 15,000 students who will continue in competition for about 3,800 Merit Scholarships to be awarded next spring.

Over one million students from more than 17,000 high schools entered the 1976 merit program by taking the 1974 preliminary scholastic aptitude test-national merit scholarship qualifying test (PSAT-NMSQT). The semifinalists are the highest-scoring students in each state and

Story On Census Inaccurate On Fund Allocation

In the Times story Monday on the unofficial results of the special Pennington county census, incorrect references were made to a $42 per capita increase in "federal state aid" allocations to the county because of the new population totals. The story further stated that allocation formulas for these funds are set in Washington, D.C.

Actually, the funds referred to are strictly state aid, not federal, and allocation formulas are set in St. Paul, not Washington. Increased federal aid to the county will be reflected in other programs, such as revenue sharing.

Dr. Magrath Is Guest Of T.R.F. Alumni Ass'n.

Thief River Falls Chapter of the University of Minnesota alumni association recently hosted the president of the university, Dr. C. Peter Magrath and his wife, Sandra, at a dinner at the Thief River golf club. The regent from this district, L. J. Lee of Bagley and Dr. Ronald Abraham, head of the agricultural extension service, were also honored guests.

Dr. Magrath stated that 70,000 students, are enrolled on the university campuses this fall. One-third of the annual budget is appropriated by the state legislature and the other two thirds are received from tuition and fees, grants from the federal government, research grants and the like.

The university president said that the place of community colleges such as Northland is an important one in the state's higher education system. There is currently a proposal to abolish the board of regents and merge the university, the state university system and the community college system into a "super board".

Regent L. J. Lee stated that our rural representation is less in the state legislature, due to growth in the metropolitan area. We must, therefore, have a joint effort in this area to support colleges in northwestern Minnesota.

The large group was served products of northern Minnesota, including turkey canoes, wild rice and ice cream. Darlene Mortenson was in charge of dinner arrangements. Ruth Goodrich and Betty Benson made the calico flower centerpieces. A gift entitled, "A Snowmobiling Farmer and His Wife" was presented to the Magraths from the club. It was designed and crafted by Inez Mostue.

Master of ceremonies for the dinner was Dr. Orion Beich, and the invocation was given by Rev. James Bernauer. Kathy Barron played piano music throughout the dinner. Thomas Kenville loaned the cars that were used during the visit and Sylvia Hustad and Karen Lehr were in charge of the tickets.

While Dr. Magrath and regent Lee were being interviewed, the ladies were given a tour of the Pennington historical village by Inga Geving, Mrs. Arthur Rambeck, and Mrs. Paul Furuseth. They presented the guests with baskets of fresh flowers grown at the village.

Officers of the local club are Dr. Tom Dimich, president; James Fremstad, vice president; Gretchen Beito, secretary-treasurer; Linda Bentson, Bill Kottke and Wayne Odegaard, directors. The chapter annually presents a scholarship to a graduate of Northland community college who will attend the University of Minnesota.

Housing Group Receives Grant

Multi-county housing authority has received a $1.2 million federal grant to provide rent subsidies for low-income and moderate-income families.

The five-year grant, administered by the U.S. housing and urban development (HUD) office, is directed to 120 families in the counties to allow them to remain in their community, said Bill Seeger, executive director of the multi-county HRA. The families are required to pay a maximum of 25 per cent of their monthly income toward the rent and utilities.

Lower-income families with large families or exceptionally high medical expenses will pay about 15 per cent of their income toward the rent.

Bill Seeger says for more information write the Multi-County Housing, Box 1522, Mentor, MN. 56736.

35 Evening Classes Offered At AVTI

RETIREMENT GIFT was presented to Elton C. Cummings, former Thief River Falls chief of police and later special investigator for the department, at a party held Tuesday evening at the Elks club rooms. Cummings, who is now employed as an investigator for the Pennington and Red Lake county welfare departments, served as chief of police for 16 years and since 1970 was special investigator for the department. He was presented with a radio by Sgt. Irving Swanson "so you can still listen to us talk" on the police band monitor.

Thirty-five courses in the adult evening program of the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute are being offered during the fall session, according to Richard Berry, associate director of the institute.

Although several of the courses officially started Monday and Tuesday nights, Berry emphasized that most classes still have openings and enrollment will be accepted at the next class session. Classes for which sufficient starting enrollment has not been received will also be held open for the second week to determine additional interest, he added.

The only classes filled at present are a Monday evening class in auto body repair taught by Roger Rivera, a Monday evening class in homemaking for mentally retarded adults taught by Linda Skaja and a Tuesday evening class in woodworking for mentally retarded adults taught by Fred Ballou and Larry Golden.

Berry said that he plans to initiate a number of new course offerings during the second week of October in addition to the 35 courses being offered at the present time.

While most of the courses offered have a fee ranging from $10 to $30 (with the exception of aviation courses which have higher fees), the fees are waived for senior citizens 60 years of age and older or unemployed persons who can produce a mail claim address card from the state employment service.

The adult evening program is presented as a service to the people under the direction of the board of education of School District 564. Use of school facilities for adult education classes increases the utilization of buildings and equipment and provides a greater return on the taxpayers' investment.

Classes which will open tonight at 7 p.m. include the following, with name of the class, meeting place, fee and instructor listed respectively;

Introduction to Crafts, AVTI cafeteria, $10, Roberta Weigand; Office Machines, AVTI room 107, $10, Terry Lemer; Fashion History, AVTI room 101, $20 (10½ weeks), Jeanne Hildebrandt; Multi-Media Standard First Aid Course Certification, AVTI room 103, $5, Gene Danielson; Speed Tailoring, Lincoln high school room 111, 120, Lois Steiger;

Sandy Hursman - B. Smith Vows Spoken At Trinity

Miss Sandy L. Hursman and Barry C. Smith of Largo, Fla., exchanged marriage vows recently at Trinity Lutheran church in this city.

Rev. Bruce Anderson, pastor of the Goodridge Lutheran parish, officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Arnold Hammer was the organist and also sang "Because." She also accompanied the bride's cousin Cindy Hursman as she sang, "Colour My World.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hursman of Goodridge. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Smith of Clearwater, Fla.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a white silk gown featuring a full cathedral train with a side border of crocheted lace. Matching lace formed the long, fitted sleeves and the deep yoke, edged with pearl embroidered ruffles. A sheer overlay appliqued with lace motifs and pearls enhanced the empire waisted skirt. Her floor-length veil was held by a white lace Juliet headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, white carnations and babies' breath.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Colleen Hursman. Bridesmaids were Shari Hursman, sister of the bride, and Susanne Smith, sister of the groom. Their floor-length blue dotted Swiss gowns, lined in blue crepe, were fashioned with sweetheart necklines, short puffy sleeves and self fabric ties, caught at the side front seams. A lower ruffle encircled the skirt. The gowns were complemented by white picture hats with blue ribbons. Each attendant carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Serving as flower girl was Kathy Van Steenvoort, a friend of the bride. Her floor-length gown of blue crepe trimmed with white daisies was styled with a rounded neckline, short puffed sleeves and empire waistline accented by back ties. She carried a basket of yellow daisies and babies' breath.

Bob Smith attended his brother as best man. Gene Lorenz, a friend of the family, and Peter Lippert, a cousin of the bride, served as groomsmen. Ushering the guests were the bride's uncles, Bud and Roy Hursman. The ring bearer was Willie Hursman, a cousin of the bride. The groom and his attendants wore white tuxedos, blue ruffled shirts and white carnation boutonnieres, tipped in blue.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hursman was attired in a floor-length gown of light coral crepe with a corsage of yellow daisies and babies' breath. A similar corsage complemented the floral print gown worn by the groom's mother.

Honor guest was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Helen Kroll.

A reception in the church parlors followed with the bride's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hursman as host and hostess. Miss Rhonda Hinden was seated at the guest book and Sue Loula served the punch.

The wedding cake arrangement, trimmed in yellow and blue, featured a three tiered cake flanked on either side by a heart shaped cake. The cakes were baked and decorated by Mrs. Donald Rupprecht and were cut and served by Mrs. Roy Hursman and Mrs. Bud Hursman. Pouring were Mrs. Erwin Lorenz, a friend of the family, and Mrs. Allen Pedersen, aunt of the bride.

Miss Marilyn Watson and Mrs. Mike Heglund opened and arranged the gifts. Serving as photographer was Darrell Hursman, brother of the bride.

Following a two-week wedding trip to Texas and New Orleans, the couple is now at home at 2649 Keene Park Drive, Largo, Fla.

Robert Mattsons Feted On Their 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mattson were guests of honor in their own home Monday evening when 11 couples staged a surprise party in recognition of the Mattson's 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattson were married September 15, 1950, at Trinity Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. They recently moved into a new home at 1704 Little John Court. The family includes two sons, Mark of Willmar and Bruce of Thief River Falls.

The self-invited guests presented the Mattsons with a number of humorous novelty gifts as well as a cash gift and a decorated cake which was served during the evening.

Attending were the Glenn Petersons, Malcolm Magnusons, Roy Lees, Ralph Fosters, Clarence Mattsons, Marvin Lundins, Carl Lees, Mel Simons, Dennis Wegges, Kenneth Kohlers, and Randall Nopers.

Catholic Daughters Workshop Is Set By Local Court

Catholic Daughters of America Court 2023, will host a workshop on Sunday at St. Bernard's Catholic church. The workshop will be held in the basement room with registration to begin at 9 a.m. The event will conclude at approximately 3:30 p.m.

Lunch will be served. All members are encouraged to attend.

Plans for the workshop were made at the first meeting of the court held this season. Also discussed at the meeting was a rummage sale to be held some time during the month of October. Further plans for that event will be made at the October meeting of the court.

Belle Johnson's 91st Birthday Is Observed

Mrs. Belle Johnson was guest of honor at a turkey dinner on Sunday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kverno. The event was in observance of her 91st birthday which was the following day.

Special guests at the family dinner were Mrs. Johnson's only sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Berg.

Other guests were Mrs. Johnson's son and daughter: Stanley of Grand Forks, and Mrs. Jerry Stempfley and her husband of Minneapolis; together with grandchildren and great-grandchildren, Don Kverno, Jon and Jay; Mr. and Mrs. James Rude and Jeff, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Skarren.

Centering the dinner table was a birthday cake topped with a musical ceramic figurine. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Rude. Mrs. Johnson also received a number of gifts and cards from grandchildren, who were unable to attend.

Evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd Spray.

Marriage Vows Spoken By K. Eggen-D. Langness

Miss Kathy Rae Eggen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Eggen of this city, became the bride of Duane Virgil Langness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Langness of Grygla, at an eight o'clock ceremony on August 16, at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls.

Rev. Ivan Carlson, together with Rev. Duaine Espeseth, pastor of Faith Lutheran Brethren church, officiated at the candlelight ceremony. Approximately 250 relatives and friends attended. At the organ was Mrs. Dale Knutson who played the traditional wedding marches. Debbie Rude, at the electronic piano, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hanson as they sang "Wedding Song," and "We've Only Just Begun," as the couple lit the Unity candle. As Hanson sang "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt at the altar, his wife served as accompanist. The wedding programs were distributed by Debbie and Vicky Walker.

Forming the chancel setting were lighted candelabra entwined with greens and a large blue bow. Matching bows marked the first four pews reserved for the immediate families.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a gown of sheer organza with the princess lines, in back and front, marked by Venice and Alencon lace. Matching lace outlined the scooped neckline, trimmed the long, tapered sleeves, and edged the flounced, three-tiered veil that flowed back into a chapel-length train. Among the traditional, old, new, borrowed and blue, she wore a white gold cross pendant, a gift from the groom. She carried a cascading arrangement of blue carnations, white daisies and asparagus ferns.

Serving as miniature bride was her sister, Theresa Eggen. Her gown, styled of white organza, was fashioned with a gathered skirt marked at the waistline by ribbon and lace. Accenting her chapel-length train, was a two-tiered veil. She carried a basket of miniature blue carnations and white daisies.

Kaydell Eggen, another sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Marcie Johnson, a cousin. They wore identical gowns in shades of blue, green and yellow, complimented by white picture hats with blue ribbons. Their pearl pendants were gifts from the bride. Each attendant carried a bouquet of champagne daisies, miniature blue carnations and babies' breath.

The bride's personal attendant was Jayne Lund, sister of the groom.

The groom's brothers, Gordon and Gerald Langness served as best man and groomsman, respectively. Ushers were Paul Rue, cousin of the bride, and Kenny Neuschwander, friend of the couple. Ring bearer was David Jacobson, a friend. All wore dark blue tuxedos with light blue ruffled shirts and blue and white carnation boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride attended the wedding in a mint green floor-length gown while the groom's mother wore a pink floor-length gown. Both wore identical corsages of pink carnations and white daisies.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Christianson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Eggen, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Johnson, godparents of the bride.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Highlighting the serving table was a three tiered wedding cake decorated in yellow and blue and topped with a miniature bride and groom. Cutting and serving the cake were aunts of the bride, Mrs. Adrian Johnson and Mrs. Clarence Walker. The Groom's aunts, Mrs. William Pauluk and Mrs. Alice Rustan presided at the silver service.

Host and hostess at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Trochmann. Sue Skallet was at the guest book while Cindy Anderson and Julie Odegaard carried the gifts and Cindy Walker and Julie Ness served the punch.

Waitresses were Susan Sorteberg, Theresa Nygard, Debbie Nygard and Doris Cervin. The rice packets were distributed by Pam Walker, a cousin of the bride. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Clyde Christianson, Mrs. Walter Redinger, Mrs. Harry Huseth, Mrs. Roger Kezar and Mrs. Gloria Wheeler.

Guests from a distance attending the wedding were from Norway, Iowa and North Dakota.

For traveling on the wedding trip to Nebraska and North and South Dakota, the bride wore a long-sleeved fall print dress.

Mr. and Mrs. Langness are now at home at Northwestern Trailer court in this city. Both are employed in Thief River Falls, the bride at Warehouse Foods and the groom at Sid's Motors, Inc. Photo, Chuck Agnew, Mahnomen

Bonnie Lindemoen Is Honored At Bridal Shower

Miss Bonnie Lindemoen of Thief River Falls and formerly of the Viking-Newfolden area, was honored recently at a surprise bridal shower at the Newfolden hall.

Hostesses were her cousin, Mrs. Willis Johnson of Viking, and Mrs. Bruce Bjorgaard of Thief River Falls, assisted by the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. John W. Nelson of Newfolden. The lunch served featured a cake made and decorated by Mrs. Clarence Molskness of Thief River Falls.

A brief program was presented with Mrs. Willis Johnson of Viking giving the devotions. Appropriate readings were given by Jennifer Johnson of Viking, Mrs. Willis Johnson, Phyllis Abrahamson of Middle River and Mrs. John W. Nelson. Jill Johnson, a cousin, played "What Will Be Will Be." Several games and the opening and viewing of the gifts concluded the party.

Special guests were Miss Lindemoen's mother, Mrs. Lowell Lindemoen of Newfolden, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Leonard Bengston of Middle River. Other relatives and friends attending were from Moscow, Pa., Roseau, Gatzke, Newfolden, Middle River, Viking and Thief River Falls.

Miss Lindemoen will become the bride of Wallace Bengston of Middle River on Saturday, September 27.

Kaushagen And Furuseth Marriage Vows Exchanged

Our Saviors Lutheran church in this city was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Kristi Kaushagen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kaushagen of Thief River Falls, and Jon Furuseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Furuseth, also of this city.

Forming the chancel setting for the ceremony were vases of mums, hurricane candelabra, and wedding banner featuring the Bible verse, "And two shall become one." Also on the banner were the names of the couple, and a marriage in Christ symbol with two small candles on one side and a large single candle on the other side, symbolizing Oneness.

Rev. David Molstre officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Molstre served as organist. Soloist was the bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Olson, who sang, "O Perfect Love," during the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of satin faced organza styled with long tapered sleeves featuring a single ruffle at the wrist. Venice lace daisies were appliqued at the V-neckline, on the mandarin collar, were clustered at the empire waistline and encircled the sleeves at the wrist. Single daisies were scattered across the skirt, on the sleeves and the full sweep train. For a total look, daisies also bordered the chapel-length mantilla. A cascade of pink roses, white carnations and stephanotis with satin ribbon loops completed the bride's ensemble.

Joy Kaushagen attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Brenda Johnson, a friend of the bride, and Sandra Furuseth of Minneapolis, a sister of the groom. All wore mint green, floor-length gowns styled in empire shilouette with short puffy sleeves. To accent their attire, they wore white, wide-brimmed hats with mint green bands complemented by a solitary flower. Each carried a nosegay of mint green carnations backed by a lace ruffle. Their gold necklaces were gifts from the bride.

Flower girl was Heather Paradis of Brooks, a niece of the bride. She wore a white floor-length gown with puffy sleeves and pale green trim. To complete her attire, she wore a ruffled bonnet and carried a basket of pink roses and white carnations. The rings were carried by Jared Nelson, a cousin of the bride. He, like the groom's attendants, wore a dark green tuxedo, mint green ruffled shirt and a mint green and white carnation boutonniere. The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo with a pink rose and a cluster of stephanotis pinned on his lapel.

Best man was Michael Munt, a friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Ed Driscoll, another friend, and Kyle Kaushagen, a brother of the bride. Ushers were Luther Kaushagen of Newfolden, brother of the bride, Rodney Helgenset of Rosewood, cousin of the groom, and Dennis Reese, a friend.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kaushagen selected a blue and beige floral, floor-length gown accented with a corsage of peach colored roses and white carnations. Mrs. Furuseth wore a blue floor-length gown with a corsage of red roses and white carnations.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. Amanda E. Nelson, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Jenny Furuseth, grandmother of the groom.

For the reception that followed, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Furuseth, uncles and aunts of the bride and groom, respectively, were hosts and hostesses. Mrs. Roger Paradis, sister of the bride, was seated at the guest book. Ladling punch were Lee Helgenset and Marlys Furuseth, cousins of the groom.

Highlighting the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake iced in white and decorated with pink roses. Small steps with lit candles and miniature members of the wedding party graced the sides. At the base, surrounded by leather leaves, were heart-shaped cakes inscribed with the names of the bride and groom. Topping the cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Donald Rupprecht was a miniature bride and groom backed by a floral arch. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Pearl Helgenset and Mrs. Myrtle Stromberg, aunts of the groom. The bride's aunts, Mrs. Irene Johnson and Mrs. Lena Williams, poured.

Opening and arranging the gifts were Ruth Johnson, cousin of the bride, Laurie Furuseth, cousin of the groom, and Lori DeBoer, a friend of the bride.

The groom's supper, hosted by the parents of the groom, was served at Noper's Fireside room.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a green and white checked pantsuit.

Following a wedding trip to points in Wisconsin, southern Minnesota and along the North Shore drive, the couple is now at home in this city at 940 North Main. Both the bride and groom are employed by Furuseth Nelson Inc. Photo, Neal Fox Studio.

Peterson And Nelson Receive Merit Honors

the number named in each state is proportional to the state's percentage of the nation's graduating high school senior class. The semifinalists, most of whom will complete high school and enter college in 1976, represent the top one half of one percent of the nation's most academically talented young people.

To continue in the competition, semifinalists must advance to finalist standing by meeting a number of requirements that include being fully endorsed and recommended for scholarship consideration by their secondary school principals, presenting school records that substantiate high academic standing, and confirming their high PSAT-NMSQT scores with equivalent scores on the scholastic aptitude test (SAT).

Over 90 per cent of the semifinalists are expected to qualify as finalists and to receive certificates of merit next February. All winners of merit scholarships are chosen from the group of finalists.

Every finalist competes for one of the 1,000 national merit $1,000 scholarships. A finalist competes with all other finalists in a state for the scholarships allocated to that state. The allocation procedure is the same as the method used to name semifinalists. The national merit $1,000 scholarships are one-time, nonrenewable awards supported by business and industrial sponsors and by NMSC's own funds. A selection committee of professionals in college admissions and counseling is convened to select the 1,000 winners nationwide.

Finalists who meet the qualifications that sponsors of four-year merit scholarships designate for winners of their awards will also be considered for about 2,600 of these awards to be offered in 1976. The list of sponsors includes corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, and professional associations. Depending upon the minimum and maximum value established by the four-year merit scholarship sponsor, a winner may receive up to $1,500 (or more) during each of the four college undergraduate years.

Donors often think twice before contributing to charities that use high-pressure, professional fund-raisers. A study of 127 charities show that, where fund-raisers are engaged their share of amounts collected is at least 26 per cent and in most cases more.

Connie Aaseby Marries Dwight Johnson At Zion

Candelabra with tall white tapers, greenery and white ribbon bows graced the chancel at Zion Lutheran church for the recent wedding of Miss Connie Aaseby and Dwight Johnson. To correspond with the chancel setting, the pews along the center aisle were also marked with similar greenery and bows.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iver Aaseby. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Johnson. All are residents of Thief River Falls.

Rev. Lloyd Berger officiated at the double ring ceremony. Jerry Joringdal was the organist and Mary Gilbert played the guitar accompaniment for Kathy and Judy Stoffel as they sang "Wedding Song," "Annie's Song," and "For Baby, For Bobby," as the couple lit the marriage candle. Ramona and Lorette Aaseby, cousins of the bride, distributed the wedding bulletins.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a white bridal satin floor-length gown which she had designed and made. The gown, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short puffy sleeves, edged in galloon lace, was styled in princess lines with a center panel featuring an overlay of pulled onish lace with sequins and seed pearls. Matching lace appliques, etched with sequins and pearls, were scattered across her long train. A Juliet headpiece secured her finger-tip mantilla of the same pulled onish lace with galloon lace trim. She carried a colonial bouquet of baby pink roses, accented with pink carnations, sprays of babies' breath and sprengeri. For sentiment, she wore a gold locket and watch, gifts from the groom, a blue garter and a gold coin in her shoe. She also carried a lace hanky, borrowed from her aunt, Mrs. Alvin Aaseby.

Darien Ellason was the bride's personal attendant.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Debbie Herbst of Goodridge, a friend of the couple. Julie Flynn and Marsha Adamson served as bridesmaids. All wore hot pink princess styled gowns with colonial capes with a sheer print overlay featuring pink and white daisies. Pink picture hats and colonial bouquets of white daisies, miniature carnations, babies' breath and sprengeri completed their attire. Their friendship necklaces were gifts from the bride.

Attending the groom as best man was Gregory Bulger, a friend of the couple. Groomsmen were Neil Johnson, brother of the groom and Doug Aaseby, brother of the bride. The ushers were Vern Aaseby, cousin of the bride, and Lyle Johnson, brother of the groom.

For his wedding, the groom selected an all-white Windsor tuxedo with a pink ruffled shirt and a pink corsage featuring triple roses, babies' breath and sprengeri. His attendants wore white Windsor coats, black trousers and pink shirts with double carnation boutonnieres pinned on their lapels.

The mother of the bride wore a pink gown fashioned with a long-sleeve lace bodice and a floor-length accordion pleated skirt. The mother of the groom wore a long sleeve gown featuring a navy blue bodice and a white floor-length skirt. Both wore identical corsages of pink sweetheart roses and carnations with accents of babies' breath and sprengeri.

Honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sage of Crookston, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson, grandparents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wellen of Grand Forks and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom, godparents of the bride and groom, respectively.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the church parlors for approximately 250 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom served as host and hostess. LeAnn Gibson registered the guests and Kim Joppru and David Johnson of Bellflower, Calif., a cousin of the groom, ladled the punch.

Highlighting the serving table was a four-tiered wedding cake, iced in white and decorated with pink roses. A flowing fountain graced the bottom tier, while ceramic harpists were placed between the pillers of the other tiers. At the base of the cake were two heart-shaped cakes inscribed with the names of the bride and groom and joined to the main cake by filigreed bridges complemented by miniature members of the bridal party. Fresh flowers in a flowering love vace topped the cake. Surrounding the base were fresh leather leaves.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Kenneth Stoe of Roseau, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Arnold Peterson, aunt of the groom. Rose Ann Johnson, cousin of the groom, and Mary Gilbert, a friend, served the Kransekage, the traditional Scandinavian wedding cake, surrounded by colorful marzipans. Pouring coffee were Mrs. Alvin Aaseby, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Clifton Johnson, aunt of the groom.

Waitresses were Ramona Johnson, Melodee Rupprecht, cousins of the groom, and Kathy Olson and Kathy Bloomquist, cousins of the bride. At the gift table were Edie Johnson and Cheryl Olson, cousins of the bride.

Catering in the kitchen were friends of the family, Mrs. Art Dicken, Mrs. Ida Robinson, Mrs. Clara Letch, Mrs. Florence Homme, Mrs. Susan Hruby and Mrs. Myrtle Rude.

For traveling on the wedding trip to North Dakota and parts of Canada, the bride wore a white eyelet pantsuit.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are now at home in this city at 111 Parkview. The bride is attending the Area Vocational-technical institute, enrolled in the practical nursing course, and the groom is employed by Bob Skoglund construction. Both are graduates of Lincoln high school. Photo Neal Fox Studio.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Now we are into the 1975 hunting season with all the excitement and anticipation of the hunters. This may be the year the hunter will be the lucky one to get the nice trophy this season.

But there is something that should be foremost in the hunter's mind—that he may be hunting on private land so he will be coming in contact with the farmer and rancher.

When you come to ask the farmer for permission to hunt, he may give you permission or he may turn you down. Try not to feel any anger toward him if he should refuse to let you hunt as he may have had a problem with inconsiderate hunters in the past or even have lost livestock due to careless hunters.

Here is a thought to keep in mind: How would you as the hunter feel toward the farmer if he came to your property, namely around your home, and would by accident damage for instance your automobile to the extent of maybe $400 or more?

Also consider the damage that was done; there is no way that there is any insurance protection for you to cover this damage. So you must dig down into your own pocket to pay the repairs and while your car is out of operating condition, your employer would deduct from your pay check $50 per week until you get your car back into operation.

This may sound like a silly tale, but the comparison is completely true. I have just found one of my good milk cows shot dead. Whether it was intentional or accidental is of no consequence as the cow is no less dead one way or the other. Now I will have to replace the cow at the cost of $400 to $500 to get one that will produce as the dead cow did and my milk check will be short every time by the amount of milk that she would have put into my milk tank, until I can scrape up the money to replace her.

Mr. Hunter, would you be willing to welcome me to your home if you thought that I was the one who had damaged your car and caused you to pay $50 per week from your pay check?

No, you wouldn't be too anxious for me to show up at your home and you would more than likely run me off your property or turn me in to the police and probably press charges against me for damaging your car. Well, you should do all of these things, as I deserve to be fined and pay for the damage I've done to you. But I do not have any way of knowing for sure who killed my cow so I am forced to be on the defensive against all hunters.

I enjoy hunting probably as much as you, but I cannot welcome you with open arms to hunt on my farm as who can I trust? Remember, the last hunter that was here was careless.

None of you hunters carry a sign on the back of your coat, "careless hunter" or "careful hunter", so I trust no one who hunts.

This season the hunters are going to run into some stiff resistance when they come here to hunt. The only hunters that will get my permission to hunt will be the hunters that I know personally; the rest of the hunters who ask permission will be turned down.

Mr. Hunter, if you get angry at me for not permitting you to hunt that is your privilege, but I have a good reason.

When you get your chance at that grouse, deer, goose or duck or whatever you are hunting, rememver there is a second target. It just might be some farmer's cow or maybe even a fellow hunter.

A very regretful hunter and farmer,

Don Berry

ARBA Supports Women's History Data Project

American Revolution bicentennial administration (ARBA) has issued a $23,000 cost-sharing contract to support a feasibility study for a national women's history resource data bank.

Under the six-month contract, the institute for the study of women in transition, Portsmouth, N.H., will explore the practical and economic implications surrounding the creation and operation of the computer-based reference service.

The data bank-clearinghouse project follows from the ARBA's discussions with representatives of over 50 national women's organizations. The proposal stems from the need to better understand and support the study of women's contributions to the social, economic and political development of the nation.

John W. Warner, administrator of the ARBA, in announcing the contract said: "The Bicentennial is an appropriate time to assure that the contribution of women to our nation's history is fully recognized.

"While this is a small step, there is every reason to hope that it will lead to an important learning resource for generations ahead."

The feasibility study will cover information collection on a continuing basis, cataloging, indexing and dissemination to researchers, historians and the general public.

The center itself would not store primary source material on women's history but would provide references to source materials, activities and individuals working in this developing field.

The study will determine the extent of information already available, the form it takes, where it exists, who needs it, how it will be used, and how it can be organized and disseminated.

Should the project prove feasible, the ARBA, the Institute for the study of women in transition and supporting women's organizations will seek funding support from the public and private sector for this major national Bicentennial initiative.

Goodridge Club Holds Camp-Out

Members of the Goodridge saddle club went on a wilderness campout September 6. Due to the rainy weather, some went home and returned the next morning for breakfast.

Following a pot-luck supper on Saturday night, a business meeting was held at which the club decided to participate in the trail ride to be held at Huntersville September 20-21.

Clarence Carlson Services To Be Held At Grygla

Funeral services for Clarence H. Carlson, Sr., 66, of Grygla have been scheduled for Thursday. Carlson died unexpectedly on Sunday at Crookston.

Services will be held at 10 a.m., at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla with Rev. Leland Uden officiating. Mrs. Roy Nordby will be the organist and together with Mrs. Rodney Anderson, will provide the vocal selections. Interment will be in the Espelie cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Earl Marquis, Alvin Blaine, Oscar Erickson, August Kiesow, Robert Skarke and Galen Englund.

The body is reposing at the Green Funeral home and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Clarence Harold Carlson, a son of the late Louis and Anna Carlson, was born Nov. 25, 1908 at Grygla. He attended school and grew to manhood in Espelie township, Marshall county, where he later engaged in farming.

On Aug. 30, 1941, he was married to Florence Hildreth at Las Vegas, Nev. The couple lived at Los Angeles, Calif., and Detroit, Mich., until 1943, when they returned to Espelie township, to resume farming. Since retiring, they have continued to reside on the farm.

Survivors are his wife; one daughter, Renee Bowman of Blaine; four sons: Clarence Carlson, Jr., of Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska; William of Minneapolis, James of Pine River and Rodney of Grygla; four grandchildren, and three sisters: Mrs. Axel (Mathilda) Knutson of East Grand Forks, Mrs. Rudolph (Ina) Lein of Virginia, and Mrs. George (Elsie) Robson of Belleville, Mich.

Services Held At Dorothy For Harry Doyea, 54

Harry Doyea, 54, of Beltrami, died unexpectedly Sunday morning at Fertile.

Mass of the Christian Burial for Harry Doyea was celebrated today (Wednesday) at 10:30 a.m., at St. Dorothy's Catholic church at Dorothy with Rev. Gerald Foley and Rev. John O'Toole officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Stenshoel Funeral home of Crookston was in charge of arrangements.

Harry Doyea was born April 1, 1921 in Dorothy to Louis and Alphonsine Doyea. He attended school and grew to manhood in the Dorothy area. He entered the Service in 1942, served in the European theatre and received his discharge in 1945.

On Nov. 20, 1947, he was married at Dorothy to Vivian Lacoursiere. In 1951, they moved to Goldenvale, Wash., and lived there until 1966, when they returned to Beltrami. He was employed for a time in this city by Arctic Enterprises, Inc.

He was a member of the Beltrami American Legion post and a past member of the VFW.

Survivors are his wife; his mother, who resides in Crookston; two sons: Roger Doyea, who is serving with the U.S. Army in Germany, and Robert of Tacoma, Wash.; and five daughters: Mrs. Jack (Priscilla) Wolfe, Shirley, Sharon, Marie and Roberta Doyea, all of Tacoma, Wash.,

Also surviving are four brothers: Albert Doyea of Red Lake Falls, Raymond of Beltrami, Elmer of Crookston and Henry of Bagley, and one sister, Dora Cassavant of Crookston.

Services Held At Gilby For Duane Lofberg

Funeral services for Duane M. Lofberg, 44, of Gilby, N.D., were held Tuesday at 11 a.m., at the Presbyterian church in that city. Lofberg died Friday morning in a farm accident about five miles northeast of Gilby.

Rev. Richard Zabriskie of Grand Forks officiated at the services. Mrs. Bert Dickson was the organist and Mrs. Don Brusegaard, the soloist. Interment was in the Gilby cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jerry Vanderlin, Robert Kyllo, Jeff Dickson, Joe Goulet, Dean Hams and Fred Mather.

Military honors were accorded by members of the American Legion post of Gilby.

Duane M. Lofberg was born April 23, 1931 at Hallock to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lofberg. He attended school at Karlstad and Halma.

He was a veteran of the Korean War.

On Nov. 12, 1955, he was united in marriage to Janice Ortloff at St. Hilaire. After their marriage, the couple moved to McCanna, N.D. Since 1968, they have lived in the Gilby community where Lofberg was employed at the Bert Dickson farm.

He is survived by his wife and three sons: Merlin, Dean and Wade, all at home.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lofberg of this city; five brothers; Rodney of Port Washington, Wis., Gary of this city; Neil of Beaver Dam, Wis., Brian of Glenwood and Michael of Fort Knox, Ky.; and two sisters: Mrs. Edward (Pat) Stokke of Augsberg, Germany, and Mrs. Francis (Marlys) Anderson of this city.

Clara Swan, 70, Once Of Area, Dies At Mora

Mrs. Clara Swan, 70, of Mora and formerly of this area, died Sunday, September 7, at Mora.

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Swan were held September 11 at 2 p.m., at the Calvary Lutheran church in Mora. Rev. Jerome G. Malak officiated. Interment was in the Oakwood cemetery in that city.

Mrs. Swan, the former Clara Maurine Thompson, was born at Grygla on Jan. 6, 1905 to Colby and Mathilda Thompson. She attended elementary school in Beltrami county and was a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls Normal training department. She later taught in rural schools.

On Nov. 15, 1937, she was united in marriage to Kenneth Swan at Pontiac, Mich. The couple returned to Minnesota in 1938 and farmed in the St. Hilaire area until moving to St. Paul. In 1958, they purchased a farm in Ogilvie.

There they lived and farmed until Swan's death in 1964. Since then, Mrs. Swan had made her home at Mora.

Her only survivors are two sisters-in-law, including Mrs. Anna Thompson of this city; a nephew and five nieces, including Mrs. James Wells of Goodridge.

Rites Held At Greenbush For August Kukowski

August A. Kukowski, 65, a lifetime resident of the Greenbush community, died Tuesday morning, September 9, at the Greenbush Community hospital.

Funeral services for August Kukowski were held Saturday at 10 a.m., at the Blessed Sacrament Catholic church in Greenbush with Rev. LeRoy Maus offering the Mass. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Collins Funeral home of Greenbush was in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Alex Stanislawski, Frank Kukowski, Leonard Kukowski, Joe Pulczinski, Art Braun, Sr., and Adrian Dolney.

Active pallbearers were grandsons of the deceased: Brian, Kevin, Barry, Scott, Roger and David Kukowski, Bryce Evans and Kevin Atkins.

August A. Kukowski was born May 29, 1910 in Roseau county, near Greenbush to August and Julia Kukowski, Sr. He attended school and grew to manhood in the Greenbush community and was baptized and confirmed at Leo. On Oct. 17, 1934, he was united in marriage at Flensburg to Josephine Mrozek. The couple farmed in Barto township, Roseau county, near Greenbush until retiring eight years ago. They continued living on the farm until the fall of 1973, when they moved into the village of Greenbush.

He was a member of the St. Aloysius Catholic church of Leo for many years and also served as church treasurer. At the time of his death, he was a member of the Blessed Sacrement Catholic church.

Surviving are his wife, nine sons: Adolph, Edwin, Roamin, Rapheal, Dennis and James, all in the Twin Cities area; Norman of Osceola, Wisc., Wilfred of Winona and Marshall of Greenbush; two daughters: Mrs. David (Sharon) Foss and Mrs. Bruce (Henryka) Evans, both of Greenbush; 26 grandchildren, a brother, Theophil Kukowski of Greenbush, and a sister, Mrs. Frances Cison of Richfield.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by four brothers and one sister.

Andrew Nordin Services Held At Karlstad

Andrew Nordin, 90, a resident of Karlstad for the past 83 years, died Tuesday morning, September 9, at the Karlstad Memorial hospital.

Funeral services for Andrew Nordin were held Friday at 2 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Karlstad with Rev. Donald Peterson and Rev. John A. Riveness officiating. Mrs. Stuart Folland was the organist; and the soloists were Mrs. Loren Germundson, Jan Nordin, a grandson; and Gilbert Olstad. Interment was in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home of Karlstad in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Norval Folland, Loyal Olstad, Ole Koland, Oscar Yngve, Dave Seng, Ernest Carlson, Loyd Kalin, Palmer Olstad, George Wollin, Chris Pederson and George Koland.

Serving as active pallbearers were Willard Nordin, Morris Koland, Doug Nordin, Jan Nordin, Norman Nordin and Roy Anderson.

Andrew Emmanual Nordin, a son of the late Erick and Marie Nordin, was born in Ungermanlund, Sweden on March 23, 1885. At the age of seven years, he immigrated to the United States with his parents, who settled near Karlstad. There he attended school. He was confirmed in 1902 at the Salem Lutheran church.

On July 5, 1912, he was married at Hallock to Ulricka Anderson Koland. The couple made their home at Karlstad where that same year Nordin built a cafe. He operated Andy's cafe, later renamed the Nordin Cafe and now known as the Town and Country Restaurant of Karlstad until his retirement in 1948. In conjunction with the cafe, he operated the recreation hall which he built in 1918 adjacent to the cafe. Following their retirement, the Nordins continued to make their home at Karlstad. Since December, Nordin had been a resident of the Karlstad Nursing home.

Nordin served on the village council for several years, was a member of the Karlstad Volunteer fire department and the Modern Woodmen.

He is survived by one son, Norman Nordin of Anza, Calif., four grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Hilma Lundstrom of Kennedy.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died in July of 1974, a son, Donald, two brothers and one sister.

Beef Cattlemen Institute Slated For October 2

Beef cattlemen from the Red River Valley are especially invited to attend the annual Beef Cattlemen's institute scheduled for October 2, commencing at 2 p.m. in the Winter Shows arena.

The program again this year is one of the best, according to B. E. Youngquist, chairman of the Arrangements committee and superintendent of the Northwest experiment station.

Forage-fed beef is being emphasized with speakers of national importance from Denver, Chicago, and Winnipeg, Canada. The afternoon program will be opened by Terry Courneya, county agent, Pennington county, who will preside. Bob Blasey of the National livestock and meat institute of Chicago will speak on "Consumer Acceptance of Forage-Fed Beef."

Tom Devlin, animal scientist from the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, will address the group on "How Do You Produce Forage-Fed Beef" reporting on the work which is being carried on in Canada. Visitors can look over the demonstration cattle before the 5 p.m. "picnic style" supper to be served in the Winter Shows building.

Harvey Windels, animal scientist from the Northwest experiment station, will preside at the evening program and will introduce a panel of producers led by Bob Amstrup, county agent, Grand Forks county. The producers will discuss "Salvage Feeds for the Beef Cow Herd." Donald Strickler of Euclid, Ray Mair of Red Lake Falls, and Harold Sundvor of Edinburg, N.D., are on the producer panel.

Topper Thorpe, general manager of Cattle-Fax, Denver, Col., will speak on the "Beef Cattle Industry—Where Are We At and Where Are We Going."

A question-and-answer panel will include all program speakers and will be presided over by Harvey Windels. The institute program will close with a feeder cattle demonstration.

The institute is sponsored by the agricultural extension services of Minnesota and North Dakota, the Northwest agricultural experiment station, the Red River Valley winter shows board of managers and Central livestock association.

The afternoon and evening coffee is sponsored by the Production credit association at Crookston.

In 1974 UNICEF provided enough BCG vaccine to immunize 54 million children against tuberculosis. The U.N. Children's Fund also supplies vaccines to protect Third World children against typhoid fever, smallpox and measles.

Social Service Conference Set At Ada Oct. 3

Fall conference of Minnesota social service association's Region three will be held October 3 at Faith United church in Ada from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. "Defining Who Needs Help and How Much" has been selected as the theme.

Social workers, case aides, rehabilitation services representatives and others who work in the area of social services from this area will attend the conference.

Goal of the conference is for participants to learn about the different ways that people define social problems, human needs and possible solutions. Harold Olson, Halstad, chairman of the Norman county social service board and conference chairman, noted that human service workers from 10 northwestern Minnesota counties and the general public are invited to participate.

Workshop topics during the afternoon include: "What services do children need today to live tomorrow?", "Can there be jobs for everyone?", "Welfare and subsidies—is there really a difference?" and "Who decides local social policy?"

Further information is available from the Norman county social service center at Ada.

ARBA Supports Women's History Data Project

American Revolution bicentennial administration (ARBA) has issued a $23,000 cost-sharing contract to support a feasibility study for a national women's history resource data bank.

Under the six-month contract, the institute for the study of women in transition, Portsmouth, N.H., will explore the practical and economic implications surrounding the creation and operation of the computer-based reference service.

The data bank-clearinghouse project follows from the ARBA's discussions with representatives of over 50 national women's organizations. The proposal stems from the need to better understand and support the study of women's contributions to the social, economic and political development of the nation.

John W. Warner, administrator of the ARBA, in announcing the contract said: "The Bicentennial is an appropriate time to assure that the contribution of women to our nation's history is fully recognized.

"While this is a small step, there is every reason to hope that it will lead to an important learning resource for generations ahead."

The feasibility study will cover information collection on a continuing basis, cataloging, indexing and dissemination to researchers, historians and the general public.

The center itself would not store primary source material on women's history but would provide references to source materials, activities and individuals working in this developing field.

The study will determine the extent of information already available, the form it takes, where it exists, who needs it, how it will be used, and how it can be organized and disseminated.

Should the project prove feasible, the ARBA, the Institute for the study of women in transition and supporting women's organizations will seek funding support from the public and private sector for this major national Bicentennial initiative.

Clarence Carlson Services To Be Held At Grygla

Funeral services for Clarence H. Carlson, Sr., 66, of Grygla have been scheduled for Thursday. Carlson died unexpectedly on Sunday at Crookston.

Services will be held at 10 a.m., at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla with Rev. Leland Uden officiating. Mrs. Roy Nordby will be the organist and together with Mrs. Rodney Anderson, will provide the vocal selections. Interment will be in the Espelie cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Earl Marquis, Alvin Blaine, Oscar Erickson, August Kiesow, Robert Skarke and Galen Englund.

The body is reposing at the Green Funeral home and will repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Clarence Harold Carlson, a son of the late Louis and Anna Carlson, was born Nov. 25, 1908 at Grygla. He attended school and grew to manhood in Espelie township, Marshall county, where he later engaged in farming.

On Aug. 30, 1941, he was married to Florence Hildreth at Las Vegas, Nev. The couple lived at Los Angeles, Calif., and Detroit, Mich., until 1943, when they returned to Espelie township, to resume farming. Since retiring, they have continued to reside on the farm.

Survivors are his wife; one daughter, Renee Bowman of Blaine; four sons: Clarence Carlson, Jr., of Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska; William of Minneapolis, James of Pine River and Rodney of Grygla; four grandchildren, and three sisters: Mrs. Axel (Mathilda) Knutson of East Grand Forks, Mrs. Rudolph (Ina) Lein of Virginia, and Mrs. George (Elsie) Robson of Belleville, Mich.

Services Held At Dorothy For Harry Doyea, 54

Harry Doyea, 54, of Beltrami, died unexpectedly Sunday morning at Fertile.

Mass of the Christian Burial for Harry Doyea was celebrated today (Wednesday) at 10:30 a.m., at St. Dorothy's Catholic church at Dorothy with Rev. Gerald Foley and Rev. John O'Toole officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Stenshoel Funeral home of Crookston was in charge of arrangements.

Harry Doyea was born April 1, 1921 in Dorothy to Louis and Alphonsine Doyea. He attended school and grew to manhood in the Dorothy area. He entered the Service in 1942, served in the European theatre and received his discharge in 1945.

On Nov. 20, 1947, he was married at Dorothy to Vivian Lacoursiere. In 1951, they moved to Goldenvale, Wash., and lived there until 1966, when they returned to Beltrami. He was employed for a time in this city by Arctic Enterprises, Inc.

He was a member of the Beltrami American Legion post and a past member of the VFW.

Survivors are his wife; his mother, who resides in Crookston; two sons: Roger Doyea, who is serving with the U.S. Army in Germany, and Robert of Tacoma, Wash.; and five daughters: Mrs. Jack (Priscilla) Wolfe, Shirley, Sharon, Marie and Roberta Doyea, all of Tacoma, Wash.,

Also surviving are four brothers: Albert Doyea of Red Lake Falls, Raymond of Beltrami, Elmer of Crookston and Henry of Bagley, and one sister, Dora Cassavant of Crookston.

Services Held At Gilby For Duane Lofberg

Funeral services for Duane M. Lofberg, 44, of Gilby, N.D., were held Tuesday at 11 a.m., at the Presbyterian church in that city. Lofberg died Friday morning in a farm accident about five miles northeast of Gilby.

Rev. Richard Zabriskie of Grand Forks officiated at the services. Mrs. Bert Dickson was the organist and Mrs. Don Brusegaard, the soloist. Interment was in the Gilby cemetery.

Pallbearers were Jerry Vanderlin, Robert Kyllo, Jeff Dickson, Joe Goulet, Dean Hams and Fred Mather.

Military honors were accorded by members of the American Legion post of Gilby.

Duane M. Lofberg was born April 23, 1931 at Hallock to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lofberg. He attended school at Karlstad and Halma.

He was a veteran of the Korean War.

On Nov. 12, 1955, he was united in marriage to Janice Ortloff at St. Hilaire. After their marriage, the couple moved to McCanna, N.D. Since 1968, they have lived in the Gilby community where Lofberg was employed at the Bert Dickson farm.

He is survived by his wife and three sons: Merlin, Dean and Wade, all at home.

Also surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lofberg of this city; five brothers; Rodney of Port Washington, Wis., Gary of this city; Neil of Beaver Dam, Wis., Brian of Glenwood and Michael of Fort Knox, Ky.; and two sisters: Mrs. Edward (Pat) Stokke of Augsberg, Germany, and Mrs. Francis (Marlys) Anderson of this city.

Clara Swan, 70, Once Of Area, Dies At Mora

Mrs. Clara Swan, 70, of Mora and formerly of this area, died Sunday, September 7, at Mora.

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Swan were held September 11 at 2 p.m., at the Calvary Lutheran church in Mora. Rev. Jerome G. Malak officiated. Interment was in the Oakwood cemetery in that city.

Mrs. Swan, the former Clara Maurine Thompson, was born at Grygla on Jan. 6, 1905 to Colby and Mathilda Thompson. She attended elementary school in Beltrami county and was a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls Normal training department. She later taught in rural schools.

On Nov. 15, 1937, she was united in marriage to Kenneth Swan at Pontiac, Mich. The couple returned to Minnesota in 1938 and farmed in the St. Hilaire area until moving to St. Paul. In 1958, they purchased a farm in Ogilvie. There they lived and farmed until Swan's death in 1964. Since then, Mrs. Swan had made her home at Mora.

Her only survivors are two sisters-in-law, including Mrs. Anna Thompson of this city; a nephew and five nieces, including Mrs. James Wells of Goodridge.

Rites Held At Greenbush For August Kukowski

August A. Kukowski, 65, a lifetime resident of the Greenbush community, died Tuesday morning, September 9, at the Greenbush Community hospital.

Funeral services for August Kukowski were held Saturday at 10 a.m., at the Blessed Sacrament Catholic church in Greenbush with Rev. LeRoy Maus offering the Mass. Interment was in the church cemetery. The Collins Funeral home of Greenbush was in charge of arrangements.

Andrew Nordin Services Held At Karlstad

Andrew Nordin, 90, a resident of Karlstad for the past 83 years, died Tuesday morning, September 9, at the Karlstad Memorial hospital.

Funeral services for Andrew Nordin were held Friday at 2 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Karlstad with Rev. Donald Peterson and Rev. John A. Riveness officiating. Mrs. Stuart Folland was the organist; and the soloists were Mrs. Loren Germundson, Jan Nordin, a grandson; and Gilbert Oistad. Interment was in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home of Karlstad in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Norval Folland, Loyal Oistad, Ole Koland, Oscar Yngve, Dave Seng, Ernest Carlson, Loyd Kalin, Palmer Oistad, George Wollin, Chris Pederson and George Koland.

Serving as active pallbearers were Willard Nordin, Morris Koland, Doug Nordin, Jan Nordin, Norman Nordin and Roy Anderson.

Andrew Emmanual Nordin, a son of the late Erick and Marie Nordin, was born in Ungermanlund, Sweden on March 23, 1885. At the age of seven years, he immigrated to the United States with his parents, who settled near Karlstad. There he attended school. He was confirmed in 1902 at the Salem Lutheran church.

On July 5, 1912, he was married at Hallock to Ulricka Anderson Koland. The couple made their home at Karlstad where that same year Nordin built a cafe. He operated Andy's cafe, later renamed the Nordin Cafe and now known as the Town and Country Restaurant of Karlstad until his retirement in 1948. In conjunction with the cafe, he operated the recreation hall which he built in 1918 adjacent to the cafe. Following their retirement, the Nordins continued to make their home at Karlstad. Since December, Nordin had been a resident of the Karlstad Nursing home.

Nordin served on the village council for several years, was a member of the Karlstad Volunteer fire department and the Modern Woodmen.

He is survived by one son, Norman Nordin of Anza, Calif., four grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Hilma Lundstrom of Kennedy.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died in July of 1974, a son, Donald, two brothers and one sister.

Beef-Cattlemen Institute Slated For October 2

Beef cattlemen from the Red River Valley are especially invited to attend the annual Beef Cattlemen's Institute scheduled for October 2, commencing at 2 p.m. in the Winter Shows arena. The program again this year is one of the best, according to B. E. Youngquist, chairman of the Arrangements committee and superintendent of the Northwest experiment station.

Forage-fed beef is being emphasized with speakers of national importance from Denver, Chicago, and Winnipeg, Canada. The afternoon program will be opened by Terry Courneya, county agent, Pennington county, who will preside. Bob Blasey of the National livestock and meat institute of Chicago will speak on "Consumer Acceptance of Forage-Fed Beef."

Tom Devlin, animal scientist from the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, will address the group on "How Do You Produce Forage-Fed Beef" reporting on the work which is being carried on in Canada. Visitors can look over the demonstration cattle before the 5 p.m. "picnic style" supper to be served in the Winter Shows building.

Harvey Windels, animal scientist from the Northwest experiment station, will preside at the evening program and will introduce a panel of producers led by Bob Amstrup, county agent, Grand Forks county. The producers will discuss "Salvage Feeds for the Beef Cow Herd." Donald Strickler of Euclid, Ray Mair of Red Lake Falls, and Harold Sundvor of Edinburg, N. D., are on the producer panel.

Topper Thorpe, general manager of Cattle-Fax, Denver, Col., will speak on the "Beef Cattle Industry—Where Are We At and Where Are We Going."

A question-and-answer panel will include all program speakers and will be presided over by Harvey Windels. The institute program will close with a feeder cattle demonstration.

The institute is sponsored by the agricultural extension services of Minnesota and North Dakota, the Northwest agricultural experiment station, the Red River Valley winter shows board of managers and Central livestock association.

The afternoon and evening coffee is sponsored by the Production credit association at Crookston.

In 1974 UNICEF provided enough BCG vaccine to immunize 54 million children against tuberculosis. The U.N. Children's Fund also supplies vaccines to protect Third World children against typhoid fever, smallpox and measles.

Social Service Conference Set At Ada Oct. 3

Fall conference of Minnesota social service association's Region three will be held October 3 at Faith United church in Ada from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. "Defining Who Needs Help and How Much" has been selected as the theme.

Social workers, case aides, rehabilitation services representatives and others who work in the area of social services from this area will attend the conference.

Goal of the conference is for participants to learn about ehe different ways that people define social problems, human needs and possible solutions. Harold Olson, Halstad, chairman of the Norman county social service board and conference chairman, noted that human service workers from 10 northwestern Minnesota counties and the general public are invited to participate.

Workshop topics during the afternoon include: "What services do children need today to live tomorrow?", "Can there be jobs for everyone?", "Welfare and subsidies—is there really a difference?" and "Who decides local social policy?"

Further information is available from the Norman county social service center at Ada.

Agassiz Council For Exceptional Children To Meet

Larry Anderson, director of the vocational center at Audubon and past president of the Minnesota council for exceptional children, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Agassiz council for exceptional children on Thursday, September 25.

The supper meeting will begin at 6 p.m. at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute in Thief River Falls. Dinner reservations at $3.25 each may be made by calling 681-4618 and must be guaranteed.

Others on the program in addition to Anderson will be Jan Olson and Jami Gustafson, social service personnel for the northwest region inter-district council. Parents and other interested persons are invited to attend.

State's Sexual Assault Program Funded $132,694

Minnesota program for victims of sexual assault has been funded in the amount of $132,694.00 by the law enforcement assistance administration through the governor's commission on crime prevention and control.

According to Peggy Specktor, program coordinator, this program which commenced on August 1 is believed to be the only statewide plan in the nation that has as its primary focus the delivery of comprehensive services to sexual assault victims through a coordinated statewide network.

Specktor stated that in the coming year the program will establish pilot projects in Hennepin and Ramsey counties; make available to victims of sexual assault personnel trained in police, medical and legal procedures; provide a clearinghouse on programs, materials, services and resources for and about victims; provide training programs for criminal justice personnel, health care professionals, social service agency personnel and others in contact with victims; increase public understanding of the nature and scope of sexual assault as it occurs in Minnesota; and conduct ongoing research as to the problems victims face, and to evaluate programs and procedures in use.

An additional objective of the program is to educate Minnesota residents in regard to the provisions of the new law, effective August 1, concerning criminal sexual conduct and to work towards implementation of the new law.

The program was designed by the task force on victims of sexual assault appointed one year ago by Kenneth F. Schoen, commissioner of corrections.

Any person, agency or institution interested in further information should contact Specktor at 430 Metro Square, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101, telephone: 612-296-7084.

V.A. Increases Compensation For Disabled

Minnesota's service-connected disabled veterans and eligible dependents of veterans who died of service-connected causes will receive an additional compensation check from the Veterans administration this month.

The checks, ranging from $3 to $174, will represent increases of 10 to 12 per cent signed into law by President Ford last month. The increases came too late to be included in the August checks.

A separate check, representing the retroactive amount for August, will be mailed about mid-September, said Morris Nooner Jr., director, VA center, Fort Snelling. The new rates will be reflected in the September checks which will be mailed October 1. Total cost of the increases for the first year is $450 million.

Nooner said the increases require no action by recipients. No contact with VA offices is necessary.

Veterans with a 50 per cent or less disability rating received a 10 per cent increase in thier monthly payments. Veterans with a greater disability rating and dependency indemnity compensation beneficiaries received a 12 per cent increase under the new law.

He said that monthly payments to single veterans with 10 per cent disabilities were increased from $32 to $35. Veterans rated 100 per cent were raised from $584 to $655. For the most severely disabled, the maximum amount was raised from $1,454 to $1,628 monthly.

Imagination '75 Arts Festival Begins In Fargo

Imagination '75, Fargo-Moorhead's festival of the arts, will get underway today (Wednesday) for five days of excitement and learning. The event, which runs through Sunday will divide locations between the tents in Fargo's Island park and open air displays in the Red River mall (downtown Fargo).

A public demonstration of the resources and talent in the region, the annual Imagination festivals have become a source of community pride and inspiration which stimulates participation in cultural life through the year.

"Imagination '75 will represent all the arts for all the people through a balance of performance, demonstration and participation," according to William Siemering, co-chairperson for the event and station manager of KCCM-FM, the Minnesota public radio station located at Concordia college. The theme of Imagination '75, "Gift of the Past, Present to the Future," will be carried out with craft demonstrations of quilting, weaving, raku, stoneware. . .to video art, one of the future modalities of the visual arts.

7 Auto Mishaps In Police Report

Seven automobile accidents causing estimated damages totaling $3,490 to vehicles plus $500 estimated damage to city property were reported to the Thief River Falls police department within the last week.

Tuesday, September 9 at 8:30 a.m., a semi driven by Darold Nordvick of Grygla was in the process of making a right turn onto Main avenue from Eighth street when the top of the cargo of hay he was hauling struck the overhead street lights and knocked them down. Damage to the lights was set at $500.

At 1:20 p.m. the same day, cars driven by Clement Lasha of Thief River Falls and Gregory Blade of Viking collided as they were driving south out of an alley between Main and Knight avenue to enter Second street. The Lasha car was in front. Damages were estimated at $200 to the Lasha vehicle and $25 to the Blade car.

The first of two accidents that occurred in the city late Friday afternoon began when Alfred Johnson of the city parked a Hartz vehicle in front of Northern state bank. When he opened the door it struck a vehicle driven by Mrs. Nels Nelson of the city, which was traveling west on Third street. Estimated damage of $100 was reported on both cars.

At 4:15 p.m., Ruth Wilson of Newfolden turned from Dewey avenue north onto Eighth street and was driving west when she lost control of her car and it jumped the curb on the north side of the street and struck two vehicles parked in the used car lot of Main motors. Estimated damages of $400 was set on the Wilson car and $400 and $100 to the two parked vehicles.

Two more accidents occurred late Saturday afternoon. At 4:25 p.m. Lynne Halbert of Karlstad was traveling north on Pennington avenue and Fred Timm of the city was driving south (in a vehicle owned by Inter-City Gas) when Timm attempted to turn left into Nora street and struck the Halbert car. Damages to the Halbert car were estimated at $500, and $40 damage was estimated on the Inter-City vehicle.

Mrs. Les Olson, TRF, was traveling east on First street and Tom Rambeck of the city was attempting to turn left into Main avenue after traveling west on First when the cars collided at 5:20 p.m. Estimated damages were $125 to the Olson vehicle and $200 to the Rambeck car.

Monday at 1:05 p.m., Joanne Johnson of the city was traveling north on Knight avenue when she stopped for a stop sign, proceeded across the intersection and was met by a car driven by Clayton Troskey of Newfolden, which was traveling east on Sixth street. Damages estimated at $1,000 was reported on the Troskey car and $300 to the Johnson car.

In other matters, a local store apprehended two elderly citizens for allegedly shoplifting merchandise Tuesday, September 9. Arthur Hedlund, 66 of this city was accused of taking some food items valued at $2.08 and Ethel Beid, 66, of Warroad was detained for allegedly taking a package of cheese valued at $1.09.

The same day, a local store apprehended two male juveniles, 14 and 15, for taking a fruit pie, pocket knives, cigarettes and cake valued at $7.05. Also, Ernest Olson of the city reported the loss of a three-quarter tankful of gas while his car was parked in the alley behind his residence.

Wednesday, September 10, a local store reported the loss of a rifle valued at $139 and Gordon Peterson of the city said that during August 26 and 27 a number of items were taken from his garage including tools estimated at $374.

Two elderly male shoplifters were apprehended at a local store Thursday., Millard Nelson, 60, TRF, had allegedly taken food items and flashlight batteries valued at $3.36 and Marvin Johnson, 77, of Viking was accused of taking food items and a can of spot remover valued at $2.38.

In another Thursday incident, purses owned by Carol Trontvedt of Goodridge and Violet Larson of the city was taken from a car in the municipal lot on First street and LaBree avenue.

The purses were recovered when a local citizen apprehended two male juveniles, ages 12 and 14. The juveniles are being charged.

John Markstrom of the city said Friday that a tape player and two speakers valued at $110 were taken from his vehicle parked in front of his residence. Goodwin Hanson of the city told police the same day that someone had bent and broken off the turn signal on his vehicle while it was parked in front of his residence. His loss was valued at $10.

Mrs. Kenneth Brule, TRF reported that their door had been kicked in twice, on September 11 and again September 15. Her husband was able to repair it the first time, but after the second incident replacement of the door was necessary. The loss was valued at $110.

4-H CLUBS

Leader's Council

September meeting was held Monday, September 8. Flag pledges, roll call, secretary and treasurer's reports were given.

Alumni recognition was given to Art Heinze. Applications are due November 1 for council scholarships. The Minnesota association of cooperatives annual conference will be held October 26-29 and two boys, age 16 or older, will be chosen to go. Boys interested must apply before October 15.

A 4-H training session for adult and junior leaders, called "Discovering with 4-H" will be held September 23 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. It concerns adult and teens working with the young 4-Hers. National 4-H week is October 5-11. Anyone willing to help the Ambassadors on window display or other projects should contact the office. Bumper stickers are available for 4-H week.

The horse project members going to the state horse show will receive the same money as the livestock members, or one and one-half cents per mile, for transportation. There will be a junior leader retreat October 17 and 18 at Itasca state park. Seven junior leaders will be able to go. The cost will be approximately $7 to $10. The nominating committee for new officers includes Lorraine Stenbeck, Arlene Thune and Debbie Simensen. The 1975 awards night is planned for November 3. A different place of meeting is being checked.

There will be a Bicentennial telelecture October 27 in place of the regular meeting. Everyone is urged to attend. Two project leaders are needed for foods and two for home environment. A county project chairman's meeting will be held September 18 in Thief River Falls. The club of the year award was dropped and instead, three honor clubs will be chosen. New requirements are being set up for the clubs;

Applications are now available for the 1975-76 Ambassadors. Black River 4-H club has been selected as the outstanding community pride club for 1975. Other clubs should pick up theis community pride reports.

Congratulations are extended to Wendy Noreen for making the state fair dress revue court of honor. Congratulations are also extended to all the other state fair trip winners.

Gloria Bjorkman spoke on the foster parents program.

Viking Volcanoes

The Viking Volcanoes 4-H club met on September 11 at the Viking school. The meeting was called to order by president, Vance Peters. Flag pledges were said and roll call was answered by naming a favorite subject.

Old business was discussed with Pat Yutrzenka and Debbie Bothum giving reports on how they did at the state fair.

Jill and Paula Peters, Debbie Bothum, Vance Peters and Pat Yutrzenka were chosen to nominate persons for club offices. Decision was made to have a pumpkin, squash and watermelon contest. Records were turned in and members received enrollment cards for next year. There were no project talks or demonstrations.

Lunch was served by the Donald Peters and Roger Anderson families to the 12 members and six visitors present. Next meeting will be on October 9 at the Viking school.

Mavie 4-H

Monthly meeting of the Mavie 4-H club, held September 10 at the Grand Plain town hall, was called to order by president Denise Rogalla. Secretary Julie Wayne read the minutes of the last meeting and Debra Panek read the treasurer's report.

There was no old business. New business included discussion of the carnival.

New officers elected are: President, Tim Panek; vice president, Rhonda Sanders; secretary, Deanne Nelson; treasurer, Billie Reimen; and reporter, Julie Wayne. It was decided to keep Audrey Rogalla, Dorothy Wayne and Ruth Sanders as adult leaders.

It was also decided to change the regular meeting night to the third Monday of each month, beginning in February of 1976.

The meeting was adjourned and lunch was served by the Henry Panek family.

General Questions On Bicentennial Are Answered By ARBA

Many questions are asked by citizens contacting the American Bicentennial administration (ARBA), its regional offices, and many of the state and local Bicentennial organizations.

The ARBA receives as much as 20,000 pieces of correspondence each week, the vast majority from individuals asking for information included in the answers to the following questions based on those most frequently asked:

Question: What is the Bicentennial?

Answer: The Bicentennial is the commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the emergence of the United States of America as a nation—a rekindling of the spirit associated with the American Revolution. It is the birthday celebration of a people and their full 200 years of history, culture and traditions. It offers us the challenge to lay a cornerstone of achievement for a vigorous and constructive beginning for the Third Century. It is a celebration of our roots, detailed in the three great documents upon which the hopes, the aspirations and the future documents and the future of our country rest: The Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Question: What is the role of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA)?

Answer: Under Public Law 93-179, effective in 1974, Congress gave the American revolution bicentennial administration (ARBA) a mandate . . . to coordinate, to facilitate and to aid in the scheduling of events, activities, and projects of local, state, national and international significance sponsored by both government and nongovernmental entities in commemoration of the American Revolution Bicentennial. While not basically a funding agency, ARBA does provide limited monies through matching grant programs primarily through State Bicentennial commissions.

Question: When does the Bicentennial begin? When does it end?

Answer: It has already begun! Understandably, the focal point of much planning is directed towards the weekend of July 4, 1976. However, Congress directed ARBA to start the official recording of programs and events in March of 1975 and to have this master calendar inclusive of events through December 31, 1976.

Question: Where is the Bicentennial commemoration?

Answer: The 200th anniversary commemoration is taking place everywhere throughout the nation—right in your own home town. Already many thousands of American communities have been designated as official centers of Bicentennial activities and the number is growing daily.

Question: Will there be a single focal point for the celebration?

Answer: Early in the planning, most Americans urged that the Bicentennial not be in one location; as was the Centennial exposition of 1876 in Philadelphia. Speaking through their respective members in the Congress of the United States, they effected a new law which assured the opportunity for unlimited participation by people in each of the 50 states, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia and the territories of American Samoa, Guam and the Virgin Islands.

Question: Will national Bicentennial events come to my home town?

Answer: Traveling events and activities such as the Smithsonian Institution's international exhibits, the Bicentennial wagon train pilgrimage, the American wind symphony, the 25-car American freedom train, the U.S. armed forces bicentennial band, the tall ships of Operation sail, and other traveling programs will be visiting many communities large and small all over America. Check with your local or State Bicentennial Commission for details. Contact your Governor's office to locate your State bicentennial commission.

Question: Where can I obtain a schedule of national events or events in my region?

Answer: A National calendar of bicentennial events and a comprehensive calendar of regional and local events covering 1975 and 1976 are published periodically by the ARBA. To purchase copies write to: Bicentennial calendar, The Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

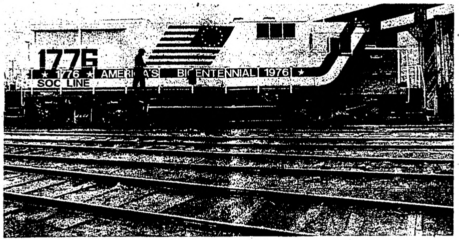
Question: Is there any unifying theme?

Answer: Underlying most Bicentennial participation and planning is a reaffirmation of our blueprint of Government—the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights—the blueprint which enables us to celebrate proudly the 200th anniversary of the oldest continuously surviving Republic in the world. Congress established three theme titles to give focus to the rich diversity of commemorative activities.

Through Heritage '76 we seek to remember our form of Government, our Founding Fathers, our forgotten people, the places and things of our past, the events of our past, and most important, our freedoms. Heritage is a restoration project, an historical reenactment, or a careful study of the three great documents.

Through Festival USA we celebrate the richness of our diversity, the vitality of our culture, our hositality, the American scene and the traditions of our people. It means events and programs in the dance, drama, music and arts, in addition to parades, athletic events and a renewed spirit of hospitality to both domestic and international visitors.

Through Horizons '76 we plan to shape a better tomorrow by beginning with individual initiative, by drawing inspiration from the innovations of today, by seeking the blessing of liberty for ourselves and others and by setting our Century III goals. It is ecology projects, tree-planting programs, transportation and housing improvement projects and educational and health programs.



SOO LINE'S contribution to the Bicentennial celebration includes this special locomotive, which was painted with a luminous coating and equipped with lights so that it is clearly visible in darkness. The locomotive is currently being routed through various areas in the state before it goes into regular service. Tuesday morning it was in Thief River Falls for refueling prior to a trip to Noyes. Soo Line machinist Ward J. Votava of Thief River Falls is pictured on the locomotive.

Capitol Close-Ups

— by —

Rep. John Corbid

This past week the health, welfare, and corrections division of the appropriations committee, of which I am a member, went to Washington, D.C. for two days of meetings with federal officials. We attended 10 meetings in the two days, primarily with officials of the health, education and welfare department and the department of agriculture. While the meetings were helpful to us in planning future state budgets, I cannot say that I was encouraged by what we learned of the federal administrations plans for the future in the area of human services.

Most distressing was a meeting with the assistant to the secretary of health, education and welfare. As one of the highest ranking officials of the department, he told us he believed nursing homes would need to be at least 130-bed homes to reach the break-even point. This would make it very difficult for a good share of the nursing homes in northwestern Minnesota to survive. It also will make it impossible for many of our elderly to spend their last years in their home villages near their family and friends.

Just as distressing and more immediate is the HEW policy of changing life-safety standards so often that it becomes nearly impossible for many home operators to keep their homes in compliance. No one is defending those few homes that have endangered the safety of their patients. However, what now happens all too often are arbitrary rulings from HEW such as changing the size of doors and windows needed. Homes built in compliance with all safety standards are often within a few years declared unsafe. Sometimes conflicting demands are made by separate departments.

For example, the welfare department will demand carpeting to cushion falls and lower noise levels. Then the health department will demand removal of the carpeting as an unsanitary health hazard. Senator Humphrey describes a Minnesota group home that was forced to send a boy back to an institution because it lacked one square foot of living space to be in compliance with federal regulations.

When questioned about these often arbitrary standards an HEW official said they were "hoping to move away from measuring doorways and physical dimensions, to measuring the care the patient receives." But, when I asked her when she felt this attitude would become federal policy, she had to admit that the HEW department had not yet made this suggestion to the President or Congress.

In the next column, I will discuss our meetings with the department of agriculture concerning the proposals within the food stamp program. Also, I will review our meeting with most of the Minnesota congressional delegation and a little about some Saturday afternoon sightseeing in the Capitol. This week (September 16-20), I will be in my office at 376 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota, or telephone 612-296-4329.

Bicentennial's Coin Marketing Program Begins

Director of the mint Mary Brooks announced recently a new and innovative marketing program developed expressly for the purpose of providing the greatest number of Americans an opportunity to participate in our nation's Bicentennial celebration through coins.

The bank bulk rate program has been designed to comply with public law 93-127, in which congress authorized a new coinage design emblematic of the American revolution for the dollar, half dollar and quarter and the minting of 45 million of these coins of 40 per cent silver.

The colonial drummer boy, Independence hall and the Liberty bell and moon are the three disigns chosen in a national competition to appear on the backs of the Washington quarter, Kennedy half dollar and Eisenhower dollar respectively. The double date of 1776-1976 is on the front of the coins. A Bicentennial set of these three 40 per cent silver uncirculated coins retails for $9. The 40 per cent silver coins in these Bicentennial uncirculated sets are distinguished from regular circulating coins which are 92 per cent copper and 8 per cent nickel.

The mint is putting into effect a distribution and over-the-counter sales program through the nation's 42,000 financial institutions and their 73,000 facilities for these 40 per cent silver uncirculated Bicentennial coin sets. The program offers the nation's commercial banks, savings and loan associations, mutual savings associations and credit unions an opportunity to purchase bulk orders of 50 sets and multiples thereof at $7 per set. The savings of individual packaging and mailing are being passed on to the financial institutions who will then be able to make these sets available to their customers.

"We believe by utilizing the over-the-counter sales of the financial institutions of the country, we can place 40 per cent silver coin sets within the reach of every American, recognizing that everyone will want to share in the excitement of this historical national moment," Mrs. Brooks said.

Marketing and local promotional material are being mailed to the chief executive offices of 42,000 financial institutions throughout the month of September.

Mrs. Brooks emphasized that the opportunity to purchase these 40 per cent silver uncirculated coin sets in bulk orders of 50 sets at the $7 per set price is open to all interested individuals and groups. A certified check or money order must be enclosed with each order and mailed to Bulk Rate Bicentennial Coin Program, P.O. Box 5500, San Francisco, Calif. 94101.

In announcing this appointment, the Congressman noted Eriksson's contribution to the improvement of western Montana's highways.

'U' Sororities, Fraternities Experience Rush

Sororities and fraternities at the University of Minnesota Twin Cities campus will conduct rush activities for prospective members next week and expect nearly three times more students than last fall to take part.

Nearly 400 women will participate in the rush program of the 14 University sororities, compared to 200 last fall, according to Sally Powers, sorority advisor.

Two hundred men have signed up for rush, according to Mary Jane Plunkett, advisor to the 25 fraternities, and about 125 have already pledged a fraternity. Last year, fraternity rush activities produced 75 pledges.

Orientation for women going through the sorority rush will be at 7 p.m. Sunday, at the Bell museum of natural history. Orientation for the fraternity rush will be at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Newman center.

Both Powers and Plunkett said the University is experiencing the resurgence in popularity of sororities and fraternities that was felt in other parts of the country last year.

Economics plays a large part in students' new perspective on fraternitites and sororities. The housing crunch, with dormitories full and shortages of housing near campus, makes staying at a sorority or fraternity very attractive. The costs are comparable to the rates at the dorms, according to Powers.

Housing at fraternities is available for out-of-town students going through rush, Plunkett said. Powers said that all spaces at sororities have been filled by students already registered for rush.

Persons wishing to go through rush are asked to pre-register by contacting the Student Activities Center, 317 Seventeenth Ave. S.E., Minneapolis, Minn. 55455, or by calling Sally Powers, 373-5105, or Mary Jane Plunkett, 373-4161.

FINAL SOCIAL SERVICES PLAN

-State of Minnesota-

Program year October 1, 1975 to September 30, 1976

TO HELP individuals achieve the maximum level of independent living and self-support of which they are capable; to prevent and remedy neglect, abuse and exploitation of children and adults; and to preserve, reunite and strengthen families.

The State Department of Public Welfare and county welfare departments have jointly developed a plan of social services for the State of Minnesota. A proposed plan was previously developed and published on July 1, 1975. Based on public comments and suggestions and changes in federal regulations there are some differences from the proposed plan. They are as follows:

- Changes in maximum income for services without charge to the recipient have been made. The revised income levels are shown under "Eligibility."
- Changes in the fee schedule for services for persons above the income levels for services without charge have been made.
- Changes were made in the definition of the services underlined below to make them more understandable.
- Information clarifying which services are mandatory for county welfare departments to provide has been added.
- Some counties have made specific modifications in their estimated expenditures and number of people to be served.

The above changes were made because of changes in Federal Regulations and as a result of public recommendations. Detailed information about these changes are in the Plan.

There are variations in the plan from county to county. In each county services to be provided and the people eligible were selected from the following:

SERVICES:

Adoption
Chore
Counseling Service for Families & Individuals
Day Care for Adults
Day Care for Children
Education Assistance
Employability
Family Planning
Foster Care for Adults
Foster Care for Children
Health
Home Delivered and Congregate Meals
Homemaking
Housing
Information and Referral
Legal Money Management
Protection — Adults
Protection — Children
Residential Treatment
Social & Recreational Transportation

ELIGIBILITY:

Fully Paid by Federal, State, or County Funds

- Recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children.
- Recipients of Supplemental Security Income and Minnesota Supplementary Assistance.
- Persons whose annual family gross income is below the following:

$ 4,652 for a 1 person family.
$ 6,083 for a 2 person family.
$ 7,515 for a 3 person family.
$ 8,947 for a 4 person family.
$10,378 for a 5 person family.
$11,810 for a 6 person family.
$12,078 for a 7 person family.
$12,346 for an 8 person family.
$12,615 for a 9 person family.
$12,883 for a family of 10 or more persons.

Fees for Services:

- Persons whose gross family income is greater than shown in the above table may be eligible for services on a fee basis related to income. This varies by service and among counties.

Services Without Regard to Income:

- Information and Referral.
- Protection — Adult.
- Protection — Children.

Federal fund allotment: $48,500,000; estimated expenditures for program year: $46,500,000 federal, $13,000,000 state, $40,000,000 local, $8,000,000 other ($107,500,000 total); estimated units of service to persons: 834,000.

The public comments made on the proposed plan can be reviewed at: The Division of Social Services, Department of Public Welfare, Centennial Office Building, Saint Paul, MN 55155.

For additional information, to review the plan or to obtain a copy, contact:

Applications for services may be made on, or after, October 1, 1975 at Pennington County Social Service Center or any other county welfare department within the state.

Seek To Verify Stock Losses To Timber Wolves

Representative Irvin N. Anderson of International Falls commented recently on reports of losses of domestic livestock to timber wolves. "It could be," said Anderson, "that this increased predation is a result of the timber wolf being classified on the federal government's endangered species list."

The result of the "endangered" classification, Anderson pointed out, is to remove from the state the authority to control the timber wolf population. In hearings before the department of interior, the Minnesota department of natural resources has requested that the timber wolf be removed from the endangered list and placed in the threatened category.

Representative Anderson pointed to DNR figures that show that an average of 60 timber wolves were removed annually from 1969 to 1974 under the directed predator control program. "We are trying," said Anderson, "to build a firm case to convince federal officials to change that classification to allow the state to initiate control programs where necessary."

With state control, Anderson said, the timber wolf numbers were never reduced to a level to cause great alarm. Anderson urged that anyone who suffers livestock losses to timber wolves have that fact verified by a game warden or other DNR official and then submit a report of that loss to him either at his home, 909 13th Street, International Falls, or his office at 273 State Office Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

"We need as much documentation as possible to build a strong case," Anderson said. "I intend to introduce a bill in the Minnesota legislature to provide reimbursement for such losses. Realistically speaking, however, its chances for passage may not be very good because these losses are occasioned by regulations of the federal government. I have, however, contacted Congressmen Bergland and Oberstar in efforts to see if anything can be done at the federal level. We shall continue to seek a resolution of this problem which is becoming an increasing burden on our northern Minnesota farmers.

"The most important information for us is actual verification that the domestic animal did die by timber wolf predation. All data on the incident should be recorded and verified by DNR personnel along with a statement which can be used in front of legislative committees to authenticate the kill by a timber wolf and not by domestic dogs or brush wolves.

"The inability to show that a timber wolf killed the domestic animal rather than dogs has caused the defeat of such measures introduced in Congress in the past. It would be good if well-known or experienced government personnel could document each case and their expert testimony then could be used to convince legislative committees," Anderson said.

Thief River Falls will try to rebound from a disheartening 26-15 loss to St. Cloud Apollo Friday when the Prowlers host Breckenridge in a 7:30 p.m. non-conference game on the Prowler athletic field.

The game against the Cowboys will be followed by an open date on the Prowler schedule. The void in the Prowler slate was left by the departure of St. Cloud Cathedral from the schedule. Thief River Falls will not play again until the Prowlers host Bemidji Fri., Oct. 3, in the first of four straight season ending Northwest Conference games for coach Jim Sims' ball club.

The open date, not welcomed at all by either coaches, players or fans at the start of the season, may now be a blessing in disguise for the Prowlers who are crippled by injuries to offensive backfield personnel.

Fullback Bryan Olson and runningbacks Mike Jury and Doug Dallmann are all expected to miss this week's game against Breckenridge. Jury and Olson have not played since the season's second game against Detroit Lakes back on September 5. Dallmann was hurt in last week's loss to Apollo.

An extra week off will undoubtedly aid in the recovery of the ball carriers. Just how beneficial the lay-off will be is anybody's guess. But it should help some. The only problem is inactively—especially for Olson and Jury who will go three weeks without a game, anticipating that they'll be ready to play against Bemidji.

The Breckenridge game will be important for the morale of the ball club, but the conference season is where it's all at in high school football. A win over the Cowboys, plus a week of recovery would give the Prowlers a fresh start at conference title run.

But first its Breckenridge. Although the Cowboys are obviously not in the same class as St. Cloud Apollo, the Prowlers will still have their hands full if past performances are any indication. Thief River Falls and Breckenridge have had some memorable games over the past three years. As an example:

+Breckenridge jumped out to a stunning 13-0 lead early in the first quarter of the 1974 encounter between the two teams back at Breckenridge. A Prowler fumble and a blocked punt set up the early Cowboy touchdowns. Thief River Falls pulled out a 14-13 win, however, when Prowler captain Tom Barry raced 36 yards for the game-winning touchdown with seven minutes remaining in the ball game. Thief River Falls scored earlier on an eye-opening finger-tip catch by end Jim Elleson that went for a 19-yard touchdown near the end of the first quarter. Prowler quarterback Jeff Tunberg passed to tight end Jeff Lindquist for what proved to be the game-deciding points on the conversion try after hitting Elleson for the touchdown.

NWAC Title Race Begins In Earnest With Fergus Falls-Crookston

Northwest Conference

	NWAC w	NWAC l	All w	All l
Fergus Falls	1	0	2	1
Bemidji	0	0	3	0
Crookston	0	0	2	1
Thief River Falls	0	0	1	2
East Grand Forks	0	1	1	2

First head-on collision between Northwest Athletic Conference title-contending teams will take place Friday when Crookston visits Fergus Falls for a key 7:30 p.m. NWAC clash.

Another conference game slated Friday will find East Grand Forks playing at Bemidji. Thief River Falls, the fifth NWAC member, will host Breckenridge Friday in a nonconference test. The games at Bemidji and Thief River Falls are both 7:30 p.m. contests.

Fergus Falls got an early jump on the rest of the conference last week by beating East Grand Forks 14-7 in the season's first Northwest Conference clash. However, the Otters are expected to run into a tougher test this week against the strong Pirate ball club.

Fergus Falls and Crookston are both 2-1 overall for the year. The Otters beat Detroit Lakes 7-0 and East Grand Forks 14-7 while losing to defending state Class A champion Alexandria 16-14. The Pirates bowed to Fargo North 16-14 in their season opener but bounced back to shutout Grand Forks Central 6-0 and West Fargo 28-0.

Bemidji, the defending conference champion, will be heavily favored to pick up its initial 1975 NWAC win at the expense of the Green Wave. Bemidji has rolled to a 3-0 record to date—the only unbeaten conference team—by beating Milaca 26-12, Crosby-Ironton 54-8 and Minnehaha Academy of Minneapolis 49-7. East Grand Forks is 1-2 for the year. The Green Wave bowed to Dilworth 27-0 and Fergus Falls 14-7 while beating Grand Forks Red River 14-8.

Thief River Falls finishes its nonconference obligations this week against Breckenridge, but the Prowlers will not open their conference season until Fri., Oct. 3, because of an open date next week. Thief River Falls is 1-2 for the year. The Prowlers beat Detroit Lakes 33-14 but lost to Grand Forks Red River 25-14 and St. Cloud Apollo 26-15.

+Wayne Marty of Bemidji continues to lead NWAC scorers in all games with 40 points. Bob Ranum of Crookston and Jim Grimm of Bemidji have scored 24 points apiece. Jon Erickson and Chuck Welle of Fergus Falls and Rick Beck of East Grand Forks share the NWAC scoring lead after one game with six points each.

+Ranum leads the ball carrying charts in all games with 343 yards and a 6.2 average. Mike Thomas of Fergus Falls has 319 yards and a 6.4 average and Marty has 310 yards and a healthy 9.4 average. Erickson is the NWAC rushing leader with 151 yards and a 6.6 average after one game.

+Jeff Eidsmoe of Bemidji is the league's most proficient passer in all games with 273 yards on 16 completions in 21 attempts. He has thrown seven touchdown passes in three games. Joel Rood of Crookston has hit 10 of 24 attempts for 133 yards. Scott Selk of East Grand Forks is the early NWAC leader with four completions in 12 attempts for 66 yards.

+Jack Schwartz of Bemidji leads the league pass receivers in all games with eight receptions for 154 yards. Grimm has caught five passes for 107 yards and four touchdowns. Beck, with one reception for 38 yards, is the early NWAC leader.

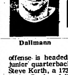
+Marty is the leading punt returner with a whopping 146 yards and a 20.8 average on seven returns. Erickson leads the NWAC with two returns for 27 yards and a 13.5 average.

+Among ball players with more than one return, Beck leads the kick-off return charts with three returns for 60 yards and a 20-yard average. His two returns for 42 yards and a 21-yard average also lead the NWAC.

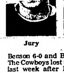
MARTY MINOR of Thief River Falls stretched to return a shot against Penny Yon of Roseau during Monday's high school tennis match played in Thief River Falls. Minor posted a 6-2, 6-1 win over Yon to help lift the Prowlers to a 4-1 dual meet victory over the Rams.

Injuries Plague Prowler Preparations For Cowboys



Dallmann

Olson



Jury

Lindquist

Thief River Falls, battered and perhaps a bit disillusioned with a current 1-2 record, will end its 1975 nonconference football obligations Friday when the Prowlers host Breckenridge in a 7:30 p.m. game on the Prowler athletic field.

Coach Jim Sims' Prowlers will face the Cowboys, Northwest Conference members for three years before leaving the league following the 1974 season, minus most of its starting backfield, a problem that caused, in part, Thief River Falls' 26-15 loss at St. Cloud Apollo last week.

Fullback Bryan Olson and halfback Mike Jury will miss their second straight game because of knee problems and halfback Doug Dallmann will not play Friday after suffering a shoulder injury in the Apollo contest. Only Olson is given an even outside chance of playing this week.

Sims is naturally concerened about the effectiveness of the Prowler wishbone offense now that three-fourths of his starting backfield is sidelined. Only quarterback Jeff Lindquist remains healthy. "You can only take so many parts out of the motor before it quits working," offered Sims.

Replacements for injured Prowler runningbacks will come from the likes of Jay Kverno, Brian Peterson, Steve Erickson, Tim Loeffler, Kent Ehrenstrom or Duane Gonsorowski. Ehrenstrom and Gonsorowski are seniors while the others are juniors.

Kverno and Ehrenstrom are the only runningbacks with any experience to speak of. They have both started one game apiece and have played very well at times. The others have combined to total only eight carries this fall for a net loss of six yards.

Lack of speed among the present crop of runningbacks is Sims' chief concern. "To be perfectly honest, we're not very quick," admitted Sims. "But we're going to try to get the job done with the people we have."

Although the 1-2 record, representing a 33-14 win over Detroit Lakes sandwiched around losses to Grand Forks Red River 25-14 and St. Cloud Apollo, is probably not as good as pre-season optimism had offered, Sims discounts the record entirely. "We're not concerned about the record . . . period. Year in and year out we're not going to be 9-0."

Thief River Falls has never lost to Breckenridge on the gridiron, although the two teams have certainly had their share of close games in the short series. The Prowlers rallied from a three-touchdown deficit to win 48-27 in 1972; won by a slim 8-0 margin in the mud here in 1973; and managed a narrow 14-13 win last year.

"We've been fortunate to get by them in the past," explained Sims about his team's success against the Cowboys. "It's never been an easy task playing them and it won't be this week either."

The Cowboys' I formation offense is headed by rangy 6-2 junior quarterback Brady Lipp. Steve Korth, a 173-pound junior, is the Cowboy fullback and 145-pound senior Jody Schuler is the halfback. "It's a typical Breckenridge backfield," explained Sims, "they're not fancy, but they run at you real hard."

Although the Cowboys have stayed mostly on the ground this year, Sims noted that "our scouts got the feeling that they would like to pass more." Ends Dave Wolter and Keith Micke and flanker Dave Gunderson, trio of seniors, will be the likely receiving targets if the Cowboys opt for the pass.

Breckenridge owns a 2-1 record to date with back to back season-opening shutout wins over Benson 6-0 and Barnesville 13-0. The Cowboys lost to Wadena 19-12 last week after leading the Indians 12-0.

The Cowboy defense, with two shutouts already to its credit, will be tough, pointed out Sims. Breckenridge uses a variety of defensive sets, including the 4-4, 5-3 stack and some gap-eight.

Thief River Falls, although it finishes its nonconference schedule this week against Breckenridge, will not open its Northwest Conference season for two weeks yet because of an open date on the Prowler schedule September 26. The next Prowler game will be played here Friday, Oct. 3, against Bemidji in the 1975 Prowler homecoming game.

Huskies' Homecoming Is Planned Friday

Goodridge will play host to Erskine Friday at 7 p.m. in the 1975 Huskies' homecoming game to highlight the area football schedule.

Goodridge will be hoping the homecoming spirit will benefit the Huskies who are looking for their first win of the 1975 season after three straight season-opening losses. The Huskies fell to Plummer 25-16 last week.

Elsewhere Friday, Plummer entertains Grygla at 8 p.m. and Newfolden will host Roseau in a 7:30 p.m. game.

Plummer will put its 3-0 record on the line against Grygla. The Cardinals lead the North Tri County Conference North Division following last week's win over Goodridge. Grygla is 1-2 for the year after losing to Middle River 28-8 in its latest outing.

Other North Tri County Conference scores Friday found Gonvick beating Erskine 46-6, McIntosh-Winger dumped Oklee 26-8 and Clearbrook blanked Mentor 22-0. McIntosh-Winger heads the North Tri County Conference South Division with a 3-0 record.

+Marshall County Central is 1-2 for the year in Top of the State Conference play after losing to Warroad 22-14 last week.

Other Top of the State scores found Stephen beating East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 18-12 in three overtimes, Karlstad stopped Lake of the Woods-Baudette 27-16, Hallock shutout Greenbush 24-0, Roseau downed Kennedy 28-14 and Crookston Cathedral knocked off Argyle 38-8.

Karlstad sports a 3-0 record to lead the Division I standings in the Top of the State Conference. Greenbush and Roseau match 2-1 records to share first place in the league's Division II standings.

Chris Biegner Awarded Weekly LHS Game Ball

Senior offensive-defensive lineman Chris Biegner was named recipient of the game ball Tuesday as the Lincoln high school football coaching staff announced its weekly post-game awards.

Biegner was awarded the game ball following Friday's 26-15 Prowler loss to St. Cloud Apollo.

Several other players were cited for their play against Apollo: Doug Dallmann and Jay Kverno were recognized for scoring touchdowns; Jeff Lindquist was singled out for outstanding defensive coverage on one play; Duane Gonsorowski was credited with a fumble recovery; Terry Sullivan was cited for making a tackle that caused a fumble; and Mike Kosel, Geoff Dagg and Kurk Reed were honored for sacking the quarterback.

Gonsorowski topped the Prowler defensive point scoring charts against the Eagles with 42 points on six unassisted tackles, five assisted stops and a fumble recovery.

Dagg totaled 32 points in the Prowler defensive scoring system while Lindquist had 28, Sullivan 26, Biegner 22, Matt Overby 18, Tim Rude 16, Mark Mansueto and Brian Peterson 14 apiece and Reed 12 to round out the double figure totals.

Lincoln Freshmen Defeat Newfolden By 26-8 Margin

Jeff Kosel scored three touchdowns Monday to spark the Lincoln high school freshmen football team to a 26-8 win over Marshall County Central on the Prowler athletic field.

Wayne Krueger scored the first Thief River Falls touchdown on a 96-yard run in the opening quarter before Kosel took over. Kosel scored on runs of six and 30 yards in the second quarter and added a seven-yard touchdown run in the third period. Jim Shirley added a two-point conversion after the final touchdown.

Thief River Falls, 2-0 for the year, will be back in action tomorrow (Thursday) when the freshmen travel to East Grand Forks for a 7:30 p.m. game.

Prowlers Compete In Classy Bemidji Meet

Thief River Falls tested itself against some of the state's proven cross country powers Tuesday in a classy 15-team cross country invitational meet at Bemidji.

Park Center high school of Brooklyn Park won the meet with 57 points, followed by International Falls with 72, Moorhead 122, Bemidji 128, Alexandria 130, Thief River Falls 163, Park Rapids 165, West Fargo 176, Detroit Lakes 225, Clearbrook 317, Crookston 327, Roseau 349, Brainerd 378, Waubun 447 and Remer (no score).

Prowler coach Russ Smith was extremely pleased with his team's sixth place finish against the exceptionally strong field.

John Wilson of International Falls was the meet's individual winner with an outstanding 13:19 clocking over the 2.6 mile course.

Dan Heleren of Thief River Falls was the top Prowler finisher with a 14:11 time for 15th place among the 105 runners taking part in the varsity portion of the meet. Smith praised the strong showing by Heleren.

Other Prowler finishers included Tony Brosseau who placed 23rd, John Albrecht 38th, Mike Nessen 42nd, Paul Phelps 45th and Steve Geatz 46th.

Park Center also won the B squad portion of Tuesday's meet, followed by Moorhead, Alexandria, Detroit Lakes, West Fargo, International Falls, Thief River Falls, Bemidji, Park Rapids and Crookston.

Kevin Culkins was the top Prowler B squad runner with a 23rd place finish among the 66 competitors. Dave Giaque finished 34th, Jon Ballingrud 41st, Ron Erickson 55th and Tim Trudeau 62nd.

Thief River Falls' best performance of the unusually large meet was turned in by Coach Smith's junior high school team.

Alexandria won the junior high title with 59 points, only two points ahead of Thief River Falls with 61.

Park Center placed third in the junior high race with 81 points, followed by Roseau with 88, International Falls 202, Bemidji 218, Akeley 225, Park Rapids 245 and Detroit Lakes 266.

Tom Brosseau was the top Thief River Falls junior high finisher with an eighth place effort from among the 80 runners. Bob Fitzgerald finished ninth, Jeff Oseid tenth, Kevin Murphy 12th and Todd Trickle 25th.

Thief River Falls runners will be busy on two different sites tomorrow (Thursday). The Prowler varsity and B squad will run in an invitational meet at Grand Forks while the junior high school team takes part in an invitational meet at Bagley.

Prowlers Defeat Rams By 4-1 In Tennis Monday

Lincoln high school girls' tennis team improved its 1975 dual meet season record to 3-1 Monday with a 4-1 win over Roseau on the Thief River Falls courts.

Thief River Falls has played four matches this fall and each time the final score has been 4-1. The Prowlers beat Mahnomen, Waubun and Roseau by that margin while losing to Crookston by the same score.

Coach Pat Johnson's Prowlers will travel to East Grand Forks for a 4 p.m. match tomorrow (Thursday). Thief River Falls visits Mahnomen Monday.

Marty Minor started the Prowler win over the Rams with a 6-2, 6-1 decision over Penny Yon in number one singles.

Roseau's Pam Yon supplied the Rams with their only point when she beat Pam Prichard 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 in number two singles.

Pam Kotschevar of Thief River Falls finished the singles play with a 7-5, 6-4 win over Kris Knochemus in number three singles.

Marchelle Cuppett and Kris Gibson of Thief River Falls blanked Angie Soltau and Jodi Lommen 6-0, 6-0 in number one doubles while the Prowlers' Kelly Bjorkman and Jennifer Pluth defeated Pam Hanson and Kristi Norman, 6-1, 6-2 in number two doubles.

Prowlers Golf In Invitational At Fergus Falls

Lincoln high school girls' golf team participated in a nine-team invitational meet at Fergus Falls Monday.

Host Fergus Falls won the event with a 215 team stroke total. Thief River Falls finished seventh with a 445.

Kari Opgrand of Crookston was meet medalist with a 47, just two strokes ahead of Thief River Falls' Cheri Onkka who shot a 49.

Thief River Falls will golf again Monday at Detroit Lakes starting at 4 p.m.

TRF City Hockey League Meeting Set September 25

DNR Reports Five Elk Shot Near Grygla Recently

Minnesota's elk herd was reduced sharply recently when a farmer near Grygla killed five of the animals, the department of natural resources reported.

The farmer said 17 elk were trampling through his oat field. The oats had been cut and swathed but had yet to be combined.

After shooting the elk the farmer notified local conservation officers who cleaned and dressed the meat to prevent spoilage.

Minnesota's elk herd has had a precarious existence. The animals are not native to the state and were introduced in small numbers many years ago.

Although first confined at Itasca state park, the animals were later released in a vast almost uninhabited area north of Red Lake.

The elk finally gravitated into agricultural areas. A few were shot from time to time until the herd was reduced to about 20 animals.

Elk have some times been accused of being aggressively amorous toward domestic livestock.

Several years ago a claim was brought before the legislature by a farmer asking compensation for the loss of several stud horses, which he said were chased out of their pasture by an elk who had designs on his mares.

The claim was not paid.

National wildlife federation has launched a Bicentennial project designed to help save the American bald eagle from extinction.

The three-year project, announced by Thomas L. Kimball, executive vice president of the conservation organization, calls for the establishment of a computerized eagle data bank at NWF's Washington headquarters.

"Information that may be vital to the survival of the eagle, our national symbol, is now scattered in libraries and laboratories across the nation," Kimball said. "Pesticide effects discovered in a laboratory on the East Coast may never come to the attention of a scientist studying the same bird in the Pacific Northwest."

The national wildlife federation decided there was an "imperative need" for a one-stop clearing house of eagle information, Kimball added, after it turned 1,100 acres of South Dakota land over to the federal government for an eagle refuge last December.

The new NWF data bank, utilizing both microfilm and computer information retrieval systems, will be created with the aid of an $85,000 grant from the Exxon company, U.S.A., of Houston, Tex. It will be directed by an ornithologist who will join the NWF staff on a permanent basis.

One of the first tasks of the data bank, Kimball said, will be to pinpoint all eagle nesting and roosting sites in the "lower 48" states, with a view to acquiring and protecting some of them from further human encroachment.

Bald eagles were once found all across the United States. There are still an estimated 6,000 of them in sparsely-settled Alaska, but in the contiguous states their number has been reduced to about 2,000 northern bald eagles and only about 600 southern bald eagles. The southern bald eagle has been placed on the U.S. endangered species list.

Until 1940, when Congress outlawed the killing of eagles, many were shot by farmers and ranchers as predators. Since then their population has been cut down largely by destruction of habitat and by pesticides entering their food chain. By 1973 only eight states—Virginia, Maryland, Wisconsin, Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Oregon and Washington—had more than 25 nests.

"Eagles just aren't very tolerant of man," Kimball pointed out. "If they are to survive, we are going to have to make some accommodations. By collecting everything that is known about how and where they live and making it available to experts in and out of government, we should be able to preserve this bird that is so much a part of our national tradition."

In addition to the $85,000 Exxon grant, payable over a three-year period, the project will have at its disposal $37,785.96 in funds for eagle research. This money was dropped in collection boxes—mostly in small coins—at some 5,200 Seven-Eleven food stores during last year's "Save a Living Thing" campaign to acquire the 1,100-acre eagle sanctuary in South Dakota.

That land was purchased with $200,000 advanced by Seven-Eleven's parent firm, the Southland corporation, of Dallas, Tex., which contributed one penny for each of more than 20 million soft drinks it sold during the campaign.

Besides raising money for the eagle refuge, now run by the U.S. fish and wildlife service, the NWF has since 1971 demonstrated its concern for the eagle by offering a 1500 reward for information leading to the conviction of any person shooting an eagle. Five rewards have been paid.

The term "bald eagle" is a misnomer for the bird the Continental Congress adopted as the national symbol in 1782. Actually, its head is covered with white feathers which, in the sun, sometimes give it a bald appearance. The northern species has a wingspan of from six to eight feet. Because they are primarily fish eaters, they live near water. They usually next in high trees and often add as much as a foot of twigs and branches to their nests in a year. One eagle nest, after 35 years of continuous occupation, was calculated to weigh approximately two tons.

Wilson Brothers Captures 1975 City Trap Championship Shoot

Wilson Brothers defeated Thune-Upham 121-101 in a special shoot-off Wednesday to break a first place in the Thief River Falls Trap League post-season city championship shoot.

Wilson Brothers and Thune-Upham shared first place honors in last week's eight-team city championship event to prompt a title-deciding tie-breaking match.

Shooting a regulation 25-bird round with season handicaps included in the scores, Wilson Brothers won by a comfortable 20-bird margin.

Wilson Brothers' scores included Stan Wilson with a 23-2, Mert Wilson 23-2, Bob Puetz 23-1, John Tofte 17-7 and Wally Vagle 17-6.

For Thune-Upham, Jay Moum shot a 16-7, Adolph Anderson 16-5, Stan Sjoberg 18-2, Francis Anderson 14-5 and Stan Upham 14-4.

LHS Volleyball Team Rallies To Defeat EGF 2-1

Thief River Falls rallied from a first game defeat to edge East Grand Forks 2-1 Tuesday in a girls' high school volleyball match played in the Green Wave gym.

East Grand Forks won the first game of the two-out-of-three game varsity series 18-15, but Thief River Falls rallied to claim a pair of 18-10 decisions to earn the victory.

The win lifted the Prowler season record to 2-1 for the year. Thief River Falls will be back in action tomorrow (Thursday) when the Prowlers host Fisher in the Lincoln gym in a 7:30 p.m. match.

East Grand Forks handed the Thief River Falls junior varsity its third straight loss Tuesday with a 2-0 verdict. The Green Wave B squad claimed a pair of 18-8 wins.

LHS Bicentennial Girls Athletic Events Planned

Lincoln high school officials have announced dates for five different girls' athletic events planned this year that have been tabbed as Bicentennial games.

In cooperation with the Thief River Falls Bicentennial committee, each sport has been requested to select one home appearance as a Bicentennial game this year.

Bicentennial games for the Lincoln girls' sports are as follows: volleyball - Thur., Sept. 18, versus Fisher; swimming - Sat., Sept. 20, versus Grand Forks Central and Grand Forks Red River; golf - Thurs., Sept. 25, for the Thief River Falls invitational; tennis - Thurs., Oct. 2, versus Detroit Lakes and East Grand Forks; and basketball - Mon., Jan. 19, versus East Grand Forks.

Start Franklin Middle School Football Program

Franklin middle school intramural football program began its 1975 season schedule Tuesday when the Redskins beat the Packers 20-6 and the Dolphins blanked the Bears 8-0.

Five weeks of regular season competition in the five-team league will be climaxed by a post-season playoff schedule to be held October 9-15. In addition to the regular season and playoff games, Thief River Falls will play Crookston in seventh and eighth grade scrimmage games Thurs., Oct. 23.

Coaches in this year's program include Don Fugleberg, Bears; Kurt Kozitke, Packers; Jim Elleson, Vikings; Tom Sumpter, Redskins; and Steve Zacher, Dolphins. Marv Walter is the Franklin program director.

The rest of the 1975 regular season Franklin schedule is as follows:

Thurs., Sept. 18—Packers vs. Bears; Vikings vs. Dolphins.
Tues., Sept. 23—Vikings vs. Bears; Dolphins vs. Redskins.
Thurs., Sept. 25—Packers vs. Vikings; Redskins vs. Bears.
Tues., Sept. 30—Packers vs. Dolphins; Redskins vs. Vikings.
Thurs., Oct. 2—Packers vs. Redskins; Bears vs. Dolphins.
Tues., Oct. 7—Packers vs. Bears; Vikings vs. Dolphins.

Newfolden Girls Lose To Roseau In Volleyball

Marshall County Central high school girls' volleyball team lost both ends of a varsity encounter with Roseau Tuesday to bow to the Rams 2-0.

Roseau won the match by 18-7 and 18-4 margins. Diane Anderson and Laurie Swenson were the top Newfolden scorers in the two games.

Roseau also won the B squad match by 18-9 and 18-15 scores.

Newfolden, 1-3 for the year in both varsity and B squad competition, will host Lancaster Monday at 6:15 p.m.

Officers Named For Slow Pitch Softball League

Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association elected new officers for the 1976 season Friday at the organization's post-season banquet at the Elks.

Dennis Bendickson was elected president of the association, succeeding Jack Petrillo; Curt Howe was named vice president, succeeding Bendickson; Dave Olin was voted secretary, succeeding Bill Weigelt; Warren Hanestad was chosen treasurer, succeeding Jim Rogalla; and Mike Lundgren was reelected publicity director.

Pool Schedule

Card of Thanks
I wish to express my thanks to St. Michael's hospital, the nurses and Dr. Hill and Dr. Haunz while my stay in the hospital for surgery. Also to Dr. Berg and my friends and relatives for the cards and gifts I received. But a special thanks to my mom and dad for everything they did for me. Also to Joyce Hosby, my aunt, for helping me and my parents while I was staying down there. It was very much appreciated.
Thank you all,
Susan Stigen

FOR SALE ON BIDS
315.17 Acre Grain Farm, owned by Ernest & Melvina Gagnon

Legal description of this farm is:

The East Half Southwest Quarter (E½SW¼) and Government Lots 6 & 7 and the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Six (6) in Township One Hundred Fifty-(150) North of Range Forty-three (43) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian. This is in Terrebonne Township in Red Lake County, located 3½ miles West, on Black top road, from Terrebonne on Minnesota Highway 92. The farm consists of 296 tillable acres of which 36 acres are summer fallowed in 1975, 7 acres of woods, and 3.2 acre building site. The building site has an older modern home, 36'x48' quonset, old barn, 36'x36' cattle shed, tool shed, double garage, concrete silo and wooden granary. The buildings are available for inspection by appointment only. Major ditching is done. The farm has a wheat allotment base of 11.2 acres, corn base 25.6 acres and barley base of 6.3 acres. The buyer may have possession of the farm upon removal of crops, with the exception of the home, garage and tool shed which will be occupied by Sellers until September 1, 1976. Sealed bids will be accepted until 1 p.m. on Friday, October 3, 1975, at the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON in Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, at which time they will be opened. Bids must be accompanied by a certified check, money order or cashier's check in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted. Those present submitting sealed bids will be allowed to raise their bids orally in multiples of $100.00. Sellers reserve the right to reject any and all bids. A deposit of 29% of the final bid must be paid at the close of bidding. The sellers will finance the balance on a Contract for Deed payable at 7% interest with principal payments over a period of 10 years. No right of prepayment shall be extended until 6 years from the date of sale. For further information contact the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

Card of Thanks
I wish to express my thanks to St. Michael's hospital, the nurses and Dr. Hill and Dr. Haunz while my stay in the hospital for surgery. Also to Dr. Berg and my friends and relatives for the cards and gifts I received. But a special thanks to my mom and dad for everything they did for me. Also to Joyce Hosby, my aunt, for helping me and my parents while I was staying down there. It was very much appreciated.
Thank you all,

FOR SALE ON BIDS

315.17 Acre Grain Farm, owned by Ernest & Melvina Gagnon

Legal description of this farm is:

The East Half Southwest Quarter (E½SW¼) and Government Lots 6 & 7 and the Southeast Quarter (SE¼) of Section Six (6) in Township One Hundred Fifty (150) North of Range Forty-three (43) West of the Fifth Principal Meridian. This is in Terrebonne Township in Red Lake County, located 3½ miles West, on Black top road, from Terrebonne on Minnesota Highway 92. The farm consists of 296 tillable acres of which 36 acres are summer fallowed in 1975, 7 acres of woods, and 3.2 acre building site. The building site has an older modern home, 26'x48' quonset, old barn, 34'x36' cattle shed, tool shed, double garage, concrete silo and wooden granary. The buildings are available for inspection by appointment only. Major ditching is done. The farm has a wheat allotment base of 11.2 acres, corn base 23.6 acres and barley base of 6.3 acres. The buyer may have possession of the farm upon removal of crops, with the exception of the home, garage and tool shed which will be occupied by Sellers until September 1, 1976. Sealed bids will be accepted until 1 p.m. on Friday, October 3, 1975, at the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON in Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, at which time they will be opened. Bids must be accompanied by a certified check, money order or cashier's check in the amount of 10% of the bid submitted. Those present submitting sealed bids will be allowed to raise their bids orally in multiples of $100.00. Sellers reserve the right to reject any and all bids. A deposit of 29% of the final bid must be paid at the close of bidding. The sellers will finance the balance on a Contract for Deed payable at 7% interest with principal payments over a period of 10 years. No right of prepayment shall be extended until 6 years from the date of sale. For further information contact the office of KRUTA AND MULDOON, Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed bids will be received by Goodridge Retirement Homes, Inc. hereinafter referred to as the "Owner" at The Volunteer Fire Dept. Building, Goodridge, Minnesota for construction of Duplex Housing Units Three and Four until 4:00 P.M. (CDST) on October 9, 1975, and will be publicly opened and read aloud immediately thereafter.

Proposal forms, contract documents, drawings and specifications as prepared by Harrie and Kennedy Architects are available at the Architect's office, 600 DeMers Avenue, Grand Forks, North Dakota 58201.

No bid will be considered unless it is securely sealed in an envelope and filed with the Owner prior to the time noted above for the closing of bids.

Each bid must be accompanied by a cash deposit, cashier's check, bid bond or certified check payable to the Owner in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the total bid as a guarantee that the bidder, if successful, will enter into a contract with the Owner for the work described in the proposal. This deposit will be subject to forfeiture as provided by law. The deposits of the two lowest bidders will be retained by the Owner until it has arranged financing for the project, but no longer than sixty (60) days. Deposits of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned within ten (10) days.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids, to waive formalities or to award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder.

Contractors desiring drawings, specifications and related documents for the purpose of submitting a bid may secure them from Harrie and Kennedy, Architects, 600 DeMers Avenue, P.O. Box 788, Grand Forks, North Dakota 58201 upon deposit of $10.00 for each set, which deposit will be refunded each bidder who submits a bona fide bid and returns the set in good condition within ten (10) days after the opening of bids.

You're Invited to Northern State Bank's 40th

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Tuesday, Sept. 16 Thru Friday, Sept. 19

40 GREAT YEARS 1935-1975

We've been growing with Thief River Falls for 40 years, and we're proud to be an integral part of this community! It was a significant day on August 24, 1935, when the Northern State Bank opened their doors on the same corner we still occupy. Assets in 1935 were $243,000. By 1975, 40 years later, our assets have grown to over $29,000,000.

The first directors of the new Northern State Bank in 1935 were:

George A. Belto, president
O. D. Ostby, vice president
E. M. Bennes, vice president
George W. Werstlein, cashier
A. Skarstad, assistant cashier
C. M. Berg, director
Rasmus Oen, director

One of the major milestones in our history was an extensive remodeling in April, 1971, with an open house to celebrate the renovation. Now "we're 40 and proud of it!" Our present officers and directors are:

OFFICERS:
G. A. Belto, president
Orville M. Hanson, vice president and cashier
O. A. Botner, vice pres.
Fredrick W. Dallmann, ass't. vice president
Wayne R. Thompson, assistant cashier
Steven J. Stokke, assistant cashier

DIRECTORS:
G. A. Belto
Orville M. Hanson
L. Gordon Ballingrud
Clyde Christensen
Norris N. Melander
Stan Wilson
William G. Ness

THINK SAFETY...
...Think Sunday

We can't miss them — these signs along the intersections of our streets. They protect our school children from physical harm. We see the sign . . . and slow down.

Most of us are deeply concerned about the safety of our youngsters . . . and these signs can be a reminder of a further obligation our society has to its youth. There are dangers in life for which only religious training and faith can prepare us.

Boys and girls approaching maturity deserve the spiritual protection which Christian education provides.

Whenever you approach a school crossing, slow down! But, just don't think safety — think SUNDAY!

Programs Help Students Finance Their Education

U.S. office of education offers five major programs to help students finance their education beyond high school. If you have been accepted or are enrolled in a vocational school, technical school, college or university, you may be eligible for assistance under one or more of the programs below.

(1) Basic educational opportunity grant program—This program offers outright grants to eligible students attending an approved vocational school or other postsecondary educational institution.

Last year $135 million went begging because students didn't know about this new program of student assistance. This year over $783 million is available for those wishing to pursue a degree or a career at a vocational school.

Who's eligible? If you are accepted by or enrolled in a postsecondary educational institution on at least a half-time basis and if you did not attend a postsecondary school before April 1, 1973, you may be entitled to a grant amounting to not less than $200 and not more than $1,400.

How to apply—To find out if you are eligible, complete a form called "Application for Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility" which is usually available from high schools, accredited vocational schools, colleges, and your public library. If you still cannot obtain this form, write Basic Grants, P.O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044.

(2) National direct student loan program—This year a total of $321 million has been appropriated for the program, which enables needy students to borrow up to $10,000 depending on their year of study. There is a $2,500 ceiling for the first two years of study, with an additional $2,500 allowed for the second two years.

Repayment begins nine months after you graduate or leave school. A three per cent interest rate is the only charge and you have up to 10 years to repay the loan.

Who is eligible? Any student who is enrolled at least half-time at an eligible institution and who has financial need.

How to apply - Applications may be obtained at the financial aid office of eligible colleges and vocational schools.

(3) Supplemental educational opportunity grant program—For the 1975-76 school year, $240 million has been provided for SEOGs. Like the basic grant program, this offers outright grants ranging from $200 to $1,500 a year to students. However, under SEOG, the school must provide you with additional financial assistance equal to the amount of the grant.

Who is eligible? This program is for students of exceptional financial need and who would have to discontinue their education without added financial help. They must be enrolled at least on a half-time basis.

How to apply - Forms may be obtained through the financial aid officer of eligible vocational schools and colleges.

(4) College work study program—This 'earn while you learn' assistance program provides students with jobs while in school. The jobs are arranged with participating non-profit employers, often in positions relevant to training. The salaries paid are equal to the current minimum wage and may earn qualified students as much as $3.50 an hour.

Who's eligible? Students enrolled at least half-time and whose financial need is determined by the school's financial aid officer.

How to apply - Apply for work-study through the financial aid officer of eligible schools.

(5) Guaranteed student loan program—This major loan program enables students to borrow money for school through banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations and other participating institutions. If you meet the qualifications of the lender, you may borrow up to $2,500 a year at seven per cent interest. The loan is guaranteed by either participating states or the federal government. Repayment of the loan begins nine to twelve months after you leave school. Students are allowed up to 10 years to repay.

Who's eligible? If you are enrolled at least half-time in a vocational or trade school or other higher educational institution participating in the program, and if you have financial need, you may be eligible for the loan. The federal government may, in some cases, pay the interest for you while you are in school.

How to apply - Information on the details of the program and application forms may be obtained from schools, banks and other lenders, your state guarantee agency, and regional offices of the U.S. office of education.

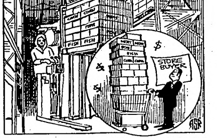
Your Grocer's Supermarket

Food Statistics Stagger The Imagination



MINNEAPOLIS — Imagine wearing an insulated snowmobile suit every working day — whether the temperature is a balmy 90° or an icy 22° below zero outside. One such man who does just that is Earl Staurseth, stockman in a new frozen food storage facility for the May Brothers Company Wholesale Food Distributors of Minneapolis.

The massive headquarters warehouse covers 257,750 square feet, of which the freezer facility is only part. That's about the space contained in 172, three-bedroom homes.

It's estimated that a family spending $50 per week on food could purchase groceries for the next 5,000 years before the stock would be depleted.

Temperature inside the freezer is maintained at a steady 10° below zero which is ideal for the $800,000 inventory of frozen food, but the temperature does provide some interesting working conditions for the employees who stock and maintain the freezer.

The May Company — which distributes food, produce, dairy products, packaged meats and dry goods to more than 300 independent stores and supermarket chains in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and the eastern Dakotas — handles one of the largest varieties of food in the United States.

The warehouse is stocked with 9,100 kinds of merchandise and, on an average day, the inventory contains 653,000 cases of food — or a staggering 15,700,000 individual food items.

One interesting point, and one probably contrary to popular belief, the May Company — and most other food wholesalers—operate on a profit margin of one-half of a cent per dollar or less (the lowest margin of probably any business in the country).

This means, these food wholesalers must sell $2 worth of food to make one penny profit. This compares with a 15%-20% profit margin for most businesses in the U.S.

Obviously, the answer is volume and in keeping costs as low as possible.

For the May Company's part, the company maintains a sophisticated computer operation for such steps as inventory control, billing, shipping, etc. The warehouse operates on a three shift, 24-hour-a-day, six day a week schedule.

It would be sheer torture for a dieter to see the huge food storehouse. On any given day the warehouse contains some 13,300,000 pounds of food.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

QUESTIONS ABOUT THE ENERGY ISSUE WERE SOLICITED FROM PEOPLE-ON-THE-STREET IN SIX MAJOR CITIES BY GULF OIL CORPORATION. HERE IS ONE OF THE QUESTIONS:

▶ HAVE WE ENOUGH FUEL RESERVES TO LAST FAR INTO THE FUTURE?

▶ ANSWER: Plenty — enough for at least 100 to 200 years on the North American continent. Coal, shale oil and nuclear resources are very large. Whether we develop these resources depends on our paying the enormous cost required. If we are willing to pay the price, then we will have plenty.

DO YOU HAVE A QUESTION ON ENERGY?

"Ideas interest me more than men. They live; they fight; they perish like men. Of course it may be said that our only knowledge of them is through men, just as our only knowledge of the wind is through the reeds that it bends; but all the same the wind is of more importance than the reeds."

- Andre Gide

Our Colorful Past

Thief River Falls and Pennington county have colorful histories, replete with personal and public events which have substantial interest to people living in the county and community today. A number of these histories are being gathered into a book to be published through cooperation of the county historical society.

One of the things which will make the book particularly interesting is that it will contain histories as individuals recall past happenings. Not everyone sees everything in the same light, of course, and what is trivial to someone may be important to someone else. The diverse viewpoints in the histories—to be published almost exactly as they are written and received—will give the book a unique character.

In the past few weeks the Times has published several of the articles which have been submitted for the book, with the intent being to encourage others to develop an interest and to make their own written contribution. We did as the county book will do; we used the articles in the manner and form in which they were received.

It has been called to our attention that officers of the county historical society have been subjected to individual criticism for the content of at least two of these articles. It should be pointed out that the articles were written by individuals not connected with the county historical society, and that neither the society nor the newspaper can be expected to attempt to verify happenings which the writers stated as fact. Furthermore, we would be no more inclined to believe the allegations of the critics than we would the original writers.

In one instance we likely contributed to some disapproval by publishing comments which had been made in conversation. This involved Rev. Halvor Bjornson, a pastor who served in the Silverton and Mavie areas around the turn of the century. We wrote the following:

"Mrs. Geving also recalls the tale of Rev. Bjornson refusing to pay a toll for crossing a corduroy bridge and becoming involved in a fight with the cantankerous land owner and would-be toll collector. As the story goes, the fight was physical enough so that the bridge keeper had three fingers bitten off in the battle."

It has now been adamantly denied that the pastor in question did such a deed. The land owner reportedly did have fingers missing, but the loss was attributed to some unknown cause. And a confrontation between the pastor and land owner did occur, it is agreed, but without such dire circumstances. One report—again equally unverified—was that Rev. Bjornson took the man by the arms near the shoulders and bodily set him in the man's own wagon, then proceeded on his way.

It is improper, of course, to tell wrongful tales and treat them as fact, and we would not knowingly do so. It is equally difficult, however, to separate the truth from the fiction in stories which have persisted through the passage of time. Our reference to the incident as a "tale" and a "story" was intended to indicate that it may not be fact, but its mention at all was to show some of the colorful incidents of early years in the area. No offense was meant to Rev. Bjornson or anyone else.

As to the criticism of individual histories, however, we think the critics may be somewhat unjustified in their remarks, and they are certainly out of line in being critical of the historical society personnel. History at best is an uncertain thing, and that is one of the aspects which makes it interesting.

Prosperity Can Wait

Following editorial is from the Redwood Gazette:

Will Rogers once wrote, "You can talk lack of confidence, but the biggest handicap to a return of prosperity is that there is an election this fall."

That was in March 1932, some seven months closer to an election than we are in August 1975, but the picture was similar in several ways:

—What had looked like a good crop was drying up.

—Lots of people were unemployed.

—Economic conditions throughout the world were uncertain, or worse.

—The president was a Republican and the congress was controlled by Democrats.

There were at least as many situations which were different, so this isn't a prediction that we are downhill bound.

The important parallel is that President Gerald Ford is eager for economic recovery, and reelection, while all those senators with presidential ambitions know their hopes hinge on having a considerable number of voters quite dissatisfied in November 1976.

History records a complete lack of cooperation with Herbert Hoover, who carried only Maine and Vermont against Franklin D. Roosevelt in the fall of 1932, and his name was brought up, like "Waterloo," at every election for a generation.

History will very likely do a repeat if politicians who are bad-mouthing every harbinger of better times achieve their purpose.

Do It Now

We like this poem by Berton Braley which appreared in a current issue of the American Voice, published by the American party:

If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing,
If you like him or you love him, tell him now:
Don't withhold your approbation till the parson makes oration
And he lies with snowy lilies on his brow.
Then no matter how you shout it, he won't really care about it;
He won't know how many teardrops you have shed.
If you think some praise is due him, now's the time to slip it to him,
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.
More than fame and more than money is the comment kind and sunny
And the hearty, warm approval of a friend;
For it gives to life a savor, and it makes you stronger, braver
And it gives you heart and spirit to the end;
If he earns your praise, bestow it; if you like him, let him know it;
Let the words of true encouragement be said;
Do not wait till life is over and he's underneath the clover,
For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

. . . FOR The People

Following editorial was written by Jim Weber in the Murray County Herald at Slayton:

Recently, a leading state newspaper reported that the possibility of state-owned businesses is currently being studied by certain members of our own state legislature. The report went on to say that plans were in the making to introduce legislation aimed at that goal during the 1976 session. Businesses being considered for state ownership are now privately-owned enterprises which are vital to our economy and growth. Specific areas mentioned were agriculture, banking, transportation, and energy.

What this represents is a blatant step leading towards the socialization of a free society. Government control of the above mentioned areas would be felt in all sectors of life, both public and private. The individual, whether he is a businessman or not, is directly or indirectly dependent and reliant on all of these businesses. By controlling agriculture, banking, energy, and transportation, the state government could effectively control all facets of life. State takeover of such businesses cannot be sanctioned in any way and should be prevented at all costs.

A leading Minnesota businessman summed up the proposal very accurately when he referred to it as "Legislative arrogance." Perhaps our lawmakerrs have assumed too much of a free hand regarding the original intent of government by the people, for the people. This same constitutional guideline appears to have been revised to read "government of the people, over the people." State ownership of farms, banks, energy resources and distribution centers, and transportation facilities would reach an intruding hand into the private and free lives of each and every member of the world's greatest democracy.

One wonders what would happen to our economy if the banks were run like the U.S. Post Office. Thinking philosophically, we can realize the irony of such a plan emerging on the eve of the bicentennial celebration of our freedom.

Borrowed Nonsense

A fellow says that the boss told his new, slow-thinking secretary he'd be in conference and didn't want any telephone calls.

"If they say their business is important," said the boss, "just say, 'that's what they all say.' "

That afternoon his wife called and said, "I must talk to him. I'm his wife."

"Yeah," said the secretary, "that's what they all say."

It all began in Nottingham
Back in the days of yore.
Robin took it from the rich
And gave it to the poor.
Today we use a modern way—
The object is no less,
The longbow is outdated, so
We use the I.R.S.

Strandquist Senior Citizens News

The senior citizens met at the center September 11th for their weekly meeting. Twenty-three registered that day. Our visitors were Corella Stennes of Hopkins, Elmer Amundson of East Grand Forks, Pastor John Hogberg, Lorraine Setten, Mrs. Ardys Larson and Tina, Mrs. Julius Kleinwachter and Janet Olson.

We were all involved in different projects this day. Some rag dolls were made, a quilt completed, a crib quilt tied. Florence and Patty gave the center some rummage that was priced and put on display. Some fridge ornaments were made and wrapped up, and a few ladies worked on sofa pillows. Our sofa pillows sell so fast we must keep making them to have some on hand.

One visitor's comment was, "What a lot of different things you work on here."

Amanda Johnson gave a door prize, that Evelyn Lefrooth won.

Elmer Amundson gave the center a $2 gift and Ardys and Lorraine gave $1 each. Thanks for gifts of money and lunch tips.

The center furnished the lunch this Thursday made by Irene.

The American Conscience

by Dr. RUDY SKOGERBOE

The United States and in particular the midwest has done it again. While the great Soviet farm programs flounder in shortages, our farmers are able to sell wheat to them. The weather was too hot in Russia and there was too little rain. In our own Red River Valley there is weather disaster too—but production will still be high enough to export wheat. The difference again is not weather, but our free enterprise system. This system, inspite of bad weather, inspite of government meddling and discriminating labor laws is still free enough to outstrip the controlled farming of the Communist. This is a simple lesson for us and we are not only grateful, but are aware that our freedoms must be preserved. The profit incentive has won again, in other words.

Russia expects to have a ten per cent shortage of wheat while we expect a 1.4 billion bushel surplus for export or storage. The media, the press, and even Secretary of Agriculture, Earl Butz have only praise for the impending sale of grain to the Soviets. However wonderful it is to have a good balance of trade and a good price for wheat, I feel the political implications must be understood. The opposition to this grain deal is very silent. I realize my view is in the minority and I would be the first one to hope I am wrong, but let's consider why we should not sell to them unless certain changes are made by the monoply buyers of the Kremlin.

In the first place we should understand that in no way are we selling this grain to help the Russian people. We are selling to the small minority of terrorists who rule their country. Lemnin said, "Let the bourgeois sell us his rope. We will then sell it back to him to hang himself." By this he meant that our greed for profit would destroy ourselves while his disciplined economy would eventually control the world.

The Communists need wheat and so we rush to sell. What does this enemy of freedom give in return for this compassion (or greed) on our part? Quoting from an article by Melvin Laird, former Secretary of Defense, the following examples of this good faith has been shown to us by the Soviets: "1. The U.S.S.R. has violated agreements to limit strategic weapons. 2. They assisted North Vietnam in making a shambles of the Paris peace accords and overrunning South Vietnam. 3. They have reneged on their promise to guarantee unimpeded civilian access to West Berlin. 4. They are abetting terrorism and guerrilla warfare in the Middle East. 5. In Portugal, they have sponsored a massive campaign to impose a communist regime subservient to the Kremlin. 6. They have engaged in a relentless effort to attain military supremacy. In fact, our disarmament overtures have brought an increase in Soviet military allocations."

Someone recently asked why Secretary Kissinger was so careful to make at least an outward appearance of friendship with the Kremlin. In other words he was asked why detente was important enough to make all these concessions. He answered, "What alternative do you offer?" I would say this grain deal is a good answer. If we sell to them, we should get concessions and some of their world plans for conquest should cease.

The way it is now, our grain deal makes it possible for the Soviets to make a bigger and stronger war machine. It also makes the slave masters stronger in their own country while we have no assurance that the grain will help the ordinary people. Is this extra profit really worth the price, or is it just another mistake?

Reading the morning paper may give you a shock, but it really shouldn't. When a "Tin Horn" Dictator like Castro confiscates American property as he did several years ago, our Congress raised no fuss. Now when Venezuela takes over oil fields owned by American firms, we are told this "was expected". Our administration talks of giving away the Panama Canal and Congress made only a token protest. These insults to our Country are shocking, but the leaders we have voted into power are only doing what they think we want them to do. Going into the matter of voting records again seems important because new bills are being voted on every day and the way our Congress votes does not seem to change.

House Resolution 2166 Tax Cut—or rebate. This did little to help our personal finances, but it cost the Federal Government 22.9 billion dollars. It passed by a vote of 287 to 125. All the Mid West Congressmen and Senators voted for it except M. Young, R-ND, Abdnor, R-SD, Al Quie and Haggedorn, R-MN. The tax reduction is necessary but everyone knows it is harmful when spending is not reduced along with a tax cut.

House Resolution 46, Federal Control of Youth Camps: This bill gives the Federal Government power to enforce safety regulations etc. in both private and public youth camps. These are now controlled by state law. It is a duplication type of bill and is costly, of course as well as being meddlesome. Congress passed this by 197 to 174. Again all Democrat Congressmen from our area voted for this bill.

House Resolution 25, Strip Mining: This bill puts drastic restrictions on strip mining at a time when we need coal. The bill was passed by a vote of 293 to 115. Since the President's veto was upheld, it did not become law. Senator Young voted against the bill and again all the Democrats voted for it. Some experts say this bill would decrease coal production and increase the cost. Since the U.S. has over 41 per cent of the world's coal, it is logical to use that coal now. Congress listens to the environmentalists who have pushed very hard for this bill. An expert who I believe knows what he is saying stated that the land was being re-claimed and that no new legislation was necessary. We talk about an energy crisis and an oil shortage. The mining of coal is one good way to help. We face the ever increasing danger of an Arab embargo and it would seem necessary to the security of our Country to be as independent of foreign imports as possible.

Although there seems to be little logic in the way these Congressmen vote, we must take responsibility for their actions. Every two years the House is up for re-election. If we continue to send the same men down to Washington, they must feel we agree with their performance.

The problem is not this vote or that vote, however. It is a way of thinking. What is the role of Government in our lives? I believe it should be very limited. It should be first concerned with national defense and law and order. The rest should be up to us as far as possible. The trend in Congress is very clear. They consistently vote for more government, more red-ink spending and less national defense. As we approach the Soviet system ourselves, we should take time to wonder where we will go for our wheat when that time comes.

Tips For Safe Hunting

Hunting season is when insurance companies brace for claims because thousands of novice hunters take to the field.

According to James Taylor, of CNA Insurance's claims department—an avid hunter himself—the most common claims result from poor skill and aptitude (such as stumbling or falling with a weapon) and violating hunting rules and laws.

"Preparations should already be under way to help assure a safe hunting season," advises Taylor. He offers these tips to hunters:

SAFETY

- Complete an approved hunter safety course.
- Thoroughly check all equipment prior to opening day.
- Know the territory you are hunting.
- Tell somebody where you will be and when you will return.
- Know where your hunting partners are, being careful of their line of fire and your own.
- Take a well-equipped first aid kit, compass and battery-operated radio on every trip.
- Wear fluorescent orange clothes — including a hat. Never use a white handkerchief.
- Alcohol and gunpowder do not mix — don't drink while hunting.

HEALTH

- Have a thorough physical exam and do exercises for the legs, shoulders and arms. Know your physical limits, being careful not to overdo.
- Dress for the weather and have a complete change available.
- If injured, have a physician examine you immediately.
- Liquor lowers the body's temperature making you colder. Don't drink.

INSURANCE

In most cases of liability, homeowners policies provide coverage, including medical payments if a fellow-hunter is accidentally shot. Some of the hunting gear may also be covered. A special "all risk" policy will cover all firearms and gear when listed separately in the policy.

Hunters accident insurance—a short term accident and accidental death policy—is available. It can even include heart attack coverage.

"These preparations and precautions can make hunting both enjoyable and safe," Taylor concludes.

Halfway House For Handicapped Slated

by Markie Harwood
U of M News Service

When a spinal cord injury causes partial or complete paralysis, it forces a myriad of adjustments in the victim's family, employment, housing, recreational and social situations.

In the University of Minnesota hospitals department of physical medicine and rehabilitation—a special regional spinal cord injury center—patients who will be spending the rest of their lives in wheel chairs as a result of spinal cord injuries receive intensive care to help them make the necessary adjustments. Counseling and physical and occupational therapy treatments are provided for up to five months, unless there are major complications.

Now, the department is attempting to expand its program to help these patients better adjust to situations they will encounter once they are released from the hospital, according to John Schatzlein, community resources coordinator and counselor in the department. Plans are being made for a halfway house where patients can learn how to function with their handicaps in the community, away from the protective setting of a hospital, while still under the care of hsopital personnel, Schatzlein said.

In a home setting, the patient in a wheelchair could learn, for example, how to move in and out of rooms and how to use kitchen and bathroom equipment. In addition, with guidance from the hospital staff, the patient's family and friends could learn how to meet his new needs. Schätzlein said.

In order to study the halfway house concept for one year, the department hopes to rent one or two units in a new apartment complex at 2100 Bloomington ave. S. in Minneapolis. The building, being constructed with federal and city funds, will be relatively convenient for handicapped people in comparison to other apartment complexes, Schatzlein said.

A ramp system, instead of stairs, connects the three floors of the building and can be used as an emergency exit if the elevator breaks down. Doorways are three feet wide, and the front doors have peepholes low enough to permit a person sitting in a wheelchair to see through them. Light switches are lowered and electrical plugs and toilet seats are raised, Schatzlein said.

Patients making use of the facilities before being officially released from the hospital would not be charged if subsidy funding can be found, Schatzlein said. Rent and utility charges of approximately $5,000 per year for the two units are the only additional expenses the department expects, he said. Funds are currently being sought from local private agencies and a benefit is planned if private funds are not available.

Other expenses could be easily handled, Schatzlein hopes. Furniture for the apartments, for instance, might possibly be donated by a local furniture company, which could write the donation off as a tax deduction, he said.

Twenty-four-hour supervision by hospital staff members would not be necessary because patients placed in the units would already be able to function relatively independently or with the help of their family and friends, Schatzlein said. Hospital staff members would be available daily but no decision has yet been made on how many staff members or how many hours per day. Patients could call the hospital in an emergency or, because the apartments are convenient to the university, visit the hospital on an outpatient basis, Schätzlein said.

In addition to providing better service to patients with spinal cord injuries, the program could also be beneficial in expanding other university teaching and research programs involving the handicapped, Schatzlein said.

Physical thereapy students could be made aware of patient-transfer techniques needed in the home that are not needed in the hospital, and occupational therapy students could learn to develop adaptive equipment for home situations, he said.

Two current research projects also could be carried out at the complex, Schatzlein, said. Dr. Harvey Martin, assistant professor of pediatric dentistry, has received a grant to study provision of dental care to the disabled. And a film is being produced by Schatzlein and Dr. Paul Walker, assistant professor of pediatric dentistry, to teach dental students how to be comfortable with disabled patients.

The community-university health care center, in the same neighborhood. is interested in establishing a program of preventive care at the complex.

At present, 74 of the 90 apartment units have been rented to handicapped people and there is some concern about a handicapped ghetto developing, Schatzlein said. But the advantages outweigh this disadvantage, he added.

The halfway-house concept is an extension of the weekend pass currently used in the department. Now, patients are sent home for a weekend to see if they are ready to handle the adjustments to be made in family situations. The halfway house would allow a longer trial period and would be especially beneficial for patients from out of town, keeping them close to the hospital in case of emergencies, Schatzlein said.

When the department is not using the apartment units for adult patients, they could be used by children in university rehabilitation programs, he said.

New Grapefruit Diet 'Pill' Gives Fast Weight Loss

PHOENIX (Special) — An amazing new improved version of the popular grapefruit diet has recently been developed featuring the use of a "grapefruit pill" that enables overweight people to easily and quickly become slim, trim and attractive "while eating almost as much as you want."

The new chewable (candy-like) grapefruit pill puts an end to the inconvenient mess, fuss and high cost of eating half a grapefruit at every meal. Happy testimonials from people all across the country claim "you save time and money while achieving more effective weight loss results with this new diet plan."

Lose up to a Pound a Day

Those who follow this simple diet plan report an average loss of up to a pound a day and even more without strenuous exercise or starvation.

Fortified with vitamin E and C, the new whole grapefruit extract pill and foods as prescribed by the diet will, through natural action, act to help your body release excess fat and body fluids, allowing you to keep your weight down and figure in firm control.

Eat All You Want

Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, lobster, chicken, fish, some sauces, gravies, bacon, eggs, and still lose weight.

Diet Now Available

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and grapefruit pills, send $5 for 10 day supply (or $8 for 20 day supply or $10 for 30 days supply) cash, check, or Money Order to: GRAPEFRUIT FARMS, Dept. THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

How noisy is too noisy? There has been a deafening debate going on in Washington over that question.

And a lot is at stake in the outcome: For the worker, it could be his hearing or his job. For the businessman, it could be his business. And for the consumer, it could be another big boost for inflation.

The issue breaks down into two parts:

(1) What's the highest level of noise a worker can be subjected to on the job without suffering serious permanent damage to his hearing?

(2) What's the best way to protect him from noise levels higher than that?

Everybody agrees that the worker should be protected from dangerous noise levels. But that's where the agreement ends. One might expect business and labor to be at odds—and they are—but in this case, the four federal agencies involved can't even agree with one another.

Some experts believe the upper noise limit should be 90 decibels (dBA). That's about as noisy as a busy New York subway station. In this camp, to varying degrees, are representatives of industry, the occupational safety and health administration, the national institute of occupational safety and health, and the council on wage and price stability.

Other experts believe 90 dBA is too high, and want the standard to be 85 dBA, which is about the noise level of a busy street corner. Organized labor and the environmental protection agency favor the lower level.

Much more important than the level, however, is how it is to be reached.

The simplest, least expensive and most effective way of protecting a worker's hearing from a noisy environment is to equip him with a set of custom fitted ear plugs or ear muffs (which look like hi-fi headphones without a cord).

The alternative is to redesign all machinery to make it quieter in operation.

Labor and all of the government agencies but one want industry to try redesign first, to the extent "feasible," and to resort to ear plugs only if redesign fails.

Representatives of industry say it doesn't make much sense to choose the most expensive possible solution—redesign—when there's a better way to do it that costs far less.

How much less? Personal ear protection for all who need it would cost about $23 million. Modifying or replacing present factory equipment to meet the proposed noise standards—if it could be done at all—could cost up to $150 billion. Even OSHA puts the cost as high as $31 billion (in 1973 dollars).

Remember, that cost represents a figure all of us, as consumers, would wind up paying. The investment required would raise the cost of production, but it would not make production more efficient—therefore, the increased cost would have to be tacked on to the price of the product.

Why not use ear plugs? Well, say labor representatives, they might be uncomfortable and workers might not wear them. But, hardhats, safety glasses and safety shoes are also a nuisance, and yet workers are willing to wear them for their own good.

The council on wage and price stability—the government's anti-inflation watchdog—chided OSHA and EPA for their "wide divergence of opinion on . . . fundamental issues" and the fact that they "seem to be either unwilling or unable to cooperate to narrow" their differences. The council also warned that "inappropriately stringent standards can lead to layoffs, add to industrial and consumer costs and impair the ability of industry to finance badly needed capital improvements."

And it does seem strange, when you think about it, that the same federal government that doesn't consider three-point auto safety belts to great an inconvenience for the motorist is nevertheless willing to spend $150 billion of our money to save some factory workers from ear plugs.

If you agree, call your congressman and give him an earful.

How do you feel about getting government back closer to the people?

I think most Americans have a gut feeling today that we need to move in that direction. And yet, on so many fronts we seem to be moving rapidly in the other direction. Stranger still, many of the same people who make a lot of the noise about bringing government "closer to the people" turn out to be on the opposite side of the issue, on a case-by-case basis.

Some current proposals for federal "land use" legislation are a good example of the latter behavior.

"Land use" is a fancy term for what used to be called "zoning," and more recently has been known as "planning."

We can—and should—do a better job of land use planning than we have done in the past. But we should also approach the task with a healthy appreciation of its complexity. Much of what once passed for "progressive" zoning and tax policy in an earlier era has contributed to some of our most intractable urban problems today. Why, for example, should it be nearly impossible in so many of our big cities to live within walking distance of one's place of work?

Conversely, diversity and local experimentation have often pointed the way for others to follow. Some cities today—Chicago comes to mind—are building skyscrapers that combine within one building shopping, recreational facilities, office space, hotels and apartments. Residents (theoretically) can commute by elevator, contributing little or nothing to transportation-related urban problems.

Land use, of course, is not an issue related solely to big cities. Suburbs, agricultural areas and wilderness lands also have their unique planning and use problems. And for that matter, the considerations that apply to protecting a wilderness area in New Mexico may be quite different from those for a tidal marsh in Maryland.

Land use is also a subject that affects you, directly and indirectly, in the pocketbook. Zoning and other land use regulations determine what you can do with your own property, what can be done with property adjacent to yours, and what can be done with the other property in your community. This last point has a very direct bearing on your local taxes, as well as on the nature of your immediate environment.

For all of these reasons, it is important for each of us to pay more attention to local land use issues. But for the same reasons, I would hate to see the federal camel get its nose under the tent, and that's exactly what's being proposed in Washington today.

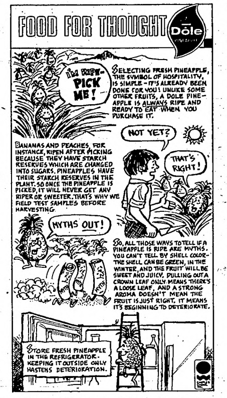
Last year, a bill was introduced in Congress to establish federal standards for land use. States which did not adhere to the standards could have lost not only the funds available under the bill, but also federal funds for parks, highways and airports!

This bill was so frightening in its totalitarian implications that it didn't get very far. But its sponsors are back now, to try again. The new bills—H.R. 3510 in the House and S. 984 in the Senate—offer only a carrot and not a stick. However, it is precisely such "carrots" that have often forced states and cities to spend money for programs that they don't really need or want, simply because they can't afford to lose the federal funds available for the purpose.

Representative Morris Udall (D-Ariz.), author of H.R. 3510, has denied that his bill would give federal officials "any authority to review a state's land use plan." But section 202 (c) of the bill itself says, "no state shall be eligible for any grant . . . unless the Secretary (of the interior) determines that the state land use program meets the requirements of Title III." How would you interpret that language?

Our ancestors fought, among other things, to gain freedom from onerous land use restrictions imposed by the Crown. Let's not wind up back where we started.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT



Dole
I'M RIPE-PICK ME!
NOT YET?
THAT'S RIGHT!
MYTHS OUT!
MYTH
MYTH

SELECTING FRESH PINEAPPLE, THE SYMBOL OF HOSPITALITY, IS SIMPLE - IT'S ALREADY BEEN DONE FOR YOU! UNLIKE SOME OTHER FRUITS, A DOLE PINEAPPLE IS ALWAYS RIPE AND READY TO EAT WHEN YOU PURCHASE IT.

BANANAS AND PEACHES, FOR INSTANCE, RIPEN AFTER PICKING BECAUSE THEY HAVE STARCH RESERVES WHICH ARE CHANGED INTO SUGARS. PINEAPPLES HAVE THEIR STARCH RESERVES IN THE PLANT. SO ONCE THE PINEAPPLE IS PICKED, IT WILL NEVER GET ANY RIPER OR SWEETER. THAT'S WHY WE FIELD TEST SAMPLES BEFORE HARVESTING.

SO, ALL THOSE WAYS TO TELL IF A PINEAPPLE IS RIPE ARE MYTHS. YOU CAN'T TELL BY SHELL COLOR - THE SHELL CAN BE GREEN, IN THE WINTER, AND THE FRUIT WILL BE SWEET AND JUICY. PULLING OUT A CROWN LEAF ONLY MEANS THERE'S A LOOSE LEAF, AND A STRONG AROMA DOESN'T MEAN THE FRUIT IS JUST RIGHT. IT MEANS IT'S BEGINNING TO DETERIORATE.

STORE FRESH PINEAPPLE IN THE REFRIGERATOR. KEEPING IT OUTSIDE ONLY HASTENS DETERIORATION.

If these aren't your favorite brands now, perhaps they should be

They're our private brands and if you're concerned about high food prices now is a good time to get acquainted with them. What is a private brand? It's groceries we buy in quantity and package with our name on them. These private brands are not heavily advertised so the savings are passed on to you. So our brands are less expensive. And because we put our own name on each package, we're very fussy about the quality that goes inside. You should be completely satisfied or you get your money back? Lower price, higher quality, our guarantee, plus very special prices for our Mid-September Blitz Sale. Isn't it time you gave our favorite brands a try?

Protecting your dollar!

By
Warren Spannaus
Attorney General
State of Minnesota

No matter whether you turn on your radio or television or look at newspapers or magazines, you are bombarded with advertisements offering you enticing "rebates" on purchases.

Today's advertising often consists of offering a rebate on your household and automobile purchases. Since the taxpayer is so interested in the federal tax rebate he or she is obtained, merchants believe that the word rebate will catch a consumer's attention. Consequently, you can get $300 rebates on car purchases, $50 rebates on sewing machines and $2 rebates on toasters.

However, what does this rebate mean? A rebate price should not be confused with "bargain" or "discount" pricing. If a cash rebate is offered on a purchase, there is neither a price cut nor discount. The cost of the item remains the same. Instead a cash refund is made after the purchase. In some rebate programs, the total price may be reduced by the rebate amount prior to payment.

In a rebate sale, the customer may pay sales taxes on the unreduced, original purchase price. If the pruchase is financed, the customer will probably have to pay a finance charge computed on the unreduced price.

Some rebate advertising may be fraudulent and deceptive. A merchant may claim that he is giving you a $100 rebate on a $400 color television set. In truth, he may be selling you a television that normally sells at $300 regardless of whether there is a rebate promotion.

A door-to-door salesman may offer a $100 cash rebate on a set of encyclopedias, but one condition may be that the rebate check must be mailed to you. Time may pass without you ever receiving that $100 check. When you attempt to correspond with the salesman in order to complain, you may find that he does not respond and may have vanished without leaving a forwarding address.

Before you make a purchase under rebate conditions, be sure that you are aware of all of the terms of the purchase. Also, as a wise consumer, you should compare the anticipated savings with the foreseeable risks.

If you have any questions, you may contact the Attorney General's Office by writing to the Consumer Protection Division, 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155 or calling (612) 296-3353.

"Talented boys and girls wanted for television, movies and modeling jobs."

Have any of the Marilyn Monroes or Robert Redfords of your household responded to such an advertisement?

If so, you're probably one of a growing number of people who have found out that many talent-promotion businesses rarely live up to their promises.

If you do choose to get involved, how can the company be checked out? Inquire whether the agency is licensed. Although there is no licensing requirements in Minnesota, the state of California—where most movies, television shows and many commercials are made—requires agents to be licensed. The two major unions of industry—the Screen Actors Guild (in Hollywood) and AFTRA (American Federation of Television and Radio Artists)—will also know whether a company is legitimate. AFTRA is an AFL-CIO affiliate with an office in Minneapolis. Also, check with the Better Business Bureau; it will be able to consult its counterparts in other states.

Talent promotion businesses will emphasize that breaking into the industry is a long shot and that you should consider your investment a gamble. Fine. But ask specific questions so that you know the promotion company itself is not a gamble, too. Where are the officials from? How long have they been in business? What major producers, studios or agencies have they worked with? Have any of their clients obtained work due to the program? If this kind of specific information is denied you—on the theory that these are industry secrets—be suspicious.

Make certain that the firm is really promoting talent and not in the photography business. A Chicago-area newspaper recently discovered that a child modeling agency was apparently deriving most of its income from selling parents the photographs its clients needed for job applications. Only five per cent of the company's clients obtained work, and for most the job was a single session.

In modeling and acting jobs earnings are deceptive, because although the hourly rates are high, the length of most jobs is short. Read any contract carefully for its provision as to the percentage of any earnings a client must return to his or her agent.

Minnesotans are often considered vulnerable by talent promotion businesses because these industries are centered in California and New York and are not well known here. If you have any questions on such a company, please contact the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

Minnesota consumers should be aware of a confidence scheme which has been attempted several times during recent days and may be spreading throughout the Midwest. The primary victims are the elderly, and some have lost as much as $14,000 as a result of the scheme.

The con man often calls the victim on the telephone posing as a public official or bank or savings and loan employee. He asks the person to help with an investigation of a bank or savings and loan agency and indicates that there may be some fraud on the part of a bank employee, counterfeit money being passed or shortages in the person's account. The object of the initial contact is to get the consumer to cooperate with the person posing as an official.

The victim is asked to go to the financial institution and draw money out of his account, bring it to his home and wait for the "investigator" to come to the home and inspect it. The investigater later comes to the home, counts the money, thanks the victim for his cooperation and says he will take the money back to the bank. Unfortunately, the con man leaves with the money and is never heard from again.

Consumers should take two courses of action to help protect themselves and others from this scheme:

First, don't withdraw your money from a bank or savings and loan agency at the urging of someone who purports to be an official making an investigation of the financial institution. Bona fide officials will not request that you withdraw funds.

Second, if you receive such a call, contact your local police department or sheriff's office immediately. You may be one of a number of citizens targeted to be victims of this scheme, and your local officials will want to investigate the matter further.

If you have any questions, please contact the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division, 102 State Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155.

The lives of sixty per cent of all children in developing countries are seriously threatened by malnutrition and curtailment of vital services caused by current economic conditions. As advocate for the world's children, UNICEF seeks to reverse these trends by assisting developing nations' programs to improve health, nutrition, education and social well-being of their children.

In Southeast Asia alone, 100,000 children go blind each year as a result of lack of Vitamin A. The price of a small bag of potato chips or a candy bar—donated to UNICEF—can provide the Vitamin A capsules needed to protect three children from blindness for an entire year.

How's Your Health

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Association.)

Longing to shed that post-holiday spread? If you are waging a campaign against the battle of the bulge, keep in mind that there is no surefire way to lose weight without cutting down calorie intake, advises the Minnesota state medical association.

All too often the non-dieting schemes of weight reduction appeal to the obese person because they appear to be a less painful way than using willpower required by medically sound dietary control. Under normal circumstances a person will not lose excess weight without taking in less calories from food than the body uses for energy expenditure.

How calories are used by the body—through metabolism and exercise—varies with individuals. Some persons maintain their weight at 1,500-1,600 calories a day while others may not lose or gain with a 3,500 or even a 4,000 caloric intake. A pound of fat contains an estimated 3,500 calories. This means that in order to lose one pound of fat a person must expend 3,500 more calories than he consumes.

A successful weight control program must be based on a person's needs, state of general health and the ability for self motivation. When a weight reduction program has been selected it must be followed conscientiously to be effective. The advice and supervision of a physician is particularly important when a large amount of weight is to be lost.

Maintaining the desired weight after the initial loss is essential to any successful weight control program.

For most persons, a sting by a bee, wasp, or hornet is no more than a temporary feeling of discomfort and inconvenience. In rare instances these stings can be the cause of serious reactions in the human system, or even death, advise the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Prompt medical attention should not be delayed when the site of an insect sting causes unusual local changes including undue swelling, a zone of redness, and a local sensation of heat.

A sensitivity may develop with the first bite, in other instances a series of exposures is necessary. Some persons are never affected. The sensitized person will usually experience a number of warning symptoms which indicate that there is an increasing severity of reaction to any of the most recent exposures, including a feeling of faintness, nausea, and the appearance of hives, with generalized itching. Milder reactions will usually respond to systematic treatment including the use of antihistamines, antipruritics, and sedatives.

A anaphylactic shock is a rare but grave sensitivity reaction. Because of its severity, first aid measures by inexperienced individuals are not advisable.

Individuals who have experienced sensitivity symptoms following an insect sting are advised to consult a physician for desensitization measures to prevent more serious reactions which could result from future exposures. Mixed extracts of the various bees, wasps, and hornets are used by the doctor to carry out a program of desensitization. The local care of a bee sting should also include inspection for the possible presence of the stinger.

There is a pressing need to educate the home canner in how to avoid botulism, a serious form of food poisoning, emphasizes the Minnesota State Medical association.

With the renewed interest in home canning, there is also the increased danger of botulism, a disease which can produce critical illness and is fatal in one-fourth of all cases.

The MSMA points out that botulism bacteria grow only in airless places—for example, in the vacuum-sealed containers used in home canning. The bacteria and its toxins can be destroyed by exposure for 10 minutes or more to a temperature of 212 degrees, the temperature reached in waterbath canning.

The botulinum spores (as distinct from the bacteria) are not destroyed at this temperature, and the spores can produce more of the deadly bacteria. Water-bath canning should only be used for foods which do not harbor spores of the bacteria. High-acid foods are the only ones for which water-bath canning is safe. Examples of high-acid foods are citrus fruits and tomatoes.

Low acid foods such as meat, string beans and corn must be processed in a pressure cooker, which reaches temperatures above 249 degrees for 15 minutes.

Canned food that is in any way suspect, must not be sampled until it has been thoroughly cooked. There is no easily recognizable, characteristic odor, and cans do not necessarily bulge, as in other kinds of spoilage.

The best procedure with suspect food is: When in doubt, throw it out!

Autumn is in the air. As you prepare to put another log on the fire or turn up the thermostat to take off the chill of a cool fall evening, take heed against the danger of death by asphyxiation from carbon monoxide, warns the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, tasteless, odorless gas. Normal combustion produces only an insignificant amount of it, but incomplete combustion of any fuel increases the amount of CO. It has a gradual and cumulative effect. The early stages of poisoning are indicated by headache, dizziness and sleepiness. As more gas is absorbed, symptoms include nausea, vomiting, fluttering and throbbing of the heart, and finally unconsciousness and death. These symptoms resemble those of many common diseases, and this makes it easy for a person or family to fail to recognize that they are being poinsoned. Each year, more than 1,500 Americans die from carbon monoxide poisoning, about 900 of them in their homes. Many of these deaths could have been prevented.

To prevent carbon monoxide poisoning in your home, have all heating systems checked annually for operating efficiency. Make sure that vents, pipes, flues, and chimneys are tight. Be sure that all heating devices designed for venting are properly vented to the outside. If you're changing types of fuel, ask a qualified service man to, adjust all appliances involved. Charcoal grills and hibachis used indoors are dangerous unless you provide additional fresh air. Similarly, your fireplace damper should always remain open until you are certain that the fire is out.

A wavering, yellow flame on the normal gas burner means that it may be giving off excessive amounts of CO. Equipment which burns fuel oil has a clear yellow or orange flame when it is working properly.

Lack of clean water is one of the most serious health hazards for children and mothers in many developing countries. In 1974, 49,000 village water supply systems aided by UNICEF brought the benefits of safe water to 8.8 million people.

MAIL TO Mrs. Willie McLean and Adolph Borgen, pictured above, has been addressed Rural Route 1 because—due to several mix-ups and misunderstandings—the street they lived on in Tessum's addition had no name. On September 9 the city council officially designated it "Martha" avenue. Mrs. McLean and Borgen were signers of a petition requesting the change. The excavation on Martha avenue visible in the background is for the extension of city sewer and water into Tessum's addition, which was recently annexed by Thief River Falls.

Residents Resolve Naming Of Street

by Paul Forsberg
Times Reporter

"It isn't every day you get to change your address without having to move," said Mrs. Willie McLean. But that is the case for and other Tessum's addition residents who lived on a street that formerly had no name.

In a regular meeting September 9, the Thief River Falls city council officially designated the anonymous street "Martha avenue", and ended an extended period of confusion regarding the various Tessum's addition avenues.

Source of the confusion probably defies rational explanation, but apparently the problem began many years ago, soon after Tessum's addition was created. Originally there were three avenues in the addition, according to Mrs. McLean. Bauman avenue, where her parents lived, was the first street west of the Sixth street railroad tracks. Two other streets, Gleason and Hennepin, lay to the west of Bauman.

Mrs. McLean said that about 30 years ago a new resident to Tessum's addition, apparently not realizing he lived on Hennepin avenue, listed his address as Gleason avenue. Eventually, what used to be called Hennepin avenue came to be known as Gleason avenue.

Though the seeds of the problem were planted then, the situation remained more or less dormant until four years ago, when street signs were posted.

The Bauman avenue sign was originally posted on Mrs. McLean's street where she, naturally, felt it should be. But it didn't stay there long. Mrs. McLean said Manley Torgerson, a resident of what what was originally known as Gleason avenue, somehow arranged for the Bauman sign to be placed on his street.

When contacted by the Times, Torgerson said he had requested the change in sign placement, but he argued that his street was where it justifiably belonged. "I was listed in the phone book as living on Bauman, so I figured the sign should be here too," he said. Torgerson stated that he phoned the late city alderman Arthur Rambeck, who then "took care of" having the sign changed.

Thus, rightly or wrongly, the residents of Mrs. McLean's street were the odd men out, and living on a street with no name can be troublesome. Visitors unfamiliar with the area experienced difficulty finding addresses. So would taxi drivers and repairmen. Once, when a neighborhood resident suffered a heart attack, Mrs. McLean had to go to the corner to direct the ambulance.

"We felt we had to do something, the way the city is growing," she said. "And what if we had a fire?"

Her first opportunity to address the city council on the situation was at a public hearing May 6, which was called to discuss a proposal for the annexation of Tessum's addition into the city limits and the extension of city sewer and water into the area.

The council, caught completely off guard by the problem, according to Mrs. McLean, took no action at that time. But mayor Robert Carlson visited her several times in the succeeding

Sixth Graders' Outdoor Day Set Sept. 25 At NCC

Approximately 300 local sixth graders will attend an outdoor conservation education day to be held on September 25. The learning experience, sponsored for the third year by the Pennington county extension service, will be held at the ecological study area at Northland community college. Students from the Franklin middle school, St. Bernard's and Goodridge will be attending.

Sixth graders will be involved in many learning experiences designed to illustrate ecological principles applied in managing natural resources. A series of 20-minute classes will be presented by various instructors from Thief River Falls and throughout the state.

Instructors and their topics are: Don Pierce (Thief Lake game refuge)—the whitetail deer; Howard Hill (Agassiz National wildlife refuge)—waterfowl management; Doug Sandstrom (University of Minnesota, Crookston)—wildlife management; Don Barron (soil conservation service)—soils; and Tom Powell (University of Minnesota, St. Paul)—forest management;

Also Shelly Swanson (University of Minnesota, St. Paul)—energy conservation; Phil Buckley (University of Minnesota, Crookston)—wise ag land use; Peter Tri (Northrop school)—using a compass; and John Luhman (University of Minnesota, St. Paul)—entomology.

Buses will arrive at Northland community college at 9:15 a.m. and the first class is scheduled to start at 9:45 a.m. Parents of students participating in the program are reminded to send a bag lunch with their child. Students should wear a warm coat and proper shoes.

TRFinettes To Hold Meet Tues.

TRFinettes drum and bugle corps will hold a meeting for all members at the city auditorium on Tuesday at 7 p.m. At this time any girls between the ages of 12 and 21 who are interested in joining the corps are asked to attend. Try-outs for the position open will be held at a later date.

Planning for the 1976 season begins with the Tuesday meeting and continues through the try-outs in October and the arrival of the new musical arrangements in November. All girls interested in joining the TRFinettes are urged to attend the September 23rd meeting. Parents are also welcome.

The 1975 TRFinettes traveled over 7,000 miles in Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin and Manitoba; marched in 17 parades, four contests, two football games, and put on seven special shows.

The above appearances included the Miss Minnesota Pageant, Minneapolis Aquatennial, Minnesota state fair, and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers Canadian professional football game.

COLUMBIA EWES, part of the registered flock maintained by Alvin Fjeld of rural Goodridge, respond to Fjeld's coaxing with a bucket of feed. These ewes were just gathered in off the pasture when the photo was taken. Fjeld, whose farm is located four miles east of the intersection of highways 1 and 219 south of Goodridge and two miles south, has been raising sheep since he was nine years old. The national sheepman of the year for the Columbia Sheep Breeders association of America, he says the place wouldn't seem right without some sheep.

Started With $2 Bottle Lamb

Fjeld Is Named Columbia Sheepman Of The Year

by Marvin Lundin

With a bottle lamb purchased from James Ramsey for two dollars when he was nine years old, Alvin Fjeld of rural Goodridge started in the sheep business. This year he was selected as the 1975 Columbia sheepman of the year by the nation-wide Columbia Sheep Breeders association of America and presented with an engraved silver plate in recognition of the honor.

Fjeld's parents homesteaded near the present Fjeld farm in the early 1900's, the first family to settle in Star township after that portion of the Red Lake Indian reservation was opened for settlement. Alvin was one of nine children and was born on the farm where three horses and one ox were the initial farm animals.

After Alvin purchased his first ewe lamb for $2, his flock was doubled later in the year when his mother bought a second ewe for him. That animal was purchased for $9 at the John Homme auction. By 1941 he had rented the 320-acre farm from his father and had 100 ewes in his flock. Then Uncle Sam issued a call to arms.

"Two of my brothers happened to be home at the time when a guy, from the draft board came in the yard," he recalls. "He asked if they couldn't do the work if I was gone for a year, and I told him I supposed they could. The next week I got a notice to report for a physical."

That one year turned out to be more than four years, however, and there were several times Alvin didn't expect to return home at all. He served in Germany and the Aleutian Islands, hitting the tail end of the Ardennes Bulge fighting in which U.S. losses were estimated at 40,000 and German losses at 220,000 killed or captured.

"One machine gunner on a tank just missed me on every side," he said, "and I had a mortar shell explode six feet behind me and send my helmet rolling for 25 feet. All that saved me was that the ground was soft and the shell penetrated before it exploded."

After a bout with yellow jaundice which hospitalized him for a number of weeks, and several months during which the army tried to locate his records which had been lost, he boarded the Queen Elizabeth with 15,000 other troops for the four-day ocean crossing home in October of 1945.

His brothers had sold the sheep flock the year before—as had many sheep producers in the area—but Alvin decided he still wanted sheep around the farm. He purchased 15 ewes in 1946 and in 1946 and 1947 began his flock of registered Columbias. At one time his commercial flock numbered up to 900, including the spring crop of lambs, and he has had up to 250 head of registered animals.

He bought the present farm from his brother Otto in 1947—a quarter section of land—and he also owns the home farm of 320 acres. Later he acquired more land and has farmed over 1,000 acres at times over the years. At present he has about 75 registered Columbias and intends to stabilize the flock at 50 to 75

Discussion with parents from Riverview trailer court will open the meeting, followed by bid openings on AVTI house materials and calling for bids on a number of items including buses and a station wagon.

Foss Faces Trial On Killing Of Five Elk

INSPECTING DAMAGE done by an elk herd in his oats field is Gordon Foss, right, who is being arraigned today on charges of shooting five of the animals on September 6. With him is Ezra Davy of Wannaska who has lived in the area for 60 years and helped haul the first of several truckloads of elk which were released in the area some 40 years ago. The men are pictured on either side of a trail made by the elk through the field.

Another step toward an expected jury trial as a result of shooting an estimated third of Minnesota's total wild elk herd will be taken this afternoon at Hallock. Gordon Foss of Grygla will appear before Judge Warren Saetre in district court for arraignment on five counts of taking one elk.

Foss appeared in county court in Warren last week and was bound over to district court on his own recognizance. Because of time limits required under Minnesota law, and because Judge Saetre is presiding this week at district court in Hallock, the arraignment proceedings have been set for 1 p.m. today at Hallock. It is expected Foss will enter a plea of not guilty and Judge Saetre will set an evidenciary hearing for late this week or early next week.

The case, which has attracted wide public interest, results from Foss admittedly shooting two bull elk and three cows on his oats field in Linsell township north of Grygla. The shooting took place on September 6 at about 7:30 a.m.

About 8 a.m. that day Les Borning of Thief River Falls, area conservation officer supervisor for the Minnesota department of natural resources (DNR), received a telephone call from Foss.

"Better bring a truck and haul your elk off my oats field," Borning says he was told.

"What's the matter," Borning asked.

"They ain't walkin' any more," the officer says he was told.

"Did you shoot them?" he asked. Foss said that he had killed three, that two were still alive and that at least one other had been hit but escaped into the woods.

Conservation officers Borning and Donald Fearn of Thief River Falls, Richard Simmons of Roseau and Al Markovich of Warroad and Thief Lake wildlife refuge assistant Don Pierce converged on the field where the elk shooting had taken place. They dressed out the five elk which could be located (the large bull reportedly dressed out at 444 pounds) and the meat is presently in frozen storage at Bridgeman Creameries in Thief River Falls. The hide and rack of the large bull—a 10-point trophy—are being stored at a mink farm near Wannaska and will later be used in a mount to be placed at DNR headquarters in St. Paul.

Neighbors of Foss who have experienced damage from elk over the years since they were released in the early 1930's are rallying to his support. Some have reportedly agreed to testify at a jury trial. Others say they will close their land to any public hunting if Foss is convicted.

In an interview with the Times Saturday, Foss explained his problem. He said the elk had been noted in his oats field this spring. They were "tearing around" in the wet field, he said, making deep tracks and wearing trails which cut into the field which he had seeded to alfalfa.

On June 26 he called conservation officer Simmons at Roseau and reported that the elk had been in his field. "I thought they should know about it," he said.

On August 18 his brother-in-law came to cut the oats field and reported it to be trampled, filled with flattened areas where the herd (estimated at 17 animals) had bedded down, and laced with trails where the elk had walked. Foss again called Simmons and on the 19th Borning and Fearn stopped at the farm. They were shown the field, Foss said, and said they would get exploders to frighten the elk away. They also suggested Foss build scarecrows to supplement the exploders.

On the 21st the elk were in the best part of the oats field when Foss saw them while on the way to Roseau. He bought a box of rifle shells at a Roseau store and called Simmons from Roseau. "I told him I had bought a box of shells and that I'd use them if I

Legion Auxiliary Chairmen Selected; Candidate Endorsed

Committee chairmen were named and a candidate for Ninth District executive board was endorsed at the September meeting of the Thief River Falls American Legion auxiliary held recently at the Legion club rooms.

President Mrs. Edwin Haraldson presided at the meeting and announced the committee chairmen. Selected were Mrs. Donald Hermanson, chaplain; Mrs. Marge Kimble, historian; Mrs. Jon Fosholm and Mrs. Gary Finke, children and youth; Mrs. W.G. Maves and Mrs. Richard Johnson, education and scholarship; Mrs. Evelyn Homewood and Mrs. Betty Berggren, community service; Mrs. Ormond Johnson and Mrs. Mayer Holen, Girl State; Mrs. Erwin Ferber, legislation; Mrs. Rudolph Hanson, memorial and Gold Star; Mrs. Arnt Aune and Mrs. Ernest Race, rehabilitation; Mrs. Morris Olson, civil defense; Mrs. M.R. Olson and Mrs. Don L. Olson, public relations; Mrs. Joe Horejsh, membership; Mrs. Phil Swanson, Poppy; Mrs. Alan Noreen, lunch; and Mrs. Morris Olson, calling workers.

Endorsed as candidate for Ninth district executive board was Mrs. Robert Reeve.

Several reports were also given Mrs. James Cuppett reported on the District convention held at Detroit Lakes, and Mrs. Gerald Odegaard gave a resume of the Department convention. Reporting on the local level was unit membership chairman Mrs. Joseph Horejsh. She stated that a large number had responded to the membership drive; and she stressed early payment of dues, preferably before the fall rally to be held October 11 at Greenbush. She stated that any wife, daughter, mother, sister or granddaughter of a veteran is eligible for membership and that they need not have an invitation to become a member. She concluded by announcing that someone would be at the Legion club every Saturday night to accept memberships.

The program featured the BiCentennial Singers, sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary. They sang, "I Hear America Singing," "Let There Be Peace On Earth," and "Do Lord, O Do Lord," with Mrs. Norman Peterson conducting and Mrs. Frank Harger serving as accompanist.

Attending the meeting as a special guest was Larry White, who gave a presentation on the United Way Fund drive.

Also present was a Past President of the local unit, Mrs. Elmer (Mattie) Andersen of Mesa, Ariz.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by President Lavonne Haroldson and Past President Avis Odegaard. Mrs. John Thompson won the door prize.

Jarvi And Froiland Vows Are Spoken At Alexandria

Wearing her mother's wedding gown, Miss Susan Anita Jarvi became the bride of Barry Alan Froiland at a recent ceremony at the United Methodist church in Alexandria. Rev. Lloyd Berger of Thief River Falls, brother-in-law of the groom, and Rev. Robert Hoeft of Alexandria officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy I. Jarvi of Alexandria. Mrs. Verna Froiland of this city is the mother of the groom.

Sister Johnelle Becker, a friend of the bride, was the organist. She played a variety of nuptial selections as the guests were ushered in by David Jarvi of Alexandria, brother of the bride, and Elroy Froiland of New Brighton, a cousin of the groom. For the processional, she played "Processional" from "Sound of Music". Miss Becky Wilken, a friend of the bride, sang "Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Lighting the chancel for the afternoon ceremony were candelabra on either side of the altar. Potted ivy and philodendron graced the altar. Serving as acolytes were the bride's cousins, Mary Sue Anderson and Julie Anderson of Proctor.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father.

Her gown of ivory satin, was fashioned with a fitted bodice with long tapered sleeves. Complementing the gown was an overskirt of net that extended in a flowing train, appliqued with large satin flowers. Her veil of ivory net was held by a Juliet lace headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow daisies, babies' breath and greens. For sentiment, in addition to wearing her mother's wedding gown, she also carried the blue flowered handkerchief which her mother had carried on her wedding day.

Miss Peggy McCabe of Minneapolis, was the bride's personal attendant.

Maid of honor was Miss Diane Williams of Duluth, a friend of the bride. Bridesmatrons were Mrs. Sandy Berger of Thief River Falls, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Margie Olson of Manhattan, Kansas, friend of the bride. They wore identical gowns of pale yellow dotted Swiss with wide, white collars and cuffs, trimmed with lace. Their headpieces were yellow, floppy brimmed hats with embroidered daisy trim. To accent their attire, they carried brown straw baskets filled with yellow and white daisies, babies' breath and greens.

Best man was Duane Ebbighausen of Bemidji, a friend of the groom. The groomsmen were Steven Jarvi of Alexandria, brother of the bride, and Gerry Ulfrets of this city, a friend of the groom. They wore gray tuxedos with gray velvet lapels and bow ties, yellow ruffled shirts and white carnation boutonnieres. The groom's boutonniere was a yellow carnation.

The mother of the bride wore a spring green polyester knit, floor-length gown featuring cap sleeves. Her corsage was of yellow roses, white carnations and greens. A similar corsage was worn by the groom's mother, who was attired in a jersey, empire fashioned, floor-length gown featuring a sea foam green skirt and a coordinating print bodice.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Gust Jarvi, Mrs. Hilma Lingren, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Liden, godparents of the groom.

A reception in the church fellowship hall followed the ceremony. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Win Lange of Alexandria, friends of the bride. Mrs. Carolyn Johnson of Henning, a friend of the bride, registered the guests as Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson of Proctor, uncle and aunt of the bride, ladled the punch.

Centering the serving table was a square, two-tiered wedding cake, iced in white and decorated with yellow roses. White satin wedding bells with lilies of the valley and yellow netting topped the cake. Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Jean Liden of Henning, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Vicki Boor of Moorhead, cousin of the groom. Mrs. Harriet Liggett of Thief River Falls, aunt of the groom poured. At the gift table was Miss Gayle Peterson of Thief River Falls, a friend of the bride.

For her going away attire, the bride wore a red knit jacket and slacks ensemble complemented by a white turtle neck top.

Following a wedding trip to Quanda Mountain at Lake City, the couple is now at home in Thief River Falls, where both are employed. The bride, a graduate of Jefferson senior high school in Alexandria and St. Cloud State college, is teaching sixth grade at St. Bernard's Catholic school. The groom is employed by the City of Thief River Falls. He is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Bemidji State college. Photo, Perkins photography, Alexandria

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

by Ellen M. Spray

It was just a brief local news article that appeared in the newspaper in a town where we lived many years ago, but in that community it caused a great deal of commotion. The telephones were busy as the Mrs. Did U. Knows told the Mrs. Did U. Heards about the article. Families, relatives and friends of the couple mentioned in the article were also busy calling the editor, who knew nothing about the news item until the phone began ringing.

The article, without using any names or towns, simply stated that a couple and their nine month-old daughter were visiting their parents, who were very prominent in the community. Had the item ended there, everything would have been fine, but it concluded by adding, "The trip was made to celebrate their first wedding anniversary."

After the editor investigated the source of the article, it was learned that the couple had been into the newspaper office to renew their subscription and while there, the woman had written the news item, which was typed, set and proof-read without anyone stopping "to count on their fingers."

Until one has some knowledge of the work that goes into printing a newspaper, it is very easy to be critical of the slip-ups and errors that appear on the printed page. Many assume that the errors are intentional. Nothing could be further from the truth. But errors do occur. In this particular newspaper, we have made errors and no doubt will continue to do so. I have contributed more than my share; but none were done with the idea of "settling a score, or grinding an ax." When an article is brought into this office, it is handled by three to five different people before it appears in the paper. Yet brides have become birds, a neighboring school served cheese lice with apple pie for the noon meal instead of cheese slices, and a groom and and his attendants wore pink ruffled shorts at the wedding instead of ruffled shirts. (After that calls received on the last incident, my face was a deep pink.)

Names are the biggest bugaboos. In writing articles, every effort is made to spell names correctly. For that reason, we prefer having articles brought in rather than to receive them by telephone. When pronounced over the phone, there is no way of knowing that Dorothy is spelled Dorethe, Lillian, Lylian; Irene, Eirene; Dolores, Dollares, Arlene, Rleen; John, Jon; or Duane, DuWayn, Duaine, Dwane or DuWayne. Many letters like "T" and "D" sound the same over the phone so Pedersons become Petersons and Knudson becomes Knutson, and Melby becomes Melvie.

But regardless of how hard we try, errors have a way of hiding until they appear in print. Then they stick out like a sore thumb.

And last but not least, newspaper people are human. They have feelings, and contrary to what some believe, they do not get any enjoyment in publishing articles that hurt the innocent. However, a newspaper's prime objective is to publish news and in so doing, there are many times that families and friends are hurt. Consequently newspapers receive the blame for Mary's shoplifting, for Johnnie being AWOL, for Mrs. Who Donit driving while drunk and for Whats Izname for hunting out of season.

After hearing the problems that are faced in newspaper work many have asked why I choose to remain. The answer in very simple. The ink used is indelible, it has penetrated my system. Newspaper work is a part of my life. So, keep your stories coming and I shall try to avoid a repeat of my worst blunder that appeared several years ago in a wedding. "The men wore pink boutonnieres." No mention was made of any other apparel worn by the men.

Recently winning recipes in the Minnesota Beef cook-off contest were published. Today, equal space is given to the Weight Watchers, who sponsored the 1975 Minnesota State Fair cooking contest. The grand prize winning recipe for Really Good Goulash, was submitted by Mrs. Gwen Bruflag of Wendell.

Really Good Goulash

1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon plus 2 teaspoons brown sugar replacement
2 tablespoons dehydrated onion flakes
1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
2 cups French-style or cut green beans
one and one-third cups cooked enriched macaroni 1 cup tomato juice
one-third cup tomato paste
2 tablespoons white vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon "legal" hot sauce, or to taste

Set oven at Broil and-or 550 degrees. Broil ground beef on rack in pan, crumble and add to remaining ingredients in 1½ quart baking dish. Heat oven to 350 degrees; bake uncovered for about 30 minutes. If sauce tends to dry out, add small amount of water. Makes two dinner servings.

Note: A skillet or electric fry pan may be used; combine ingredients as directed; simmer about 45 minutes.

Engelsrud And Liedberg Marriage Vows Exchanged

Marriage vows were exchanged recently at the Westaker Free Lutheran church in Newfolden by Miss Eunice Marie Engelsrud, daughter of Mrs. Conrad Engelsrud of Newfolden, and the late Conrad Engelsrud, and Rodney D. Liedberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Liedberg of Argyle.

Rev. Merle Knutson officiated at the double ring ceremony. On either side of the altar were candelabra entwined with greenery and white satin ribbons. Ferns and ribbons bows marked the pews.

At the organ was Jane Liedberg of Goodridge. She played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," for the processional and "Hallelujah Chorus," for the recessional. She also accompanied Emory Flaten of Strandquist when he sang, "The New 23rd Psalm", "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar, and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Them." His sister Mary Ellen Flaten of Minneapolis joined him in singing the last selection.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Donald Engelsrud. She was attired in a floor-length gown of white cotton lace enhanced by ruffled lace at the bodice, collar, cuffs and hemline. Matching lace edged her tiered chapel-length veil. She carried an arrangement of red roses and white carnations.

Beverly Folden of Newfolden, attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mary Ellen Flaten, Eleanor Christianson of Minneapolis, and Pat Thorson of Argyle. All are friends of the couple. They wore identical gowns of spring green polyester crepe with a white lace overlay on the bodice and cuffs. A wide ruffle encircled their floor-length skirts. To complement their gowns, they wore white lace hats, with a yellow satin ribbon tied into a bow in back, and carried bouquets of yellow and white carnations.

Best man was Allan Liedberg of Sabin, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Gail Anderson of Brainerd, Dennis Klopp of Karlstad and Tim Johnson of Mentor, friends of the couple. For their attire, they selected white tuxedos with black trim, black trousers, green shirts and yellow carnation boutonnieres.

Serving as ushers were LaVerne Thorson and Paul Liedberg, both of Argyle. Donelle Folden, niece of the bride, and Robert Samuelson, nephew of the groom, distributed the wedding programs.

The bride's mother was attired in a floor-length gown of rust colored crepe with a corresponding floral jacket. The mother of the groom wore a peach colored gown. Their identical corsages were of red roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Milo Windahl as host and hostess. At the guest book was Carol Liedberg of Grand Forks, sister of the groom. Serving punch were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Holmaas of Moorhead, friends of the couple.

The tiered wedding cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Sandford Bagaas of Argyle, a friend of the couple, was cut and served by Mrs. Donald Engelsrud, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Vernon Samuelson, sister of the groom. Coffee servers were Mrs. Bertil Bakke, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Hans Haarstad, aunt of the groom.

Waitresses were Judy Duray, Debra Windahl, Kathy Larson and Gay Galles. Michelle Folden, a niece of the bride, served as gift bearer. Members of the Bethania Ladies Aid were in charge of serving the reception.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple is at home near Strandquist where the groom is engaged in farming. The bride is employed as a bookkeeper in Newfolden by the Farmers Co-op association. Photo, Eaton's Studio, Hallock.

Toastmasters To Meet Tuesday

Northwest Toastmasters club will meet Tuesday at 7 a.m. at the Arctic Enterprises building, with members advised to use the north parking lot entrance and enter at the last glass door toward the north end of the plant.

Ward Aas will serve as toastmaster for the meeting with Gary Haren as master evaluator and Larry White in charge of table topics. Lance Solberg Is Honored On Third Birthday

Lance Solberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Solberg, celebrated his third birthday recently on two separate occasions. The first party, held at the Joe Paradis home, was also in honor of Billy Paradis. He became a three-year-old the same day.

Present for the occasion, in addition of Mrs. Solberg and Mrs. Paradis were Bonnie, Anne, Linda, Kathy, Johnny and Nancy Paradis, Mrs. Segrid Tillman and Mrs. Mervin Hyde.

The following day, Lance was feted at a party at his home with Linda, Diane, Dean, and Jerry Sletten of Plummer, and Mrs. Marlyn Haugen, Deone and Amy of Oklee as his guests. The lunch served included ice cream, miniature peanut butter cookies, lemonade and a birthday cake, iced in blue and decorated with a balloon man, dog, three candles and the inscription, "Happy Birthday Lance." The cake was made by his mother.

Lance also received a number of gifts from relatives and friends unable to attend. They included Mrs. Robert Caillier of Boron, Calif., Mrs. Francis Seeger of Lancaster, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Seegmiller, Steven, Lynn and Nancy of Queen City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd M. Larson, Lance's grandparents, and Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Solberg, Maynard and Frances of rural Thief River Falls and Sgt. and Mrs. Howard K. James of Wichita Falls, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kleinwachter of Strandquist, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Nelson of Dilworth, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Solberg, Jane, David and Terry of Babbitt and Mrs. Hazel Jesperson of Plummer.

Pauline Aubol To Head Chat And Chew Homemakers

Pauline Aubol was elected president of the Chat and Chew homemakers club at a meeting of the group held recently at the home of Mrs. Laurel Joyner. Outgoing president Mrs. Wanda Murphy presided at the meeting.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Vi Sullivan, secretary; Mrs. Joyner, treasurer; Geneva Overum, publicity chairman; Mrs. Marian Williams, senior councilor and Mrs. Louise Nereson, junior coucllor.

Each member was given a program booklet that included the year's hostesses for each month, lesson leaders and meeting places. Names were drawn for the secret pals for the year, following the exchanging of gifts, containing the names of last year's secret pals.

The lesson based on "Time Saving Serving," was given by Mrs. Carol Narverud. She also presented each with a pamphlet containing helpful suggestions. Mrs. Marion Williams reported on the council meeting and announced the new council officers; and a brief report was given of the homemakers' trip to Winnipeg.

Eleven members attended the meeting. Lunch was served by Mrs. Joyner.

CNC Volunteers To Meet Tuesday

There will be a meeting of all former and newly interested volunteers for the CNC unit of Northwestern hospital services on Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the CNC chapel.

Mrs. Margaret Torfin will speak on the "Do's and Don't's of Visitation." Persons interested or who have any questions may contact Mrs. Evelyn Wold, CNC volunteer coordinator at 681-3460.

Four New Majors Added To BSU's Study Program

Four new majors have been added to Bemidji state university's external studies program, presenting a much broader picture for prospective students with special needs.

English, geography, history and political science are now among the programs of study. Previously, majors could be completed in community service, humanities, business administration or accounting, vocational education, industrial technology, criminal justice and in those departments prepared with independant study outlines.

Lorraine Cecil, coordinator of external studies, feels adults who are unable to participate in traditional on-campus programs will find particular advantage with these opportunities.

Their individualized schedules are flexible to meet personal needs, time and locations, taking into consideration previously attained skills. For instance, if a student is able to document past work experience related to his or her proposed major, the person may qualify for advanced academic standing. Competency must be demonstrated to equal normal college preparation.

Also, vocational-technical, collegiate, or other training may be applicable.

A third alternative is passing a college level examination program (CLEP) test for a certain class. The student may be able to obtain credit by showing he is already knowledgable in the course area.

Choosing the most convenient route is the key to this unique approach in higher learning. Work may be completed through extension classes, independent study between student and professor, special learning packages (audio cassettes, etc.), or by attending classes at institutions such as community colleges.

The external studies program is designed so each person is allowed the freedom of gaining a college education while continuing with an everyday employment-home routine. In some cases, applicants wish to supplement a degree already accomplished.

Since the development of external studies in 1973, many milestones have been passed. Four hundred forty students are enrolled with a heavy northern Minnesota representation. Among those included are Red Lake, International Falls, Thief River Falls, Willmar, the Twin Cities, Brainerd, Little Falls, several Iron Range towns and outstate - North Dakota, Colorado, Washington, Florida, Mexico and teachers or servicemen overseas.

Students may directly write or call Lorraine Cecil, external studies program, Bemidji State University, 218-755-3924, for direct questions on application.

$590,000 Grant Received By Center At 'U'

Center for youth development and research at the University of Minnesota has been granted $590,000 from Lilly Endowment, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind., to serve as nationwide training center for youth workers and administers of organizations serving girls.

This educational endeavor should bring together personnel from youth-serving organizations and corrections to develop coordinated programs, said Gisela Konopka, professor and center director.

Another prupose of the project is to test the impact of intensive in-service training.

Since it is impossible to train personnel of all organizations concerned with girls, eight national youth-serving organizations and selected agencies and departments serving girls will participate in this project.

The organizations are enthusiastic about this opportunity, since it is the first nationwide attempt to do such intensive education, Konopka said.

The project represents a first step in the implementation of research by Konopka on needs, concerns and aspirations of adolescent girls, also financed by the Lilly Endowment, to be published by the end of this year.

Gerry Robbins

Lions Director, Former Resident, Will Speak Here

Thief River Falls Lions club will hold a special dinner meeting on Wednesday at the American Legion club rooms beginning at 6:30 p.m. Featured speaker at the dinner will be Gerry Robbins of Pine City, member of the board of directors of Lions International, according to Paul Biegner, president of the local Lions club.

From neighboring Lions clubs the presidents, secretaries and membership chairmen have also been invited to the dinner. All Thief River Falls Lions are expected to attend as well.

Robbins is a former resident of Thief River Falls. While living here, he was an announcer for KTRF radio station and was married to Jane Carlson of Plummer. Gerry and Jane Robbins own the broadcasting station in Pine City.

Robbins was elected to the board of directors of Lions International at the annual convention this past June, one of 27 men who make up the governing body. Lions International is the world's largest service club organization, with more than 1.1 million members in 147 free nations and territories of the world.

A benchmark of Robbins' service in Lionism include: 15 years of perfect attendance. He has been credited with organizing 28 new Lions clubs and is ranked second in the world in forming new Lions clubs. He is a past district governor, received 12 governors' extension awards for forming new clubs during his year in office, and holds the 100 per cent district governor's award. In gaining new members, Robbins holds the Master Key award.

He was also recently awarded the "International President's Award" by immediate past president of Lions International. Only 200 of these coveted medallions are authorized annually for Lions all over the world.

Wage For Minn. Farm Labor At All-Time High

Minnesota's farm payroll for hired labor set a new all time high of over $6.5 million during the second week in July, agriculture commissioner Jon Wefald reported today.

Monthly farm labor statistics for July 6-12 revealed 95,000 hired workers in Minnesota, an increase of 17,000 or nearly 22 per cent over a year earlier, and the highest hired farm payroll for July since 1957.

The average composite wage rate for hired farm workers in Minnesota this July was $2.04 per hour, a new high for the month and 28 cents or nearly 16 per cent more than the $1.76 average wage for July 1974. In 1957, the 98,000 hired hands on the July farm payroll earned an average of only 93 cents an hour.

Operating family farm workers continue to dominate the total farm labor force by nearly a two-to-one margin despite the increasing dependence on hired workers. The July total of family workers for Minnesota was 186,000 down 1,000 from last year.

Minnesota's July total of 281,000 farm workers, family and hired, was the highest in nine years according to the records of the state-federal crop and livestock reporting service. The July total this year was 16,000 or 6 per cent more than in July 1974.

Family workers put in the longest hours in Minnesota's food and fiber producing industry. During the July farm labor survey period farm operators worked an average of 57.9 hours, other family members 44.5 hours, while the hired payroll workers averaged only 33.6 hours for the week.

July is historically the peak month of the year for farm employment in Minnesota, due to small grain and early vegetable harvests along with haying, livestock, dairy and poultry production.

VA Hospital In Mpls. Begins New Program

Minneapolis veterans administration (VA) hospital is getting ready to join the agency's specialized hypertension program, Dr. Arthur J. Klippen, hospital director, announced recently.

The hospital is establishing a clinic to screen patients for high blood pressure and treat those who would benefit from medication.

A total of 32 VA hospitals will have special hypertension clinics by next January with some 300,000 veterans in the program.

Dr. Klippen said the VA-devised model clinic system is providing a high quality detection and treatment method for this disease. One of every three veterans screened by VA to date has high blood pressure considered severe enough to require treatment or periodic rescreening, he said.

The Minneapolis VA hospital is presently recruiting a staff for the clinic, and expects to become operational before the end of the year.

Also currently joining the program is the VA hospital at Wood (Milwaukee). VA hospitals in the area which previously developed such clinics include those at Iowa City, Ia., and Omaha, Neb.

Car Plate Fees Not An Increase From 1975 Tabs

Although the check you write, or have written, for your 1976 vehicle registration tabs may be for more money than the one you wrote for 1975, your registration fee has not suddenly increased, and you are not paying higher taxes for your new registration tabs, the state motor vehicle division reported recently.

The reason for what may appear to be a tax increase to some perplexed Minnesota motorists is that last year's fees were for less than a full year due to the implementation of the monthly registration system for automobiles, station wagons, ambulances and hearses. Registration fees for 1976 tabs are based on a full year and thus the fee is higher than last year, but the actual cost of registration has not changed. You are simply paying more money for a longer period of registration.

Actually, since 1973 when the state switched to the ad valorem system of computing a vehicle's annual taxes, the owner's cost of registration decreases every year during the car's first 10 years of life. After 10 years, the registration fee stabilizes permanently at a total of $12.

The ad valorem system is based on the value and age of a vehicle, with the initial base value established by the manufacturer at the time the car comes off the assembly line. Each year, as the value of the car depreciates, the tax figured on the base value is lowered accordingly. Thus, the tax will never be higher from one year to the next; it will always be lower each year until it stabilizes permanently during the eleventh year of the car's life.

The ad valorem fee is added to a standard $10 tax applicable to all cars, station wagons, ambulances and hearses, regardless of age. The total amount paid in vehicle registration, incidentally, is deductible in computing state income taxes. Federal income tax allows only the ad valorem portion of the tax (the total fee minus $10) as a deduction.

The ad valorem tax system for automobiles brought in over $54.6 million in tax revenues for the 1974 registration year with over two million automobiles being registered. The average vehicle owner thus paid about $27 in registration tax for 1974.

Under the monthly registration system, automobiles, station wagons, ambulances and hearses are now registered during a nine-month period from March through November, with each vehicle assigned its own registration month which is held for the life of that vehicle. The "staggered" registration system spreads registration out over a longer time period and thus partially eliminates the rush which was experienced under the previous system when all cars were registered during the last three months of the year.

Truck, trailer, and motorcycle registrations are now completed during the three remaining months of the year—December, January and February.

UMC Workshop, Communicating With Teenagers

Communicating with adolescents, will be the topic of a day-long workshop at the University of Minnesota technical college—Crookston (UMC). The workshop will be held September 30 and would be helpful for all persons who want to establish effective comminication with teenagers. Parents, teachers, community organizers, foster parents and professionals are invited to atted.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. in room 114 of the Agricultural Research Center on the UMC campus. Beginning at 9:35, "A Short-Cut Way to Understand Human Behavior" will be presented. At 11 a film, "Brian at Seventeen," will be shown. The film is produced by the National Institute of mental health. Following lunch at Bede hall, group discussions will be held.

Persons attending the "Communication with Adolescents" workshop can earn one credit through the Home and family services division. Cost is $15.75 per person.

To register for the workshop, call 281-6510, extension 243 or ext. 295.

The workshop is sponsored by UMC's Home and family services division in cooperation with the Polk county social service center, Marshall co. welfare department, and Continuing education and extension, University of Minnesota.

Swedes' Letters Describe America In Recent Book

America is a country literally flowing with milk and honey—a land of freedom and equality for all persons.

America is a land of back-breaking labor, infested with disease and political corruption.

Both views are expressed in the letters Swedish immigrants sent back to the old country between 1840-1914.

A selection of the translated letters has been published recently by the University of Minnesota press in "Letters from the Promised Land", edited by H. Arnold Barton.

The selected letters were written by all types of immigrants, from those who left the homeland to avoid criminal prosecution, to ministers of the gospel who were leading their flocks to religious freedom in the new country, to young men and women who were seeking their fortunes in "the land of opportunity."

Many aspects of life are seen through the eyes of the immigrants—encounters with the Indians, daily homemaking tasks, historical events such as the Chicago fire and Custer's last stand, conflicts between cattle ranchers and farmers, slavery in the south, the role of religion in American life, life and work in America's large cities, and problems in learning the English language.

A young immigrant to Michigan's iron-mining country wrote home in 1911, "There is no country on earth with so much graft as America." Three years later, he wrote, "America is a marvelous land, all in all. . ."

An objective view is presented by a Swedish pastor who wrote from Minnesota in 1861: "There are many wrong ideas among you there at home. Some believe that if they could only come to America they would live like lords and in a few years become well-off, even rich; but they deceive themselves for one has to work hard and sweat for what he gets here. Others, meanwhile find too much fault with this country, and since they have heard that it has gone badly for some one or another who has come here, they believe that want and misery must be everyone's lot. That also is wrong. Say what you will about America, one thing is certain, and that is that those who wish to and can work can escape from want; for work and earnings for both men and women are not lacking here."

The book is divided into three sections, each with background on Swedish immigration: The Pioneers, 1840-1864; The Great Farmer-Land in the West, 1865-1889, and Farm, Forest and Factory, 1890-1914. There are 33 black-and-white photographs.

The letters were sent by Swedes who lived in all parts of the United States, including Hawaii. Some of the letters were printed in Swedish newspapers of the time, and other statements collected in the book were solicited by the Swedish government's commission on emigration, established to find out why people were leaving the homeland.

Purpose of the book, says author Barton, "is to let the Swedish immigrants tell their own story." Barton is an associate professor of history at Southern Illinois university, Carbondale, and editor of the "Swedish Pioneer Historical Quarterly."

Last year UNICEF shipped more than 39 million pounds of high-protein CSM (corn-soya-milk mixture) and WSB (a wheat and soy blend) to feed starving children in eight drought-stricken African countries and for distribution through health centers in eight other developing countries where severe malnutrition threatens the lives of infants and pre-schoolers.

Nursing Board Sets Conference On Dependency

Minnesota board of nursing, as a regulatory agency charged with the protection of the public through licensing, recognizes a need to interpret to nurses and employers of nurses what constitutes a violation of the nurse practice act and how to report a violation.

A common problem which is related to and affects nursing practice is chemical dependency. The program will focus on the responsibility of the licensee, the employer and the educator to promote early identification, reporting and referral for treatment. There will be an explanation of the disciplinary process taken by the board as one of the steps towards handling the problem.

The title of the one-day conferences will be "Violations of the Nurse Practice Act-Model Used: Chemical Dependency". Participants will include a chemical dependency counselor, a member of the Minnesota board of nursing, a chemical dependency nurse specialist and Terry O'Brien, special assistant attorney general, will discuss the legal aspects of protecting the public. The same program is to be presented September 22, at Jack's in Bemidji and October 3, at the Ramada Inn in Moorhead. Meeting time is 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Recipients Of Welfare Hurt By Own Image

A false stereotype about recipients of aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) adds to those persons' problems, says a University of Minnesota home economist.

Although most AFDC families are fatherless and poor, says Margaret Grindereng, head of the textiles and clothing department of the UM college of home economics, the typical AFDC recipient might more accurately be considered as a woman much like other mothers in the community.

Many public assistance policies are shaped by an attitude which considers acceptance of public assistance to be dishonorable, she points out; yet dozens of other government programs aid millions of Americans and thousands of businesses and institutions. These other programs are considered honorable and legitimate.

Grindering found that: Most of the women involved in AFDC have been married and are legally separated or divorced; they are not primarily unwed or deserted women; for most families AFDC is a short-term solution with less than 20 per cent repeaters in the program; recipients had an average of 2.6 children; and incomes, including welfare payments in most cases provided, at best, only a subsistence living level.

Correct addresses are of major concern to the Veterans Administration. Each month the agency mails 7.3 million checks to veterans and their dependents for compensation, pension and education benefits.

months to ask questions.

Earlier this month, the mayor advised Mrs. McLean to devise a new name for the street, form a petition, and bring it before the next regular meeting of the council for approval. She decided to name the street in memory of one of its first residents—her mother, and then proceeded to obtain signatures from street residents for her petition. Signers included Adolph Borgen, Emelia Paulson, Walter Thomas and Mrs. McLean.

Finally, on September 9, Martha avenue was born. A council resolution approving the new name passed unanimously.

For readers unequipped with a scorecard, here is the situation as it presently stands: What was Hennepin avenue is now Gleason; what was Gleason is now Bauman; what was Bauman is now (and forever) Martha.

Foss Will Face Trial On Taking Elk By Grygla

had to," Foss said.

Simmons tried to get a DNR airplane to drive the elk away from the area but it was reportedly in use elsewhere. On August 22 Simmons was at the field at 5:30 a.m., waiting for the elk. They didn't show. On Saturday, August 23, Pierce and Jerry Maertens from Thief Lake arrived with two exploders, putting one in each of two oats fields which had been used by the elk. For several days the exploders seemed to work.

On Wednesday, September 3, the elk were back again. Foss saw 16 or 17 in his brother-in-law's field which adjoins his own. "I watched them for about 20 minutes through the scope on my rifle," he said. "There was one bull that was really a trophy. I don't know if that is the one I shot or not."

On Saturday, September 6, Foss went out early to plow. It was a foggy morning. When the fog lifted, he saw the elk in his field again. He shot until he ran out of shells—"a little over a box"—and he had to leave two of the animals wounded when he was out of ammunition. He then went home and called Borning. The next day he was charged with the taking of elk by officer Simmons.

Foss maintains he lost 40 per cent of his oats crop on the 19-acre field and additional damage on a 21-acre field to the south. He said the elk has walked down his swaths, browsing on the grain as they walked and shelling out the grain they trampled. He had to repeatedly clean out droppings which clogged the chaffer sieve on his combine, he said, and has had to keep moving the grain which he combined because it is heating in storage.

"I don't think a farmer should have to put up with that kind of damage," he said. "I figured I had given them (DNR personnel) enough warning and I had to do something."

Foss was convicted about 10 years ago of possession of elk meat. Of that conviction he says he was attempting to salvage an elk someone else had shot to use for dog food. "It had laid for 14 or 15 hours without being cleaned," he said. "I know I wouldn't eat it. But the conservation people sold it to people around here." He also claims he was a victim at that time of illegal search and seizure, but he didn't hire an attorney and was not given a public defender until the day of his court appearance.

Ezra Davy of Wannaska, who helped haul the first load of elk released in the area in the early 1930's, said he also helped saw horns off some of the big bulls so that they would be easier to handle. "It's the biggest mistake I ever made," he said about helping with the release. He maintains that in addition to the elk herd which adopted the Foss farm this summer that there are also small bands in an area near Gatzke and around Wannaska. And he says they have caused a lot of crop and hay losses over the years.

After today's arraignment and a subsequent hearing, it is likely a jury trial will be held on the case. Many Minnesotans will be interested in the outcome. Foss, who maintains a 30-cow dairy herd and has a large family with several children still at home, faces a potential maximum of a $1,000 fine and-or a year in prison on each of the five counts.

ENGRAVED PLATE is the award won by Alvin Fjeld of rural Goodridge by being named national Columbia sheepman of the year in national competition. Left to right in the photo with Willia and Alvin are the Fjeld's daughters, Mrs. Lloyd (Wavel) Swenson, Plummer; Delaine, employed at Marge's beauty shop in Thief River Falls; and Renae, who is nearing graduation at St. Cloud university. The engraved plate was presented by David Hoff, Minnesota director of the Columbia Sheep Breeders association of America.

THIS HUSKY RAM is one of the registered Columbias raised by Alvin Fjeld of Goodridge. Fjeld estimates the animal weighs over 300 pounds. It is being used with part of his ewe flock to provide more blocky lambs. He is also using a huge Columbia ram purchased at the national sale held in Fargo, N.D.., which is out of the well-known R. J. Shown flock at Monte Vista, Colo.

Alvin learned he has leukemia four years ago when he was hospitalized at veterans hospitals for several months. "If I have to go in the hospital again," he said, "the flock should be small enough so I can hire someone to take care of it. Feeding isn't a problem, but they have to be watched pretty close at lambing time."

Continual up-grading of the flock has been a goal for Fjeld throughout his work with Columbias—a breed he favors for its good size and heavy fleece. He has had rams which sheared up to 25 pounds of wool and one of the rams he raised and uses for breeding weighs over 300 pounds. During the years the breed has changed from a tall, rangy animal to a more blocky type and back to a large size animal again. Present demand is for larger animals.

Alvin has shown is sheep at many area shows and county fairs and won a drawer full of top prize ribbons. He has both bought and sold at area and national sales. Two years ago he got a bargain ram at the national sale in Fargo, N.D. The ram was out of the R. J. Shown flock at Monte Vista, Colo. "I had bid $800 on one ram and lost it to a higher bid," Fjeld said. "Then this ram came along and the auctioneer wanted to speed up the bidding. I bought him for a fourth of what I bid on the other one."

Rams from the Fjeld flock have gone to breeders throughout northwestern Minnesota and as far as South Dakota. He sold a number of ewes last year to breeders in Wisconsin and Indiana.

"Sales in northern Minnesota have really fallen off because of the wolf problem," Alvin says. "I used to sell a lot of sheep around Lake of the Woods and into Kittson, Roseau, Beltrami and Marshall counties. But a lot of the growers have gone out of business because of wolves killing their sheep."

Alvin is presently a director of the Minnesota sheep producers association and has been a director of the Roseau ram sale and Northwest Minnesota stud ram sale at Greenbush. He has won every area wool show several times and most recently won the champion fleece award at Greenbush sheep days.

Alvin and his wife, the former Willia Race, were married in 1949. They have three daughters: Mrs. Lloyd (Wavel) Swenson, Plummer; Delaine Fjeld, employed at Marge's Beauty shop in Thief River Falls; and Renae, who will graduate in November from St. Cloud state university. All of the girls were active in 4-H club work, carried sheep projects and won state fair trips with their sheep.

"It's hard for a person to get started in the sheep business now," Alvin admits. "Netting that used to be $5 a roll for 20 rods is $40 a roll now. And you have to pasture sheep to make any money on them. You can't dry lot feed them in this part of the country."

But Fjeld is determined that sheep will always be a part of his farming operation. His philosophy is simple: "You've gotta have sheep," he says.

Competition Announced For Area Artists

Call is out for entries to an area-wide art competition to be held this fall with $7,500 in awards and purchases. It has been designated an official Saint Paul-Ramsey county bicentennial event.

Competition is being presented by the Minnesota museum of art and co-sponsored by the St. Paul area chamber of commerce and the St. Paul-Ramsey Bicentennial commission. LeRoy Neiman, internationally famous artist who was born in St. Paul and is now living in New York, will judge the contest.

The competition is open to professional and amateur artists in Minnesota and adjacent states.

Drawings, paintings, prints, collages, mixed media and sculpture on the theme of an interpretation of St. Paul or Ramsey county will be acceptable and will be received at the museum November 28, 29 and 30 ready for hanging.

The Minnesota museum of art will offer $5,000 in awards and purchases for its permanent collection. The business community, through the project responsibility's arts and culture task force of the St. Paul area chamber of commerce, is offering $2,500 or more in additional purchases to encourage area artists.

The art competition is being held in conjunction with a retrospective exhibition of the work of Neiman at the Minnesota museum of art in December. As a bicentennial project, Neiman was commissioned to create a commemorative painting depicting St. Paul which will be on exhibit there. Prints of the painting will be available for purchase.

For further information and entry blanks, which will be mailed on request, contact the Minnesota museum of art, 30 East tenth street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

A stimulating environment at an early age is essential to the development of a child's mental alertness. The United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) provides developing nations in many parts of the world with equipment for day care centers and stipends for training in early childhood education.

Clinic For Well Children Set At Roseau Oct. 16

A pre-school multi-county screening clinic for all well babies and children up through the age of four is scheduled for October 16. This is the eighteenth clinic in the series covering a period of five years with 1,225 children having already been checked at the previous clinics.

The local sponsoring organizations are the Roseau, Warroad, and Greenbush American Legion Auxiliaries under the sponsorship of the Crippled children services of Minnesota, which is part of the Minnesota department of health. This October 16 clinic will be held at the First Baptist church basement, 607 Second St. N.E. in Roseau, and is to serve the needs of any county in this area.

The clinic is designed to provide screening for vision, hearing and any physical or mental handicapping conditions of children and counseling for parents. There is no clinic charge and a report of findings and recommendations will be sent to the family physician. The clinic staff consists of specialists in their own field—pediatricians, nutritionist, vision and radio specialist, dental hygienist, medical social worker and public health nurse.

Appointments should be completed at least two weeks before the clinic or as early as possible. Please call an appointment chairman, Mrs. Roland Fredrickson, Roseau at 218-463-2018, or Mrs. Keith Kilen, Greenbush, at 218-782-4350 for appointments or further information.

This Children's clinic is for all well children up through the age of four years in an attempt to detect any handicapping condition that the child may have so that further medical attention may be given.

Farm Bureau Asks Ford To End U.S. Grain Sale Delay

Minnesota farm bureau federation has joined forces with the American farm bureau federation in urging President Ford to give the nation's farmers "definite assurance" that the moratorium until mid-October on U.S. grain sales to the Soviet Union will be lifted immediately and not reinstated.

Carroll G. Wilson of Faribault, state farm bureau president and a Rice county cash grain farmer, said, "We think the Ford administration is making a real mistake if it doesn't rescind the moratorium it imposed last week. The curtailment of agricultural exports by the action of the President and by longshoremen refusing to load ships is one of the most important issues farmers have faced in years. These kinds of restraints on farm exports are seriously harming not only us as farmer producers but consumers and taxpayers as well."

Wilson pointed out that exports are essential to both the farm economy and the total national economy. "Whatever form it takes, government control of agricultural export sales is political management of farmers' markets. And," he emphasized, "that always has an adverse effect on farmers. In my opinion, Mr. Ford has made a real mistake, especially after he urged farmers to go all out in production this year: We had the administration's assurance that the markets would be there and we would have every opportunity to export. Now that we have near record production in practically all commodities, neither the administration nor the labor unions should be allowed to limit or control exports," Wilson said.

"Farm bureau has asked President Ford to give definite assurance that the Soviet grain sales moratorium will be rescinded once and for all," Wilson stated. "Holding up further grain sales to Russia until an accommodation can be made with George Meany (AFL-CIO president) and the maritime unions is nothing short of political blackmail," the Farm Bureau spokesman said, adding; "We certainly do not intend permitting labor unions to seize control of this country's foreign trade policy."

Wilson, head of the state's largest general farm organization, predicted that should the grain sales moratorium remain in force, it will have "unfortunate consequences" and "a damaging impact" on domestic and world markets, agricultural production, farm income and consumer food prices.

HISTORY COLLECTORS serving as community and township chairmen for the historical book being produced for Pennington county met Thursday with a representative of the book company to review procedures in cataloging copy. Meeting place was the old school maintained by the Pennington county historical society at the pioneer village in Thief River Falls. The society has obtained the services of a CETA worker to assist with the filing and organizing of the book material and to help with other work of the society as it enters the Bicentennial year. Only a short time remains for county residents to submit their family histories for the book and to place orders for the completed product.

BSU Will Host Journalism Meet For Area Schools

Bemidji state university and the Bemidji Pioneer will host the 29th annual journalism conference on September 30. Purpose of the conference is to "aid high school students in acquiring practical skills they can use while writing for their newspapers and yearbooks," according to Lester Pope, conference coordinator.

Last year approximately 800 high school students from northern Minnesota attended the conference and 800 to 1,000 students are expected this year. Newspaper excellence awards will be presented after the opening speeches.

A plaque is given to the best high school newspaper from each category. The three categories are determined by school enrollment—more than 400 students, between 200 and 400 students, and under 200 students. Last spring the various high schools sent in a copy of their publication to be judged. The judging is done by a BSU class, "Supervising School Publications."

After the presentation of the awards, the students will attend three sessions on the topics of their choice. Although the emphasis of the conference is on the print media, there will also be sessions on television and radio news programs. Experts have been brought in from around the state to speak to the high students on a variety of topics.

One highlight of the conference will be a session discussing technological changes occurring in the print media and the move towards computerization. Richard Peterson of the Rochester Post-Bulletin will host the session titled, "A Modern Newspaper and the Computer Revolution."

Others speakers include Arno Goethel from the St. Paul Pioneer Press-St. Paul Dispatch speaking on careers in journalism; Doug Hirsh, editor of the Park Rapids Enterprise, discussing page makeup and design; and Will Gullickson from the Fargo Forum will talk on "Brightening up those Sport Pages."

Social Security Man Here Tues.

A representative of the Grand Forks social security office will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday from 9:30 to 2 p.m.

DEBRA OLSON, Newfolden, was named recipient of a $500 scholarship recently at the University of Minnesota technical college at Crookston. A 1974 graduate of Marshall county central high school, she is a sophomore at UMC majoring in hotel, restaurant and institutional management. The scholarship was awarded by the Arthur L. Roberts foundation. Scholarships are presented yearly to Minnesota residents who are studying for careers in the food and lodging industry. Miss Olson was one of five UMC students who received Arthur L. Roberts scholarships this year.

Immunizations Part Of Clinic For Children

A survey of two-year-olds in Minnesota, released by State health commissioner Dr. Warren Lawson, indicates that only 22 per cent are fully immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis (whooping cough), measles and rubella (German measles), according to Viola L. Rud, Marshall county public health nurse.

Dr. Lawson says that polio immunization levels among two-year-olds are disturbingly low. Only 17 per cent have received four doses of oral polio vaccine and an additional 46 per cent have received three doses, but 37 per cent have received two or fewer doses. Only 35 per cent had received three doses before their first birthday. Although there has not been a case of polio in Minnesota since 1966, low immunization levels are of great concern and could lead to polio outbreaks, according to Dr. Lawson.

According to Mrs. Rud, an assessment of immunizations is part of the assessment done at the early and periodic screening clinics. If the child's family physician approves, the needed immunizations can also be given at the clinic.

Also included at the clinics is an assessment of nutrition, emotional, social and physical growth, vision and hearing screening, a urine test, hematocrit and a nurses physical assessment. Upcoming clinics are being held in: Warren, October 16; Newfolden, October 20; and Grygla, November 24. Appointments must be made in advance by writing or calling 742-9631, the Marshall County public health nursing service, Warren, Minnesota.

Bicentennial Stamp Honors Postal Service

Four 1975 commemorative stamps were issued September 3 at Philadelphia, Penn. honoring the 200th anniversary year of the United States postal service. Their designs contrast old and new methods of transporting mail.

The stamps were designed by James L. Womer of Philadelphia and their designs were unveiled in that city on July 26 in connection with the opening of the B. Free Franklin post office. It was on that date in 1775 that Benjamin Franklin was appointed postmaster general by the Continental Congress.

Lack Of Hearing Abilities May Affect Children

"Can my child hear normally?" This is a question parents of a school aged youngster should ask themselves as a new school year starts. Thief River Falls schools offer special help for students with hearing impairment.

Problem of an undetected hearing loss manifests many warning signals. These include poor academic achievement, inattention to the instructions of teachers and parents, a reluctance to participate in student activities, anti-social behavior and/sometimes an appearance that the child may lack intelligence.

Because the grade school years constitute the time of primary learning, an undetected hearing loss at this stage of development can have a lasting effect upon the child's entire life. For instance, a seven-year-old California girl had been diagnosed as mentally retarded for almost two years until a hearing test showed her problem was simply an undetected hearing loss.

In that case the girl was able to be helped with a properly fitted hearing aid, started attending a special school to make up for the wasted years, and was then properly identified as actually being an intellectually gifted child.

Even during the pre-school years—starting with the first few weeks after birth—the hearing impaired child often registers danger signs. These include inattention to sounds such as human voices, telephones, radio and television sets. To make certain a child is not struggling under the handicap of an undetected hearing loss, parents should make certain their children have a hearing test at least once a year.

While such a test will not alleviate a hearing loss that does exist, this simple, painless and efficient screening process will either point out ot parents that their children may need hearing help, or provide them with the peace of mind that comes from knowing their youngster's hearing ability is normal.

First Baptist Church To Show "In His Steps"

"In His Steps", a feature-length motion picture based on the novel of the same name, will be shown Sunday at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist church in Thief River Falls.

The story originally appeared as a book around the turn of the century, written by a Topeka clergyman named Charles M. Sheldon. The film story follows the experiences of Rachel Paige, aspiring young actress; newspaper publisher Ed Norman; and Rev. Henry Maxwell, the clergyman whose unique concept changed their lives.

The novel came at a time in American history when vigorous social reforms were underway, especially in industrial communities. The film updates these situations, giving the story a contemporary approach.

Former TRF Man Navy Captain In Rio de Janeiro

Department of the navy recently announced the selection of Commander Alan S. Cabot, USN, for promotion to the rank of Captain. CDR Cabot, a 1948 graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, is currently serving with the U.S. naval mission to Brazil in Rio de Janeiro. His wife, Carol B. Cabot is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Swenson, residents of Bray township, Pennington county.

Captain and Mrs. Cabot and son, Cory are scheduled for reassignment to Washington, D.C., in early 1976. An older son, Guy, is a Midshipman at the U.S. merchant marine academy and is presently training onboard the U.S. merchant ship SS Thompson Lykes on voyages from New Orleans to the western coast of South America.

Educational Overkill

Northwestern Minnesota is proud of its educational facilities and the opportunities which they provide to young people. Exceptional effort has been expended by concerned citizens to secure post high school facilities in the area vocational-technical institute and Northland community college in Thief River Falls. Similar efforts have been made, we are sure, in regard to other similar facilities in other northern Minnesota communities.

Because of our comparatively low population, however, enrollment at these schools is not at a high level. From a teaching and learning standpoint, the low teacher-student ratio is good. From a financial standpoint, however, the provision of such educational opportunities is costly.

Everyone who has a stake in the higher education picture has his or her own views and rationalizations. Each can make a pretty good case in point and provide some convincing arguments. We worked hard for establishment of the community college here a few years ago, and our predecessor in the editor's chair was a prime promoter of the area vocational-technical institute. Continuation of these programs is certainly to be desired.

That desire for preservation is not shared throughout the state, however, and with the legislative power concentration in the metropolitan area, we may well be hard-pressed to hold our own. This will be particularly true as the legislators who went to the line and established the community college system are replaced by first-termers who have no background in the formation of the program, and therefore no allegiance to it.

What brings this question to the forefront is a report by the Commission of Minnesota's Future, a group which has studied the higher education picture in Minnesota and doesn't exactly like what it seems. In a recent editorial, the Pope County Tribune commented on the report as follows:

The commission was highly critical of state and education officials for massive building of public colleges and vocational-technical institutes during the 11-year period from 1960-71, and for not considering alternatives such as leasing "despite the ever-clearer picture of ultimate enrollment decline" caused by fewer births.

The report went on to say that between 1960 and 1971 Minnesota opened 42 post-high school educational campuses, an average of one of every 13 weeks, including four university campuses, 10 community colleges, two state colleges and 26 vo-tech schools. And nearly all of those enrolled at the new institutions would have attended existing Minnesota facilities.

A report by the Higher Education Coordinating commission found state and community college facilities being used less than 20 per cent of the 44-hour academic week.

What is surprising is that 57 of the 62 public higher-education campuses in the state already are below the minimum enrollment size recommended by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education.

Equally alarming is the statement that the state is on the brink of a projected 15-year decline in enrollment with small-campus enrollments expected to drop from 30 to 50 per cent.

Taken at face value, this is a damning report, but it's not all that bad. It's true that during the 11-year period, this state experienced an educational facility "overkill", that now is manifesting itself in staggering educational costs to keep these same facilities operating.

But it's also true that Minnesota as a state has overextended itself to make higher education readily accessible to just about every state resident, and that's not all bad.

The commission report cites Southwest State college in Marshall as a classic example of high cost of education. It cost $25.8 million or $57,000 per student based on 454 freshmen who could not or would not have attended college if Southwest had not been built.

But if the state had not constructed Southwest, it could have educated those same students for a cost of about $2,200 per student by giving them state grants and scholarships to attend an existing college.

Some of the state's community colleges only have from 200 to 300 students with the costs running as high as $2,096 per student per year.

The report said that if the state keeps all its existing campuses, educational opportunities will decrease and costs will go up sharply.

What the commission is telling the legislature and the people of Minnesota is that Minnesota's system of post-high school education is too expensive, and consolidation and outright closing of some institutions should be seriously considered.

The Tribune views the commission's report with mixed emotions. We realize that we had an "overkill" in educational facilities a few years ago, and we're going to have to pay for that overbuilding. On the other hand, hindsight is a lot simpler than foresight, and it's hard to condemn those who sought to bring higher education to all corners of the state.

Some consolidation and closing will no doubt have to take place, but we hope that it can be kept to a minimum.

Should Farmers Strike?

Justification for a farmer strike is included in the following editorial from the Sisseton (S.D.) Courier:

Officials of the longshoreman's union on the West Coast threaten to strike if sales of wheat from the United States to Russia are not cancelled. They are afraid the sale will result in an increase in the cost of food.

Costs of cars and steel and loading can go up indefinitely and not much is done about it. It is not right that people should rise in opposition when the farmer is about to get a fair price for his product.

Farmers have not gone on strike to protest the sale of cars and other items made by labor for export to foreign countries. They have been absorbing the increased costs of manufactured items without a corresponding increase in the prices farmers receive for their products.

An increase in the cost of food because of an increase in the prices for grain and meat should not be large. There are only a couple of cents worth of wheat in a loaf of bread or a box of cereal. Cattle prices can go down to pratically nothing and the cost of meat across the counter does not decrease accordingly. A large portion of the costs of food are in processing, packaging, merchandising and in taxes on the food.

The farmer's side of the story does not seem to be getting across. It isn't fair.

Low Literacy

Following editorial written by Daniel Medinger appeared in a recent issue of the Truman Tribune:

The cause of freedom is not and possibly never has been a very popular one. Everyone seems to find a limit to freedom and it usually coincides very closely with their own self-interest.

It's sad but not particularly surprising that the United Nations 10-year experimental literacy campaign has turned out to be a failure. The U.N. report said that there are 800 million people on this planet that cannot read or write. That is about one fourth of the total population.

The U.N. report indicted uncooperative governments as the prime reason for the failure of the $30 million experiment. The countries participating in the experiment were Algeria, Ethiopia, Guinea, Malagasy Republic, Mali, Sudan, Tanzania, Ecuador, India, Iran, and Syria. None of these countries could be listed as progressive pillars of democracy. Apparently each government decided that uneducated people were easier to manipulate to keep themselves in power.

After years of research, Ted Robert Curr, a pre-eminent political scientist, proved what most of us already know. He hypothesized that the potential for political revolutions occur when people come to feel that they are being deprived. But to totalitarian governments that lord over illiterates know that what the people don't know can only help the masters! And, a sure fire way to keep the truth from people is to not let them read or write.

This nation has always demanded an enlightened citizenry of which the basis is the ability and need to read and write. While things aren't perfect in the U.S., they could be a lot worse if we had no way of finding out what's going on.

Very early in our nation's history President John Adams wrote, "The science of government is my duty to study, more than all other sciences . . . I must study politics and war, that my sons may have liberty to study mathematics and philosophy, geography, natural history and naval architecture, navigation, commerce, and agriculture, in order to give their children a right to study painting, poetry, music, architecture, statuary, tapestry, and porcelain." And fortunately, we can.

So if a government derives its legitimacy from the consent of the governed and if consent can only be granted with knowledgeable understanding, the United States is dealing with a lot of illegitimate governments.

MINNESOTA REPORT

WALTER F. MONDALE

I am extremely disappointed that the Senate failed last week to override the President's veto of legislation extending oil price controls for six months.

I am afraid that the effects of the immediate decontrol of domestic oil prices will be severe. It could cost the average Minnesota family more than $600 a year in higher fuel prices. And the average farm family in our state may pay up to $1,400 a year in higher prices for energy.

Immediate decontrol of domestic oil prices, by reducing consumer purchasing power, could halt the slow economic recovery that is now just beginning. Leading economists forecast that inflation will increase decontrol, and that more than 600,000 additional Americans could be thrown out of work as a result of the economic effects of decontrol.

There are other impacts of decontrol that will affect Minnesota particularly severely. We are fortunate to have a large proportion of our oil refined by independent refiners who provide real competition within the oil industry. Yet these independents would be severely hurt by termination of the controls program, which also contains provisions that ensure these independents fair supplies of oil from the major oil companies at fair prices.

We all want to increase the production of domestic oil resources to help free us from ever-increasing reliance on imported oil. But I strongly believe that we can encourage this domestic production without allowing the OPEC cartel to control the price of all our domestic production which is what decontrol of oil prices will mean.

Congress and the President should now sit down once again and try to work out a reasonable solution to this problem. I believe that the responsibility for a sensible pricing plan for domestic oil can be worked out within a short time. And I am convinced that we must do so to prevent potentially disastrous consequences from affecting the American economy.

See me for the best value on car insurance.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

September 22, 1975
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
Sept. 11, 1975

Pursuant to Notice of Hearing the County Board met in Special Session in the Commissioners' Room in the Court House in Thief River Falls at 8:00 P.M., Sept. 11, 1975.

Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

Engineer Seidel was present and reviewed the "Off System" program for replacement of bridges as it now exists in the state of Minnesota.

No interested parties appeared in response to the published notice of the meeting. Replacement of deficient bridges was discussed in detail. Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption: PROGRAMING 1976 FEDERAL AID SECONDARY OFF-SYSTEM ROADS BRIDGE REPLACEMENT.

WHEREAS, a Public Hearing was held, pursuant to Published Notice, at 8:00 P.M., Thursday, September 11, 1975 in the Commissioners Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, at which time the 1976 Proposed FAS Off-System Roads Bridge Replacement was discussed, all persons present were allowed to present proposals and opinions relative to the FAS Off-System Program.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that pursuant to evidence presented at said hearing the following FAS Off-System Roads Bridge Replacement Program be adopted, subject to the State and Federal approval: Bridge No. Lo 275 on County Road 88, over Judicial Ditch No. 18. Bridge No. Lo 277 on County Road 90, over Judicial Ditch No. 18. Bridge No. Lo 286 on Goodridge Township Road No. 066, over Judicial Ditch No. 13. Bridge No. Lo 292 on Cloverleaf Township Road No. 112, over Judicial Ditch No. 18. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin and upon vote was declared unanimously carried.

Moved by Christianson seconded by Stenberg that meeting adjourn. Motion carried.

ATTEST: C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor & ex-officio, clerk of the board.

Glenn Tasa, Chairman
Pennington County Board

September 22, 1975
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
Board of County Commissioners
Pennington County, Minnesota
September 9, 1975

Pursuant to adjournment the County Board met in the Commissioners Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls at 10:00 A.M., Sept. 9, 1975.

Members present: Hanson, Christianson, Naplin, Stenberg and Tasa. All present.

A delegation of landowners from the County Ditch 75 area appeared with request for clean out of Ditch 75 at the earliest opportunity. The Board indicated the project was already on the maintenance program to be accomplished as quickly as possible.

At 11:00 A.M. the Board proceeded to open bids as duly advertised and called for Proposals for Plant Mixed Bit. Base, Plant Mixed Bit. Surface and Aggregate Shoulders of CSAH 17 known as SP 57-617-02 and 04: The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Thorson, Inc., Bemidji	$238,986.00
Komatz Constr., St. Peter	254,690.00
W. Hodgman & Sons, Fairmont	267,869.22
Tri City Paving, Inc., Little Falls	277,961.40
Dunnick Bros. & Glichrist, Olivia	247,167.28
Mark Sand & Gravel Co., Fergus Falls	268,131.70

The bid of Thorson, Inc. in the amount of $238,986.00 appeared to be the lowest and best bid received, subject to final audit, and on motion by Commissioner Odin C. Hanson and seconded by Commissioner Art Christianson, it was voted by said County Board of Commissioners to recommend to the Commissioner of Highways, as Agent for said County, that said Contract be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Motion declared unanimously carried.

At 11:30 A.M. the Board proceeded to open bids as duly advertised and called for the seasons supply of Culverts. The following bids were opened and read aloud:

Armco Steel	$14,229.92
Viking Steel	14,498.20
H. V. Johnston Culvert Co.	12,116.72
Northwestern Sheet & Iron	10,989.20
Northern Culvert	11,948.52
Westeel-Rosco	12,934.22

The bid of Northwestern Sheet & Iron appeared to be the lowest and best bid and upon motion by Naplin seconded by Christianson the bid of Northwestern Sheet & Iron was accepted in the amount of $10,989.20 and the Auditor and Chairman were authorized and instructed to enter into contract with said low bidder. Motion unanimously carried.

Mrs. Karen Sollom, Director of Inter County Nursing, appeared and discussed the future of the Nursing Service indicating the unprecedented growth and apparent need for a re-evaluation to determine whether the 3 County Unit should be re-designed or an increase in supervisory staff be asked for. A possible re-alignment of the services was presented with Clearwater County going by itself and Red Lake and Pennington reorganizing into a separate unit. The entire matter was taken under advisement.

Norman Peterson, Administrator of Northwestern Hospital, appeared and presented a financial statement of the Ambulance services and discussed problems that have arisen in the Ambulance service area. Governmental regulations are becoming more and more restrictive and more difficult to comply with, and as a result more costly. Mr. Peterson indicated that alternate proposals were being looked for including a private operation of the service. The matter was taken under advisement.

A Plat was presented by Henry Johnson including 8.05 acres in Lot 3, Sec. 12 in Rocksbury Township. The Plat was approved subject to approval of the Planning Commission and compliance with Statutes as they regard the preparation of the Plat and the signatures upon motion by Hanson seconded by Stenberg and unanimously carried.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, that a resolution adopted by the County Board of Pennington County at a regular meeting of said Board on May 6, 1975 designating FAS Highways in the County totaling 64.60 miles be rescinded in total. The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Naplin and declared unanimously carried.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, the 'Action Plan' of the Minnesota Highway Department requires public and governmental agency participation in system plan development, and

WHEREAS, a Public Hearing was held pursuant to Published Notice, at 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, May 6, 1975 in the Commissioners' Room in the Courthouse in Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, at which all persons present were allowed to present proposals and voice opinions relative to development of a Federal Highway Secondary Functional System for Pennington County.

DELUXE 1931 Model A Ford owned by Gary Johnson of Thief River Falls has won several awards at antique car competition recently. At the Grand Forks Great Antique car show the car took first place in the Model A Ford class and won another first place trophy for the best restored car. This summer the car finished in third place for the Model A Ford class in national antique car competition at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Dick Olson of the city, who assisted Johnson during the two-year restoration of the Ford, said it was the first time an antique car from this area has won an award in national competition. Johnson is pictured above with his car and the trophies.

Bemidji Becoming NWAC Favorite

Bemidji, expected to have perhaps a bit of a down year in 1975 after winning Northwest Conference football laurels in 1974, looks to be the team to beat in NWAC play again this fall.

The Lumberjacks have been awesome in rolling up four straight one-sided wins to date. Bemidji rolled over Milaca 26-12, Crosby-Ironton 54-8 and Minnehaha Academy 49-7 to open the year before taking care of East Grand Forks in its first confrence test Friday.

Granted, Bemidji's early season schedule included no real powers, but the manner in which the Lumberjacks dispatched the four opponents has been impressive.

Bemidji has seemed to come up with a perfect run-pass offensive combination in runningback Wayne Marty and quarterback Jeff Eidsmoe, a couple of spectacular ball players through the Lumberjacks' first four games.

In addition to the talents of Marty and Eidsmoe, Bemidji has produced another offensive threat in Gary Hazelton, the Lumberjacks' first place kicker in 20 years, according to Jim Carrington of the Bemidji Pioneer.

Hazelton kicked seven straight conversion points in Bemidji's rout of Minnehaha Academy September 12, a feat that may well be a Minnesota State High School League record. Speaking of Hazelton's accurate toe, Bemidji columnist Cliff Morlan says that "coach (Ray) Kavanagh can start thinking about some 20 to 30 yard field goals."

Morlan feels Bemidji is the team to beat in the NWAC this fall. "I look for the Northwest Conference title to be on the line when Bemidji visits Crookston October 17," said Morlan. "Both (teams) should come into that encounter with clean conference slates."

Morlan continued: "I doubt if there are many larger teams (than Bemidji) player for player in the state."

John Davis, head coach at Crosby-Ironton felt the Bemidji team which crushed his Rangers 54-8 on September 5, "is one of the best Bemidji squads we've seen."

Thief River Falls will host Bemidji Fri., Oct. 3, in a crucial Northwest Conference clash on the Prowler athletic field. To add even more spice to that game, the Lumberjacks will be the Prowler homecoming foe.

Arctic To Sponsor Swim Meet

Lincoln high school swimming coach John Kopari has announced that Arctic Enterprises has agreed to sponsor an invitational swimming meet in Thief River Falls for at least the next five years, beginning this winter.

This year's meet will be staged in the Franklin middle school on Sat., Jan. 17, 1976. Arctic Enterprises will sponsor the awards for the meet—custom made medals for first, second and third places in each event.

"We'll start small this year with the late notice," pointed out Kopari, "but we would like to expand in the future to perhaps a dozen teams."

Already in fold for this year's meet are Bemidji, Fosston, Grand Forks Red River, Staples and Minot, along with Thief River Falls, of course. Other teams expressing a possible interest include Brainerd, Jamestown and Mandan.

In the future Kopari hopes to add such teams as Fergus Falls, Detroit Lakes, International Falls, Moorhead, Park Rapids and Grand Rapids.

The 1975-76 Arctic Cat Invitational will also be the Prowler swim team's Bicentennial meet.

Miscellaneous

+Red Lake Falls high school officials have announced that the school will have a hockey team during the 1975-76 season, squelching rumors that the sport would be dropped from the school's athletic program. The Red Lake Falls school board hired Jim Michaud as its new hockey coach at its latest meeting last week.

+For those who are interested, the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League have three home games remaining on their 1975 schedule: Wed., Sept. 24, vs. Hamilton, 8 p.m.; Sun., Oct. 12, vs. Saskatchewan, 2:30 p.m.; and Sun., Oct. 19, vs. Ottawa, [illegible]30 p.m.

Prowler Running Game Crushes Cowboys 35-0

Sparked by the running of fullback Bryan Olson and halfback Jay Kverno, Thief River Falls closed out its 1975 nonconference football schedule in highly impressive fashion Friday by smothering Breckenridge 35-0 on the soggy Prowler athletic field.

Olson, a 5-10, 182-pound senior who missed the Thief River Falls-St. Cloud Apollo game a week earlier because of knee problems, captured the game's offensive spotlight as he celebrated his return to the Prowler line-up by rushing for 140 yards on 16 carries. His bulldozer-like running style riddled the porous Breckenridge defense and netted him two touchdowns on runs of two and 55 yards.

Kverno was also instrumental in the Prowler offensive success. While Olson charged through the middle of the line on straight-ahead dive plays, Kverno waltzed around the Breckenridge ends for 112 yards on 10 carries. Kverno, a 6-2, 182-pound junior, matched Olson's two-touchdown performance with scoring runs of 39 and 20 yards.

Behind the running of Olson and Kverno, Thief River Falls rushed for 341 yards. At the same time an aggressive Prowler defense limited Breckenridge to just 61 yards rushing.

Thief River Falls coach Jim Sims naturally expressed satisfaction with the Prowler ground game, especially the running of Olson. "We're glad to get him (Olson) back in uniform," said Sims. "Our traps went well. Those plays take perfect execution by three people up front—our center and two guards." Chris Biegner started at center for the Prowlers while Terry Sullivan and Kevin Anderson lined up at guards.

The Prowler success on the ground didn't surprise first year Breckenridge coach Mike Belseth. "We knew they ran well," he said. "We've been giving up 200 yards a game on the ground so it's nothing new." Belseth was extremely impressed with Olson. "We thought we had him stopped just about every time, but he just bounced off our people and kept on going."

Thief River Falls led 12-0 before Breckenridge even tried a snap from center.

The Prowlers took the opening kickoff, returned 36 yards on a hard-charging run by Olson, and marched 54 yards against little Cowboy resistance. A succession of short gains carried the ball to the Breckenridge 39 where Kverno swept around left end, cut nicely inside as he broke one tackle and then sprinted into the end zone with only 3:25 elapsed.

Breckenridge fumbled the ensuing kickoff to present Thief River Falls with another quick scoring opportunity at the Cowboy 29 yard line.

Kverno took another pitch around left end and very nearly scored an identical touchdown to his first score before being pushed out of bounds at the Cowboy three-yard line. Three plays later Olson barged into the end zone standing up for a 12-0 lead only 4:59 into the first quarter.

The score jumped to 15-0 early in the second quarter when sophomore Doug Dallmann, held out of contact because of a shoulder injury suffered against St. Cloud, booted an eye-opening 32-yard field goal. The kick followed an eight-play Prowler drive which started on at midfield after the Cowboys gambled and lost on a fake punt try on fourth down. Olson picked up 31 yards on four carries to spark the march.

Thief River Falls took a 22-0 cushion into the halftime break on a sensational 55-yard run by Olson who displayed a nearly unbelievable sense of balance on the play. Olson burst through the middle of the line, stumbled but regained his balance as he leaped over a teammate and a fallen Breckenridge defender and outran the rest of the defense. Dallmann place kicked the extra point with 1:26 remaining in the first half.

Kverno scored his second touchdown at the start of the fourth quarter as the Prowlers extended their lead to 28-0. Sheldon Idso recovered a Breckenridge fumble at the Prowler 36 yard line to start the drive, putting a halt to the only sustained Cowboy offensive effort of the night. Thief River Falls scored 11 plays later when Kverno again skipped outside, again around the left side, and went into the end zone from 20 yards out untouched with 7:16 left. Steady gains by Olson, Kverno and Brian Peterson kept the 64-yard drive going.

Kent Ehrenstrom, who filled in for Olson at fullback when the latter was injured, stunned the already disorganized Breckenridge defense with a 53-yard touchdown gallop with just 2:06 remaining. Ehrenstrom bolted through a gapping hole in the middle of the Cowboy defense and raced unmolested downfield. Dallmann added the placement kick for a 35-0 bulge.

"We made a few changes and things worked out well for us tonight," explained Sims who was especially pleased with the shutout. "It was nice to get a shutout. The kids played well on defense all night; they didn't make a big mistake that cost them points."

Thief River Falls, 2-2 for the year, now faces an open date this week. The Prowlers won't play again until Fri., Oct. 3, when Bemidji visits Thief River Falls for the 1975 Prowler homecoming game.

PROWLER HALFBACK Jay Kverno raced around left end enroute to a 20-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter of Friday night's Thief River Falls-Breckenridge nonconference football game played on the Prowler athletic field. Cowboy defenders Kevin Yaggie (81) and Dave Gunderson (80) chased Kverno on the play. Kverno rushed for 112yards and scored two touchdowns to help carry the Prowlers to a 35-0 win.

Bemidji, Crookston Earn NWAC Football Victories

Bemidji and Crookston emerged as co-league leaders Friday as the 1975 Northwest Conference football pennant race began to take form.

Bemidji throttled East Grand Forks 28-0 and Crookston edged Fergus Falls 8-7 in Northwest Conference games Friday while Thief River Falls whipped Breckenridge 35-0 in nonconference action.

The wins pushed Bemidji and Crookston atop the early NWAC standings with 1-0 records. Fergus Falls slipped to 1-1 and East Grand Forks fell to 0-2. Thief River Falls has yet to play a conference game.

Bemidji 28, EGF 0

Wayne Marty and Lee Hanson each scored two touchdowns and combined for 234 yards rushing as Bemidji rolled over East Grand Forks 28-0.

The defending conference champion Lumberjacks scored a touchdown and a conversion point in each of the four quarters while racking up 322 total yards offense. The Green Wave offense was limited to 110 yards. Bemidji rushed for 259 yards compared to only 63 yards on the ground for East Grand Forks. Bemidji held a 19-5 first down advantage.

Marty scored on runs of two and 33 yards while Hanson had scoring runs of 14 and 10 yards. Gary Hazelton, Bemidji's accurate place kicker, was successful on all four conversion tries.

Crookston 8, Fergus Falls 7

Crookston edged Fergus Falls 8-7 with a dramatic late game rally.

Pirate quarterback Joel Rood hit Joe Friederichs with a 32-yard scoring pass with just 2:17 remaining in the fourth quarter to slice Fergus Falls' game-long lead to just 7-6. Rood then supplied Crookston with the game-winning points as he ran for the two-point conversion for an 8-7 win.

Jon Erickson provided Fergus Falls with an early lead when he scored on a two-yard plunge in the first quarter. Cameron Kolle place kicked the extra point.

TRF 35, Breckenridge 0

Bryan Olson and Jay Kverno scored two touchdowns apiece and combined for 252 yards rushing to lead Thief River Falls to a convincing 35-0 shutout win over Breckenridge.

Olson rushed for 140 yards and had touchdown runs of two and 55 yards. Kverno picked up 112 yards and scored on runs of 39 and 20 yards.

Kent Ehrenstrom also scored a touchdown for the Prowlers on a 53-yard run and Doug Dallmann added a 32-yard field goal as Thief River Falls posted leads of 12-0 and 22-0 at the first two quarter stops before added 13 fourth quarter points.

EGF Upsets TRF By 5-0 In High School Tennis

East Grand Forks jolted Thief River Falls 5-0 Thursday in girls' high school tennis competition at East Grand Forks.

East Grand Forks swept all five encounters against Thief River Falls to lower the Prowler dual meet season record to 3-2 heading into a scheduled 4 p.m. match at Mahnomen today (Monday). Thief River Falls will compete again tomorrow (Tuesday) at Detroit Lakes in another 4 p.m. match.

East Grand Forks' surprising triumph began with a marathon first singles win by Mary Kelly over Kris Gibson 7-6, 7-6 on a pair of tie breakers that went to duce.

Carrie Bowen defeated Marchelle Cuppett 6-0, 7-5 in number two singles and Shawn Solem stopped Pam Kotschevar 7-5, 6-2 in number three singles.

Carol Babinski and Gayle Patterson edged Kelly Bjorkman and Lori Lundin 7-5, 6-3 in number one doubles while Cheryl Knutson and Alette Pierce defeated Pam Prichard and Jennifer Pluth 6-2, 2-6, 6-1 in number two doubles.

Biegner Named To WCCO Radio All-State Team

Biegner

Lincoln high school senior Chris Biegner was among 39 ball players named Thursday to WCCO radio's first Prep Parade all-state football team of the week.

Biegner was one of four northwestern Minnesota players named to the season's first weekly honor squad. Area ball players joining Biegner on the team included center Ron Gangeness of Bemidji, guard Duane Sotherland of Park Rapids and runningback Paul Larson of Greenbush.

Biegner is a two-way starter for coach Jim Sims' Prowlers, playing offensive center and defensive middle guard.

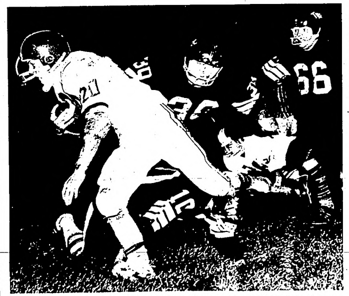
All-state players are nominated by the Prep Parade advisory board, a panel of recognized sports editors and sportscasters representing all reaches of Minnesota.

Each member of the all-state squad will receive a parchment certificate suitable for framing from WCCO.

Lincoln Freshmen Lose To EGF 12-6

East Grand Forks handed the Lincoln high school freshmen football team its first loss of the 1975 season Thursday by a 12-6 margin at East Grand Forks.

East Grand Forks scored single touchdowns in the first and third quarters before Thief River Falls got on the scoreboard with a Bryant Peppin to Charlie Boyer pass play that covered 55 yards in the fourth quarter.



BRECKENRIDGE RUNNINGBACK Robin Abel picked up short yardage before being tripped up by Thief River Falls defensive back Jeff Lindquist during Friday night's high school football game played on the Prowler athletic field. Lindquist (10) has a hold on Abel's shoe as teammates Kent Ehrenstrom (30) and Terry Sullivan (66) rushed over to help make the stop. Thief River Falls won the game 35-0.

Nordics Lose 36-0 Decision To Rams

Five different players scored touchdowns Friday as Roseau trounced Marshall County Central high school 36-0 in a Top of the State Conference football game played at Newfolden.

Jim Backlund was the only Roseau ball player to score twice as the Rams jumped out to a 12-0 first quarter lead, made it 18-0 by halftime and went ahead 36-0 by the end of the third quarter.

Keith Haugen scored the game's first touchdown on a 56-yard run to start the first quarter.

A six-yard run by Jeff Olson made it 12-0 at the first quarter break.

Mike Stone scored on a long 71-yard touchdown run in the second quarter as Roseau extended its lead to 18-0 by intermission.

Roseau added three third quarter scores as Backlund crossed the goal line on runs of 88 and 18 yards and Don Hedlund added a four-yard scoring jaunt.

Roseau missed all six conversion tries.

Newfolden, 1-3 for the year, will be back in action this week when the Nordics travel to Kennedy for a 7:30 p.m. Top of the State game Friday.

Fisher Tops LHS Volleyball Team By 2-1 Margin

Fisher edged Thief River Falls 20-18 in the third and deciding game Thursday as the Flyers tripped the Prowlers 2-1 in girls' high school volleyball action in the Lincoln high school gym.

Fisher won the first game of the three-game varsity series 18-9 before Thief River Falls rallied to win the second contest 18-8. Fisher came back to win the match-winning third game, however, by a scant 20-18 margin.

The loss leveled the Prowler season record at 2-2 for the year. Thief River Falls will be back in action tomorrow (Tuesday) when the Prowlers travel to Crookston Central for a 7:30 p.m. match.

Lincoln junior varsity won its first match of the year with a 2-1 decision over Fisher. The Flyers won the first game 18-10, but the Prowler B squad took the final two games by 18-11 and 18-10 margins.
